Still Needs Help . . . .

Through the March of Dimes which financed Dr. Salk's work on the vaccine against polio, victory over this disease has now been brought within the reach of mankind. Two things more—both possible, both practical—need to be done to finish the job and clinch the victory, all the workers seem to think.

One: If everybody gives generously to the 1957 March of Dimes, new hope, new usefulness, a new and better life for many of those who have already been stricken by polio will be a possibility of the future; and two, if everybody between the ages of six months and 35 years gets vaccinated, polio itself would very shortly be a thing of the past.

Today with victory in sight, joining the March of Dimes means, more than ever before, giving and getting. The future of 80,000 human beings, disabled by polio, is at stake, as the appeal for funds gets under way this week.

With the Salk vaccine as a weapon against new polio, the public is quick to fall into complacency. It's easy to forget there are children, men and women who still need expensive care. They are the ones for whom the vaccine came too late.

Citizens of this county are in the habit of giving to worthy causes and there are many of them. March of Dimes, Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts, heart, muscular dystrophy, cancer, and others. Apportion your giving so that all agencies may be properly financed to carry on the work for which they were founded. Right now it is the March of Dimes where generous giving is in order. Try and do your share.

Man Acquitted Of Larceny Charge Files Damage Suit

A $25,000 damage suit filed by an acquitted defendant in a case in the Circuit Court here against the prosecuting witness, was removed yesterday to Allegany county for trial.

Being sued is Mary E. Herman. Accident, who is represented by Walter W. Dawson, of Oakland. The papers filed for Humberson state that he was accused by Mrs. Herman on March 15, 1955, of stealing 13 mining rails from her. Subsequently he was indicted by the grand jury of the March term of Garrett county circuit court and imprisoned on a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods, the declaration states.

At the jury trial in Oakland on September 27, 1955, Humberson was found not guilty.

The papers allege that the charges made against him by the prosecuting witness in the case were false and were "made from motives of malice."

Humberson declared he suffered mental and physical pain as a result of the case. He also stated he had to put out large sums of money for defense counsel and added that he was prevented from transacting his business for a long time. He also alleged he suffered damage to his credit.

Accompanying the papers from Oakland was a motion by Dawson that had the court there make Humberson give security for the costs of the case.

This motion was granted by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley on November 7. On December 29, Judge Fraley granted the motion by the two lawyers for Humberson to remove the trial to Cumberland.

Freights Collide

Two freight trains of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad collided head-on, about 70 miles east of Cumberland early Tuesday morning, killing three crewmen. Six others were injured. No local men were involved.

They collided on a single track line between Miller and Cumbo and had no bearing on main line traffic.

Officers installed were Mrs. Orval Glotfelty, president; Mrs. Ross Crowe, vice-president; Mrs. Guy Stanton, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Emerson Bishoff, Mrs. Kenneth Buckel, Mrs. John Beachy, Mrs. Paul Welch, Mrs. Robert Glotfelty, new members of the Board of Directors.

A business session was held and plans were made for delegates to attend the state meeting in Baltimore in January. A report on the National Convention, which was held in Florida, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Bishoff and Mr. and Mrs. Orval Glotfelty, who attended as delegates from Garrett county.

Mr. Epstein began his new duties on Thursday, December 27. He has been a practicing attorney at Grantsville for a number of years, but was forced to curtail his activities following a heart condition in May, 1954.

Marriage Permits For Previous Year Hit Total of 1,585

One thousand five hundred and eighty-five marriage licenses were issued from the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court during the year just ended. This was just eleven less than the previous year, and fifty-four less than two years ago.

With the changing of regulations several years ago when the 28-hour waiting period between application and obtaining of the licenses became effective, there has been a tendency to show a decrease. The records show that 2,775 were issued in 1946 and 2,994 in 1941 but that for the past several years the totals have been running in the 1500's, 1600's and the like.

June was the busiest month of the year for the marriage license clerk with 194 permits being granted. July had 143 and August 151, while others varied from 77 issued during January.

The totals by months:

January	77
February	91
March	120
April	123
May	139
June	194
July	143
August	151
September	136
October	131
November	140
December	110
Total	1,585

During the past week ending Monday, December 31, 42 licenses were issued.

Elementary P.-T. A. To Have Talk And Film On Safety

The regular meeting of the Oakland Elementary school Parent-Teacher association will be held Monday evening, January 7, at 8 o'clock, at the school annex on Green street.

C. W. Englander, health and safety chairman, announced that the program would feature a talk on "Safety in Home and School," by Olonzo P. Fike, of Hagerstown, state representative of the Maryland Safety Council. Mr. Fike is a former resident of this county. He also will show a film in conjunction with the talk.

Teachers will be in their rooms at both the Center street school and the annex at 7:15 to consult with parents. Mrs. Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., president of the association, urged parents to take advantage of this opportunity to discuss with teachers any problems they may have concerning their children and the school.

Mrs. John Getty, chairman of home room mothers, announced that refreshments would be in charge of the fourth grade mothers. Mrs. Howard White, membership chairman, will be at the annex school to receive new members.

Welfare Board To Spend $363,375.16 In Coming Year

Estimate Presented To Commissioners—To Provide $54,703.14 Locally

Estimate of expenditures of the Garrett County Welfare Board for 1957 will total $363,375.16, which is $7,318.24 less than the 1956 estimate, it was announced by Robert W. Stemple, director.

He said funds appropriated for 1956 were adequate and that the board ended 1956 with about $3,000 of county funds which is being returned to the County Commissioners.

The estimate of expenditures was prepared, reviewed and submitted to the State Department of Public Welfare. It was approved and then submitted to the Board of County Commissioners for levy purposes. County Welfare board members who reviewed and approved the estimate included Rev. John Atwell, chairman; Aubrey Brenneman, Commissioner representative and Glenroot Dilley.

Included in the estimate were the following: for old age assistance, $118,461.36; aid to dependent children, $114,107.76; aid to the blind, $3,627; aid to disabled, $53,383.08; general assistance, $8,196.72; board of children, $15,116.40; administration and other services, $50,482.24; total, $363,375.16.

There was a very slight increase for aid to blind, an increase of $5,558.40 for board for children, and an increase of $6,563.84 in administration and other costs. Otherwise there were decreases noted in the other categories, some $14,000 less for old age assistance, some $12,000 less for aid to dependent children, and over a thousand for general assistance. Aid to disabled was practically the same.

Case Dismissed

In a second action against Constable Mark Moon brought by Mrs. D. Edward Offutt, a charge of assault and battery against Mr. Moon was dismissed Monday by Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer when Mrs. Offutt failed to appear at the trial.

When the announcement was made last week that the one case against Mr. Moon on assault would be taken before the March Term of Court, Mrs. Offutt demanded that Mr. Bitzer write out another charge against Mr. Moon, this time of assault and battery, the alleged infraction of the law supposed to have taken place on November 4 when Mr. Moon served the notice of attachment of her automobile for non-payment of a debt.

Trial was ordered for Monday but Mrs. Offutt failed to appear to press the charges, so Mr. Bitzer ordered the charge dismissed.

Temperatures Drop To 3 Below Zero

Some of the season's coldest weather was experienced Wednesday and Thursday mornings of this week, with below readings in some parts of the county.

At New Germany State park Elmer Upole, Jr., recorded a three-below minimum, while the State Roads commission reported two below for Big Savage mountain on Wednesday morning. At the same time it was a mere five above zero at the Weber station south of Oakland. This morning the lowest recorded was 10 above.

A brisk snowfall on Saturday dropped about six inches of snow on Garrett county for the heaviest fall of the year, making excellent skiing conditions at McHenry for the week-end. The low readings of Wednesday and Thursday also brought on a wave of ice skating at the various ponds throughout the area.

Trucks of the State and County Roads systems worked to keep all roads clear and cindered.

A resume of the week's weather showed rain on Friday, turning to snow later in the evening. Snow continued on Saturday with dropping temperatures, and there was some slight snow recorded on Sunday. The weather moderated on Monday but it was cold and raw on Tuesday. Light snow continued to fall on Wednesday, but this was due to end today with some moderation.

Oak Street Home Damaged By Fire

Flames from a defective flue spread to a bathroom on the second floor in an apartment of Mrs. Jean Sollars, and then went down the flue into the living room of Mr. and Mrs. Fulk.

Oakland firemen were called and subdued the flames but not before considerable damage resulted from water.

The firemen also were called last Thursday evening about 7 o'clock when some burning trash ignited a garage on the property of Robert Statler, Liberty street. The property is presently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stemple. The blaze was put out with very little damage to the garage.

Processing Plant Job Applications Will Surpass 300

Job applications for the new Sterling Poultry Processing plant, soon to be in operation just west of Oakland, will surpass the 300 mark by next week, it was announced by Charles L. Briner, manager of the Department of Employment Security.

He said actually 115 applications had been filled out and some 225 more people had been given registration cards to fill out and return to the office before proper applications could be made. He was sure the number would exceed 300 by the middle of next week.

Briner said as soon as the company is ready to set up interviews for the various positions, that the persons would be notified and that the interviews would take place in the Employment Security office.

It was announced last week by Robert Bane, manager of poultry plant operations, that applications were being received at the Employment agency.

Red Cross Fund Drive Is Over Top

The goal for the special Red Cross fund drive in behalf of the Hungarian relief was topped this week. The goal set for Garrett county was $306. To date the total received is $316.75.

Returns are still incomplete and Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, fund chairman, said a complete report would be made.

Thomas Cain reported contributions from Oakland at $210.25; Mrs. Earl Glotfelty reported $15 from Mellenry; Mrs. Jonas Beachy, $22 from Bittinger; Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, $5 from Hoyes; Mrs. Mary Martin, $25 from Mt. Lake Park; Miss Viola Broadwater, $10 from Grantsville; Mrs. Landon Vetter, $29.50 from Deep Creek Lake.

Mrs. Glotfelty urged those who had not done so to turn in their funds to James Lemmert, treasurer, First National Bank, Oakland, this week.

She announced the regular Red Cross drive for the county would be held in March. She hoped to have at least a hundred volunteers to assist. Regional meetings with Robert Murphy, Frederick, are planned, also a county-wide dinner meeting.

Two Men Enlist

Two men from this area have enlisted in the U. S. Air Force it was announced this week by T. Sgt. Joseph Talerico, local Air Force recruiter.

They are John Phillip Halsey, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ogilvie Halsey, of Star Route, Oakland, and Clyde Milton Savage, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ray Savage, of Sang Run.

These two men enlisted in the Air Force under the "buddy system" and before reporting to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, they spent a short leave at home.

Sgt. Talerico stated that the Air Force has unlimited opportunities for qualified men between 17 and 34 years of age. Further information is available at the Post Office Building in Oakland. The Air Force recruiter is in Oakland every Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Auto Smashes Front Of Radio Store In Oakland

Fourteen - Year - Old Youth, Driver, Charged With Several Violations

An automobile driven by a fourteen-year-old youth got out of control while traveling on Alder street late on the evening of December 31, and crashed into the store front of the Oakland Electric and Radio Service, causing damage estimated at $3,500.

The youth was identified as William Sleeth, step-son of Philip Stemple, Liberty street, Oakland.

The crash ruined a $700 color television set on display in the window and damaged a record player, other TV sets and a number of other items of merchandise. Orris DeBerry, owner, estimated his damage at close to $2,000, while the damage to the store front will be an additional $1,500 at least, it was stated.

Prior to crashing into the store the youth demolished a parking meter in front of the Englander pharmacy when he hit the south side of the street. The car then sped across to the north side and hit the radio store.

Corporal Sam Conrad, of the State Police, and City Policeman Leslie Baker, who investigated, revealed that Sleeth, after striking the store, fled and in an attempt to hide in the Wilson Creek tunnel underneath the Ford garage, knocked himself out when he fell against some stones. He was taken to the Garrett County Memorial hospital where he remained a patient until Tuesday afternoon.

Paul Fisher, sheriff, said Corporal Conrad had made out motor vehicle law violation tickets against Sleeth which included charges of driving under the influence of liquor, reckless driving, and operating an automobile without a driver's license.

Workmen boarded up the one large window and the store entrance, and the company is open for business as usual, minus its usual allotment of daylight.

Youth Is Captured Minister Beaten;

Rev. John F. Rollman, Former Deer Park Man, Has Unusual Experience

State Police said the boy assaulted the Rev. John Frederick Rollman, 27-year-old rector of the Episcopal church at New Market, near Frederick, and robbed him of $68, his wrist watch and his father's new car.

Mr. Rollman came through unscathed, but a trifle disillusioned. "This taught me a lesson about picking up hitchhikers," he said. "It's dangerous." Mr. Rollman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Rollman, of Deer Park, and was ordained to the sacred order of Deacons in St. Matthew's church, Oakland on Friday evening, October 19.

Ronald William Collins, 18, of Baltimore, was jailed on charges of auto theft, assault and battery, robbery and larceny.

Sgt. C. D. Mabes said the minister, returning to New Market from a wedding in Philadelphia, picked up the young hitchhiker late Saturday night on a Baltimore street. During the hour-long drive to New Market, the eleanent, well-dressed passenger "fed me a line . . . a hard luck story," Mr. Rollman said.

"He said he was on parole and had no friends and no place to go." At the rectory the boy asked if he could come inside to discuss his problems. Rev. Rollman said they talked about 45 minutes.

"Looking back I guess some of the questions were leading up to what happened," he said. "He asked me what I got for Christmas. I showed him my new watch. I guess my father's new car impressed him too. As we were talking, he suddenly said, 'I'm going to rob you.' He hit me a couple of times in the face with his fist. He tied my hands behind my back with one of my ties."

The minister said the boy then robbed him and fled in the car toward Baltimore. "I went to the kitchen," he said. "I pulled my hands loose enough to get a paring knife to cut the tie."

Rev. Rollman called State Police who set up road blocks. Mabes said the stolen car ran a road block near Baltimore and sped on toward the city, hitting speeds up to 100 miles an hour. The car was abandoned a short way inside the city limits. Two city policemen arrested Collins nearby, flusing him from behind a bush and running him down. The sergeant said the car, slightly damaged, the money and watch were recovered.

Let's Finish Job Is Polio Drive Theme

"Let's finish the job!"

This is the theme of the March of Dimes campaign which got underway in Garrett county on Wednesday. The campaign will be carried on through January.

The job is two-fold: to raise funds for repair of the damage that polio has done to thousands of Americans in the past and to prevent the disease from crippling more thousands in the future.

March of Dimes spokesmen explain that an estimated 80,000 persons have been left handicapped by polio and they point out that the job of conquering the disease cannot be considered finished until these patients have been helped to regain normal and productive lives.

The second objective is to promote the widest possible use of the Salk vaccine, proven safe and effective in preventing polio.

Charles L. Briner, county chairman, said that coin containers had been distributed throughout the county and that school cards would be mailed out this week. Many organizations will conduct special events during the month in an effort to raise funds to add to the total.

Pulpwood Group To Meet

The Tri-State Pulpwood Cooperative association will meet Tuesday, January 8, at 8 p. m., at the Red Man's hall in Westernport. There will be two guest speakers who will discuss problems vital to the organization, according to Thomas W. Hetz, chairman.

There are 425 members of the association but the officers are endeavoring to bring the membership to 500.

Flag Is Available

The John Nazelrod family, route 1, Box 40, Deer Park, has a large American flag which they would be willing to contribute free of charge to any church, hospital or some local organization desiring it.

The flag was received several years ago by the Nazelrod family at the time of the arrival of the body of their son Calvin, who was killed in France during World War II. The body was returned in 1945.

Mr. Nazelrod said he would be glad to give it some worthy group for patriotic use.

Package Deal For Skiers Is Arranged

Skiers in the Baltimore and Washington metropolitan area who in previous winters traveled hundreds of miles by car to reach skiing slopes can now take advantage of a package deal beamed to Western Maryland and in nearby Tucker county, W. Va.

The B. & O. Railroad is offering skier a package deal whereby they can obtain a round trip fare to Deep Creek Lake, two nights lodging (two to a room), two days of ski-tow fees at the new Marsh Hill slope, dinner Saturday, and transportation between lodging and ski tow for $21.

Skiers will leave Washington at 6:30 p. m. Friday and arrive in Oakland at 10:57 p. m. There a representative of the Deep Creek Lake Promotion council will assign them to quarters at a hotel or motel. The Saturday dinner can be eaten at any Oakland restaurant or at Cabin Lodge on the lake.

For the return trip the train will be boarded at Oakland at 6:15 p. m. Sunday, arriving in Washington five hours later.

An alternate plan provides that skiers leave Washington by train at 8:14 a. m. Saturday and be given one night's lodging and accommodations the same as in the first plan. This will cost $18.

A similar program is being discussed by the B. & O. with the West Virginia Conservation commission for skiing in the Davis area. The same train schedule would be followed and skiers would be taken from Oakland to the new Blackwater Falls State park lodge and cabins by bus. The 55-room Blackwater Falls lodge will open about January 15. The lodge will house 100 persons and the 25 cabins, completely furnished, equipped for cooking, will accommodate another 150 skiers.

Helmuth Heise, chairman of the Deep Creek Lake Promotion council, said the response to the package deal was good. One hundred fifty reservations have been made for the week-end of January 11-13 by skiers from the Baltimore area.

This past week-end there was from three to six inches of snow on Marsh Hill slope and there were a number of skiers there. Heise said he had received a number of inquiries concerning the Deep Creek skiing facilities from persons in the Pittsburgh section.

Bill To Provide Tax Reduction For Volunteers

A bill prepared by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall to provide income tax reductions for Civil Defense volunteers, will be among the first items of new legislation submitted to the 85th Congress.

The bill will state that individual taxpayers and qualified dependents would be eligible to accumulate deductions at the rate of $1 per hour spent in authorized Civil Defense work. The maximum annual deduction for any person would be $600 and maximum total which any taxpayer could claim for work performed by himself and his dependents would be $1,800, according to the bill.

Senator Beall said he had been alarmed by reports that portions of the Civil Defense system was being hampered by a lack of personnel, and he thought the passage of this measure would show appreciation for the work of persons now serving in the program as well as offer additional incentive to many other Americans to join.

Get Additional Troopers

Three more troopers have been added to the force at LaVale Barracks making a total of 20 officers for Allegany and Garrett counties. The increase is a result of last year's General Assembly legislation that allowed more state policemen for Maryland.

The additional ones are Willis E. Foreman, John H. Sweitzer and Ronald L. Davis, all natives of Cumberland.

Expect Tax Rate To Remain Same

Although there was no definite commitment by the County Commissioners up to last evening, indications are that the county tax rate will remain the same as last year, $2.00 per $100 of assessable property. The $2.00 rate has been in effect for a number of years.

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the board, said they had gone over the figures pretty carefully, and although there were increases in different items of the budget amounting to some $48,000, that there was also expected to be an increase in the assessable basis which should more than take care of any budget increases.

This year's taxable basis was $30,886,345.00.

The Commissioners have been at work for the past several weeks in an effort to get the levy completed as early as possible. The deadline on completion is January 15, but it was certain that the exact figures would be made public several days before that time.

The Commissioners have on hand in the neighborhood of $60,000 but over $50,000 of that amount was levied this year for voting machines which was not used. It will be put as part of the cash balance this year, and the levying of funds to take care of the voting machines will be made again this year.

The state tax rate this year has been set at 1.1425 on each $100 of assessment.

The definite tax rate should be known by next week, Mr. Swartzentruber said.

Legislature Opens For 90-Day Session

Members of the Maryland General Assembly were told yesterday shortly after they organized for a 90-day session that the automobile has become the State's No. 1 headache.

This was stressed in Governor McKeldin's state of the State message.

Twenty-eight of 70 bills introduced on opening day were drawn up by a special legislative subcommittee which made a study of the motor vehicle problem.

In short caucuses the Democratic representatives bound themselves to return all major officers who served in the 1956 session to their jobs. This was Senator Louis L. Goldstein, Calvert, senate president; Delegate John C. Luber, Baltimore, speaker of the House; Senator John Grason Turnbull and Delegate A. Gordon Boone, majority leaders of their respective houses.

Date Changed For Fund Raising Drive

The date for the fund raising campaign of the Junior Woman's Civic club has been changed from Monday, January 7, to Tuesday, January 8, it was announced this week by Mrs. Kenneth Lawton, president. The beginning date was changed so as not to interfere with the Elementary P.-T. A. meeting, it was said.

The drive will be known as the "Bag of Bulbs" campaign. These bags are being sold for $2.00 and contain ten bulbs of various sizes. In addition one 150-watt bulb will be given free with each bag. This is made possible by a contribution by the West Maryland Power company of one 150-watt bulb for every bag.

The drive is scheduled to cover Mt. Lake Park, Rosedale and Crellin in addition to Oakland, according to Mrs. Harold Trickett, chairman of the committee in charge. Bulbs are to be packed at the regular meeting of the club this evening.

Committee appointments for the Maryland State Bar association have been announced by Edward D. E. Rollins, president, and include some local attorneys.

Named as a general member of the committee on judicial appointments to represent the Fourth Circuit was W. Earle Cobey, Cumberland. Local members of the Fourth Circuit include Walter W. Dawson, Oakland.

William C. Walsh, Cumberland, is on the executive committee on American citizenship. Fourth Circuit members of this group include Lewis R. Jones, Oakland.

The Bennetts live here. That's Grandmother Bennett's Bible on the window sill, and the whole family goes to the church across the snow covered field.

John Bennett works in the local bank. Martha, his wife, is president of the PTA, and they have three lovely children. Grandmother Bennett has been living with them for the past couple of years, since she broke her hip. She can't always get to church in wintertime and that's why she calls this her window. When she can't be in church, it helps to be able to see it.

To her, the church steeple represents a great many things, and brings back many memories. Her son was married in that church. Her husband was buried from it. Her grandchildren were christened in it.

The Church has helped her to bear grief, in hours of sorrow; and it has seemed to put a benediction upon her happiness, in times of joy. Most important of all, whatever the occasion, whatever the crisis . . . the Church has always been there.

To Grandmother Bennett, the most comforting thing in the world is knowing that it always will be there.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Four Gospels

Lesson for January 6, 1957

THE story of the Wise Men who came to see the baby Jesus is familiar that this column will deal this week with a question in the background of all study of the Gospels. Matthew is to be the book studied in the churches during the next three months. The existence of four gospels raises a very ancient question: Why more than one? The early Christians church was somewhat embarrassed by that question. More attempts than one were made to discard all but one, or else to combine them all into one harmonized story. If the four gospels are alike, why repeat? And if they are different, which is right? Most of the problems involved cannot even be raised here. But there is room to set down a few notes on that one question: What is the point of having four gospels?

Dr. Foreman

Gospels and Gospel

The conclusion to which the early church came, and for which we may well be grateful, is that there is only one Gospel, but four gospels. Adopted at a very early date were the headings we still read: The Gospel: according to Matthew, according to Mark—and so on. The gospels tell different stories, but the story is still the same. They all bear witness to the same Christ. Just as in a courtroom trial it is important if possible to have more than one eye-witness report of an accident, it is valuable to have more than one report of the life, character and teaching of Jesus. But just as, in court, it would raise suspicion if all the eye-witnesses agreed on all details, so it would raise suspicion and be of no help if all our gospels agreed on details. The essentials of the four gospels are all the same; and the variations add to our knowledge. It is plain that the early church must have thought that each gospel had something indispensable, or else they would never have kept it. It should be remembered that our four gospels were not the only ones in existence. The early church did a good job of sifting, as any one can see who will take the trouble to read some of the fantastic or dull productions the church rejected. (See The Apocryphal New Testament, in any large library.)

Portraits

Not one of the gospels is what in modern times would be called a "definitive biography" of Jesus—a story so complete that no one would ever bother to investigate further. They are not biographies at all. They are not photographs, they are more like portraits. A commercial photograph is a neutral sort of thing. A portrait is an interpretation. Mark interprets Jesus as the mighty Son of God with power. Very little teaching is reported by Mark—it is all action, and rapid action too. Luke's portrait is of the broad humanity of Jesus, his sympathy with all men, with women and children too. He gives us Jesus, the ideal human being. John's portrait interprets Jesus as the divine Son of God, in constant touch and harmony with the Father on high, doing the works of God and teaching the truth of God. In other gospels Jesus' teaching is, so to speak, in his own name. In John the reader is never allowed to forget that it is all the teaching of God. Matthew combines the wonder-worker and the teacher in one portrait; Jesus appears as the One with Authority. From the very beginning, where Jesus is presented as the scion of kings, to the end where he is given "all authority in heaven and earth," he moves with majesty and power.

Viewpoints

Not only are the portraits different, but the viewpoints of the four gospels are varied. Two features of Matthew's point of view will be evident all the way along. One is that he tries to interest Jewish readers. He quotes the Old Testament more often than any other gospel; he traces Jesus' family tree back to Abraham through the Hebrew kings (quite a contrast to the family tree given by Luke). To this day it remains one of the best gospels for interesting Jews in the life of Jesus. The other feature is that while Matthew begins, as it were, on the small stage of the Jewish people, he does not remain there. The Christ who comes first only as heir to the throne of David, is at last seen to have the very authority of God himself. Already in the gifts of the wise men Matthew hints his truth: Christ is Lord of all men everywhere.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1957

Letter to the Editor

10 Houston Ave.,
Middletown, N. Y.
Dec. 25, 1956.

Dear Editor:

Christmas day, folks away, nothing to do but loaf and reminesce. Wonder how many recall the best Christmas, and the worst Christmas, weatherwise, of the present century.

On Christmas day, 1922, my brother-in-law, Ellsworth Moon, and myself, slept most of the afternoon in an open Ford car in our shirtsleeves. The temperature was 72 degrees, no wind, bare ground and clear sky. As fine a day as those in June.

But Christmas day of 1925 found the shoe on the other foot. At 5:30 p. m., we left the old Gordon place on the Deer Park road, with two boys, Wilbur and Clyde A. Gnegy, my cousins. There was six inches of snow, but no wind. Driving was good.

At six o'clock, as we passed Red House, a blizzard with a sixty-mile gale suddenly came out of nowhere, and blew continuously for seven days and nights without cease or letup. The temperature dropped to ten below zero.

After battling snow higher than the radiator for five hours we got to Mr. Jim Knepp's barn, only a quarter-mile in five hours. At home stock were without feed and water.

At eleven thirty we set out on foot and arrived home at two thirty next morning. The snow ranged from waist-deep to our shoulders, even in fields and on the Kendall railroad, yet we covered the two and one-half miles in three hours. All roads were blocked with ten to fifteen foot drifts from December 25 to January 1. No mail came through, and not a soul stirred from their homes until New Years day. On April sixth, the first cars got through, but a sled trail was opened on New Years day.

Three fellows, one of whom is deceased, never forgot that Christmas night, and the week following. We remember the winter of 1918 and also the winter of 1911 and 1912, but doubtless the "holidays blizzard" of 1925 was the worst of this present century in Garrett County.

Happy New Year to all.
Yours truly,
Ernest G. Gnegy.

Beall Is Winner Over Southern High

Beall High school of Frostburg took a close contest from Southern high school on the Southern court on Wednesday afternoon. The final score was 48 to 46.

Beall led all the way but was in danger of being overtaken several times. The visitors led at the quarters, 13 to 6, 21 to 15, and 41 to 29.

Southern outscored Beall from the field with 15 baskets to 10, but Beall made 28 out of 48 foul attempts. Tom Bittinger led the local scoring with 11 points while Kight and Colaw scored eight each. Roth made 6, Shaffer 5, G. Bittinger 4, Shiffey and Paugh 2 each to complete the scoring.

Metz with 15 and Parker with 14 were high for Beall. Groves made 5, Balls, 4; Jones and Allen one each.

Early in the third quarter Roth and Kight were eliminated on personal fouls, while in the fourth quarter Colaw and Shaffer also were eliminated while Parker for Beall went out by the same token.

The score was 43 to 44 with Beall leading with two minutes to go and Beall elected to freeze the ball until the end of the game.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland, Maryland.)

And so we come to the "post-Christmas hangover." It has been complicated already by the hangovers of New Year's morning. The story of Christ's birth has been thrown out the window in much the same fashion as the worn out Christmas tree has reached the garbage heap, for a large segment of society. Last Sunday, in my congregation, and I imagine the story was repeated across the land, just about half as many people made it to two services, morning and evening, as attended at the morning service on the Sunday before Christmas. You may say that attendance in church is no proof that a person is a Christian, and I would agree, but it is a pretty good indication of how important they think the life of the spirit is. Of course there was the weather—but did you ever notice how few people will allow the weather to stop them from going to work, going to the movies, visiting their friends, and all of the other things that they want to do?

At any rate, whether we like it or not, the New Year is here, and with it all of the problems of inventory, bills from Christmas, income tax reports, wars and rumors of wars, murder, rape, segregation, politics and other of the manifold problems of man living with man. They say death and taxes are two things you just have to put up with, but it seems that the list of unpleasant things with which a man has to live grows bigger with each year. Some and again I have said things to this effect, but they need to be said and understood by mere mortals more of the time. Life does not have to be a bottomless pit of man's inevitable self-destruction. In God's plan for the world, there is a better way. But it seems he is a matter of concern or conversation only. If we cannot be satisfied with an occasional Christmas service, ten or twelve church attendances a year, or an occasional prayer, Your relationship with God must be a permanent, regular feeding experience with His word, prayer, song, spoken word.

Perhaps the biggest problem is time. Every place I hear about how busy people are—and I am as guilty of this weakness as anybody. Perhaps we are too busy with the wrong things. In my reading I become across a piece of advice which I would like to share with you. It is the writing of Nels F. S. Ferre, Professor of Philosophical Theology, Vanderbilt University School of Religion, Nashville, Tenn. He says:

Each morning as we awake, we can offer one love to God. We can say in effect, "Father, I believe Thy name this day before me is this blank sheet. I have this day to write in the deepest intentions of my life. I shall never have anything but a today like today. My time is in Thy hands. Help me to use today as no day to do now. Help me to prove how rich Thy grace is. May my feeble understanding of Thee and my weak attempt to do Thy will be enlightened by Thy presence and strengthened by Thy support. Father I thank Thee for the time of this day. Help me to begin it and end it with Thee and may all the time between prove to Thy glory and to some usefulness to my fellow man."

Each day of this new year can be purer, stronger, brighter, with a prayer like this.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Of all the days I don't want to write a column, this is it. Needles from the discarded tree are still about, poinsettia petals are falling. The upper hall is full of trimmings not to be stored until the Christmas closet gets its annual cleaning. The turkey carcass is jellied in stock, waiting for the carrots, onions and noodles. Christmas cards spill out of the bowl on the table and I would like to go through them again at a leisurely pace. Lots of letters to write; alterations to be made on new clothing.

The noisy house has become stilled again. It's a day to keep on the move, a day to encourage the feel of ambition. I usually give up the old year with reluctance, but today, it's best to think of the new year. How I can improve my mind, develop skill, chisel away a portion of this figure (at the very thought I reach for a rich caramel!)

I think about the new tricks I'm going to learn in the sewing class and I'll wish a little that I might take a semester at the University. I'd like to find out for myself if I'm the back number some folks think I am. I'd like a bout with electronics or sense of humor or understanding the teen-ager, or how to talk a game of sports from breakfast to bedtime.

I have half a notion I'd like to applique a bed spread (that's just HALF a notion because my grandmother and mother made quilts in the winter. I seem to have a pipe dream that it would be nice to sit by the fire all day long putting scraps of cloth together in design. But that would last about as long as it would take to stamp the design.

Yes, I get ambitious. The seed catalog has arrived. Already magazines are hinting at how much can be grown in small space. In my mind I've planted six new things—not only have they been planted in an imaginary garden, but they've already been brought to the table or freezer. "Steady there," I tell myself. "Don't go so fast. First you'd better plan to enjoy three or four months of good old Garrett weather." As I watch the snow rolling in over Custer's barn I know the best months of the year are now at hand. We can take our pick—wishful, fruitful, or just plain lazy.

Scenes That Pass In The Day

Trying without success to get screws in the fan filter, I welcomed the approach of the mechanical engineering student in the family.

With a note of hint in my voice I said, "Gee, it's plain I could never be a mechanical engineer." "What would you like to be," came a fast reply, "a psychologist?" And he went right on with what he was doing.

Recipe For A Good New Year

Take twelve fine, full grown months; see that these are thoroughly free from all the old memories of bitterness, rancor, hate and jealousy. Cleanse them completely from every clinging spite, pick off all specks of pettiness and littleness; in short, see that these months are free from all the past. Have them as fresh and clean as when they first came out of the storehouse of time. Cut these months into 30 or 31 equal parts. This batch will keep for just one year. Do not attempt to make up the whole batch at one time, as so many persons spoil it in this way, but prepare one day at a time as follows:

Into each day put twelve parts of faith, eleven parts of patience, ten of courage, nine of work, eight of hope, seven of fidelity, six of liberty, five of kindness, four of rest, three of prayer, two of meditation, and one well-selected resolution. Put in about one tablespoon of good spirits, a dash of fun, a sprinkling of play, and a heaping cupful of good humor. Pour into the whole a liberal amount of love, and mix with a vim. Cook thoroughly in a fervent heat, garnish with a few smiles, and a sprig of joy. Then serve with quietness, unselfishness and cheerfulness, and a happy New Year is a certainty.

Eisenhower declared an emergency in California and directed $100,000 aid be made available for fire-ravaged area.

Accident Firemen Elect

Clinton W. Englander,
"Your Pharmacist"

Do you know that the average family is now spending a smaller percentage of their income for drugs than was necessary in past years. Despite the fact that some individual prescriptions containing the new antibiotics, etc., cost more, they actually help you to save money.

These current government statistics may surprise you. The American people now have a total income of about 327 billion dollars annually, of which they spend the following—

11.9 billion dollars on Recreation.
8.8 billion dollars on Alcoholic Beverages.
5.3 billion dollars on Tobacco.
2.8 billion dollars on Physicians' Care.
2.6 billion dollars on Hospital Care.

AND

1.6 billion dollars on drugs.

There are good reasons why the costs of medical care are proportionately so low. We now have specific drugs that can be more often depended upon to accomplish a definite result. They not only save more lives, but help you to get well so much more quickly that your physician makes fewer calls and you spend less time in bed.

Holding the Line . . .

By fixing the county tax rate for another year at $2.00 per $100 of assessable property, we are of the opinion that the County Commissioners are doing a good job of holding the line on operating costs.

There are those who would argue that there isn't any valid reason why the Commissioners couldn't easily keep the tax rate at $2.00, since the assessable basis keeps increasing each year, and the assessment figures are constantly on the upward move. Both these statements are very true.

Ten years ago the assessable basis was $20,941,282, and in that year the expected expenditures totaled $508,982.20. An almost steady increase has been noted each year since that time. In 1948, with an assessable basis of $22,440,567, the county calculated it would spend $578,514.79. In 1949 the basis was $23,214,087 and the county felt it would spend $657,167.57. The expenditures decreased the following year, although the assessable basis went up to over $24 million.

In 1954 the basis was $29,122,775, with expenditures at $819,163.85. The first year the present County Commissioners took office the basis was $29,642,164 and expenditures were $803,080.99. This year the basis is $31,886,345, and calculated expenditures are $920,174.73.

The assessable basis has been raised for three reasons. The assessors have been able to add properties to the assessment books that had escaped taxation previously. Many new lake cottages have been built and other new properties constructed. And through the years the assessors have been endeavoring to get the assessments on properties more in line with the balance of the state and getting them up to where they are somewhere near the absolute value of the properties.

But during these past ten years prices have risen one hundred percent. In that time the assessable base has advanced by just half and the expenditures have almost doubled. But additional revenues have become available to the county since that time—$50,000 in natural gas tax; incentive fund for schools from the state, and other items.

All in all, we feel that the county is apportioning its money wisely and is making the burden on the taxpayers as light as possible. As a million dollar corporation, they are doing business in a creditable manner. While some kickers will continue to kick, we firmly believe the majority will have a sympathetic understanding of the task these commissioners have and will give them proper credit for the job they are doing.

Scouts - Explorers Register for 1957

Thirty-eight boy scouts and explorers have been registered with Oakland Troop No. 31 and Explorer Post No. 31. Boy Scouts of America, for the year 1957, it was announced by W. Kenneth Johns, chairman of the Scout troop committee.

Eighteen of the boys are boy scouts and 18 are explorer scouts. Boy Scouts are under the direction of Ralph Fauber, scoutmaster and they meet each Thursday evening. Explorer scouts are directed by Delbert Gnegy and their meeting is Tuesday.

The organization is beginning its thirty-fourth year, having registered for the first time in 1921. A registration of all active scouts is required each year, along with members of the troop committees.

On the Troop committees are Dr. Harold C. Ashby, George H. Hanst, Robert J. Stanton, Mack J. Propst, Donald M. Browning. Dr. Ashby is chairman of the explorer post while Mr. Johns is chairman of the scout committee in addition to assistant scoutmaster. Bernard L. Gonder also assists. Gonder has been on the scout rolls since 1924 as one of the charter members of the troop. James McHenry is institutional representative of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club which sponsors both organizations.

A.A.U.W. To Meet

At the regular meeting of Garrett Branch, American Association of University Women on Monday night at the home of Mrs. Leo Helbig, a United Nations program will be presented.

In charge of the program will be Miss Bernice Idleman, one of the instructors who accompanied the group from Southern High school to the United Nations recently. Miss Idleman will prepare her program with assistance of Miss Doris Lawson and Miss Barbara Lou Glotfelty, two of the students who made the trip.

Evaluation Survey Is Being Conducted

The Commercial department of Southern High school is conducting a state wide evaluation survey that was suggested by the State Department of Education.

Three main purposes of the evaluation are:

1. To evaluate the business curriculum in the light of new development in business.
2. To further the understanding between employers and the school.
3. To furnish basic data for the development of an up-to-date curriculum in business education so that the department can improve its program in the light of these new developments.

The survey consists of over one hundred and twenty-five questions and a copy of the questions are being sent to all 1955 graduates.

From the information obtained the school will study its business education program as now offered with the view of enriching it so that it more nearly meets the needs of students and, as well, conforms to current business practices.

Presley Eludes 'Trap'

Elvis Presley, singing idol of many teen-agers, came close to being caught in a "trap" last Friday night. The 22-year-old entertainer reportedly stopped at Robeson's Restaurant, route 40, that evening. Riding in a yellow Cadillac bearing Tennessee license tags Presley had late dinner there.

He and two men with him left Robeson's shortly after 8:30. About an hour later an estimated 75 teenagers, returning from high school basketball games at Salisbury and Northern High, jammed the restaurant.

Apparently a customer had recognized both the car and the singer and had spread the word. Mrs. Robeson said one of the men in the party entered the restaurant first and when he saw no other customers Presley and the other man entered. Apparently they were enroute to New York where Presley appeared on the Ed Sullivan show Sunday night.

Literature Project Being Sponsored For Elementary Schools

In cooperation with the State Department of Education and the Division of Library Extension, Garrett county is sponsoring a special experimental project in literature for elementary schools. The program is a pilot study for elementary school teachers in the teaching of a planned program of literature in the elementary schools. The program is designed for a laboratory study and an attempt will be made to broaden the scope of the child's reading instruction in all content areas and related (in a broad sense) to all fields of knowledge for the elementary school child. Emphasis will be placed on the importance of developing skills in all phases of a reading program.

Twenty-five teachers, grades I to 6, are participating in the program. Meetings will be held twice monthly in the Ruth Enlow library. Books, films, exhibits and other resources needed for the study will be furnished by the Division of Library Extension.

Miss Mae Graham, State Department of Education Supervisor of School Libraries, and Miss Mary Lewis, a former teacher in the Horace Mann School, Teachers College, Columbia University, and a specialist in children's literature, will be consultants for the pilot study. Fees for consultant service will be paid by the State Department of Education.

Purposes of the program are to help the child keep his first enthusiasm for reading by giving him books which will continue to stimulate and motivate his desire to read; to provide an opportunity for children to see reading as a part of all their meaningful experiences, to provide the teacher with a background of knowledge of books which she can use for the above purpose in order to increase the child's reading skills and at the same time help him to get useful and desirable information, and to broaden the scope of the reading program to include reading instruction in all content areas.

The program is being brought to Garrett county through the efforts

Improvements to 2 Schools Discussed

Improvements to two existing school buildings came up for discussion at the regular meeting of the Board of Education on Tuesday. Schools involved were the Swan Meadow school and the Bittinger school.

Swan Meadow patrons had discussed with Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, the need for a new building.

Mr. Hawkins said the school was tentatively on the schedule for renovation this summer but the patrons pointed out the building was old and not worthy of having any sizable sum of money spent on it.

The Swan Meadow is one of two schools remaining in the county without central heating and inside toilets. Mr. Hawkins said he realized the poor condition of the building but felt nothing could be done on the project this year. The board asked the superintendent to see what plan could be worked out for an inexpensive building during the next budget year.

The School Board said it was difficult to see the need for the continuance of the school, in view of the fact that North Glade, a few miles away, was only about half full.

The board expressed the feeling that Bittinger school should be abandoned and the children transported either to North Glade, Accident or Grantsville. Mr. Hawkins said the small enrollments at North Glade and Bittinger made them the two most expensive schools in the county to operate. He said no final action would be taken by the board until the matter is further discussed with parents.

Improvements are now underway at the Swanton school. The basement assembly room has been completely renovated. New asphalt tile flooring has been installed, repairs made and the room decorated with the first coat of paint it has ever had. Improvements also are to be made to the two upstairs classrooms.

Pulpwood Producers Meet Tuesday Night

Charles Lockhard, Philadelphia, of the U. S. Forest Service, addressed members of the Pulpwood Producers cooperative at Westernport Tuesday evening. Lockhard pointed out the necessity of loyalty and the advantages they may obtain by working together.

Carl Stoltenbert, of the U. S. Forestry Economic Service, told how the cooperatives have improved the price received for oranges in California by packaging them better and giving the people something they want.

Thomas Hetz, president of the group, pointed out that members are able to buy things essential in their business at a cheaper price. Already 435 persons have indicated they will become members. There were 125 at the meeting.

Ralph Hames, Romney, attorney for the cooperative, said they would procure charters from three states, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland. The next meeting will be held February 5.

Sentencing Withheld

At a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland last Saturday morning William Sleeth, fourteen, pleaded guilty to charges of driving an automobile under the influence of liquor, reckless driving and operating an automobile without a driver's license. Sentencing was withheld until January 12.

Sleeth crashed into the store front of the Oakland Electric and Radio Service on the evening of December 31, causing damage estimated at $3,500.

Tree Planting Plan For Spring Is Told

Another big tree planting season is anticipated for this area with 635,000 pine seedlings available for spring planting on private lands in Garrett county. R. Thomas Thayer, Jr., assistant district forester, of Oakland, urged all persons desiring to plant trees for conservation purposes to contact him as soon as possible so that all orders could be processed. He added that persons wishing to plant should do this even if trees have been received in previous years because personnel limitations will make it impossible to visit all farms.

The forester stated that, as in other years, the evergreens are free of charge for conservation planting in the state of Maryland. Although thinnings are permitted for Christmas trees and other purposes, the land must remain in trees for a timber crop. Where the area is suitable, and at least five acres of land are involved, the Department of Forests and Parks will machine plant the trees at the rate of $10.00 per acre. Thayer suggested that landowners interested in planting should visit the Agricultural Conservation Program office in Oakland to find out if they are eligible to participate in the cost sharing program provided by the government for tree planting, fencing, land clearing and other conservation practices. Inquiries for trees may also be directed to the County Agent, Soil Conservation Service, and the ACP office in Oakland.

Plans To Introduce Four Local Measures

Four bills are to be introduced by State Senator Clifford Friend of Accident at this session of the General Assembly, three of which will pertain to the financial operation of the county.

Senator Friend announced one measure would require an annual audit of the county's finances by a certified public accountant.

Two others would affect only the Garrett County Roads department. One of them will require the Garrett County Commissioners to appoint a chief clerk who will be responsible for keeping an account of the department's records.

The other would direct the county commissioners to hire a public accountant to set up a "workable" bookkeeping system for the roads department.

A fourth bill is being designed to provide for better enforcement of the Garrett County beer law, the senator revealed.

Church Makes Effort To Collect Clothing To Send Overseas

Following a letter from a soldier in Germany who formerly resided in Loch Lynn, the Ev. United Brethren church there is making a drive to collect clothing to be sent overseas.

The letter, from Sp2 c Walter L. Moon, a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Moon, stated "I can use any and all the clothing you can send. Our service personnel office has calls for help most every day and we have to turn them away as we have nothing to give. There are Hungarian refugees in this area and they come with nothing except what they wear and some of that is skimpy.

"Our Protestant men of the chapel had a dinner at Heidelberg. Our guest speaker was Richard Brown, who is in charge of Hungarian relief. He said, 'We are handling them at the rate of 2,200 a day'."

Moon is stationed at Neurent, Germany. Members of the church in charge of this drive are making that clothing bundles be left at the church in Loch Lynn, which is open, or at the Holler Taxi service in Oakland, or send to Sp2 c Walter L. Moon, RA 13511146, Hq Co., 17th Sig. Bn., (OPA) APO 164, New York, N. Y. The women also stated that cash for postage would be appreciated and that the cash could be sent to Mrs. Moon, at Mt. Lake Park. Additional information is available by calling DE 4-2735.

Sent To Training School

At a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer one day this week a juvenile of fifteen years of age was sentenced to the Maryland Training school for a period that might run as long as two years.

The youth was charged with refusing to attend school.

Students Receive Initial Polio Shots

Two hundred eighty-seven Junior High school students at Southern received their initial polio vaccine inoculations late last month, Kenneth Johns, principal, announced today.

Assisting Dr. Jones, county health physician and his staff, were several students who are members of the Future Nurses Club of America sponsored at the school by Mrs. Bessie Price. They were Jarlath DeWitt, Barbara Kreyenbuhl, Sylvia Nazelrod and Mary Mae Pangh.

Senior High school students will have an opportunity to receive their first inoculations on January 11, when Dr. Jones and his staff return to the school. Junior High students who have received their first inoculation will receive their second shot on Friday, January 18. Senior High students will receive their second shot about the middle of February. The third injection will be administered next fall.

Dr. Jones indicated that as many students as possible should take advantage of these free inoculations. "No one knows where this dread disease will strike next," he stated. Students must have permission from their parents before they can receive these inoculations, he also said. Permission slips can be obtained from the school.

Board Of Education Discusses Proposed School Program

The proposed state-wide school program to go before the legislature was discussed by the Board of Education at its regular meeting on Tuesday.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the main item of concern to the board was the matter of teachers' salaries. He pointed out that county teacher salaries were constantly falling behind those being paid in most other counties and that it was of utmost importance to county schools to support the state salary program. School board members already had gone on record unanimously in favor of the proposed legislation.

Mr. Hawkins also reported that 41 different bus extensions had been made during the school years 1955-56 and 1956-57, totaling an additional 355 miles of travel per day, and providing better transportation service.

Cost of school transportation in 1955-56 was $274,062.30 and it will be $296,894.01 this year, with most of the increase being due to the $183 increase per bus received by each contractor. He said that bonuses for dirt road drivers, if allowed this year, were not included in these figures.

Discuss Report

The board discussed in detail the prepared report of the county superintendent involving teaching staff, educational program, building and construction program, supplies and equipment and transportation.

Covering a two-year period the report covered the progress that had been made. Reports were mailed to interested school patrons. Others are available at the Court House.

All custodians and school cafeteria employees are to be protected under social security, it was announced following approval of the school budget. Employer's share for cafeteria workers comes from cafeteria funds, but the employer's share for school custodians must come from county funds with an approximate cost of $1,200 annually.

No increase appears in the cost

To Sell Peanuts For Polio Saturday

Teen-agers will be on the streets of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, Deer Park and Crellin on Saturday, January 12, to urge citizens to "Shell Out for Polio," while they distribute bags of peanuts for polio in return for contributions to the 1957 March of Dimes.

This phase of the campaign is being done under auspices of the American Legion, with Rev. John J. Atwell heading the committee. Twenty-five hundred bags of peanuts are available.

No price has been set for each bag of peanuts to be sold. The teen-agers will accept any amount for the peanuts, since the primary purpose is to raise as much money as possible for the March of Dimes.

Principals Conduct Monthly Meeting

Principals of Garrett County schools, along with the instructional supervisors, held their monthly meeting in the Court House Wednesday afternoon. A discussion of the superintendent's summary report on the work of the instructional supervisors was a feature.

The report dealt with a twelve point program necessary to be established if a school program is to be a good one, and the procedures by which supervisors, principals and teachers should coordinate their efforts in order to make such a program a reality.

The twelve point program under discussion included the wise and intelligent use of textbooks by pupils and teachers; planned grouping to provide best learning situations possible for all children; an adequate amount of the total school day spent in the fundamental areas in all twelve grades; emphasis on the value of the school library as the center of intellectual challenge in the school; a program so planned that adjustments are made for the wide range of individual differences existing in nearly every school and classroom; a reasonable amount of time spent in special areas such as art, music, physical education, journalism, dramatics, etc.; opportunities for children to become creative; a program where each teacher is a guidance teacher; a program that directs and inspires teachers to improve their knowledge in both subject and related fields; a program that limits the time demanded of teachers in attending meetings unless there is a felt need for such meetings on part of the teachers attending; a program that accepts each teacher as an individual with varying aptitudes and capabilities and thus one which does not expect all teachers to use the same procedures in the same way; a program where teacher morale and educational results are important.

Through the coordination of effort on the part of the professional staff of the schools this twelve point program is being developed in order to give every boy and girl in Garrett county a thorough and well-rounded education in both our elementary and high schools, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

Retires From Bank Position

J. M. Jarboe retired as assistant cashier of the Garrett National Bank in Oakland, effective December 31, and is now at his home on Alder street.

Mr. Jarboe served in various capacities at the present institution and the organization before it, for forty-five years of [illegible] gone to work there prior to 1910.

Commissioners Keep $2.00 Tax Rate for 1957

Levy Being Completed This Week; County To Spend $920,174 In Year

The Garrett County Commissioners, in winding up the annual levy this week, announced they were keeping the county tax rate at $2.00 per each $100 of assessable property.

The county will operate on an expected revenue of $920,174.73 and of this amount some $637,000 will come from the county tax rate of $2 on a taxable basis of $31,881,345, less an allowance of some $20,000 for discounts, insolvencies, etc., allowed taxpayers.

Other estimated income of approximately $300,000 includes uncollected taxes of $80,826.50, automobile license fee taxes of $45,000, beer tax of $47,000, the county's share of income tax of $15,000 and other lesser items. Cash on hand amounts to $63,089.38 which includes $51,000 levied for voting machines last year which was never spent.

School System

The school system of the county will receive $332,901 with $12,900 as the county share of teachers salaries, $16,500 as school share of motor vehicle license fees, $261,900 for Board of Education operating expense; $13,051, debt service; $16,150 for incentive fund; $12,200 for capital outlay; and $200 for Maryland School for the Blind.

The county library fund totaled $6,377.28, with the Ruth Enlow library also receiving 85 percent of the county marriage license fee of $2,720. The other 15 percent of the special license fee of $480 goes to the Garrett County Historical society.

The County Welfare Board will receive $54,703.14 with most of this necessary to qualify for Federal and State contributions. The total is about the same as last year.

The Commissioners made provision for $61,469.45 for the Garrett County Memorial hospital which included debt service of $18,708 on both the hospital and addition to the hospital. The hospital this year will receive $11,238 from the natural gas fund since all money over $50,000 annually goes to the hospital and the gas tax fund exceeded $50,000 this year. The hospital operating expense was listed at $29,000, but with the natural gas fund placed under this category, the levy for this item totaled only $17,761.45.

The Commissioners levied $80,000 for the county roads department. The election fund levy totaled $65,000 which included $60,000 for registration and election capital outlay, which means voting machines.

School Bonds and Interest

Under school bonds and interest it was noted that 1949 bonds to be paid amount to $75,000 with interest of $18,750; state bonds of $39,629.96, with $11,273.90 as interest on state bonds and $14,250 as interest on 1956 school bonds, or a total of $158,903. Subtracting the state incentive fund of $48,950, the county incentive fund of $16,150, and the natural gas fund of $50,000, leaves $43,803.86 to be levied for paying off the bonds and interest. This is $10,000 less than was needed for the same item last year.

Other items in the levy include $13,700 for legislative and executive; $21,965 for judicial; $79,700 for finance; $750 for legal counsel; $45,500 for general government buildings, $29,300 for public safety; $24,915 for conservation of health; $3,300 for correction; $12,295 for public service enterprise; $4,120 for liquor board and $35,875 for miscellaneous. A contingent fund of $15,000 was included in the miscellaneous section.

The detailed levy will be published in The Republican next week and for the following two weeks.

The state tax rate this year has been set at 1.125 on each $100 of assessment.

Announcement of the tax rate was made by H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the County Commissioners. Mr. Swartzentruber said a few of the figures might vary slightly from the ones listed above but that the $2 rate was definite. The levy must be completed by January 15.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

The Oneness of Purpose

Studying people is an interesting sport. When I go to ball games and the fanfare is over I just settle back and watch people—mostly married couples.

Sometimes I can barely contain my laughter as the families stream in, because the husbands and wives look so much alike. They'll have the same slimness or heaviness, the same droop or sparkle—whatever the expression it is one of sameness.

There are the C. F. Rollmans, Bud Lohrs, Clayton and Harve Winters, the Leslie Rodeheavers, and many others whom I don't know.

At a farming for better living banquet the similarity is even more noticeable. The little booklet entitled "The Round-Up of Champions" for 1956 clearly points it out. Expressions and purpose of life have more to do with looks than features. The expressions on the faces of these county winners almost told how far they had advanced toward successful living. The younger they are the more drive there is in the fact.

Our own Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Bishoff was the best example of a team which pulls together except that their expressions show that they once pulled harder than they are now pulling. A look of happy contentment and peace with oneself is stamped on both faces, making them look very much alike. My guess is when they were first married there wasn't one speck of resemblance. I can't imagine even in their blooming youth they could have been as good looking as they are now.

It's Just An Idea

The business and professional men and farmers have been working together trying to interest industry in coming to Garrett county. I understand Lowell Loomis has worked out a fine brochure that will give manufacturers a clear picture of what we have.

But have they thought of pointing out to them that here is a place for families to build a fine life together?

To prove it take along pictures of our people. What shows in the faces of the Hobart Bishoffs is what I'm talking about. We can find them by the dozens—on each side of me the Custers and the Porters—on each side of you—and no doubt you. Show these pictures and compare them with faces of those on city streets, in subways and traffic jams, and these executives will see the difference.

"A good life as well as a good living" is The Farmer's Wife slogan. Garrett has that opportunity.

Sewing a-la-Mode

Elizabeth Randol, while demonstrating a short cut to smooth sewing, was philosophizing as she sewed. "Why not take the short cut? There's so many wonderful things to do. Why, we'll never live long enough to do them."

"And yet I make rugs," sighed Opal Martin, from Red House.

"But I don't! I just do it to get rid of the rags!"

—o—

One of the mothers went home from class bragging that she had made an "A."

"Doing what?" asked her son.

"On threading a needle," she replied.

Gee, I wish I could! Somehow the eye of the needle is on the line of my bifocals giving it two eyes. It does absolutely no good to try to feel your way.

—o—

"That's about the way one would put a cuff on a pair of trousers," someone suggested.

"Oh, don't tell me I'm going to have to get into that!" came a groan. "My husband has always done his own."

—o—

A Sneak Ahead

We were learning to do a new sleeve placket like those on men's sport shirts. Works fine for little girls' skirt plackets, suggested the instructor.

"I've been doing that on Nancy's slacks," confessed Lois Glotfelty. "I called it my sneaky method for I thought I could get away with it until she was a teen-ager."

As my mother would have said, "It will never be noticed on a galloping horse." She and Mrs. Bishop would have really hit it off.

—o—

Proposal to raise postage rate on letters to five cents was under consideration by postoffice department. Congress must approve.

annual audit of school board accounts would be made early in February by George McLaughlin and Associates, certified public accountants.

The board approved submission for bids the needs for paint, underlayment board, asphalt tile flooring and lumber to be used in the school improvement program this summer. All county dealers are to be invited to submit bids.

Mr. Hawkins told the board he was endeavoring to get Bishop Bromley Oxnam to be speaker for the opening teachers' meeting in August, 1957, and there was some hope he would accept the invitation.

Board members, the superintendent, supervisors and financial secretary are planning to attend the Atlantic City Conference of School Administrators February 16 to 20. Mr. Hawkins will attend a state curriculum meeting in Baltimore Friday and is in that city today looking over furniture and kitchen equipment for the new schools.

Two Industries Of County Publciized In Sunday Papers

Two industries of the county came in for their share of publicity in Cumberland and Baltimore newspapers of this past Sunday.

The article about Mr. Pettit's plant appeared in the Baltimore Sunday Sun rotogravure section, under the title "The Birth of a Louisville Slugger." It told of the manufacture of Louisville Slugger baseball bats from white ash trunks, and turned out by lathes, afterwards being sent to Louisville, Ky. From 80,000 to 200,000 blanks are turned out yearly at Grantsville. So also are equal numbers of tenpin blanks which go to a Michigan finisher.

Several pictures of the Kaese mill, one of the few remaining grist mills in operating condition, are shown in the Cumberland Sunday Times. Powered by a water wheel, the mill was built at the beginning of the Civil War by Henry August Kaese. After his death it was operated by Henry August Kaese II, his son. In 1931 the mill became the property of Mrs. Clifford Friend, daughter of H. A. Kaese. The mill is used today mainly to grind wheat and buckwheat.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

This week, we will start a new series of articles under the general heading, "Important events in the life of Jesus." The first subject under consideration will be the baptism of Jesus.

The account of Jesus' baptism is recorded in all four of the Gospels: Mark 1:9-11; Luke 3:21-22 and John 1:31-34. All accounts agree in the general account of this event. As it is recorded by Matthew, this is what happened: "Then Jesus came from Galilee to the Jordan to John to be baptized by him. John would have prevented Him, saying, 'I need to be baptized by you, and do you now come to me?' But Jesus answered him, 'Let it be so now; for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness'. Then he consented and when Jesus was baptized, he went up immediately from the water, and behold the heavens were opened and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting on him; and lo, a voice from heaven saying, 'This is My beloved Son with Whom I am well pleased'."

As to the question, "Why would Jesus come to be baptized if He were sinless?" we can find no definite answer as far as the scriptures are concerned, but some of the most prevalent ideas on the situation find Him allying Himself with the movement of John, as any good Jew would have done. Dr. G. A. Butterick, in the Interpretor's Bible, treats this event as a "commissioning service" for Christ, and suggests that, in His humanity, Christ could not have completely understood His mission on earth, and that this was the culmination of a series of events, which finally and completely convinced Christ that He was, in spite of His humanity, the Son of God. This in turn leads to the Christian statement about Christ's personality that He was both completely human and completely divine, the only "two hundred percent" being that ever existed.

But any way we look at it, this was definitely the starting point of Christ's ministry, and as such we do well to think in terms of the humility expressed in this act. As John pointed out, Christ should be baptizing him, yet Christ preferred to identify Himself with the sins of humanity right from the beginning. This was God in human form. He continually had the problem of proving His identity. There was the constant struggle then as now, between making Christ just divine, or just human.

It is fitting to notice that in the humility expressed in His allowing John to baptize Him as a sinful human, His divinity was clearly and definitely expressed by the Voice of God, in the form of a dove.

These struggles with Himself, and with His fellow men were to plague Him the rest of His life. We shall see the first of these great struggles next week when we consider the Temptation of Jesus.

RECENT BRIDE—Miss Betty Ann Kitzmiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kitzmiller, of Oakland, became the bride of Ralph Edward Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shaw, of West Finley, Pa., on December 22. The bride wore a light blue ballerina length dress of lace over taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. The couple left for a short wedding trip to Virginia. They are residing in Washington, Pa.

Winter Moving In

Winter weather was moving in on Garrett county today after a day of rainfall which brought the streams to the top of their banks and melted a good portion of the snow which had fallen during the week.

But rain began to fall shortly after noon on Wednesday and continued throughout the balance of the day and Thursday morning, totaling almost two inches. There was some thunder and lightning Wednesday night, indicating much colder weather to come, and this was borne out by rapidly falling temperature and a strong west wind on Thursday morning, accompanied by snow.

MARRIED

Wolf-Renkin—Donna Irene Renkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Renkin, Racine, Minn., and Kenneth Lee Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Barnes, of Cumberland, exchanged wedding vows at the Methodist church in Racine, on Sunday, December 2.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 2 p. m. by the Rev. Harold Clark before an altar decorated with red feathered carnations, white pompons and snapdragons backed by holly leaves.

Miss Sally McBride was the organist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of white chantilly lace, fashioned on princess lines with a portrait collar. Her finger-tip veil was of seed pearls. Her bouquet, of red rosebuds and white carnations was encircled by holly leaves.

Bridal attendants were Carlo Sikink, Rochester, Minn., as maid of honor, and Carolyn Sparrow, a cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid. Deborah Renkin, sister of the bride, was flower girl. All wore ballerina gowns of aqua lace over taffeta. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of feathered red carnations, white pompons with holly leaves. Best man was Thomas Schuh, of Rochester, and groomsman was Marlo Renkin, brother of the bride. Ushers were Jack Thomas and Emil Schultz. The bride's mother wore a chocolate brown dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Barnes chose for her son's wedding, a beige dress with brown accessories and yellow rosebud corsage.

A reception for 140 guests was given by the bride's parents in the church parlor following the ceremony.

Out of town guests were present from Cumberland; Dodge Center, Rochester and Plainview, Minn. The bride is a graduate of the Stewartville High school and the Hambolt Institute in Minneapolis and is a Northwestern Bell Telephone company operator. The groom is stationed at the air force base at Rochester, Minn. Following a wedding trip the couple will be at home at 1000 13th avenue in Rochester. For traveling the bride was attired in a black tweed suit with blue accessories. Mrs. Wolf was honored at several pre-nuptial showers.

Wed December 16 at Bayard

The marriage of Miss Jenny Lynn Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shaffer, of Bayard, W. Va., to Robert L. Kuhn, son of Mrs. Treva Grossman, of Baltimore, and the late Grant Kuhn, took place Sunday afternoon, December 16, at the Evangelical United Brethren church at Bayard.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Grover Poole, of Bayard. Baskets of white mums and candelabra of lighted tapers decorated the church.

A program of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Nunzio Barbera, of Keyser, W. Va., aunt of the bride, who accompanied Mrs. Shirley Renn, of Gormania, W. Va., who sang "Because," "Calm as the Night," and "I Love Thee." Following the ceremony and while the couple knelt at the altar Mrs. Renn sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white bridal satin and chantilly lace with net over the floor-length skirt. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion tulle was fastened to a tiara of white satin with seed pearls and translucent sequins. She carried a white Bible, topped with a white orchid and satin streamers tied in love knots, tipped with rose buds.

Mrs. Marjorie Moyers, of New Market, Va., was matron of honor. Miss Julia Shaffer, sister of the bride, Bayard, and Miss Sandra Slade, Orange, Va., were bridesmaids. The matron of honor wore a gown of deep rose, fashioned of Marquisette over taffeta and carried pink poinsettias; while the bridesmaids wore gowns of green marquisette over talfeta and carried red poinsettias. Their head bands were of rhinestones.

Darrell Kuhn, Baltimore, served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Munzio Barbera, Keyser, and Ray Evans, of Bayard. Stacy Shockey, of Johnstown, Pa., was flower girl and wore a rose gown, made complementary to the matron of honor. She carried a basket of rose petals. Martin Frantz, of Akron, O., served as ring bearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Shaffer, at Bayard. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the bride's table. Mrs. A. C. Shaffer served the wedding cake and Mrs. Jayne Frantz, Akron, and Mrs. Gladys Nine, Bayard, presided at the punch bowl. Miss Rita Barbera, Keyser, and Miss Connie Harvey, Bayard, were assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Kuhn is a graduate of Bayard High school and is a senior in Madison college, Harrisonburg, Va., from where she will be graduated in June. Mr. Kuhn is employed at the Kaiser Aluminum corporation in Baltimore. The couple will reside in Baltimore after June.

What Grandmother did that Granddaughter doesn't!

For one thing Grandmother spent 5½ hours a day in the kitchen. Granddaughter doesn't—she spends about an hour and a half.

Plenty of low-price electricity is the biggest part of the reason why. There's more than enough to do your cooking, your mixing, your dishwashing, your water heating.

And America's more than 400 independent electric companies are planning and building ahead so there will be plenty for Granddaughter's granddaughter, too.

In fact, you can be sure of plenty of electricity always when you are served by an independent electric company like this one.

330,000 State Sportsmen Spend 28 Million Dollars

A statewide hunting and fishing survey sponsored by the Maryland Game and Inland Fishing Commission reveals that 330,000 Maryland people 12 years old and over fished and hunted in the state during 1955, spending a total of $28,354,000 for their sport, according to Ernest A. Vaughn, Director.

The Maryland survey, conducted in connection with a nationwide survey for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, was made to obtain information on the number of individuals engaged in recreational hunting and fishing and the effects these sports have on the state's economy.

"We feel that there are more people interested in hunting and fishing than in all other major sports combined. Results of this study should show everyone in the state just how important our fish and wildlife resources are in money value in addition to the great recreational outlet they afford," Vaughn said.

The Maryland survey showed that 30 percent of the households in the state have at least one fisherman or hunter. In these households, 278,000 people fished, 124,000 hunted in 1955. Of those fishing, 130,000 fished in fresh water, 203,000 in salt water. Of those hunting, 109,000 hunted small game, 40,000 big game and 17,000 hunted waterfowl. Some of these did more than one type of hunting and fishing or both.

Average expenditure during 1955 per fisherman 12 years and over was $70.30. This was divided as follows: For equipment, $20.77; for trips, $46.29; for licenses, 83c; for all other expenses, $2.41.

Fishermen spent a total of $19,543,000 for angling. This was $7,150,000 for fresh water fishing and $12,393,000 for salt water fishing.

Average expenditure per hunter 12 years and over was $71.06. This money was spent as follows: For equipment, $28.67; for trips, $18.10; for licenses, $3.67; and for all other expenses, 95c.

Hunters spent a total of $8,811,000 for their sport. This was $2,154,000 for big game hunting, $5,300,000 for small game hunting and $1,357,000 for waterfowl hunting. The survey showed that hunters spent $2,439,000 for dogs and their upkeep.

A detailed breakdown on hunting and fishing expenditures showed that outdoor sportsmen spent $5,855,000 on rods, reels, guns, ammunition and related items in addition to $3,473,000 for general equipment such as tents, boats and others. Trip expenditures included $1,363,000 for food, $1,295,000 for lodging; $3,063,000 for automobile transportation and $9,393,000 for non-auto transportation, refreshments, baits, guides, rentals, etc. License fees and duck stamps amount to $686,000; all other expenditures $3,227,000 which included dogs and dog care, club dues, magazines, and a variety of miscellaneous expenses.

The 330,000 hunters and anglers spent 6,172,000 days hunting and fishing.

A total of 169,775,000 passenger miles were traveled by hunters and fishermen which included 139,375,000 miles traveled by 278,000 fishermen and 30,400,000 by 124,000 hunters.

"This study should give everybody a better idea of the economic importance of hunting and fishing," Vaughn stated, "and will at the same time give the Commission invaluable information in planning fish and game management for the future."

Federal Tax Forms Now In the Mail

The 1956 federal income tax forms are being mailed out to some 1,650,000 taxpayers in the Baltimore district which comprises Maryland and the District of Columbia.

District Director of Internal Revenue asked the taxpayers to file their tax returns as early as possible. Self help again is to be stressed, meaning that taxpayers are being asked to complete as much of their return as possible before seeking help from the department. The 1956 forms are almost identical with last year's.

Instruction sheets on how to prepare an income tax return with tax tables accompanying the form are now in the mails. If the taxpayers do not receive a tax form in the mail the forms can be obtained from the Custom House, Room 130, Internal Revenue Bldg., 222 East Redwood street, Baltimore, or from banks and postoffices.

Northern High Edges Bayard, 36 To 35

The Huskies of Northern High school, in a thrilling ball game, handed Bayard High its sixth loss of the year as they won in the final minute by the score of 36 to 35 at Cove last Friday night.

Tom Schroyer of Northern tied the score with a foul shot late in the game but Miller, a substitute, put Bayard ahead at 35 to 34. Then Schroyer sank his only basket of the game to win for the Huskies.

The game was featured by close guarding and Schroyer was high for the team with six points. Robeson scored 4, Sear 4, Glass 2, Mickey 4, C. Humberson 5, Hetrick 5, McKenzie 4 and Fike 2.

R. Kuhn led Bayard with 18 tallies while Kopfle made 4 points, M. Kuhn 4, Miller 7 and Moreland 2. Layman and Kitzmiller were non-scoring.

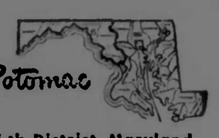
Northern scored 12 field goals to 11 for Bayard and made 12 of 27 foul attempts. Bayard made 13 of 26 tries at the foul stripe. Northern led 19 to 16 at the half and held a 28-25 advantage at the end of the third period.

Social Security Rate Changes

Recent amendments have changed the tax rates under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (Social Security) and filing requirements under the Federal Unemployment Tax act, according to C. I. Fox, district director of internal revenue.

The new tax rates have been increased to 2¼ percent for employers and 2¼ percent for employees, or a total of 4½ percent. These rates are applicable to wages paid on or after January 1.

Along The Potomac



Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The 85th Congress is getting off to a slow start as it attempts to solve organizational problems. Although we have a Republican in the White House it is important to remember that the Democrats organized both Houses and have majorities and chairmanships of congressional committees.

It is important, too, to remember that all legislation must start anew. All bills introduced in the 84th Congress which failed of passage died with adjournment. No matter how far along a bill was at the close of the last Congress, it must be started all over again. That means reintroduction and new hearings before committees.

On the opening day, for example, I reintroduced my bill to establish the C. & O. Canal National Park. This bill must go through all of the steps required of new measures, but it does have the advantage of having already been studied by the interested departments of the government.

A new bill of mine was dropped into the hopper on the opening day of this Congress amending the Civil Service retirement act to provide annuity increases for retired federal workers. I believe that the incomes of our retired government employees should be adjusted to modern living costs.

I have also introduced a bill which would provide for adjustment of the legislative jurisdiction exercised by the United States over land in the states used for federal purposes. Enactment of this bill would return jurisdiction over Fort Detrick, for example, to Maryland and grant, among other privileges, the right to vote to citizens in that area.

I plan to press for legislation of importance to the people of the 6th Maryland District and to urge favorable consideration from committee chairmen.

On my calendar: Mrs. Hyde and I will be guests of the Bethesda Fire Board at its annual dinner meeting on January 9. I plan to attend the Annual Touchdown Club Award Dinner on January 12; later that evening Mrs. Hyde and I will join the members at their dance to be held at the Indian Spring Country Club—of the Izaak Walton League. Mrs. Hyde and I will be guests at the annual congressional dinner of the Maryland Real Estate Association on January 14. I expect to be present as a guest of the Frederick County Fish and Game Association at its annual dinner meeting in Frederick on January 16.

Seal Sale Is Up

Although the 1956 Christmas Seal sale is lagging behind last year's record drive by more than $14,000 in the state, the Allegany-Garrett county returns showed an increase of 5.1 percent.

Figures showed receipts of $13,858.78 in these two counties, an increase of $668.76.

As of December 15, latest date for complete returns, $313,408.23 had been raised through the sale of Christmas Seals in Maryland. Of the total $205,910.41 had been raised by county groups and $107,497.82 in Baltimore city.

Secretary Weeks said business may expand at slower rate in 1957 but the economy as a whole should "set records."

MARRIED

Miller - Robeson — Miss Wilma Anne Robeson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robeson, Lonaconing, became the bride of Ronald Creed Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Miller, of Grantsville, at 2 o'clock, December 30, in the Evangelical and Reformed church, New Germany.

Rev. Paul Westcoat, student minister, performed the ceremony assisted by Rev. Walter Otto.

The altar was decorated with gladioli, baby mums, and ferns.

Miss Joyce Warnick played a program of nuptial music including, "I Love You Truly" and accompanied Miss Doris Hummel, cousin of the bride, solist, who sang, "Because" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white lace over taffeta designed with fitted bodice and high neckline with which she wore wrist length mitts. Her veil of French illusion fell from a half shell of lace outlined with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible with white rosebuds caught with white satin streamers knotted with lilies of the valley and fern.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Irva Chenoweth, Baltimore, was matron of honor. She was attired in a ballerina length gown of aqua net over taffeta with matching headpiece and shoes. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow pompons and pink rosebuds with pink and yellow streamers.

The bride's mother was attired in a navy blue sheath dress with matching accessories. She wore a pink rosebud corsage.

The groom's mother, wore a two-piece navy-blue gown with an oval neckline designed with seed pearls. She wore beige accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Vernon Miller, of Pittsburgh, Pa. was his brother's best man. Ushers were Robert Chenoweth, Baltimore, and William Baer, brothers-in-law, of Cumberland.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Springs recreation center. The bride's table was decorated with three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, triple candleholders with lighted tapers, fern and white mums.

Later, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Delaware and cities in the east. They will live with the bridegroom's parents for the present.

The bride is a graduate of Valley High school, Lonaconing, class of 1956. The bridegroom attended Northern High school and at the present time is taking a mechanical drafting course in Chicago Technical college while employed with his father as a moulder at Miller Pattern and Bronze, Meyersdale, Pa.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pelto, Vienna, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Joseph Robeson, Shepherdstown, W. Va.; Miss Verna Wiatt Bedford, Pa.; Miss Kathy Hershberger, Detroit, Mich.

Eisenhower named John Hay Whitney as ambassador to Britain.

THEY'RE GOING TO STICK A NEEDLE IN ME

Yes, Sonny, we do it all the time!

Mommie holds you in her lap. And that nice, friendly doctor gets the needle ready. Then . . . OUCH! And there's one less disease for you to worry about.

If only it were that easy to protect you from some of the other diseases that infest the world . . . the plagues that eat away man's moral and spiritual fibre.

So it requires wise parents, and Christian homes, and worshipping families, and vigorous churches to get you ready for a noble, happy life.

Better take it up Sunday with your folks: ISN'T IT TIME FOR ALL OF US TO GO TO CHURCH?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Dirty, And Also Dumb

Usually, it is the second Congress—not the Lame-duck one following a presidential election in which presidential politics saturates the legislative body and is uppermost in the minds of the party leaders. Normally, therefore, this condition should not characterize the Eighty-fifth Congress which convened a few days ago but the Eighty-sixth Congress which is not elected until November of 1958.

But the Democrats simply will not have it that way, and many of those who consider themselves more or less molders of party policy have already begun to maneuver, discuss and attitudinize as though they were already facing 1958. Some of the more astute, such as Senator Johnson, of Texas; Speaker Rayburn, also of Texas, and Senator Byrd, of Virginia, have refused to commit themselves to the idea that anything the newly elected President proposes must be opposed just because he proposes it. This idea, some reliable observers believe, emanates largely from Mr. Walter Reuther, the dominant political figure in the AFL-CIO combination and very influential in the Americans for Democratic Action and the "liberal" wing generally.

Mr. Reuther's personal bitterness toward the President was convincingly exhibited in both 1952 and 1956. But he is even more bitter toward the Vice President, Mr. Nixon. In this feeling he is in hearty accord with his recently repudiated friends, the Messrs. Stevenson and Kefauver. Of course, there is no way in which any of these embittered gentlemen of the last campaign can hurt Mr. Eisenhower politically. If his age were not a bar, the recent constitutional amendment makes it impossible for him to run for a third term. He, therefore, is in the strong position of being able to disregard partisan politics and capitalize on his great popularity without being subjected to the personal attacks which turned out to be so completely futile in the past.

Obviously, however, Mr. Nixon will continue to be the target of the so-called "liberals." Evidence of this was clearly given last week when the old New Deal-Fair Deal commentators and propagandists seized upon the Vice President's recent visit to Austria to assert that this was entirely a "publicity stunt" conceived by Mr. Nixon himself. The charge was that Mr. Nixon induced the President to play his game for him. Of course, there was not even a trace of truth in these stories. Mr. Nixon had no thought of going to Austria until the President, supported by Secretary Dulles, sent for him and asked him to go. Mr. Nixon, of course, responded, discharged his assignment creditably and returned without ostentation or bombast.

Despite the absence of the slightest foundation for this rather contemptible allegation, it is typical of Mr. Nixon's opponents in the two recent campaigns. They believe—and probably with reason—that Mr. Nixon is more likely to be the Republican presidential nominee four years hence than anyone else. If there is any way to render him unavailable, no matter how untimely, they are going to do it—or at least try. That, to be sure, is their privilege, and if it drenches this session of Congress, which ought to be relatively free, with 1960 presidential politics it can't be helped. They believe right now that Mr. Nixon is more likely to be the Republican candidate than anyone else. That being so, the policy of certain Democratic spokesmen seems to be to smear him in every possible way from now out.

This, of course, is not only dirty but dumb. For one thing, Mr. Nixon clearly thrives on it. In two campaigns now Democratic candidates and spokesmen have charged him with every crime in the political calendar. Not one of them has been proven and not one of them has stuck. So far from destroying him his enemies seem to have built him up, and concededly he is stronger now than at any period in his career. If they are going to begin now to repeat the old denunciation of Mr. Nixon, they are certainly going to bore the great American people. And if they can find nothing newer or more solid than this latest effort to disparage him, they are going to seem ridiculous. In addition, they will make more sure his nomination and increase his chances of election. There is reason to believe Mr. Nixon knows all this—and is not disturbed.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Matthew 3:4; Devotional Reading: Hebrews 4:14-16.

Tempted We Are

Lesson for January 13, 1957

EVERYBODY is a sinner yet not everybody is tempted to the same sin. But being tempted is not a sign of sin. The church believes that the same Jesus who "in every respect has been tempted as we are" (Hebrews 4:15) nevertheless was tempted without sinning. It would be a mistake to suppose that in order to be tempted as we are, Jesus would have to have been tempted to all the sins there are. What this means is simply that the way he was tempted is the way we are tempted.

Dr. Foreman

At Highest Moments

One thing we can learn from Christ's temptations is that it is not possible in this life to be guaranteed freedom for temptation. In the first place, it can be said that only serious-minded high-principled people know what real temptation is. Weak, flabby, frivolous persons fall to pull or push, they drop into sin like a stone into water. You can't feel temptation without resisting. Low-minded people do what they feel like doing without thinking. They aren't even aware they have sinned. They are like dirty little boys who can't see the sense in washing — they feel clean enough! It is the clearly person who is conscious of dirt on his hands or clothes. So only the person with real convictions and ideals can feel the tug of temptation. It is only people with consciences who can be tempted to go against their conscience. Now-minded people, people who really want to please God, often wish they could reach a stage in life where they wouldn't have to struggle to be good and to do right. But the story of Jesus shows that this is a false hope. Jesus had just been baptized when his great temptations came. If ever there was a consecrated, holy person, it was Jesus at that time. If ever there was a person filled with the Holy Spirit, it was he. Yet Matthew tells us that Jesus was led by the Spirit to be tempted! In life's highest and holiest moments one is tempted to say, Now I am safe. But that may be the very moment the great struggle begins.

Tempted to Do Good

Again, the story of Jesus shows that sin may not always be something evil in itself. The three temptations of Jesus illustrate three levels of temptation, three levels of sin. Falling down and worshiping Satan is obviously the sin of sins. Jumping off a temple roof isn't so much wicked as it is foolish; but playing the fool is still sin. (If the President of the United States rolled his Secretary of State down Pennsylvania Avenue in a wheel-barrel, it might not be wicked, but for him it would be very wrong indeed.) But taking stones into bread —" That would be a helpful thing in a country full of poor people. Nothing was said about Jesus using the bread for himself alone. And if he could turn stones into bread he could turn them into medicine, into meat, mansions . . . Not wicked, not foolish. But still wrong; because Jesus was commissioned to do something more profound, more radical than supplying people with bread. He came to change men from the inside, to feed their souls. So we, like the Master, are sometimes tempted to do what is good, when what is better is possible. "To choose a lesser good," said Prof. W. M. Urban, "in the presence of a greater, is the essence of wrong."

Sword of the Spirit

Another way in which the Christian can learn from Christ's temptations is by observing how he met them. He did not play around with them. He did not say, "Well, there is something in what you say." He did not debate what for him was not debatable. And he met each temptation with a word from God's Word. Each of the quotations he makes, (It is written) came from the same book of the Old Testament, Deuteronomy. If Jesus could find help, in time of temptation, in his Bible, surely the Christian of today is cutting himself off from a major source of strength if when temptation comes the best he can think of is, "I am sure there is a verse in the Bible about this somewhere, but I can't think what it is." The best way to have the Bible ready for daily help is not to have it on a shelf but to have it as a treasure in the mind.

Police Make Report On Parking Tickets

City policemen of Oakland distributed an average of 25 parking tickets per day excluding Sundays and holidays, during the past year, a report of Henry Arnold, police chief, to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland reveals.

The report was made to the council at its regular monthly meeting Monday night.

Arnold's report showed 7,261 parking tickets written against motorists from thirty-one states. Of this number 6,921 persons paid their ten-cent fee, while 75 additional ones were collected through the city magistrate. Eighty-six out-of-state persons failed to pay and the record showed 49 short in the various jars.

Arnold also reported tickets were given to people residing in 75 towns with Maryland addresses. He also revealed that seven minor accidents happened during the year within the city limits, and that there were three cases where persons were charged with being drunk and disorderly.

The regular business session of council was brief and routine. Ralph Leighton and Lawrence Hardesty requested the town to replace the water line from the spring house, through the golf course, to the corporate line, a distance of about 1100 feet, and that the property owners outside the corporation line in that direction would then provide 700 additional feet of two-inch line to their homes. The council agreed.

S. R. Pagenhardt, representing James Fazzalari, requested the town to repair the stone wall along the alley between Alder and Green, on the Fazzalari property. The council agreed to make an inspection.

Ever since the tax bills had been sent out early last year council pointed out that Carson and Carroll Miller had been endeavoring to get the Council to cut down on their assessment of property, a portion of which they claimed was outside the corporation limits. Monday the street superintendent, Clyde Sines, made a survey and determined that three and one-half acres of the Miller property was beyond the corporate limits. This was assessed at $175.00, and amounted to a rebate on Millers' taxes of $1.58.

Monthly receipts reported by the clerk-collector, Mrs. Gladys Nordeck, amounted to $1,763.85, which included $777.28 from parking meters, and $2,237.50 from motor vehicle license fees. Expenditures amounted to $6,311.97 including $775 for police, $673.80 for street labor and $1,651.11 for street supplies.

Sunday movie tax amounted to $75.95.

F.T.A. Members Practice Teach

Thirteen senior FTA members did practice teaching in the three elementary schools at Accident, Grantsville, and Friendsville on Thursday and Friday, January 10 and 11. Thursday the students observed the classrooms and returned to Northern that afternoon. On Friday the seven elementary teachers observed in the 7th grade classes of the school while the student teachers had complete charge of their elementary classrooms until noon when they returned to school.

Students were luncheon guests of the schools which they served. Students who taught in Accident were Lorna Ault, Beverly Speicher, June Leydig and Ruth Hockman. Friendsville teachers were Carolyn Savage, Rosalee Sisler, Helen Brenneman, and Thelma Savage. Doris Ifummel, Merla Garlitz, Carole Durst, Maxine McKenzie and Dorothy Edgar were the Grantsville teachers. The project served to give these future teachers some experience in their chosen profession.

Receives Letter From Governor

A singular honor came to Northern High school last week when Gloria McCullough, a senior student, received a personal letter of congratulations from Governor Theodore R. McKeldin. It all happened like this: In November, a special project in creative writing was under way in Miss Kathryn Speicher's 12-2 English class. Gloria submitted a poem, "Thanksgiving Prayer" which was then published as an editorial in the Oakland Republican, November 22. On January 4, Gloria received a complimentary letter from the Governor congratulating her for the outstanding piece of work and sending personal regards to Gloria. The mystery was—How did the Governor know about the poem appearing in the Oakland Republican? Today, the mystery is solved because Gloria received a friendly note from a Baltimore CPA, F. W. Reis, who was a former resident of Deer Park and an ardent reader of The Republican. It was he, who as her long distance neighbor "treated" the Governor to a copy of our Garrett County paper containing the "Thanksgiving Prayer". Thanks, Neighbor!

Blackwater Park Opened Saturday

Capping off a million dollar improvement program, ultra-modern Blackwater Falls State Park lodge was dedicated Saturday, January 5.

Governor William Marland and governor-elect Cecil Underwood were scheduled but they couldn't make it. The snowy weather kept the Governor's plane grounded in Charleston and Underwood said press of duties kept him away. Edward Filler, representing the Blackwater Civic association, delivered the governor's already prepared speech.

There was a reception for members of the press at 5:30, following an inspection of the lodge by the general public.

Nehru, of India, for first time described Russia's role in Hungary as "aggression."

Saudi Arabia's king will visit United States this month.

Eisenhower learned officially, January 7, that he was re-elected.

Mrs. Robinson was active in the Homemaker club of Oakland, was a former president of the Lutheran Pastor's Aid, and during the Centennial celebration in Oakland in 1949 was named along with the late Dr. Joseph E. Harned to represent Oakland at the Centennial pageant, "Song of the Oaks."

A service was conducted in Washington Saturday afternoon, after which the body was brought to Oakland for additional services Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from St. Mark's Lutheran church, Rev. Charles Carlson, pastor, officiated. Interment was in Oakland cemetery. Pallbearers were Charles E. Arnold, Spring Grove, Pa., John J. Robinson, Jr., Baltimore; Donald R. Another Year . . . .

It is hard to believe but 1956 ran its course in what seemed like only a few months, and 1957 already is one-half a month past.

The year 1956 was one of general prosperity in the United States, of politics and international crises. It was a year in which the American people chose President Dwight D. Eisenhower to serve another four years, although giving him a Democratic House and Senate in the process.

It was a year in which Egypt's President Nasser precipitated an international crisis by seizing the Suez Canal. England, France and Israel precipitated another when they invaded the canal zone. It was also a year in which the Russians savagely attacked the free people of Hungary, a move which aroused the widespread sympathy of freedom-loving peoples everywhere, and started a movement against communism.

The United States stayed out of war—and prosperity for most Americans continued. It is true that many farmers, small business men and some workers did not enjoy the prosperity experienced by the majority.

The year 1957 may well be the year in which the economy makes or breaks itself. The President, in his State of the Union message, issued a plea that leaders of business and labor restrain themselves as to raising prices and wages. He emphasized that wage increases should be related to higher productivity if the economy is to remain healthy. If labor is wise it will heed the President's plea for caution. But will it?

At any rate, 1957 is a year of hope. It should be a year of prayer, also, in behalf of peace. Most of the economic forecasters and corporation executives predict another good year, so here's hoping that they know what they are talking about. May 1957 be another highly successful year for Americans.

Supervised Farming Project of F. F. A. Students Pays off

The annual summary of supervised farming program of Oakland F.F.A. chapter of Southern High school shows a project total income of $10,856. Ninety-one F.F.A. boys carrying 221 projects were enrolled in the program for 1955 as a part of the vocational agriculture course. This practical part of going to school is educational as well as profitable among the boys, according to Richard Bishoff, chairman of the vo-ag department at the school.

Each student enrolled is required to participate in a supervised farming program on his home farm. The program includes three parts; the production program where some farm product is produced, which might include five acres of corn, three brood sows, or one dairy cow. The improvement project where any approved farm practice is introduced, such as strip cropping or dairy herd testing; and supplementary farm skills, such as culling laying hens or maintaining farm equipment.

Purpose of the program is to develop the farm boys into competent adult farmers of tomorrow. "Many F.F.A. boys build up a sizable investment in land, livestock and equipment before graduating from high school and are prepared to go into farming as a partner, operator or renter," said George Lapsomb, the other vo-ag instructor at Southern.

Most popular project in 1955 was dairying with 31 boys caring for 78 animals. Their dairy cows produced about 240,000 gallons of milk, valued at $9,960. Swine projects were popular with 31 boys having 114 herd of swine. Eighty-seven pigs were farrowed and 14,200 pounds of pork sold or butchered for house use.

In addition, boys in vo-ag raised 5,500 turkeys, 1,377 broilers, nineteen sheep, five beef animals and 150 laying hens. Thirteen acres of corn and seven acres of oats were planted, cultivated and harvested. Strawberries, home gardens, rabbits, pheasants and alfalfa were carried as minor project.

The boys had an average project total income of $116.34 each. They worked an average of eighty-one hours, giving them an hourly pay rate of $1.43 an hour. Some of the projects carried: Roger DeBerry, 1,500 turkeys; Don Mason, 6 head of swine; James Meltinger, 4 dairy cows; David Otto, complete farming program of oats, corn, swine and broilers.

Kenneth Johns, principal, declared that the boys had earned a valuable lesson through actual experience and would be prepared to meet the farm crisis with intelligent planning, efficient production and wise marketing.

Quota Topped in Hungarian Relief

The quota for special Hungarian relief was topped in this county by more than one hundred dollars, it was reported this week by Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, county roll call chairman.

The final returns, amounting to $410.75, have been sent to the American Red Cross, special Hungarian Relief headquarters, by James Lemmert, treasurer. The quota for the county had been set at $306.

Mrs. Glotfelty said the soliciting was done by persons previously listed in the newspaper with the exception of Miss Kate O'Donnell, who had worked in Loch Lynn.

Amounts received were listed at $260.25 from Oakland, $16 from Mellenry, $22 from Bittinger, $5 from Hoyes, $15 from Loch Lynn, $10 from Mt. Lake Park, $11 from Grantsville, $10 from Kitzmiller, and $29.50 from the Deep Creek area.

School Cafeterias Are Big Business

Over 35,000 Lunches Served In November — Meals Rated Excellent

A look at a few figures shows that the operation of Garrett county school cafeterias is big business. The November report shows that over 35,000 lunches were served during the month. These lunches were sold at a cost of $8,200 to the pupils. This amount does not include the 2,500 free lunches served to needy children valued at $625 for the month. In addition to the per pupil cost of 25 cents per lunch, a federal subsidy amounting to approximately $1,400 for the month of November will be pro-rated among the schools according to the number of lunches sold in each cafeteria.

Through the USDA, surplus commodities in varying quantities are from time to time sent to the schools. Included in the surplus commodities are hams, canned pork, turkeys, cheese, butter, beans, tomatoes, peanut butter, eggs, etc. The receipt of the four cent subsidy per lunch and surplus food commodities make it possible for each school to serve a complete lunch designed to meet one-third of the daily food requirements of a child for 25 cents.

Each cafeteria is operated by a manager and all accounts are now in the black. No county tax funds go to school cafeterias and all must be self supporting from the proceeds of lunch sales and government subsidies of both food and money. For this reason there is a limit to the amount of free lunches that any one cafeteria can serve although as indicated by the fact that 2,500 free lunches were served during the month of November Garrett county schools are doing the job of caring for needy pupils. Principals are urged to see that there are no children in the schools without an adequate lunch, wherever it is possible to do so.

P.-T.A. to Discuss Teaching Crisis

The teacher crisis in Maryland will be the theme of the regular meeting of the Southern High School P.-T. A., scheduled for Monday evening, January 21, at 8 o'clock.

John Wolf, president of the County P.-T. A. council, is in charge. Ralph Beachley, vice-principal at Northern High, and Rev. John J. Atwell will discuss the present legislative proposals dealing with teacher salaries in the state.

Delbert Gnegy, president of Southern P.-T. A., urged as many parents as possible to attend. "The problem of finding adequate, qualified teachers for our boys and girls is a serious one," he stated, "particularly when we have to depend on colleges outside the state to fill our teacher needs." Last year 42 percent of all new teachers employed in Maryland were from out of state. With salary increases in nearby states it is felt the source of supply will be limited.

Teachers will be in their homerooms at 7:30 to discuss personal student problems with parents. "With the second term drawing to a close, parents might find it wise to consult teachers about the progress of their son or daughter," W. Kenneth Johns, principal, said.

Two Forestry Camps For Boys To Open

The State Department of Public Welfare is pushing plans to open two boys' forestry camps in this county this year, according to Raymond L. Manella, chief of the Division of Training Schools.

Four persons have applied for the position of director of one of the camps which will be located just west of Lonaconing. The job has not as yet been filled but the Maryland Commissioner of Personnel's office will schedule the examination for the job sometime this month.

It is planned to open this camp in this spring. The other Garrett county camp is to be opened on or about October 1.

Maryland's first rehabilitation camp of this type was opened on Green Ridge Mountain, east of Cumberland, some 19 months ago. In that period it has served over 140 boys from the two State Boys' Training Schools.

H. D. Swartzentruber Re-Named President Of Commissioners

H. D. Swartzentruber was re-elected president of the Board of County Commissioners at an organization meeting Monday morning. The election came in an unusual but entirely legal manner.

The president called for nominations. Aubrey Brenneman nominated Mr. Swartzentruber, but E. A. Roth, third member of the board, wouldn't second the nomination. Mr. Swartzentruber couldn't second his own nomination, so the minutes ticked by.

Finally W. Dwight Stover, attorney to the Board, suggested that Mr. Swartzentruber ask if there were any other nominations. This he did, at which time Mr. Roth asked: "I guess you can't nominate yourself, can you?"

There being no other nominations Mr. Brenneman moved that the nominations be closed. This was seconded by Mr. Swartzentruber and a vote showed two in favor and one against.

Then Mr. Swartzentruber moved that Mr. Brenneman be elected vice-president. The same procedure followed. They finally moved the nominations be closed and this was passed two to one.

Then the Commissioners named the following: R. T. Brohawn, clerk; Janet Paugh and Bertie Thrasher, stenographers to the assessment board; W. Dwight Stover, attorney to the board; William and Kathleen Finch, custodians of the court house; Mrs. Virginia S. Fizer, financial secretary.

Polio Campaign Is Begun at Northern

Northern High school's March of Dimes campaign for 1957 was launched at an assembly held in the school gymnasium last Thursday. Highlight of the assembly was the crowning of Northern's teen-age polio queen, Carole Durst, senior commercial student, by P. J. Muha, principal.

Donald G. Welch, state representative of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, guest speaker, stressed the necessity of obtaining the Salk polio vaccine to protect against paralytic polio, and explained why everyone should contribute to the March of Dimes.

Ralph Swauger, county chapter chairman of the March of Dimes, presented a certificate of appreciation to student council president, Max Bowser, and thanked Northern students for their contribution to the fund last year. Northern contributed nearly $550. Mr. Swauger said this was as much as contributed by any other school of similar size, or more. The students were hoping to top this ligure in 1957.

Platform guests included Charles Wilt, president of the Northern High Athletic association; Merle Frantz, principal of Friendsville school; Clara Jane Callis, student council secretary; Darrell Malone, guidance counselor; Mr. Muha, Danny Friend, Friendsville elementary pupil; Mrs. Elaine Falkenstine, commercial teacher; Mr Bowser, Mr. Swauger and Mr. Leitch.

Northern High band, under the direction of Melvin Schwing, played three marches and the senior high chorus, under the direction of Miss Gribble, sang "Winter Wonderland."

Following the assembly the students received March of Dimes cards and miniature iron lungs were placed in every homeroom. The homeroom having the most dimes will receive an ice cream and peanut party.

Cars Are Damaged

Two automobiles were damaged but the occupants uninjured when they collided Saturday evening about 6 o'clock at the corner of Third and Omar streets, at the north edge of Oakland.

A Buick automobile driven by Thomas Kahl, of Cumberland, formerly of Mt. Lake Park, struck the Studebaker automobile driven by Kenneth Metheny, of Friendsville. City police, who investigated, said that Kahl failed to stop at a stop sign, and chief of Police Henry Arnold, said that Kahl had admitted his error. The Metheny automobile was also occupied by Shirley Friend, of Oakland.

No one was injured but both automobiles damaged, the Buick car to the extent of several hundred dollars. A hearing is set for Saturday.

Lake Businesses Boom As Ski Tow Attracts Crowds

For the first time in history a number of business places along Deep Creek Lake are finding themselves with favorable business conditions in winter—the result of excellent skiing weather and some good planning by the Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council.

Some 175 skiers were at the Marsh Hill ski tow on Sunday, plus several hundred watchers; while on Saturday there was a lesser number of each but still enough to gladden the hearts of those who were instrumental in getting the project under way this year.

Some fifty or more of the weekend skiers came to the area by Baltimore and Ohio railroad on a package deal that had been worked out previously by the company with the Promotion Council. Other skiers came by automobile. Lodging was provided at the William-James hotel, Motel Oakland, Will-o-the-Wisp motel, Thayer's motel, Stone Tavern, while food was available not only at the hotel and restaurants in Oakland but also at Cabin Lodge and Stone Tavern, along the lake.

Helmuth Heise, proprietor of Will-o-the-Wisp, also had cleared a place in front of his motel for ice skaters, had erected Japanese lanterns and the entire area had a festive air about it. Business people were elated, and one remarked "I never believed I would see the day that I would be hovering over a hot griddle all day long in the middle of January, just to provide people with food."

The third week-end of skiing had ended on an optimistic note and there were prospects for continued skiing for several additional weeks. An article was under preparation for an early issue of the rotogravure section of the Sunday Sun, with a writer and photographer having been on hand over the week-end.

Highways of the area were being kept open, making the skiing area accessible to all.

New Regulations Govern Shipment Interstate Cattle

New regulations governing the interstate movement of cattle were explained this week by Donald Glotfelty, state veterinarian, assigned to this area, who said that misinformation on the subject had been hampering cattle sales in this county.

The new regulations went into effect January 1st. Mr. Glotfelty pointed out that any cattle moving interstate to live stock yards must be accompanied by a declaration. This declaration, he said, must state the purpose for which the cattle are being shipped, the number of cows, the description which includes the breed, the date and signature of the shipper.

The regulation applies to Maryland farmers taking animals into West Virginia or Pennsylvania, but does not apply when they take them to local stockyards within the county. It would apply to West Virginia or Pennsylvania farmers moving cattle into Garrett county. The regulation does not apply to steers, spayed heifers or any other females under eight months of age, he said.

No special forms are needed for the declaration, he stressed. It may be made up on any kind of paper, or on anything readable.

Sleeth Is Fined In 3 Cases; Appeals

Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer passed sentence on William Sleeth, 14, one day last week. Sleeth pleaded guilty the previous Saturday to charges of driving an automobile under the influence of liquor, reckless driving and operating an automobile without a driver's license.

Sleeth had crashed into the store front of the Oakland Electric and Radio Service on the evening of December 31, causing damage estimated at $1,500.

Magistrate Bitzer gave out fines of $100, $25 and $5 respectively plus costs, on the three charges. Sleeth entered an appeal in all three cases and they will be reviewed by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in the Circuit Court.

Polio Benefit Dance Set for February 2

A public dance for the benefit of the March of Dimes, will be held at the National Guard Armory in Oakland on Saturday night, February 2, it was announced by Company C, local national guard unit, which is sponsoring the event.

Richard Lewis and his orchestra, of Morgantown, W. Va., will furnish the music. During intermission the high school students of Southern are furnishing a half-hour variety show. Those in charge are John Brown, Fred Teets, Anita Sleeth and Barbara Lou Glotfelty.

Admission will be $3.50 per couple.

Delegation Places Two Bills in Hopper

The Garrett County delegation at Annapolis yesterday placed two local measures in the legislative hopper, one concerning audits, and the other concerning the local beer board.

One measure would require an annual audit of the County Comissioners office by a certified public accountant. Harry Edwards, one of the delegates, said such a bill would put this county in line with other counties of the state which have a similar requirement.

The second measure would require the governor to appoint the three members of the Board of License Commissioners, with one of the number being an attorney. The members of the County Commissioners now serve as members of the board of license commissioners, and receive an additional $500 a year for the performance of their duties. There would be no change in the salary.

Mr. Edwards said he made some remarks on the floor of the house Tuesday in regard to some misstatements made by newscasters. The newscasters had declared that skiing was good in Western Maryland but that all the highways were blocked leading to ski area. This, of course, was not the case, as all highways were open, all school buses operating and travel just about normal.

Senator Introduces One

Senator Clifford Friend also introduced a bill yesterday which will be known as Senate Bill No. 141, relative to the Roads Engineer of the county, and to the County Roads department, its employes, their duties and powers and generally to roads in the county.

The bill sets up qualifications for the roads engineer with a salary not to exceed $8,000, and the Commissioners are directed to appoint a chief clerk for the roads department.

Feud Continues

The bill concerning the Roads department would mean the firing of William W. DeWitt, county roads engineer. He and Friend differed last year which culminated in Friend striking Mr. DeWitt and breaking his jaw. This was never denied by Friend, but in a Circuit court trial Friend was acquitted of a charge of assault. The Friend bill provides that the county engineer should be a college graduate in engineering. DeWitt is not. He is now on six-months leave, and it has been rumored that he did not expect to resume his job. He has gone to Florida.

Friend also put a bill in the Senate, identical to the one in the House concerning the naming of a new license commissioner board.

Commissioners Set Food Distribution Dates

Distribution dates for surplus food for the month of January were announced by the Board of County Commissioners through D. P. Smouse, distributor. Distribution is made at five places in the county. They are as follows:

Grantsville, Tuesday, January 22, 9:30 to 11:30 a. m.

Friendsville, Tuesday, January 22, 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Oakland, Wednesday, January 23, 9 to 11:30 a. m.

Kitzmiller, Wednesday, January 23, 1:30 to 2:30 p. m.

Bloomington, Wednesday, January 23, 3:30 to 4 p. m.

Juveniles Plead Guilty

Three juveniles, whose names are withheld on account of age, pleaded guilty to breaking into the Oakland Elementary school annex in recent weeks and taking a quantity of money from the desk of one of the instructors.

They were tried yesterday afternoon before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley. Judge Fraley withheld sentence for the time being, taking the case under advisement.

Fifty-Two Property Owners Involved in Road Acquisition

Fifty-two property owners are involved in the latest move of the State Roads Commission to acquire rights of way for the widening of state route 135, between Deer Park and Mt. Lake Park.

Petitions were filed in the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court last Friday, and a deposit of $65,322 placed in charge of the court, covering what the commission has determined is the worth of the properties involved. Plats of the properties in question also were filed by the commission.

The widening project includes in most cases the land on the south side of the existing state route, except in the town of Mt. Lake Park, and will take over 42 acres of land. There are seven dwellings on the properties to be taken.

Mr. Davis said this was the first case to come up under a new state law which went into effect last June. The new law changed the method under which the State Roads Commission acquires rights of way for highway purposes, and provides for immediate possession by filing the estimated amount of the worth of the properties with the clerk.

Under the new law, if the property owners do not agree with the price set by the Roads Commission, the proceedings will come before a Property Board of Review. This board, recently named by the circuit court, includes Grover C. Stemple, a disinterested party; F. R. Corliss, Sr., a surveyor; and Charles C. Nathan, an attorney. The Board will set an amount and if this still is not satisfactory to the landowner, then the former method of condemnation proceedings will be entered and the case heard by a jury. The new method is designed to save time in the construction of highways. Members of the Property Board of Review are to serve for two years.

Property owners who accept the figure set by the Roads Commission may receive their money by signing a blank that is available from the office of Mr. Davis.

Property Owners Listed

The property owners, the amount of acreage and the amount of money the Roads Commission has signified it would pay include the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fitzwater, 1.88 acres, $590; Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Friend, .09, $85; Mr. and Mrs. Orval C. Uphold, .04, $235; Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. More Peanuts For Polio to be Sold

Another day will be taken for the sale of "Peanuts for Polio," on the streets of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, Deer Park and Crellin, and will be Saturday, January 19.

Persons will be stationed in Oakland at the First National Bank, Garrett National Bank, the A. and P. store and the R. and P. store. Miss Jean Paige is chairman of the "peanut pushers."

John J. Atwell, chairman of the Child Welfare committee for Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, American Legion, said that seven hundred fifty bags were distributed last Saturday with returns of $121.77 reported.

This phase of the March of Dimes campaign is being handled by the American Legion. Rev. Atwell said no price was set on the peanuts to be sold, since the primary purpose is to raise as much money as possible for the March of Dimes. He also urged that parents get their children between six months and nineteen years of age to the health officer or a physician for their Salk vaccine shots.

Saturday, January 19, has been set as the date of the 4-H Turkey Production contest, which will be held at the Ford Motor Service, Grantsville. Judging will take place from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.

The project has been under the sponsorship of the Garrett County Turkey Growers. The committee in charge is Marvin Beitzel, Bittinger; Robert Glotfelty, Accident; and Roy Glotfelty, Star Route, Oakland. The purpose of the contest will be to select the top boy in Garrett county out of seven entries. Four 4-H'ers entered are Ray Beitzel, Bittinger; Roger Beitzel, Bittinger; Joseph Buckel, Bittinger; Tom Glotfelty, Route 1, Oakland; Harold Kahl, Jr., Accident; and David R. Moon, Mellenry.

Wade H. Rice, extension poultryman of the University of Maryland, will act as official judge. The contest will consist of a record book on the turkeys and two frozen, ready to cook turkeys, a hen and a tom. Things that will be considered in the contest will be: Bird sample score, completeness, accuracy and neatness of records, percent mortality, cost per pound of production, and feed conversion.

The general public is invited to attend this activity.

Mercury Drops To Eleven Below Zero

By aid of a clear and moonlight night the thermometer took a whopping big drop early this morning and pasted an 11 below zero reading on the official thermometer at Weber's, just south of Oakland. Other thermometers of the area showed as low as 18 below.

The outlook for the district is more snow and continued cold. During the past several days more than six inches of snow have fallen and the weather generally has been stormy.

Chains were being recommended for all travel in the area, unless persons have on snow treads. However, all roads were open and well cindered.

This morning's 11 below was the second of the week for low temperatures, with a 9 below reading Tuesday morning. This reading was recorded quite early in the morning and would have gone lower but clouds covered the area and the temperature had risen before morning to five above. A five above reading also was recorded on Monday.

A resume of the week's weather showed Friday as cold and clear, and cold Friday night, warmer on Saturday with some melting; snow Sunday afternoon and colder Sunday night. Monday was cold and clear, clouding over Tuesday morning and snow falling Tuesday afternoon and evening. Additional snow fell Wednesday.

Loar Auxiliary to Undertake Project

At the regular meeting of the Loar Auxiliary of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, a new project was accepted by the group to be carried out in this new year.

Cubicle curtains, and the needed accessories for hanging them, are to be purchased by the Auxiliary and donated to the Hospital for use in the wards and semi-private rooms of that institution. Henry W. McComas, superintendent of the hospital, met with the group and outlined the need for the new curtains, which will afford needed privacy for the patients. He showed samples of flame proof materials, and these were decided on by the group. The approximate cost of the entire project will be $800.

Mrs. Carlton Bowser, president of the auxiliary, presided at the meeting, held in the board room of the hospital. Mrs. Marvin Beitzel, membership chairman, reported 147 paid up members of the group. It was emphasized that the new year for the group begins in May. All interested women in the county are invited to join.

The next meeting is scheduled for the second Thursday in March.

County Rivals To Meet On Friday

Southern And Northern High Teams To Battle At Cove School

Southern High school Highlanders will meet the Northern High school Huskies in the first of a two-game series at the Cove gymnasium on Friday evening. This will be one of the next three games on Southern's schedule that will be played away from home.

Northern boasts a better record of wins and losses than the Southern aggregation but records will not have too much of a bearing when these two teams meet. The second game of the series is scheduled for February 22 at the Southern High gymnasium.

Southern's other contests away from home will be January 22, Bruce High, at Westernport; and January 25, Valley high, at Lonaconing. The next home game will be with Terra Alta on Tuesday, January 29.

This Thursday night two teams from the Junior High squad will play two junior High teams from Parsons at the Southern gym. The Junior High has lost only one game this year. Their spirited play, and their passing shooting have caused much favorable comment among Southern fans. Game time is at 7 o'clock and an admission of 15 and 25 cents is being charged.

Parsons Downs Southern

Southern High school dropped a close decision to Parsons High 56 to 55 in the closing minutes of a game last Friday evening on the home court.

Southern jumped off to an early lead with Ken Shaffer and Bob Shifty setting the pace but Parsons tied the score at 4-4 and 6-6 and then forged into the lead on a field goal by Barr. Parsons led 15-12 at the end of the first period. Parsons continued to lead throughout the second stanza but timely baskets by Earl Kight prevented the visitors from gaining more than a four-point lead at any stage. Southern trailed the visitors 24 to 28 at the intermission.

Southern rallied in the third quarter to tie the winner at 34-34, 36-36, and 38-38 on two fouls and two baskets by Shifty. Four quick points by Ramsey gave Parsons a 42-38 advantage going into the final period. Southern continued to match points with Parsons, coming closest when a field goal by Shifty cut the lead to three points at 54-51 with only three and one-half minutes to go. Parsons then pulled away, outscoring the Highlanders ten to three.

The locals lost some of their scoring punch to the final half when Ken Shaffer, teams high scorer, left the game on five personal fouls. Ramsey was lost to Parsons in the closing seconds of play.

Southern enjoyed a good night from the foul line, sinking 18 of 23 free throws to 18 of 32 for the visitors. The home team was outscored 18 to 11 from the field. Bob Shifty was high point man, making seven of nine field goal attempts and netting 10 of 11 at the foul line for a total of 24 points. Ken Shaffer had 10, Colaw 4, Murphy 1, Kight 5 and G. Bittinger 2. Deckman was non-scoring.

Big guns for Parsons were Ramsey with 20 points and Barr with 16. Bava also had 9, Burns 2, J. Barr 1 and Carr 2.

Vaccine Program Is Progressing Slowly

The job of providing polio vaccine shots to persons under twenty years of age through the Department of Health has been progressing in the county within recent weeks, according to Dr. Arthur P. Jones, county health officer, but there is still a lot of work to be done.

The department gave 378 shots to members of the senior high school at Southern High school last week, and yesterday 350 shots were given at Northern High. This Friday students in the Junior High at Southern will receive their second injections.

A monthly report by Dr. Jones on those receiving injections showed the following: under 4 years, 426 received 1st injection, 389 the second and 111 the third for a total of 926; from 5 through 9 years, 609 got the first injection, 448 the second and 523 the third for a total of 1,580; 10 through 14 years, 968 the first injection, 537 the second, 175 the third, for a total of 1,680, 15 through 19, 616 received the first injection, 197 the second, 36 the third, for a total of 849; totals, 2,619 first injection, 1,571 the second, 815 the third for a total of 5,035. Two expectant mothers had received the first shot and three the second shot.

Total school enrollment is 4,611 with about 80 additional county students going to Elk Garden.

Dr. Jones said much progress had been made in the Kitzmiller area through the efforts of Dr. Ralph Calcutrella.

Dr. Jones said the health department had been attempting to hold clinics in the various elementary schools to make the vaccine available to as many students as possible.

Throughout the state the records showed as of January 1 that 63.1 percent of persons under 20 had received at least one injection, that 58.9 percent had received at least two injections, but that only 28.2 percent had received three injections and 36.9 percent had received none.

School Custodians Now Under Social Security Program

All Garrett county school custodians are now under social security, as the result of approval of an item in the School Board budget for the employer's share of social security payments.

Under the regulations cafeteria workers may also become members of the program, although the employer's share for cafeteria workers must come from cafeteria proceeds and not from tax funds.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, pointed out that the job of school custodian had changed materially in recent years with the job of the old school janitor as just about extinct when ability to fire the furnace or stove, carry out ashes and sweep oiled floors were the only skills needed.

He said sweeping oiled wooden floors was fast disappearing as a task. The custodian must now be skilled in handling complicated mechanical and electrical devices. He must know how to care for tile floors, hardwood gymnasium floors, how to clean cafeteria floors, fix gadgets of various kinds, keep large lawns mowed and trimmed and other jobs requiring a high degree of skill. Hawkins said the custodian also must be personable and a good public relations man, neat and clean in appearance.

Custodians in the county work twelve months of the year. Mr. Hawkins credits them with playing an important part in the improvements that have been made to the schools during the past several summers.

Custodians now employed in the larger schools include George Frank Mulliken, Orval I. Kitzmiller, Irvin A. Liller, at Southern; Ralph Georg, William P. Hautt, Louis W. Harman, at Northern; Charles W. Turner, Grantsville; Roy W. Shank, Center street, Oakland; Robert Liller, annex, Oakland; Roy L. Harman, Accident; Dewey Lloyd Livengood, Friendsville; John Milavec, Kitzmiller; Amos C. Martin, Red House; Harland Sweicher, Loch Lynn; Esther DeWitt, Crellin.

Sale of evergreen trees from state owned land in Garrett county for use during the recent Christmas season brought $2,360 to the state, according to William H. Johnson, district forester.

The $2360 represented slightly more than $1 for each of the 2,251 trees cut. They ranged in size between five and twenty years. Five different varieties were cut, including 835 Scotch pines, 792 red pines, 403 white pines, 174 Norway Spruce and 50 Red Spruce. Some 792 trees were removed from the Potomac forest and the rest came from the Savage River forest.

In the 1955 Christmas season some 3,735 trees were removed from state land in this county and the income was $3,051. Mr. Johnson said that many private land owners received more for trees cut from their land because in many cases the trees were of better quality.

Farmers are being encouraged to reforest their land with evergreens which can be thinned periodically to provide the farm an extra cash crop.

Southern Commercial Students Receive Praise

Commercial graduates of Southern High school were recently praised by the Department of the Air Force according to Kenneth Johns, principal.

In a letter from M. J. Hotchkiss, chief of the Recruiting and Examining section, he stated that former Southern High school students who are now working in the department "are doing good work and we are happy to have them as members of our staff."

Mr. Hotchkiss indicated that he would be in Oakland sometime next month to interview this year's graduates. Several other governmental agencies have also indicated that they would visit the school this spring in search of stenographic personnel and clerk-typists. Starting salaries for these girls without any previous experience is $3,175 per year.

In the past two years, eighteen graduates from Southern High school have accepted employment with the federal government in some form of clerical work.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As I indicated last week, we will study this week the first of Christ's struggles with Himself and His fellow creatures. It took place in the form of the temptation encounter with Satan. He went into the Wilderness immediately after the announcement that He was the Son of God at the time of His baptism. This announcement must have shaken Him to the core, because we must never for a moment forget that in His divinity, He was also completely human, and so the first temptation came to Him: "If you are the Son of God, command these stones to become loaves of Bread." Note the first word, "IF, you are the Son of God . . ." this doubt arising in His mind must have troubled Him continuously. And the idea that in His divine power He could just limit His ministry to giving bread to people, for there were plenty who were hungry then as now, was a real temptation. His answer is a direct quote from God's Word, in Deuteronomy 8:3: "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word which proceeds from the mouth of God." How well this statement fits our situation in Garrett county. We see each day the chaos that results from merely handing out free meals, without any Word of God to go with them. I wonder how many second and third generation welfare people we have, who have not heard the Word of God from another man, "If a man will not work, neither let him eat!" This seems rather cruel at first, but when we merely hand out, soon people rely on the handout rather than on their own initiative and sense of responsibility, and they are no good to any one, least of all themselves. No, Christ wanted to be more than a sort of "divine bakeshop".

Then the next temptation follows hard on the first. Again the first word is "IF you are the Son of God, throw yourself down, for it is written, 'He will give his angels charge over you . . .'" Christ finds Himself tempted, while on the top of the temple, to prove His divinity by a circus trick, but He would have none of this. His answer: 'You shall not tempt the Lord your God.' It is a mistake to think that Christianity is a matter of some half-baked idiot looking at some poor misguided soul who is sick in body and mind, laying his filthy hand on the person's head and shouting, "Heal! Heal! Heal!" No, we must not "put God on the spot." For to display such outrageous self-centeredness is contrary to the will of God. Not only this, it leads often to the disillusionment of the poor souls who think and hope that they are going to be healed, and when they are not, then lose what little faith that they had in God in the first place. The woods are full of men like Oral Roberts who are constantly "putting God on the spot," demanding that His will become their will, not that their will be made the same as His. It is not in God's intent that every person with some physical handicap be made whole. Much more important is to learn to do the best with what we have, and with God's help and inspiration, miracles like the adjustment of Helen Keller to life are possible.

And the third temptation: Satan comes with an insidious scheme, he shows Christ the kingdom of the world and says, "All these I will give you if you will fall down and worship me." Christ's answer: "You shall worship the Lord your God, and Him only shall you serve." The temptation to being a political Messiah was very great for Christ, for this is what His fellow Jews wanted, to see the throne of David restored in an earthly kingdom in which they would be the rulers, and all of the other people would be slaves. But Christ did not want any political kingdom, for the salvation of the world could not come in this way. He wanted to give Himself on the cross, for the way of sacrifice, the way of giving all to God was the only way possible for people to become Children of God, and to live in peace with each other. We still make noble efforts to try to win a good world through political methods. But all these political methods will fail. The salvation of the world is not in the U. N. Charter, nor the U. S. Constitution, but only in the Word of God, living by the words which come from His mouth, not tempting Him by trying to make Him do our will, and by worshipping and serving Him with our whole heart, soul, body and mind.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

One of the world's leading scholars on Communism, Dr. Fred Schwarz, of Sidney, Australia, has sent me his analysis of the Kremlin's recent moves.

"Roughly speaking," said Dr. Schwarz, "the world is divided into three thirds: the Communist third, the Socialist third, and the Capitalist third. The Communist policy (decided, in this instance, in 1952) was to establish a united Communist-Socialist front, giving them two-thirds of the world's population and a comparatively easy task in liquidating the Capitalist third. The major barriers to this united front were not disagreements between Socialists and Communists on economic measures. The Socialists approved the Communists' expropriation of business, nationalization of banking, collectivisation of agriculture and so forth. The major barriers were:

"(1) The Communist record of murder, treachery, and contempt for all civilized values. (2) The established fact that partnership with Communism invariably ended in enslavement under the Russian Communist Party as shown by the satellite countries. (3) The disciplining of the national Communist parties by the Russian Communist Party, making them agents of a foreign power.

"Practical and dramatic steps had to be taken to remove these barriers. Stalin died. The murder, treachery and lust of Communism was heaped on his dead body. Some of the prison doors were opened and his victims released. A pilgrimage to Belgrade, with Bulganin and Khrushchev humbling themselves before Tito and extolling his virtues constituted an invitation to all satellite countries to follow his example of 'independence.' The risks taken by the Russians were twofold:

"1. The independence movement may take an anti-Communist as well as an anti-Russian turn. At the moment this appears to have been avoided in Poland but to have developed dramatically in Hungary. This is not a major danger, as the Russian forces are present to assist 'national independent Communist Party' in the satellite countries to maintain order, on the 'invitation' of the sateellite. Experience, in East Germany, Poland and now in Hungary has proved that such revolts can be crushed.

"2. American intervention is a danger considered by the Red masters. Secretary Dulles quickly settled this by stating that we would not intervene if the Russians used force against Poland as that would lead to World War III and the extermination of the Poles. I'm sure the implications of this statement were not lost on other European countries. Logically applied it would seem to wipe out a potentially decisive factor in the defense of any European country.

"The stakes in this Russian game are high," wrote Dr. Schwarz. "They are India, Indonesia, Japan and the Arab countries. The tragic but magnificent fight of the Hungarians and the U. N. action in Egypt may hurt the Reds, but don't let us rejoice too soon. Soviet Communism, on balance, continues toward world domination."

Carney, St. Peter's Catholic; February 25 to March 1, Henry Howard, Garrett County Diocesan Mission (Episcopal); March 4 to 8, Rev. G. Bryan Blair, Ev. United Brethren; March 11 to 15, Rev. William C. Rogers, Mt. Lake Baptist.

The time for the program is made available by the radio station. The former program was discontinued December 21 because of labor problems at the radio station, Rev. Atwell said.

U. S. Senators Get Same Committee Assignments

Maryland's two United States Senators, John Marshall Butler and J. Glenn Beall, will retain the same committee assignments in the 85th Congress that they held during the last term.

Senator Butler will remain on the Judiciary and the interstate and Foreign Commerce Committees, and Senator Beall will return to the Banking and Currency and the District of Columbia Committees.

As a member of the Judiciary Committee, Senator Butler will consider such matters as Constitutional amendments, Federal Courts and judges, civil liberties and immigration legislation.

The Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, on which Senator Butler will also serve, concerns itself with various aspects of transportation and communication, the Weather Bureau, and the Coast Guard and Merchant Marine Academies.

Senator Beall's position on the Banking and Currency Committee will give him the opportunity to investigate public and private housing, the Federal Reserve System and the control of prices of commodities, rents and services.

The District of Columbia Committee, on which Senator Beall is the ranking Republican member, the ranking Republican member, the District's courts, taxes, laws and similar subjects.

A Line of Demarcation

It has now been more than four months since my last newsletter. Much has occurred in the meantime; not the least important of which, from a purely selfish standpoint, was my own re-election to the United States Senate. This milestone, this victory, would not have been possible without the support and encouragement of some 465,000 Maryland voters, and the full measure of my lasting gratitude goes out to each of them.

With the start of this second term, the free world is faced with another eventful challenge. In recent times the spirited uprising in Poland, the courageous revolution in Hungary, and the delicate unrest in the Middle East have vividly portrayed not only the present problems of the Soviet Union, but also the need for more cohesion within the community of free nations.

In spite of any indications to the contrary, the ambitious objectives of the international communist conspiracy—to communize and dominate the entire world—have not changed. To the hardened communist, any setback is momentary—a renewed onslaught of force and power politics, constant in its devious and unrelenting purpose, must be anticipaled.

Meaningful in all of this are the proposals affecting the Middle East which have been made by President Eisenhower. The President proposes that, under certain circumstances and conditions, the United States will guarantee military and economic assistance to the countries of the Middle East as a means of restoring order and peace to that area of the world, and as a deterrent to further communist aggression.

To some, this plan is fraught with danger. However, it must be admitted that in the cause of world peace to which we are firmly dedicated, the isolation of the past is no preventive to the malignancy of world communism. The truth of this statement has been repeatedly demonstrated. Now is the time for positive, unhesitant direction. We must state in clear terms, for all to hear, the line of demarcation from which we shall not retreat, regardless of the consequence. This, President Eisenhower has forcefully done, and already the people of America, and the people of the free world, their patience exhausted by the shenanigans of the Kremlin, are evidencing strong support of his proposals.

1956 Maryland Crop Output Sets Record

Maryland farmers set new production or yield records for soybeans, corn, wheat, barley and hay crops in 1956, according to crop estimates released recently by the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service.

Soybean production was up 43 percent from 1955. Both the 4,422,000 bushel 1956 Maryland crop of soybeans and the yield of 22 bushels per acre set records despite bad weather at harvest time. The previous high yield, 20 bushels per acre was set last year.

The 1956 Maryland corn yield of 60 bushels per acre was 12 bushels above the previous high, set in 1950. Corn production in 1956 also set a record—28,620,000 bushels. Good growing weather, use of improved cultural practices and hybrid seed are credited with the improved yield.

The 1956 Maryland wheat crop of 4,730,000 bushels was down from previous years, following a downward trend in acreage, but the yield of 27½ bushels per acre was one bushel higher than the record yield of 1955.

The barley crop of 3,520,000 bushels was up 8 percent from 1955. Yield per acre, 40 bushels, was two bushels above the previous high in 1954.

A record yield of 1.59 tons of hay per acre enabled Maryland farmers to produce 683,000 tons of hay—about the same as last year—although acreage was smaller.

Preliminary estimates of the 1956 Maryland tobacco crop place production at 38,500,000 pounds, with a yield of 875 pounds per acre.

Commercial apple production of 1,160,000 bushels is down seven percent from 1955 while the peach crop, 415,000 bushels, is down 17 percent.

Potato production in Maryland is placed at 51,100,000 pounds, or seven percent less than in 1955.

A membership committee was named to include Mrs. Earl Zepp, chairman, Mrs. June O'Donnell, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Harry Edwards, Grantsville; Mrs. Cecil Schroyer, Friendsville; Mrs. Vesta Enlow, McHenry; Mrs. Vernie Smouse, Oakland. A membership drive is planned. At present there are fifty-six paid up members.

Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, president, plans to attend a state board meeting in Baltimore on January 29, as representative of the local club.

County Road Toll For Year 1956 Is 8

The county's highway death toll for 1956 was placed at 8, a check of state police files has revealed.

The first death was recorded March 31 when ten-year old Teena G. Young, of New Jersey, died of a broken neck on State Route 39, two miles west of Crellin. The youngster was killed while riding in her father's automobile.

The next fatality occurred June 8, when William J. Ross, 18, of Westernport, was killed in a two-car head-on crash one-half mile north of Swanton on route 495. Ross died instantly of a fractured skull.

Then on July 27, Charles A. Hahn, 28, Meyersdale, was killed when his car ran over an embankment on U. S. route 40, two miles west of Frostburg and sustained a fractured skull.

August 13 saw George M. Bott, Jr., 24, of Keene, N. H., killed when his car struck a bank along State route 135, two miles west of Bloomington. Police said Bott was thrown from the vehicle by the impact.

On October 21 another fatality was recorded in the county when Neva L. Bowers, 16, of Deer Park, was killed. She was riding in a car along U. S. route 219 when the vehicle crashed into the Deep Creek bridge and sank in the lake. She was pinned in the car.

November 8 claimed the life of William J. LaManna, 35, of Frostburg, as he was returning home from this county on U. S. route 40, five and one-half mile west of Frostburg. LaManna was killed when his vehicle crashed headon into a truck.

The following day another death was chalked up when David L. Tichnell, five, was crushed by a car door two miles south of Swanton. The youngster was riding with his father when a back door flew open and the tot was crushed between the door and an embankment.

December got under way with a fatality early on the third about 100 feet this side of the Pennsylvania state line in this county. The victim was Mary Ryman, 17, of Salisbury. She was a passenger in a car which skidded and ran off the highway and struck a tree.

Is Your Name STEWART?

DO YOU KNOW THAT

STEWART is one of the oldest and most popular of Scottish surnames. It is the equivalent of Steward and Stward and it stems from the Old English stiweard, meaning respectively supervisor of manager and dwelling or mansion. The name was originally spelled in the present-day form of Steward and it was bestowed when surnames first came into vogue upon those who managed landed estates or superintended the household affairs of another. It should be noted that in ancient Scotland the steward in many instances was not only chief of the royal household but his power extended to the collection and management of crown revenues in the administration of justice and in time of war he took first place in the army next to the king.

John Stewart (1742-1802) was a lieutenant colonel of Maryland troops during the Revolutionary War. For bravery at Stony Point he was presented by Congress with a medal and is one of the thirteen medalists of the Revolution. Another patriot was James Steward (1755-1845) who was born in Annapolis, died in Baltimore County, Maryland and served as surgeon in the Continental troops.

The edifice of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Oakland was built in 1853 and rebuilt in 1874. D. O. Stewart was its pastor in 1859 and 1860.

Numerous genealogical records of the Stewart family have appeared in "The Stewart Clan magazine" published monthly for a number of years in Beatrice, Nebraska.

Stewart Island is the smallest and southernmost of the three main islands composing New Zealand.

Eliza Daniel Stewart (1814-1906), known widely as "Mother Stewart," started national prohibition and temperance movement.

School Cafeterias

Lunches served in the school cafeteria were rated as excellent. Robert Martin, administrative assistant to the Board of Education, is general supervisor of cafeteria operations. Mr. Martin has worked out a system of record keeping and accounting, and personally audits all accounts three times during each school year. In addition to complete audits a cumulative record of receipts and expenditures is submitted by each manager monthly.

The cafeteria at the Red House school is the newest addition to the county list. It opened last October and was made possible due to the new facilities added to the school last summer. Kitzmiller school's cafeteria opened last year when a new kitchen and all-purpose room was added. Cafeteria facilities will be provided for both of the new elementary schools now under construction.

In addition to full cafeteria programs, the Federal School Milk program is carried on in most of the smaller schools. Approximately 85 percent of the children in the county attend schools with cafeterias.

Cafeteria managers include Mrs. Clarence Rollman, Southern; Mrs. Helen Harman, Northern; Mrs. Margaret S. Liller, Oakland Elementary; Mrs. Sara Alexander, Accident; Mrs. Susan Friend, Friendsville; Mrs. Mary Swartswelder, Grantsville; Mrs. Elizabeth Ridder, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Marie Shaffer, Red House; Mrs. Susie M. Liston, Loch Lynn.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

An "Owed to an Urn"

I suppose all over the state of Maryland people are talking about the coffee urn that was used by Mrs. McKeldin when she gave her coffee party for polio.

Frances Close, one of the four women from Garrett county who attended Maryland's first lady's party had interesting things to tell about the $50,000 coffee pot. It is made of pure gold ("Heavy too," says Frances for she had the opportunity to lift it) and set with diamonds and rubies. One very large diamond was set in the top of the lid. There were many others with rubies clustered on each side and one diamond (not as large as the one on top) mounted on the spout.

For $50,000 one would be able to scatter some gems around. This elegant creation was fashioned and donated by a silver company and it goes to every state in the union. Each governor's wife is given a lesser one, although beautiful enough for the most regal affair.

One would wonder about transporting such a valuable object. Well, that detail was worked out too. The morning of the coffee it was in Delaware and brought to the state line by state troopers where it was picked up by Maryland state troopers. They also stood guard during the coffee.

A waitress was stopped when she attempted to take it from the dining room to be refilled. The lesser one did the refilling.

The urn was flown from Maryland to California accompanied by Mrs. Beatrice Price who was making a public showing of how one can be cured of polio. I don't suppose a state trooper was taken along to guard the plane, but I bet there was a crew at each landing.

Now the "owed" part of the story is that everyone attending Mrs. McKeldin's coffee was asked to give a similar one for ten people who would make a donation and in turn give a coffee. A coffee chain for polio—born with a gold spoon in its mouth.

The Height of Fashion

Any parent who has had a child stricken with polio would give his weight in gold for it not to have happened. Now the March of Dimes drive in some areas is asking for your height in dimes so there'll never be any need for your weight in gold.

There's still work to be done, both in research and restoring crippled bodies to active living.

Beyond Our Reach

I guess we wouldn't be normal females if we didn't have a little tinge of envy when we see the pictures of the world's ten best dressed women. As I listen to feminine chatter the envy isn't half as much in the finery that goes on the back as in the slimness of the mid-riff.

A slender mid-riff would be within all our reach if we'd only store our pots and pans beyond our reach—and then reach for them.

To Everything Its Season

Each period of life is like each month of the year. There's something special about it that other periods cannot give.

What better month than January—named for Janus, the two-faced god of winter—for the snow to pile high. Even those of us who do not ski can enjoy a good hearty snowfall.

As for the period in life, Titiana du Plessix, a designer of millinery for Saks Fifth Avenue, says, "Freshness may belong to youth, but elegance is a privilege of maturity." Nicely said, my lady!

MARRIED

Knotts-Adams—Miss Bertha Lynn Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Adams, Crellin, became the bride of Harold Lee Knotts, son of Mrs. Mabel Knotts, Oakland, and George Knotts, of Crellin, in a candlelight ceremony on Saturday evening in the Crellin Union church.

Rev. Don L. Jackson performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with standards of white lilies and pink snapdragons, palms and lighted candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Joseph Hoopengardner played traditional wedding music. She accompanied Reuben Rodeheaver who sang "Because," "I'll Walk Beside You," and as the couple knelt at the altar, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor length gown of lace and net over satin, with scalloped neckline and Queen Ann collar. The tight fitted sleeves ended in points over her hands. The white testament she carried also included the Florence Nightengale pledge, and was covered with a cluster of red and white roses, with white satin streamers tipped with sweetheart roses. Her double tiered finger tip veil of imported illusion was attached to a scalloped tiara of tiny seed pearls and irridescent sequins.

Miss Mary Jean Lohr, Cumberland, was her maid of honor and was attired in a full length gown of light blue crystallette, with long fitted sleeves and Queen Ann collar fashioned after that of the bride. Her headpiece was of matching crystalette. She carried a bouquet of red poinsettias.

Bridesmaids were Miss Doreen Maust, Mt. Wilson, and Miss Emma Lohr, Oakland. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid of honor in shades of medium blue and light navy with matching headpieces and also carried red poinsettias.

Sharon Fike, Crellin, was flower girl. Her ankle length dress was light blue net over taffeta and she carried a basket of sweetheart roses and rose petals. Larry Holler, Oakland, served as ring bearer. Kenneth Knotts, Akron, O., brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Joe Weeks, Mt. Lake Park, and Jimmy White, Terra Alta.

The bride's mother wore a dress of deep aqua velveteen with black accessories and wore a corsage of white rosebuds. The groom's mother chose a dress of coral pink velveteen with black accessories. Her corsage was also of white rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the William-James hotel, Oakland. The reception table was centered with a three-tiered pink and white decorated wedding cake, topped with a nosegay of pink and white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Erval Ream, Oakland, and Mrs. Dale Phillips, Weirton, W. Va., served the wedding cake and Mrs. Kenneth Shaffer, Crellin, and Mrs. Kenneth Knotts, Akron, presided at the punch bowl.

For the bride's going away costume she chose a berry red wool suit with a charcoal mouton jacket and wore black accessories. Her corsage was of white and red roses.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High school, Oakland, and Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Cumberland. The groom is a graduate of Terra Alta High school, Terra Alta, W. Va., and recently completed a four-year enlistment with the air force. He is now employed with the B. and W. company at Barberton, O., where the couple reside at 127 Hiram street.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The high points in the opening days of this session of the Congress are the President's request for congressional approval of his policy for the Middle East and his State of the Union Message. The latter presented the major tenets of the Eisenhower philosophy as it applies to America's internal well-being and international affairs. Specific legislative requests were left for later special messages.

With other members of the House Committee on Immigration I have visited the Hungarian Refugees now at Camp Kilmer, New Jersey. Every effort is being made to see that these refugees are given good care and are properly directed to their new homes.

I made a special effort, in the short time available to us, to check on the security investigations conducted both in Kilmer and at the point of embarkation. I have some doubts as to whether or not the security check is thorough enough. In the main, though, our officials seem to be doing a good job. A major problem in dealing with the refugee problem is to keep our emotional sympathies under control. In the screening of individuals admitted to this country, we must not jeopardize our nation's welfare.

The stark realities involved in the admission of refugees must not be overlooked. For example, the admission of the Hungarian refugees is postponing indefinitely the admission of hundreds of refugees from other areas who have been waiting for years. Another important question we must face is how many refugees we are going to admit. Indications are that as long as we accept Hungarian refugees there will be people leaving Hungary and asking for admission. Many may not be legitimate at all.

I have introduced a bill to revise and modernize the fish and game laws of the District of Columbia. Senator Beall has a companion bill in the Senate. Both measures aim to bring our District of Columbia laws into conformity with present day concepts and to make them uniform with neighboring states.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Is Your God Too Small?

Some years ago at a church conference, I was looking over a display of new books. Among them was one whose title caught my eye. The title was "Is Your God too Small?" I have not yet read the book, but ever since I have thought about it, and wondered if it applied to myself.

Each of us worships a God of some kind. What we picture Him to be determines the course of our lives more than any other one thing. It is more important than the amount of money we make, the job we hold or the education we have. It really determines our way of looking at life itself, at our relationships with others, the relative importance we place on wealth, power, success and all the other things we hold dear.

I believe, more than we sometimes realize, we show to others the kind of God we worship. There are many of us who show a small distored picture. For many, indeed, God is too small.

I have never lived in the South, and do not understand their racial problems, but I believe that those who think Negroes should always sit in the back of a bus, always have an inferior status and have a picture of God who is too small. Was He not also their Creator?

Then there are those who look with contempt on any one coming from another country, who speaks a different language, whose customs differ from ours. Their God is too small.

There are those who take the joy and sweetness by their ill-will, their pettiness, their jealousy, their fault-finding their narrow mindedness. Their God is too small, for our true God is a God of love and forgiveness and mercy and goodness.

There are the gossips who carry tales, who keep whole communities divided, who help make it impossible for anything constructive to be done. Their God is too small.

There are members in families who are jealous, self-seeking and selfish. A husband who, pleasant to others, finds nothing but fault with his wife and children. A wife who cares more for the new clothes she buys, and for her social life than for teaching by example to her boys and girls the ways of love and understanding. Their God is too small.

There are men, intrusted to places of public responsibility who show themselves to be petty, holding grudges, refusing to cooperate in the public interest. They show, for all the world to see that their God is too small.

Don't we catch a glimpse of ourselves in each of these word pictures? There is some of that in all of us.

The God we truly worship is a great God, the ruler of the universe. He is loving and kind, and righteous. He is to be enshrined in our hearts, worshipped and adored. Because He has shown us what love truly is, we are to show it to those round about us. This would be a good time to ask ourselves, is our God too small?

Fire Company Bill Would Make Surplus Equipment Available

Representative DeWitt S. Hyde (R. Md.) introduced a bill making volunteer fire-fighting organizations eligible under the Federal Property and Administrative Service Act for surplus equipment. The existing law allows the donation of surplus equipment for educational and public health purposes but does not include volunteer fire departments.

"The volunteer fire departments in my Congressional District," said Mr. Hyde, "contribute to the health and protection of our communities and should be eligible for surplus equipment without having to bid as they now do. Most of the volunteer fire departments are wholly dependent upon the communities they serve for donations for equipment and are financially unable to compete on bids. My bill would be a great help to them in getting equipment they need."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Matthew 5:1-7:27. Devotional Reading: Matthew 6:25-33.

Righteousness

Lesson for January 20, 1957

RIGHTEOUSNESS is an old-fashioned word. You almost never see it outside the Bible. But the thing itself is not old-fashioned. You can see it outside the Bible. Nearly everybody wants it himself and everybody wants it for his neighbors. Even criminals count on it—in other people! The word originally came from the Bible from the Hebrew word meaning "straight." To this day everybody knows what the difference is between a straight man and a crooked one. We mean the same thing sometimes when we use only the first part of the word, "right." We like to be right, we like to have the right people around us. "He's just not right" is one of the worst things that can be said about a man. A righteous person is one that is all that he should be. He comes up to standard, there is nothing shoddy or make believe about him. To be sure, some people don't care about this; but then some people don't care whether they are healthy or clean.

Dr. Foreman

Better Than the Best

One of the things Jesus said that must have sounded surprising at the time he said it, was that the righteousness of those who followed him must "exceed that of the Pharisees." Now the Pharisees made a specialty of righteousness. They were super-good, or aimed to be. They had money, and leisure, and they spent their time thinking up ways to be better than anybody. They were, so to speak, the athletes of morality. They held all the records for high jumps and pole vaults to the top levels of righteousness. Nobody else even tried to be as good as they were. So it must have astonished everybody, not to mention shocking the Pharisees, when Jesus as good as said they were not up to the standards of the kingdom of heaven. If we look into what Jesus said by way of explaining this astonishing remark, however, we can see three ways in which the Pharisees' idea of what it is to be right—right in the sight of God, that is—comes short of the true ideal.

First of all, the Pharisees were interested in action only. Now acts are very important. But as Jesus explained it, actions come from inner attitudes, and where the attitude is wrong, acts are likely to be wrong too. True righteousness, or rightness, begins and has its roots in "the heart," the inner life, where thoughts begin. The truly right person will not be content with making a good showing, he wants to be right even if it never shows.

No Fences for Love

So the rightness Jesus demands goes deeper than what satisfied the Pharisees, ancient or modern. But he pointed out another difference. Jesus' ideal (which is God's ideal) of rightness is also broader than the Pharisees' brand. They loved their friends, they would do a great deal for those who did a lot for them. Jesus pointed out that anybody not a complete fool will do as much. "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours" is a philosophy almost anybody can understand. Loving people who love you—and no others—is like exchanging presents at Christmas time. Some people "give" a great many presents, at least they wrap them up and distribute them; but they don't give a thing unless they expect to get a present in return. The Pharisees, ancient and modern, know what love is; but they put a fence around it. They do not "waste" love on those who do not in some way pay them for it. Jesus went all the way—so far that to this day few of us dare to follow him. Love your enemies, he said. Love is good; the Pharisees were on the right track. But love must have no horizons.

Why Be Good?

The kind of rightness God wants has another sure mark: it has the right motive. The Pharisees wanted to be right so as to be admired by other men. But true rightness has just one motive: to be like our Father in heaven. To wish to be God,—to "play God," is wicked; but it is not wicked, it is the very heart of the truly good life, to love God so much, and know him so well (and never so well as in Christ) that one can think of nothing better than to be like him. All other motives fail, some time; but this one motive carries the secret of the power of God's true saints.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Ike and The Middle East

The belief of most observers in Washington is that, despite Democratic dominance in both branches, soon or late the President's request for congressional backing of his plan to block Soviet aggression in the Middle East will be given by a large majority—and long before the session is over. This will not be in accord with the wishes of the so-called Democratic advisory committee nor of the Americans for Democratic Action. These, of course, are not important either in Senate or House—or for that matter, anywhere else. But they often make more noise and get more publicity than the whole legislative branch combined.

There, of course, will be plenty of articulate opposition. At the moment, however, it does not seem likely to be particularly effective. For one thing, the chief figures opposing the "Eisenhower Doctrine" are the Messrs. Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, vigorously supported by their singularly unsuccessful manager in the recent campaign, Chairman Butler of the Democratic National committee. It is interesting to note that neither these gentlemen, nor the New Deal-Fair Deal columnists and commentators allied with them, have any specific substitute to propose. Before the election the Democratic candidates and their journalistic and radio spokesmen were violent in their denunciation of the President for his lack of a Mid-East policy. They accused him and his Secretary of State of lacking courage to deal with an exceedingly grave situation.

* * *

Well, after the election and following the Soviet brutalization in Hungary and the intransigent attitude of the Soviet-supported Nasser in closing the Suez Canal, the President not only evolved a concrete policy but promptly presented it to Congress for indorsement. He did not ask for powers which he did not already have. In effect, he said that in the event of further Russian aggression in the mid-East, it would be in the interests of this nation to halt it by both military and economic aid. He also expressed his conviction that an unequivocal statement of our position was the best way to avert war and promote world peace. There is, said Mr. Eisenhower, a risk for us in this stand but there is a far greater risk if we do not take it.

* * *

If one can judge from the 9½ million majority with which the American people recently re-elected him, plus the overwhelming indorsement by the American and European press of his boldly proclaimed Mid-Eastern policy, the new "Eisenhower Doctrine" seems generally approved. But, that is not the idea of those most conspicuous in opposing him last year. The prime point made by these prior to the election, was that the President had no policy of any sort in the Middle East; that he was just letting things drift and that, through our general weakness and inertia, the Soviets were increasingly putting us on the defensive and making monkeys of us. Now, however, when the Administration announces a very clear policy the 1956 opposition at once takes a position of unrestrained hostility.

* * *

Mr. Stevenson sourly says that our present position should have been taken long ago; that it is now much too late and that we have now been put in a very dangerous situation by delay. Senator Kefauver asserts that the President's policy is "full of dynamite," that it is of dubious worth, generally unsound. Quite clearly, they would have vehemently denounced him had he presented no policy and equally clearly they have none to present themselves. The New Deal, anti-Eisenhower journalists vehemently declare that the Eisenhower attitude lacks vigor, is vacillating and inadequate. No one else either here or abroad criticizes in those terms. It does seem, in the absence of any constructive alternative that the present assault is somewhat absurd.

First, the President is violently assailed for having no foreign policy applicable to the Middle East. Then, when he announces a bold, strong policy of dealing with an admittedly dangerous situation he is denounced as risking war and being unwilling to negotiate. None of this seems either logical or sensible. The only thing that can be said about it is that recent opponents of Mr. Eisenhower are men and women who are convinced that nothing he ever did in the past was right. The simple truth of the President's proposal about the Middle East situation is that the facts sustain him. What conceivable reason now could he have for not being on the level with the American people? What other man could possibly have as good information upon which to formulate a policy?

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

A distinguished statesman once noted that evils can spring much more easily from business losses than from the frequently criticized large profits.

That opinion is obviously a severe over-simplification of one of the major issues in our economy, but it points up the fact that we must never disregard any difficulties encountered by the numerous business operations which form the structure of our way of life.

This is especially true in respect to the smaller enterprises of our country, and as a member of the Small Business Subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee I am attempting to do something to assist their efforts.

New Bills Introduced

My initial action in the recently convened 85th Congress in behalf of small businesses was to co-sponsor three bills, which are designed to accomplish the following:

1. To make the Small Business Administration, which is scheduled to expire on June 30, a permanent agency;

2. To authorize small business loans at three percent interest in chronic areas of labor surplus, and

3. To grant the tax relief for small businesses which has been recommended by President Eisenhower's Cabinet Committee on Small Business.

Lower Corporation Taxes

Among the sections of the tax-relief measures are provisions which would allow lower corporation income taxes on income up to $25,000, authorize more liberal depreciation formulas for second-hand equipment, permit corporations with ten or fewer stockholders to be taxes as if they were partnerships, and adjust the regulations concerning the payment of certain estate taxes on business enterprises.

Several of my colleagues on the Banking and Currency Committee have already indicated that they will support these proposals.

Historical Park Proposed

In addition to cosponsoring the small business legislation, I have also introduced or co-sponsored several other bills which I believe will be of interest to my fellow Marylanders.

Among these are measures to establish the Chesapeake and Ohio National Historical Park, to make volunteer Civil Defense workers eligible for income tax deductions, and to revise the antiquated fish and game laws of the District of Columbia.

In closing, I would like to extend a warm invitation from my staff and myself for you to visit us in our new offices, Suite 244, in the Senate Office building.

Crime in 1956 was seen as worst in history with 2,534,000 offenses.

Port of Baltimore enjoyed best year of history as it set records.

County and State Figures Given On Unemployment Data

Maryland's booming economy in the fiscal year ended June 30 cut unemployment so sharply that Unemployment Insurance payments dropped to approximately half the level of the previous fiscal year, it was disclosed in the annual report of the Employment Security Board to Governor Theodore R. McKeldin.

High industrial production and general economic expansion cut the number of payments made to eligible workers by the Maryland Department of Employment Security to 592,434, and the amount of payments to $13,525,199. In the previous year there were 1,146,381 payments, amounting to $27,730,083.

The annual report gave the following figures for Garrett county: Under major industry group, total industries reporting, 303 with average employment of 2,000. NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

Two books have been presented in memory of Mrs. Martha Hinebaugh Robinson. Mr. and Mrs. Guy William Hinebaugh have given "The New World History of Art" by Cheney, and Mrs. Veronica Robertson has given "Learn to Read Music" by Shanet.

Mrs. Norman Irving Broadwater has given "Venice Observed" by Mary McCarthy in memory of her husband, Dr. Broadwater. This book contains a number of reproductions of great paintings as well as descriptions and photographs of Venice.

Several other books on art have recently been added to the library. These include "The Rainbow Book of Art" by Thomas Craven, "Rembrandt" by Ludwig Munz, "Treasures of the Great National Galleries" by Hans Tietze, and "Encyclopedia of Painting" by Bernard S. Myers. Irving Stone's biographical novel of Vincent van Gogh, "Lust for Life," has been published in a new edition illustrated with a hundred and fifty reproductions of Van Gogh's pictures. Modern techniques of color reproductions make all of these books especially beautiful.

Books have been donated by Terry Helbig and Mrs. D. Edward Offutt. Christopher Hoving, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gonder, has given a new children's book. Oakland Hardware and Furniture company has given wallpaper which will be used to make new book jackets.

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Alexander Hamilton

Alexander Hamilton, the bicentennial of whose birth we are now observing, stands high among our founding fathers. As a school boy of seventeen, he began speaking and writing in support of the Colonial cause, showing a grasp of issues and a comprehension of the philosophy of government that made him at once a feared enemy to the Loyalist opposition, and a valued member of the band of patriots that sparked the Revolution.

His military skill and boldness early in the Revolutionary War attracted the attention of Washington, who attached him to his own staff. Thus was Hamilton able to give full scope to his grasp of political affairs, and render invaluable aid to the general-in-chief upon whom fell the duties of secretary of war and chief of staff, as well as commander in the field. Hamilton assisted the organization of the army, by drafting plans for the correction of defects, and by preparing a comprehensive set of military regulations. In the midst of these military functions, Hamilton was devoting his powerful mind to the problems of government.

After the conclusion of the Revolution, in which Hamilton was privileged to head a brilliant attack, under Lafayette's command, at Yorktown, he served a term in the Continental Congress, confirming by intimate experience his theoretical understanding of the challenge of a new government. Hamilton, more than any other one man, contributed to the adoption of the Constitution as we have it now, through his magnificent contributions in the Federalist Papers, and his political activities in New York to assure the adherence of that powerful state.

A similar victory against apparently insuperable odds was won by Hamilton under the new government, when George Washington again expressed his confidence by appointing him Secretary of the Treasury. Against Congressional and administration opposition, he planned and put into effect a complicated system of taxation, finance, and control of credit, from which, as Daniel Webster put it, "abundant streams of revenue gushed forth."

Alexander Hamilton's contributions to the founding of this nation, his courage and energy, his intellectual keeness and heartfelt eloquence, his integrity and his wisdom in the science of government, might well serve as a model to all of us in meeting our problems of today.

Awarded Trip To Bermuda and Nassau

Charles T. Shafer, manager of the Southern States Oakland Cooperative and Mrs. Shafer, will leave Oakland by train today, January 17, for New York City, where they will join a party of 60 persons on an 8-day cruise to Bermuda and Nassau for winners of an incentive contest last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Shafer will board the steamship "Queen of Bermuda" on Friday afternoon, January 18, for the cruise. The ship will arrive in Bermuda Sunday morning, January 20, and for the next day and a half the group will tour the key scenic and historic attractions in these English mid-Atlantic islands.

From Bermuda, the party will cruise to Nassau for a full day of sightseeing on this island in the Bahama group.

The ship will leave Nassau on the evening of January 23, arriving in New York early on the morning of Saturday, January 26. The Shafers are planning on returning to Oakland on Saturday, January 26.

The contest in which the Shafers were awarded the Bermuda trip prize was conducted by the Southern States Cooperative during the operating year of 1955-56. Prizes were awarded to service agencies and district field men for outstanding achievements in increasing business volume during the period over the previous year.

Protect your budget from the strain of unexpected hospital bills. Join BLUE CROSS.

How much money would you set aside if you knew you were going to have a hospital bill to pay this year? There isn't any way to tell, is there? No one can predict the extent of an injury, or the size of a hospital bill.

Blue Cross can protect you against unforeseen hospital expenses, as it now protects more than 950,000 other Maryland citizens. Many of these Blue Cross subscribers can tell you that Blue Cross offers broad, realistic protection at a small monthly rate.

Key to Blue Cross: "Service Benefits"

The heart of Blue Cross is hospital care. Blue Cross's way of providing for the hospital care you may need is "service benefits." These are, to put it simply, agreements between Blue Cross and the member hospitals to provide the hospital care you need.

The emphasis, you see, is on care—not cash. Blue Cross does not give you dollars to help pay your hospital bills. Instead Blue Cross, through its "service benefits" pays the hospital directly for the services covered in your membership.

You don't have to file a claim, or wait for reimbursement. Dollar payments are often not enough to cover hospital bills. Blue Cross records show that Blue Cross "service benefits" do often cover a subscriber's hospital expenses in full.

Find out now about Blue Cross

If there is a Blue Cross group where you work, ask your employer how you may join it. If there is no Blue Cross group where you work, and there are five or more people employed there, ask your employer about getting Blue Cross protection for you. You may get information about Blue Cross by calling the Blue Cross office listed in your telephone directory, or by writing for a free booklet to: Blue Cross, Dept. 1030, 206 West Baltimore St., Baltimore 1, Maryland.

Hopes for Peace . . .

We don't see how any person from any country on this globe could hear the words of President Eisenhower's inaugural address and fail to be convinced of this man's earnest and sincere desire for peace. He proclaimed to the world that building "peace with justice" was the "bold and solemn purpose" of his second term. He clearly enunciated America's hopes for peace.

He let it be known that the cost of a just and enduring peace would be high in toil, help and sacrifice, but he was convinced that this country could be of great help in healing this divided world.

He branded international communism and the power that it controls as the great "divisive force" bose in the world, and yet toward the people of Russia he thrust forth a hand of friendship.

President Eisenhower sought first the favor of Almighty God. He then declared his hope that in dealing with all people of the world that he ever speak truth and serve justice and that America prove true to the honorable purposes that bind and rule.

He declared his firm and fixed purpose of building a peace with justice in a world where moral law prevails, where the equality of all nations great and small is affirmed.

He called for the unity of all who dwell in freedom as the only sure defense. "We cherish our friendship with all nations that are or would be free. We respect, no less, their independence. We no more seek to buy their sovereignty than we would sell our own. Sovereignty is never bartered among free men." How easily these words are understood by anyone who is privileged to read them.

He felt progress in education and industry in Russia would speed the time when people may freely meet in friendship. His overall purpose is to help heal this divided world so that nations may cease to live in trembling before the menace of force.

No one can properly find fault with the principles enumerated by our President. Peace is within the reach of all—if other nations would have that same desire—and believe our words.

New Auto Tags For 1957 Have Arrived

Around 3,500 sets of auto license plates for the 1957-58 year for passenger automobiles are now at the office of the County Treasurer, Joseph H. Welch. They won't be on sale until sometime in March, but they are here and ready for the automobile owners of the county who will get their license plates directly from here.

The tags are in exact reverse from this year's tags. They have white numerals on a green background. Maryland will use both front and rear license tags again this year. They must be attached to automobiles by April 1, and may be attached after March 15. This year's tags will expire March 31.

Garrett county tags have the letters GC and numerals starting at 2,501. They run to 5,999. The letters are the same as the past year. Previous to this year they were GA and prior to that were GG.

License plates also may be obtained by sending the applications direct to the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles in Baltimore. Application blanks have not yet been mailed to auto owners from the commission office but will be done within the next thirty days.

Licenses presumably will cost the same as last year, $15, plus 15 cents for handling them in the Treasurer's office.

Commissioners Spend $786,164.52 During Year 1956

Annual Report Completed This Week; Published In Today's Issue

Garrett County Commissioners spent $786,164.52 during the past year ending December 31, according to the annual report which has just been completed and which appears in The Republican today.

Along with a balance of $25,852.04 from last year, the total receipts were $789,253.90, and money borrowed totaled $60,000. There was a balance on hand of $63,089.38 to start out the new year.

Receipts from county taxes brought $602,145.43, while other sources brought in $157,886.68. Monies received for special accounts totaled $3,369.75.

The County Roads department is working on its annual report and will not have it completed before next week. It will be published at that time.

The cigaret tax showed total receipts of $21,687.19, with $20,118.64 of that amount being turned over to the Board of Education for additional payments on teacher salaries.

A statement of indebtedness in regard to schools showed a bond issue of 1949 of $1,050,000, another loan of 1949, $46,703.85; a loan of 1953 of $97,000, and a bond issue of 1956 of $500,000, totaling $2,124,-932.94. Payment during 1956 amounted to $113,812.55, leaving an indebtedness for schools of $2,011,-120.39.

The detailed account of the report will be found on another page of today's issue.

Campaign For March Of Dimes Progresses

Various activities of the March of Dimes campaign appeared to be progressing this week, according to Charles L. Briner, county chairman, although no definite figures were yet available.

The "Peanuts for Polio" effort had produced over $300, it was reported by Rev. John Atwell, in charge of this phase of the over-all drive.

A number of the mailers sent out to the rural areas were being returned, Mr. Briner said 3,400 of these coin containers had been mailed out and he requested that they be returned as soon as possible.

The Junior Woman's Civic club is preparing for the Mothers' March, to be held next Tuesday evening, January 29, which will be conducted from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The polio dance is scheduled for Saturday, February 2, at the National Guard armory. Admission is $3.50 per couple.

Cold Wave Follows Mild, Rainy Days

After three days of mild and rainy weather another cold wave hit this area, lowering temperatures to 10 above zero and bringing about one-half inch of snow. The cold front moved in from the northwest and drove back the southerly winds that had brought a thaw to the county.

On Monday the temperature soared to 55 degrees but Tuesday brought freezing conditions along with high water from the steady rain of the day.

Ski conditions over the week-end continued to be excellent with the Marsh Mountain ski area packed on both days, with additional hundreds of watchers. There were two casualties, with one skier being knocked out for a brief period on Saturday and a Washington ski lady breaking an ankle on Sunday afternoon. Sloppy conditions on Monday caused a discontinuance of the sport temporarily.

A summary of the week's weather showed Friday at about 12 above zero with additional snow and conditions stormy. Saturday was fairly cold, clear with some moderation. There was some sun on Sunday and melting temperature. Monday was cloudy with continued thawing from southerly winds. Tuesday was colder with rain in the afternoon and evening. Streams were high and the Little Youghiogheny overflowed its banks. Wednesday was colder with some snow. It was about 10 above zero this morning and the weather remained cold. It was hazy overhead.

Workers Tested

Prospective employees for the Sterling Processing company, soon to start operations in Oakland, were given tests this past week by the State Employment Service, Charles L. Briner, manager, said some 75 women were given tests at the Oakland Fire hall, and that most of them were being interviewed for possible positions.

Fred Glisan, personnel manager of the company, from Morgantown, W. Va., was in Oakland this week conducting the interviews.

Stover Again Leads Local FFBL Council

W. Dwight Stover was re-elected chairman of the Garrett County Farming for Better Living Council at a dinner meeting at the William-James hotel Monday night.

Others elected were Charles Williams, vice-chairman; Johanna Magaha, secretary; Nordeck Shaffer, treasurer. They succeed Carlton Callis, Miss Ethel Grove and Howard Riggs, respectively.

Sixty-seven Garrett County farm families have already enrolled in this year's program, L. Bush Swisher, Morgantown, project director, reported.

He said plans were made to complete the enrollment within the next few weeks. Farm families who are interested in joining the program may secure enrollment cards from the County Extension office in Oakland.

James A. McHenry, assistant county agent, told the group that the $25 received at the annual farming for better living dinner last fall in recognition of 100 percent completion of the FFBL booklets by each family enrolled, would be used to provide refreshments for this year's annual 4-H county round-up. This is the fourth consecutive year that Garrett county has won this award.

Members of the council said they would try for 100 percent completion in 1957.

Attending Monday night's meeting were W. Dwight Stover, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Bittinger, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Friend, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hummel, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baker, Mr. and Mrs. William Wildesen, Miss Ethel Grove, Miss Johanna Magaha, John H. Carter, Herbert C. Leighton, James A. McHenry, William Nace, Howard J. White, L. Bush Swisher, Charles Williams, James Copeman, J. T. Cain.

Farm Income Tax Guide Is Available

The 1956 Farmers Tax Guide for income and self-employment tax is now being distributed to farmers by County Agent John Carter.

"This Booklet may prove to be a money and time saver for farmers," Mr. Carter says. "It explains in plain language most of the income tax rules for farmers' income taxes. Many examples for filing returns are given in the book."

"Farm management specialists at the University of Maryland and Internal Revenue men who work on farm income reports tell us that some farmers pay more income tax than they need to, because they don't give a proper accounting of expenses, depreciation, capital gains or losses."

Mr. Carter is mailing about 600 copies to Garrett County farmers. Anyone not receiving a copy in the mail can secure a free copy by contacting the County Agent's office at Oakland.

Parliamentary Procedure Given Humorous Scrutiny

Parliamentary procedure came in for its share of jovial scrutiny after last week's story about the re-election of H. D. Swartzentruber as president of the County Commissioners.

Said one individual, "There is never any need for a nomination to be seconded." "Another one asks, "What is all the election hassle about anyway? Nominations never need a second. And a motion to close nominations is superfluous and undemocratic."

Well, anyway, H. D. Swartzentruber was nominated for president of the Commissioners. He was the only one nominated. And when a vote was taken the score was two to one in favor of his election.

Quick, my kingdom for a copy of Robert's Rules of Order.

Northern Huskies Down Highlanders

Winners Lead All The Way While Southern Rally Falls Short

A fast moving and smooth working Northern High basketball five coached by Lilburn Brown, hit from all angles last Friday night to defeat Southern High cagers. The final score was 63 to 63. A Southern rally fell short as the game ended.

Paced by Dick Spear and Darwin Robeson who tallied 24 and 22 points respectively the Huskies drew first blood in the County Championship class "B" race.

Northern took charge from the opening whistle to amass a first period lead of 18 to 6. The Huskies continued to lead 38 to 27 at the half with Southern being held to only seven field goals in that time by the defensive play of Spear and Ron Glass. At one time during the first half Northern had a lead of 27 to 11.

The Huskies continued to roll in the second half and held a comfortable lead of 58 to 48 at the end of the third quarter. The play of Ken Shaffer pulled the Highlanders to within five points at the end of the game.

Northern lost Spear and Tom Schroyer on fouls in the third period while Tom Bittinger also made his exit for Southern in the same period.

Northern held a 23 to 21 edge in baskets and also had one more foul to its credit with 22. W. Humberson scored 17, Schroyer 4 and Uetrick 1 to complete the Huskie scoring. Mickey and Glass were non-scoring.

For Southern Shaffer was far out in front with 29 points, made on 10 field goals and 9 fouls. Tom Bittinger scored 14, Kight 4, Shiffy 6, Dintaman 3, G. Bittinger 4 and Colaw 3. Roth, Murphy and Deckman were non-scoring.

Southern P.-T.A. Votes Approval of Teacher Salary Hike

The Parent-Teacher association of Southern High school went on record Monday night as approving the proposed $800 increase in teacher salaries as recommended by the State Board of Education.

Speaking in behalf of the proposed salary increases, Rev. John J. Atwell told his audience that the teacher crisis in Maryland is getting worse every day. He pointed out that the State of Maryland must rely on teachers from nearby states. "Where once we could offer the highest salaries in this part of the nation, Maryland now ranks thirteenth in salary scales. But even worse, it is the nearby states which have stepped out in front. We will no longer be able to hold and attract teachers from other states," he said.

He also pointed out that average college graduates in fields other than teaching are beginning work at annual salaries above $4,000. The starting salary for a teacher here after four years of college is $2,950. High school graduates can begin working in clerical positions for $3,150 per year, he said.

Rev. Atwell was introduced by John Wolf, county P.-T.A. council president. Mr. Wolf urged that all persons interested in the educational system write to their representatives in Annapolis concerning their views. "Only through unified action can we obtain these necessary increases," he said.

Prior to the program a business meeting was held when plans were discussed for raising money to purchase additional uniforms for the rapidly growing Southern band. Delbert Gnegy, president, also suggested that the association study the possibility of awarding a scholarship to a worthy senior each year. Several committees are to be appointed to study various projects suggested at the meeting.

Cub Pack To Meet

The monthly meeting of the Cub Pack of Oakland will be held on Friday evening, January 25, at 7:30 in the Scout hall. "Eyes in the Sky" is the theme for the month and the program will include a talk on astronomy by C. W. Englander, local pharmacist.

Cubs and parents will be in attendance. Program chairman for the month is Regis Kerns.

Turkey Production Contest on Saturday Won by Harold Kahl

Harold Kahl, Jr., of Accident, Northern High school student, took top honors in the Garrett County 4-H turkey production contest held last Saturday at the Motor Service company building in Grantsville. Over forty persons attended.

Tom Glotfelty, a son of Austin Glotfelty, of the Underwood section south of Oakland, was runner up. Ray Beitzel, Bittinger, placed third, while others include Roger Beitzel, Bittinger, 4th; Joe Buckel, Bittinger, 5th; Robert Knox, Accident, 6th; and David Moon, McHenry, 7th.

Kahl, a son of Harold Kahl, Sr., of Accident, ran 300 broad breasted bronze turkeys from the Mt. Vernon hatchery for twenty-six weeks. His 4-H record shows he had a feed conversion of 3.88 pounds of Purina feed for each pound of turkey produced. He had a mortality record of 6 percent, with an average weight per bird of 21.4. His record also showed a total cost of 24 cents per pound with a profit of 2.4 cents per pound.

The youth is a member and president of the McHenry 4-H club and a member of the Cove chapter of F.F.A. He scored a total of 163.6 points out of a possible 200.

Glotfelty, the runner up, had a total of 159.5. He is a member of the Oakland chapter of the F.F.A. His sample consisted of 300 bronze turkeys, which he ran for 25 weeks. He showed a feed conversion of four pounds, with average weight being 22.5 and the feed cost at 22 cents per pound. He fed Eastern States feed and obtained his poults from Loving hatchery.

All of the dressed turkeys exhibited in the 4-H show will be exhibited again at the Maryland Turkey Producers' show to be held February 13 at Annapolis. The 4-H boys also will attend the show along with representative of the Garrett County Turkey Growers. The latter organization sponsored the program.

President Begins 2nd Term of Office

President Dwight D. Eisenhower was publicly sworn in Monday for his second term and solemnly warned that "rarely has this earth known such peril" as it now faces from "the devisive force that is international Communism."

The oath was administered by Chief Justice Earl Warren at 12:23 p. m. as ceremonies on the steps of the U. S. Capitol after Vice-president Richard M. Nixon was sworn in by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland.

The sixty-six-year-old President intoned these words:

"I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, so help me God."

The president's right hand was raised, his left hand resting on the Bible his mother gave him when he was graduated from West Point 42 years ago. The text he chose was from the thirty-third Psalm "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord, and the people whom He hath chosen for his inheritance."

He officially began his second term Sunday morning in a private oath-taking ceremony at the White House.

Following the inaugural address Monday there was a two and one-half hour parade.

7,171 Tax Bills Mailed to Citizens

Seven thousand, one hundred seventy-one tax bills were mailed this week to citizens of the county, it was announced by Joseph H. Welch, county treasurer.

The list didn't include business places and those paying direct through the State Tax commission which would have increased the number to more than 9,150. Welch said there were 138 additional accounts this year, coming mostly from the increase in the number of properties around the lake.

Mrs. Calvin Anderson, of district No. 8, apparently was the most anxious to get her tax payment settled, as she already has appeared at the Treasurer's office to earn the distinction of being the first person in the county to settle her tax account for the year 1957.

She paid a total of $111.21 on her assessment, receiving $5.45 as five percent discount.

The effort was made again this year to send out the tax bills earlier than usual in the hope that the county would receive enough return to run the county for January, so that it would not be necessary to borrow $50,000 on a short term loan, as had been the case in former years. The tax forms which are the same size as last year are just half the size of those used previously.

On all county taxes paid during January and February a discount of 5 percent is allowed; on all county taxes paid during March and April a discount of 4 percent is allowed; on all county taxes paid during May and June a discount of three percent is allowed. No discount is allowed unless the whole amount of the tax for the current year is paid. No discount is allowed after June 30, and after the 30th day of September interest is charged at the rate of one half percent per month. No discount is allowed on state taxes.

Northern Defeats Bruceton 75 To 62

Northern High's Huskies ran their winning streak to four in a row and captured their seventh victory Tuesday night at Cove by whipping Bruceton Mills High by 75 to 62.

Darwin Robeson paced the victors with 29 points while Ward Humberson chipped in with 13. Spear had 13, Glass 6, Schroyer 9, and C. Humberson 5 to complete the scoring.

Northern led 45 to 27 at the half and had a 51-42 advantage at the end of the third period. Northern outscored Bruceton 26 goals to 23 and also had the advantage at the foul line with 23 out of 37 as compared to 16 out of 31 for the visitors.

Gas Production Is Highest Ever

County Commissioners Get $28,573 Check As Share Of Receipts

Natural gas production in the Accident, Mt. Lake Park, Gortner and Red House areas over the past three months ending December 31, has topped all previous records and almost doubled the production of the previous three months, it was learned from the report received this week by the County Commissioners.

The number of cubic feet produced in the 90-day period totaled 1,572,360,000, and was the fifth time that the amount exceeded a billion cubic feet. The marketable gas was valued at $408,197.39.

The company sent a check for $28,573.82 as the county's total from the seven percent tax on the marketable gas which was $14,096.25 more than any other check ever received for a similar period. The first check was received by the Commissioners for the first report back in 1951. The largest previous check was for $17,756.10, received in May, 1956.

The breakdown of this latest tax showed $11,420.53 as the purchaser's proportion (2.8 percent) and $17,-144.29 as the producer's proportion (4.2 percent).

Production from the thirty-four producing wells during the months of October, November and December totaled almost 17½ million cubic feet per day with the B. Miller well in the Accident area being responsible for more than 1½ million per day. Three new wells were brought into the picture during this period, all of them in the Accident area and all of them big ones. The Earl Knox well showed a production of 319,714,000 cubic feet, the Mitchell Rush well a total of 215,386,00 cubic feet, the Herman and Hanlin well showed 75,774,000 cubic feet. Other large producers were the Bowser well with over 57 million, the Ford Fike well with over 22 million, the Swartzentruber well with over 18 million, another Miller well in the Accident area with over 120 million, the Collier well with over 124 million. The N. K. Welch well, one of the oldest wells still producing, showed a total of 21,965,000 cubic feet. The Hamilton well in the Red House area showed over 23 million, while the Arnold well in the same area showed over 48 million.

The market value of $408,197.39 was almost twice as much as the previous period which had a total of $206,822.32.

Mt. Lake Park will receive a portion of the tax through the County Commissioners from gas produced within the corporate limits of the town.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the Commissioners in July of 1951, the county's governing body has received $211,930.74 which has been used to help pay off the school bond indebtedness. Any amount in excess of $50,000 during any one year will go toward the expenses of the Garrett County Memorial hospital, and this year $11,238.55 was placed in the hospital expense fund. Should the returns continue to remain at a high level this year it would be possible to place over $50,000 in the hospital expense fund at the next levy.

As there is no 4-H club in the community at present, discussion led to whether or not there is a need for one.

Respiratory Disease Major Menace To Poultry Industry

Respiratory diseases are one of the major menaces to the poultry industry today, according to H. M. DeVolt, professor of poultry pathology at the University of Maryland. Dr. DeVolt is the author of "Common Respiratory Diseases of Poultry.", a 20 page booklet just published by the Department of Veterinary Science at the University.

The importance of respiratory diseases of poultry has been accentuated in recent years with the advent of Newcastle and "Air-Sac" disease. Others, such as infectious bronchitis, laryngotracheitis, coryza, chronic respiratory disease, and infectious sinusitis, have been known for some years.

These diseases account for a sizable loss of farmers' income through death, decreased egg production or inefficient meat production, Dr. DeVolt says.

The key to control of these diseases, according to Dr. DeVolt, is an accurate diagnosis. Since many of these diseases have somewhat similar symptoms, a laboratory diagnosis is usually necessary before the flock can be properly treated. The Live Stock Sanitary Service of the Maryland State Board of Agriculture maintains seven laboratories to conduct free diagnosis of diseased poultry and other live stock. These laboratories are located in College Park, Salisbury, Centerville, Bel Air, Frederick, Hagerstown and Oakland.

The booklet, "Common Respiratory Diseases of Poultry," lists the major diseases, their cause, way of spreading, symptoms, diagnosis and treatment, along with suggestions for prevention and control. This booklet is available without charge by writing Department of Veterinary Science, University of Maryland, College Park, county agents, or any of the Live Stock Sanitary Service field laboratories.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Gasoline—one cent more per gallon!

The big question now is: "Why?"

Shortly after the recent gasoline increases were announced, I began receiving information designed to show that the price boosts were unjustified.

Each mail brought additional comments about the matter so, in an effort to clear the air for consumers and suppliers alike, I suggested that the Senate Banking and Currency Committee study the matter to see whether the increases are in order.

Resolution to Be Submitted

My proposal will be incorporated into a formal resolution and submitted to the Senate as soon as possible.

As a member of the Banking and Currency Committee, I have seen that such probes can be quite effective.

I remember vividly, for instance, how the high coffee prices of 1954 dropped after they were studied by a subcommittee, of which I was chairman.

In the light of the numerous warnings we have received recently concerning the possibility of inflation, it seems especially important for the Banking and Currency Committee to utilize its full power to investigate prices and costs in the months ahead.

Annuity Increases Proposed

In addition to requesting a study of gasoline prices, I have just introduced or co-sponsored measures which would:

Provide for the appointment of an additional District Judge for Maryland;

Set up a scientific study and research program for the purpose of developing more industrial uses for agricultural products;

Increase annuities payable to certain annuitants from the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund, and

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

The people who make a profession of studying the economic health of the U. S. A. are predicting that prosperity likely will continue for some time, with very little if any interruption. This is welcome news to anyone who takes the time to read and digest it. All of us have a stake in the health of the nation's economy. And yet, how many of us really understand what makes prosperity?

If we had to describe the root force in our prosperity in one word, it would be "production." There are many other vital factors. But without continued expansion of production, which creates new wealth, our prosperity soon would wither and die. Purchasing power comes only through production. So a fundamentally important thing in our dynamic private enterprise economy—and our prosperity—is the creation of a productive job.

For a new job to be created someone must think up a new process, a new service, a new product, or expand a present one. A plan for a new process, a new service, or a new product must be drawn up and tested for usefulness and consumer acceptance. After these two initial steps have been taken, someone then must invest an average of $12,000 in plant, tools and equipment to create each job. Today in America we must have more than a million new jobs a year to take care of our expanding work force, our growing population.

A million new jobs each year mean that $12 billion in new wealth must be invested, at $12,000 per job on the average. Where does this money come from? It must come from people whose net income is more than their living expenses. If a single man spends only $3,000 a year for living expenses, he must earn a total income of approximately $25,000 to have $12,000 left over to invest in a business enterprise so that one job can be created. This is something to think about.

After a job is created and a new company or expansion is in operation, it takes some doing to keep the job operating, the new production going. Tens of thousands of companies fail every year and many times that many jobs are destroyed. This gives additional importance to the millions of people who manage to earn enough to save a little to invest in American business and industry. It also emphasizes the importance of having efficient and economic government, at all levels, so that taxes don't eat up the earnings of the masses of American workers and leave us without the vastly important investment capital so necessary to our improving economic welfare.

Healthy production and the creation of jobs began in America in the early 17th century, at Jamestown and Plymouth Colony, when the principles of private ownership, freedom of enterprise, and self reliance were established.

Farmers To Enroll In Soil Bank Program

The A. S. C. office is now ready to begin enrolling farmers in the Conservation Reserve part of the Soil Bank program for 1957, according to an announcement by H. Robert DeWitt, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Under the conservation reserve program farmers may receive cash payments for removing land from the production of general farm crops and converting it to long range conservation uses. Only land which was tilled or in regular crop rotation in 1956, land from which a crop of tame hay was harvested in the last two years and land which was seeded to grass or legumes for hay in the last three years is eligible to be placed in the conservation reserve this year. Nontillable land is not eligible in any case.

For land placed in the Conservation Reserve the land owner will receive an annual rental payment of $10 per acre or $3 per acre. The amount of land that can be entered at the $10 rate will depend upon the number of acres of soil depleting crops grown on the farm in the past two years. If only grass crops were grown in these two years the land would be eligible for only the $3 rate. Land must be entered for a minimum of three years and cannot be entered for more than ten years except in special cases involving tree planting.

In addition to the annual payment the land owner may receive payments up to 80 percent of the cost for carrying out certain needed conservation practices on the land entered in the Soil Bank. These practices include the establishment of grasses and legumes, tree planting, ponds, and other practices designed to provide food for wildlife.

Interested persons are to contact the ASC office in Oakland not later than March 15.

Mr. DeWitt stated that detailed information was being mailed to farmers.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland, Maryland.)

From that time Jesus began to preach, saying, Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. This is the key to the tone of Jesus' preaching throughout his lifetime. To preach a gospel of repentance has cost a great deal in the lives of all who preach it. To John the Baptist, it cost his head; for Christ, it cost the hideous death of crucifixion. To many who have followed in his footsteps, it has cost inconvenience, loss of property, death at the hands of wild animals, more recently terror at the thought of having your family blown up (as in the case of the minister's homes and churches which were blown up in the south two weeks ago,) and then there is the daily ridicule in direct spoken word and indirect disinterest on the part of the people with whom a modern pastor associates. Some have, "Is it worth it?" And the answer always comes in forthright fashion, an emphatic "YES!"

This was the first of Christ's sermons, and as I say, it set the tone of his message. But people then and now do not want to repent, for repentance implies that they have done some particular thing wrong, and people very seldom like to admit that they could be wrong. Repentance is no respecter of persons, for even though a man may be outwardly respectable, he is still far from being perfect, and as a matter of fact, there are times when the further you go in the kingdom of God, the greater the temptations to such things as self-righteousness.

But the important part of his preaching is the fact that he announced the Kingdom of God as being present now, not at some future date. Salvation for the Christian starts in this life, and is completed in the next, just as damnation for the infidel starts in this life and is completed in the next. Christ met with all sorts of opposition to his message of the kingdom, just as we meet with it today, for it is hard for people to accept something that they cannot fully understand. One of the reactions that I received to last week's column was an unsigned group of garbage from a self styled intellectual in Connellsville, the gist of which was that he just didn't want to believe in anything that he could not explain scientifically. The trouble is, he was not man enough to sign his name to the material he sent, so I hope that he sees this: man did not invent himself, he was wrought by God, according to God's own plan, which only He understands completely; all man's efforts to understand God fall short of complete understanding because of the fact that we are not able, by the very nature of our humanity to understand God completely; therefore, when we look at science, we must necessarily know that it will neither prove nor disprove God, because God is so much bigger than any scientific principle of man. The truly great and perceptive scientist understands this, as for instance when Newton, one of the greatest in the history of science said that he 'felt like a small boy playing with pebbles on a beach."

Any and all who announce the advent of Christ will meet with the problem of the men who think that they are self-sufficient—the original sin, many relying on himself rather than on God is still a part of man's problems today, and I imagine that it will be around until God Himself changes things. And for that matter, we cannot place our faith in God through faith in a human institution, like the church, for as one of the tracts that the aforementioned man mentioned, more horrible crimes have been committed in the name of religion than in any other cause, and many of the churches, I might say all churches, have fallen short of God's complete glory, having committed some pretty horrible things. They still do—as witness most evidences on the part of the church in the South when it comes to the problem of integration.

These are reasons for me to preach all the more steadfastly that man needs to repent of his sins, and take part in the Kingdom of God right now.

MAKE IT EASY PALS

By Maurice R. Franks
President, National Labor-Management Foundation and editor of its official publication, "Partners."

Five times each week, a certain industrial union's early morning radio program is signed off the air with this slogan:

"Take it easy, pals—but take it!"

The expertly evasive effect of this slogan should be clear to anyone. It should also be clear that its divisive effect strikes below the level of mere political partisanship to which this union's "educational" program has been tacitly devoted.

This slogan, like the entire program it capped morning after morning throughout the 1956 campaign, is steeped in economic laborism as opposed to conscientious unionism. It cynically or irresponsibly implies that industrial workers, even in modern America, constitute a downtrodden proletariat, miserably underpaid and cruelly driven, it beats the bushes for the foolish and commands them to be underdogs, with wounds to lick and fangs to sharpen.

The sole purpose of this program may have been to push for the election of candidates judged to be most favorable to organized labor, but its effect in the main has been to propagate more than political unrest. The resounding notes that were struck seemed pretty much in tune with the traditional alarums of social struggle, "the liberation of the masses," and a movement that seems peculiarly out of place in modern America.

The discontent this program seemed particularly interested in arousing in its worker listeners may have been straightforwardly political, but there were times when the impact of the spoken word could have been otherwise felt.

"Take it easy, pals . . . " This could very well be construed as a signal of the day for workers to slow down their production and, if you please, sabotage our American system of free enterprise.

And the rest of it: "But take it"—what else does that sound like but, "Line up, brothers, and grab your pay whether you've earned it or not!"?

Certainly this kind of spiel fails to gee with the highest principle of American unionism as laid down by its founders. "An honest day's pay for an honest day's work," and vice versa. Certainly it doesn't sound very "educational" to tell our workers, even by innuendo, that they should take it easy and slow down on the job—knowing how important their production is to the successful working of our economy.

Such utterances are dangerous when communicated over the air to the general public, and especially when captioned "educational."

Such loose talk should not go unchallenged, when coming from any guy. None can have a more subversive effect or do more to separate the best interests of the worker from those of his employer.

One of the costliest enemies of production is friction. It is notoriously tough on machinery—and this goes as well for the mechanisms of human relations. We can't make things easily for each other when we stop to make things tough. Only when we make it easy for each other, day by day as we tend to our various jobs and year-long as we develop our policies, are we as fully creative as we can be.

The person with good, clean common sense knows all this. And certainly a union, in the position of high responsibility it occupies, should also know it and teach it as the essence of its educational program.

Every union in the exercise of its public trust should make clear to its members the economic truth that anything to be had must be made, and that the making of even the simplest modern article represents the successful integration of a large number of creative forces.

Before it can be marketed at an attractive price, there must be idea and market research, there must be design and engineering, real estate and plant facilities, tools and production savvy. There must be a large and combined investment of money, time and talents—and all of these investments must be smoothly integrated through development of the most considerate of human relations.

This being so, if a union would wisely and constructively advise its people, it would cry, not "Take it easy, pals, but take it!" but rather "Make it easy, pals, but make it!"

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

ON SMEARING

In American politics it is unfortunately possible, through unprincipled propaganda in the press and over the air, to smear really good—and sometimes great men—to an extent from which most of them do not recover. The worst thing about this is that it has been done deliberately and with venomous persistence and unrestrained violence. Sometimes, however, the most viciously smeared not only recover but in the end are benefited by the smearing. In the last few years there have been two outstanding examples of public men who have been subjected to long sustained and wickedly false attack who not only seem to have emerged without a scar but appear greatly to have grown in public esteem. The most conspicuous of these is ex-President Herbert Hoover.

No more unselfish, dedicated and able man ever lived in the White House. Yet for years he was damned and derided, lied about and denounced to an almost incredible degree. In campaign after campaign, the Democrats made him a target. Curiously, the tide turned during the Truman Administration. By that time the bulk of the American people somehow began to understand that out of office Mr. Hoover had done more for his country than some of our Presidents while in. A lot of those formerly hostile began to feel ashamed

BACK THE ATTACK on Traffic Accidents

Today, few capable of an objective view will dispute that Mr. Hoover is the outstanding and most respected private citizen we have. This, of course, does not mean there are not still some Hoover haters left. There are, but only one or two of the more rabid New Deal journalists raised their voices in the last campaign. The cheaper of these attacked Mr Hoover by trying to belittle his son, Herbert Hoover, Jr., who recently resigned as Under Secretary of State after three years of competent service at great personal sacrifice.

The other man who has lived through years of unrestrained smearing and has come out better for the experience is Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The smearing of Mr. Nixon started four years ago when he first ran as a candidate for the vice presidency. Early in the campaign the Democrats dug up and sprang the story that Mr. Nixon, a poor man, had a fund at his disposal contributed by friends in California interested in his political success. The Democratic press demanded that Mr. Eisenhower drop him from the ticket. Mr. Nixon went on television and gave all the facts not only about the "fund" but about his personal finances and condition. Mr. Eisenhower promptly indorsed him. Also, it developed that as Governor of Illinois, Mr. Adlai Stevenson had had an almost similar fund supplied by friends for an almost similar purpose. Clearly there was nothing illegal or improper in either case.

This was a great disappointment to the Democratic managers who thought they had hold of something big in the way of a bomb. They had to drop the charges of course, about the Nixon "fund," but they kept up the Nixon smear not only through the 1952 campaign but during the four years that followed. Everything that Mr. Nixon said was distorted. Every effort was made to make him appear a villain. Words were put into his mouth that he had not said and the limit was perhaps reached when, in his last speech before the election, the noble Mr Stevenson himself, in an unworthy effort to capitalize on Mr. Eisenhower's health, asserted that a vote for Eisenhower was really a vote for Nixon. "And," he dramatically declared, "from that I recoil."

—o—

He did not specifically charge Mr. Nixon with any crime. He did not assail his record. Nevertheless, he conveyed the idea that he regarded him as a particularly poisonous kind of rattlesnake. From whatever angle it is viewed it seems "dirty ball." At any rate, while the lambasting of Mr. Nixon continued all through the '56 campaign the notable fact was that no charge of impropriety was ever made to stick against Mr. Nixon and extremely few of those against him last fall could give an adequate reason. Since the election Mr. Eisenhower has evinced his trust and like of Mr. Nixon in many ways—the most recent being to send him as his personal representative to Austria, there to dig out the facts of the Hungarian revolution and the Russian brutalities in crushing it. It may be that Mr. Nixon with Eisenhower support will be nominated for President in 1960, though there is no certainty about that. Predictions made at this time are foolish. Mr. Nixon made a good record in the House, in the Senate, and nearly everybody concedes he has made a good Vice President. In brief, the Democratic effort to smear him out of political existence has been a flat failure. He is now politically stronger than ever in his life. Easily in the next four years he may make mistakes, but to be [illegible] now he seems pretty sure proof

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Third Alarm

The shocking thing about our domestic situation is the unanimity with which nearly every observer, irrespective of politics, admits that we are already in the midst of an almost runaway and exceedingly dangerous inflation. The peril to the nation as a whole is almost as great as from a full-scale war.

Nearly every newspaper has editorialized about it. Thousands of speeches by eminent men have been made on the subject. The President himself has for the third time warned the nation of the risk involved. No later than last week in his message to Congress he pleaded with labor to refrain from demanding increased wages and for industry to refrain from raising prices, not only in their own interests but in those of all the people of all the country. Everybody is opposed to inflation. Everybody inveighs against it. But nobody does much about it except talk.

It is conceded that one basic cause of inflation is the tremendous and increasing cost of the Federal Government. For years during the Roosevelt - Truman regimes we operated at large and increasing deficits. During the first Eisenhower Administration the budget was balanced, not wholly by economy but by greatly increased receipts from taxes. This year there may again be a precarious balance, but governmental expenditures will have been increased and the inflationary danger enhanced. In brief, we will have accompanying the balancing of the budget no reliable surplus to permit any sort of tax reduction. Nearly every fiscal authority agrees that cutting taxes at this session is out of the question. Though our Federal finances are in the competent hands of Secretary Humphrey, he cannot work miracles. Under existing conditions it really will be a miracle to avoid another deficit.

It is a shocking situation all right. But the shock quickly wears off and leaves an almost complete apathy and inertia even among those best informed. They have heard and read these warnings of the danger of inflation so often, with nothing dire happening, that they are no longer scared, have, in fact, become bored by those who persist in sounding the alarm and urging action. It sounds like campaign stuff. As a matter of fact, it is as far from campaign stuff as one can get. It vitally concerns the life of every citizen. The wiser men among us regard an uncontrolled inflation as the worst calamity that could befall. Yet, few deny that that is exactly what we are now threatened with. Mr. Eisenhower is deeply disturbed and realizes the imminensity of the danger. His appeal to labor and industry is completely sincere and without political color at all. Yet, nothing will be done about it by either labor or industry. It is silly to say that inevitably we must go over this awful brink which will destroy the foundations of our economy and render us helpless before our enemy. A very realistic and practical alternative is before us.

Two years ago, the second Hoover report on ways to retrench was presented. Immediately President Eisenhower got behind it, just as Mr. Truman had done when the first Hoover report was made. Under Truman some of the Hoover report was adopted and a good deal of money saved. But the really big savings and the important recommendations were not acted upon. Under the first Eisenhower Administration, Mr. Eisenhower got behind the report and again some of it was adopted—but again not the important parts involving the largest savings. Now the rest of the Hoover report will again be before Congress. If adopted the estimate is that $5 billion could easily be saved. No one questions that a $5 billion reduction in Federal spending would enormously lessen the inflationary danger. No one doubts the savings could be made. Yet the Hoover recommendations cannot be enacted either by Committee indorsement or by Eisenhower pleas. There must be, as has been often proved, more than that. The powerful Federal employes' lobby has been strong enough many times to thwart the desire of the President and reject the advice of committees.

What is needs is not only presidential indorsement but active, vigorous, personal, militant and insistent presidential support. Even with that it needs more—it needs earnest, vigilant and informed public sentiment. Perhaps, with that combination, it will be put through this session. Considering the acute and undisputed need of the nation, it seems incredible that this simple act of salvation should be in doubt. But the subtlety and strength of this jobholders' lobby is hard to exaggerate.

Former Grantsville Man to Retire Soon

William G. Keller, special assistant to the manager of the DuPont company's general legal division, was honored January 18 at a reception in Wilmington, Del., in recognition of his retirement at the end of this month.

Mr. Keller, native of Grantsville, spent his youth in this area. He is a son of the late Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Keller, of Grantsville, and a brother of Charles O. Keller, who still resides there, and Miss Ruth Keller, Oakland.

His father was a prominent dentist in this county for many years and his mother was a daughter of William Reed Getty, a former state senator.

Mr. Keller is the husband of the former Miss Jeanette Howland, of Plymouth, Mass. They have two sons, Howland Getty Keller, senior at Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H.; and Wayne Keller, senior at Friends school, Wilmington.

Mr. Keller will complete a career with the DuPont company which began in 1916 when he started as an assistant in the chemical department following his graduation from Washington college in Chestertown. He received his B.S. degree in chemistry and was assigned to experimental studies in the recovery of industrial solvents.

In 1922 Mr. Keller left DuPont to enter Harvard Law school and was graduated in 1925 with a Bachelor of Laws degree. He was admitted to the Maryland Bar and engaged in private practice in Baltimore. He rejoined DuPont in 1929 as an attorney in the legal division. In 1951 he was made special assistant to the manager of the division.

He has been admitted to practice before the Court of Appeals of Maryland and the U. S. Customs Court. He is a member of the Harvard club of Delaware, Masonic lodge, DuPont Country club and Country Swimming club. He resides at 6 Granite Road, Mapocas in Wilmington.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

It's a Modern Ned

"It's lots of fun," cried lazy Ned
"To coast upon my nice new sled
And beat the other boys:
But then I can't bear to climb
That bug-bear hill, for every time
It more and more annoys."

The ski tow is just the opposite of lazy Ned, someone remarked at Marsh Mountain, and skiers wore blank expressions. They had never heard the poem about the boy who was too lazy to go sledding because he had to climb the hill.

But oh my, I'm a lazy Ned for the only possible reason I'd want to risk my neck coming down the ski slope would be to ride back up.

Not so with skiers, judging by their expressions. They were eager to get back up the slope in order to zig-zag back again.

Watching these human spiders spin their way to the bottom of the hill was indeed a beautiful sight. For spectator sport I'd rate it close to horse shows and ice skating, though many would say it's top on the list.

You can say what you please, as people go, there's something special about lovers of wholesome sport. They seem extremely friendly and honest and no doubt their behavior is why we have a word called sportsmanship which parallels the golden rule.

The ski tow is worth its investment in just that quality for our youth. Little tikes learning the skill of the sport are bound to be influenced by those friendly folks who had will power enough to master a difficult sport.

The Mislayed Mystery

After expressing the belief last week that the $50,000 gold coffee pot used for March of Dimes coffees would be so well guarded that nothing could happen to it, I read where it was mislayed, stolen or something. Anyway it disappeared in a freight office in Boston and was found in Florida a few days later.

The missing link about the missing pot is what took place between Boston and Florida. Your imagination is as good as mine—go ahead and speculate.

Coming Right Up

Our student son went into a small restaurant adjoining the campus for breakfast. The waitress he recognized as a girl from near Friendsville. As she presented the menu he said, "I want a fried egg just like Mom would fix."

Shortly she returned with "the best egg I have had for ages—just like you get when you flip hot fat over its top."

The family had a good laugh. Somehow I feel that girl should be told that Mom can't fry an egg fit to eat but that the son can serve up the best she has ever tasted, or would that make her self conscious?

Footprints in the House of Time

Footprints within the home tell the best story I know of the stage of living one is in. Those of a bride move around the house in orderly routine with a great similarity week after week. She is establishing routine.

After there is a family of small children, if the homemaker had flour on her feet they would show everywhere. In and out, to the front door, to the back, up and down stairs, all over the place dozens and dozens of times. Just to stand still for a while, may be her greatest desire.

But it will come. She never needs to fret. She'll stand in the middle and dish out to a growing, active family, every which way. She'll be pulled to a frazzle and almost yearn for the good old days of the run-about, when her footprints were everywhere.

Then there'll be another day—lots of people think it's a better day—I know I like it. The footprints are back again to bride-like routine, only fewer, for the head has learned to save the feet. Now they go through the front door and on to the community—often with a yearning to spend more time at home.

Someday there will be fewer goings out and comings in and the rug will wear thin in front of the chair by the fireside. As I look through my window at my neighbor sitting by her fire making rugs, I think maybe her time of life is the best.

Former Local Girl Is Drowning Victim

Two 10-year-old girls, one of them a former resident of Oakland, were drowned Saturday afternoon as they pulled a sled across the ice of Bear Creek, near Dundalk, Baltimore county. A 25-year-old steelworker who rushed to their rescue also lost his life.

One of the victims was Geraldine (Jerry) Lynn Dayton, 10-year-old daughter of Mrs. Geraldine Cox Dayton, and the late Jack M. Dayton. Mrs. Dayton formerly resided on Wilson street and had resided in Baltimore for the past year.

The other victims were Valerie Frechurger, 10, of Baltimore; and Robert M. Sudbrink, 25, of Baltimore.

The body of the Dayton girl was taken to the Boal funeral home in Westernport, where funeral services were conducted on Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock with Rev. L. E. Crowson, pastor of Piedmont Trinity Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in Philos cemetery.

It was recalled that the victim's father, the late Jack M. Dayton, was one of three men burned to death when a plane in which they were riding at Keyser, W. Va., on Friday, April 7, 1950, caught fire. The child, born April 7, 1946, was celebrating her birthday party at Westernport the day her father was killed.

Besides her mother, who is employed in Baltimore, she is survived by a sister, Jackie Lee Dayton, aged 11, and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Dayton, of Westernport.

Student Teachers Complete Project

Members of the Future Teachers' club at Northern High school have completed a project of student teaching and observation in the elementary schools of the northern end of the county. It was carried out January 10 and 11. On the last day the actual classroom teacher left the school and spent some time seeing junior high classes in session at Northern High.

Purposes of the project were to encourage students to enter teaching profession, to give FTA members first hand experience in teaching, to help bridge the gap between elementary and high school, and to give high school teachers an opportunity to meet the elementary teachers and exchange ideas on the two instructional programs.

Participating in the program were Merla Garletts, Doris Hummel, Carol Durst, Dorothy Edgar and Maxine McKenzie, who went to the Grantsville school; Beverly Speicher, Lorna Adt, June Leydig and Ruth Hockman, who went to the Accident school; and Carolyn Savage, Helen Brenneman, Rosalee Sisler and Thelma Savage, who went to the Friendsville school.

Elementary teachers assisting in the program included Miss Esther Opel, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, Miss Rachel Hughes, Grantsville school; Mrs. Wilodene Brown, Edward Shuck, Accident school; Miss Evelyn Wass, Mrs. Jennie Miller, Friendsville school. All worked in cooperation with Merle Frantz, A. B. Dean and Harold Garrett, elementary principals.

Paul Muha, principal at Northern High, termed the project "Educational and valuable in the training and preparation of prospective teachers." The club adviser is Miss Kathryn Speicher, who is also senior English instructor.

Things I Never Would Have Learned at Home

In the years that lie ahead, every able-bodied American boy will face a possible two or three years of military service. Our world tensions make such training imperative.

All of us are deeply concerned about it's possible effect on our boys' lives. Two of my own sons are in military service at the present time. Both of them, knowing the call was inevitable, enlisted for a three year period. This decision was strictly their own. One of them will return home next month after a year spent in foreign service.

Some years ago, the Reader's Digest was interested enough in the reactions of service men to conduct a poll of opinion among them. The answers they gave to the questions were revealing and encouraging.

Seventy-nine percent reported they had gained numerous benefits from their years of service. They said most of these were "Things I never would have learned at home." Taken from familiar surroundings and suddenly placed on their own two feet, many young men saw the world and their relationship to people in a new perspective. They were stripped of family, friends and habits which had supported them from childhood. One recruit said, "Brother, this is a long way from home!"

Seventy-eight percent felt they had become more considerate of others. They had made friends of people of different backgrounds, different faiths, and learned to work well with others, under many different conditions.

Seventy-six percent said they came out of the service with greater self-confidence than they had before. The discipline made them learn to take care of themselves, instead of running to their folks. One recruit said, "It puts a young fellow on his own and makes a man of him."

Most of the men were high in their praise of the educational opportunities offered them, and in the year the survey was conducted over 82,000 had completed their high school courses in "Operation Bootstrap," by working at them during off duty hours. Many other thousands have taken advantage of the college training and many other varied advantages offered them after they have left the service.

The reaction among Negro servmen was especially good. The Negro veteran said it opened up to him new horizons. They felt they were "farther ahead" as a result of their military service. Ninety-two percent of them felt their service was enriching and rewarding.

Veterans almost to a man agreed that travel had increased their pride in the U. S. They said "seeing this country makes you realize it's tremendous size, the vast variety of it's resources. Everywhere you go there are opportunities. People in different parts of the country put themselves out to take care of you. You get a feeling of belonging to the country."

Fifty-eight percent said their military service had increased their faith in God. They said seeing men of different beliefs who all worshipped the same God had strengthened their own faith.

Many of them said they were turning their military experiences into valuable assets for themselves and their country. Three out of four came home saying that the service made them more capable people and better citizens, alert both to the problems of their neighbors and the larger problems of their country and the world. They were almost unanimous in saying, "I learned things I never would have learned at home".

Grand Champions— A farm family of Tyler county, W. Va., has been named the grand champion of the 1956 Farming for Better Living competition. Winners of the "Sweepstakes" award are C. F. Gorrell and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gorrell, who operate a 418-acre grassland farm near Ben's Run. In the photo, left to right, are C. F. Gorrell, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gorrell and children, Richard, 6 weeks old, and Rebecca Lynn, 3. The Gorrells were notified of the honor January 19 at the annual regional awards banquet in Parkersburg. The Farming for Better Living program is divided into four regions with the sweepstakes winner selected from past regional champions still in the program. Region 2 winner this year was Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Montgomery, of Taylor County. Garrett county is a part of region 2.

MARRIED

Hutzel - Frazee — Miss Dorothy Elaine Frazee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen D. Frazee, Friendsville, became the bride of Wilbur Ray Hutzel, son of Mrs. Nellie Hutzel, Friendsville, on Sunday, January 13, in the Friendsville Methodist church.

Rev. DeShong performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white mums and white gladioli.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Lucille Sines played traditional wedding music. She accompanied Mrs. Harry Bender who sang "I Love You Truly," and "Oh Promise Me." Mrs. Sines also sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a street length dress of winter white with waist length veil of white net and carried a lavender orchid with white ribbon with lovers' bow knots and lilies of the valley on a white Bible given to her by her sister.

Miss Donna DeWitt, Sang Run, was her maid of honor. She was attired in a street length dress of light blue taffeta with three quarter length sleeves. Her headpiece was of matching light blue. She carried a bonquet of Mamie Eisenhower carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Eloise DeWitt, Sang Run; Miss Hazel Knox and Miss Eleanor Geer, both of Accident, and Miss Glenna Frazee, Friendsville. Their dresses were identically styled of blue and pink tafleta with white headpieces and they carried Mamie Eisenhower carnations.

Dale Frazee, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Rodney McKenzie and Elaine Green, both of Grantsville.

The bride's mother wore a dress of gray print with black accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother chose a dress of navy blue with black accessories. Her corsage also was of white carnations.

The Women's Society of Christian Service, Circle 3, gave a reception immediately following the ceremony, in the church social room. A pink and white theme was carried out in the decorations. The reception table was centered with a three-tiered white wedding cake which was topped with miniature bride and groom.

The bride and groom are graduates of Northern High school. Following a brief honeymoon the couple will reside at 1891 East 93rd street, Cleveland, O.

the look on its face!

Wouldn't you say that most of the '57 cars look good from 50 feet away, but what about from 50 inches away?

What does a close-up of the grille tell you, for example? Is it solidly made like the new Chevrolet grille? Or, in comparison does it look less rich in design—feel less strong and solid? Compare the quality and construction of the bumpers and headlights, the fit of the chrome trim.

The more closely you look all around the car, the more clearly you'll see that Chevrolet has the edge in the way it's put together. You'll find, for instance, that Chevrolet is the only car in its field with a lacquer finish . . . that only Chevrolet Bel Air models give you foam rubber cushions in front and rear seats as standard equipment. These are just a few of the advantages of Body by Fisher. And Chevrolet, you know, is the only low-priced car that has a Fisher Body.

We'll be glad to give you a close-up, comparative look at this new Chevy any time you care to come in. This week, maybe?

Episcopals To Convene

Rev. John J. Atwell, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, will be among those attending the 173rd annual convention of the Episcopal church, Diocese of Maryland, to be held February 5 and 6, in Baltimore.

The Evening Service, at which time the Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, D.D., Bishop of Maryland, will give his annual address, will be held February 5, at 8:15 and will be broadcast.

In another moment he will be getting up and walking toward you, eager to tell the secret of his calmness and strength. Will you listen?

He has solved many problems, overcome much grief and temptation, been able to meet the conditions of every-day living, all because through the Church he has come in contact with the Source of all power. In the Church he has found companionship. Its worship services have brought faith, peace and serenity. Its activities have furnished an outlet for his creative abilities and energy. The Church has been a part of his life from boyhood. Through its various departments the needs of his life have been met. He has enjoyed the fellowship there and, looking back, he is able to trace his own growth.

Have you learned his secret? Wouldn't you like to know it?

What the Church has done for him it can do for you. If you are young, it will help meet your problems. If you are older, it will bring satisfaction and peace.

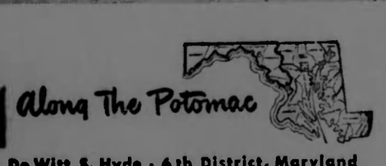
Along The Potomac



Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin was given a great deal of encouragement to expand its compact to include regulatory authority and control in the President's State of the Union Message. The President said that "each of our great valleys should be considered as a whole." And that "the whole matter . . . demands the closest kind of cooperation and partnership between municipalities, States and the Federal Government." He further said that 'until such partnership is established on a proper and logical basis of sharing authority, responsibility and costs, our country will never have both the fully productive use of water that so obviously needs and protection against disastrous flood."

For my Congressional district the President included in the Budget funds for: (1) an Army Engineer Corps Potomac River Comprehensive study—$105,000; (2) the federal share of the expenses of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, (3) the various watershed and flood control projects underway and planned for our area, including $2,500,000 for the Cumberland-Ridgeley project; and (4) water pollution control.

The President also requested funds for: (1) the acquisition of stream valley park lands in nearby Maryland; (2) "Mission 66"—the National Parks' program for road and park facility improvements; (3) completion of the Washington Regional Mass Transportation Survey in 1958.

Funds were also requested for completion of the Atomic Energy Commission buildings at Germantown and for the new Bureau of Standards to be built near Gaithersburg. Also included in the Budget are funds for school construction in federally impacted areas.

I shall again be serving as a member of the House Judiciary and the District committees. I have been assigned to a special Judiciary subcommittee on Administrative Procedure.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Matthew 8:1—9:34
Devotional Reading: James 5:13-20.

Health and Sin

Lesson for January 27, 1957

IT TAKES a long time for some ideas to sink in. Sometimes it happens that a father or mother will give a child a serious talk about something important, but all the child remembers is that there was a talk about it. Years later, as a grown man, the former child will suddenly exclaim: So that's what Father was trying to tell me! Much of Jesus' teaching was like that. He was always giving hints, or saying things straight out, which a few faithful minds remembered, but did not understand. For years the saying of Jesus would be read in the Bible, and scholars would puzzle over it . . . and then hundreds of years after Christ, people would discover what Jesus meant. He was long ahead of his time.

Dr. Foreman

Why People Are in Hospitals

One of these ahead-of-time hints was about the relation between health and sin. In the famous story of the man who was paralyzed, brought in by four of his friends for Jesus to heal, it long seemed a puzzling thing that the first thing Jesus said to him did not appear to have anything to do with his case. "Your sins are forgiven," Jesus said. Perhaps the four friends found it odd. They did not bring the man there to have his soul looked into; they came to get him back on his feet again. It was his muscles, not his morals, that seemed to need help. But Jesus saw with certain eye that the root of the man's trouble was not in his body, it was in his soul. He saw there was no use sending the man back into activity, with an active body but a crippled soul. Jesus that day was probably the only living person who could see that. Today the truth has dawned on a great many persons. Dr. Russell Dicks of Duke University says it has been learned that the majority of patients in hospitals would not be there if they were rid of what is eating into their minds.

Sins Against the Body

Psychiatrists, who are M.D's first, and who work hand in hand with surgeons, internal-medicine specialists and so on, are trained to probe for these non-physical causes of disease. The causes may be mental or spiritual, —if indeed they can be distinguished. A major cause they look for is the "guilt complex." One who hides within himself, perhaps at a deeper level than conscious memory, a sense of guilt, is a person who falls easy victim to disease, even to accidents. Case records are numerous in which it appears that the patient began to get well as soon as he began to "get right" in his attitude to God or man, or both. (Don't jump to extremes here! If you catch cold it's not necessarily because you've been stealing.) One of the most common sins, however, that many commit without being aware of it, is the whole class of sins against one's body, one's health,—against oneself. Eating and drinking unwisely, undersleeping, overstrain or undernourishment,—in ways too many to be counted, men and women sin against themselves. If it is a sin to commit suicide, it is equally a sin to do anything or to form any habit which shortens life.

Can Jesus Help?

Jesus brought the paralyzed man back to health of soul and body. Can Jesus help today? Yes, in several strong ways. (1) As a living Spirit, he can bring assurance of God's forgiveness. With that assurance, the inner life can begin again, healed and strong. (2) As the unseen but constant Companion, Christ can be so real that in his presence temptation loses its power, and the desire to live as in his presence becomes a high motive of life. (3) Christ has so inspired many a man and woman that they have been his personal representatives; he has lived in them and worked through them. Today there are persons, in Alcoholic Anonymous, for example, who have been so touched by the Master that they no longer live for their own appetites, but literally are on call day and night wherever they may help others who are struggling with the same habit which once had dragged them down. Whatever a Christian does for another in the name of Christ is not only done for Him—He does it. So Christ today, through those bear his name, helps by cure, but better, by prevention.

THE REPUBLICAN

A Proven Aid . . . .

We are apt to take as a matter of course this check that the County Commissioners receive every three months for a percentage of the marketable natural gas that is produced from Garrett County wells. But we should not take this event so lightly. It is proving a valuable aid to every taxpayer in Garrett county.

The present law placing a tax of seven percent on the marketable gas, 2.8 percent as the purchaser's share and 4.2 percent as the producer's share, has provided checks ranging from $3,643.35, in September, 1954, to $28,573.82 this month.

The years 1955 and 1954 were rather low periods, but there is evidence now that gas in large quantities may continue to flow from these local wells, particularly those around the Accident area. The acquisition of three or four wells from that section is what caused the tremendous increase in this month's check, which was the highest on record.

The law stipulates that the first $50,000 received in any one year shall be applied to help pay off the school bond indebtedness, and any additional amount will go for support of the hospital. Last year a full $50,000 went on the school bond indebtedness and $11,238.55 went to the hospital fund. If the present output continues, this coming year will see $50,000 going to pay off school bond indebtedness and over $50,000 going to the support of the hospital.

This gas tax law has been in a large measure responsible for the fact that the county is paying back its bonded indebtedness regularly without one cent added to the county's tax rate. If the present output continues it will have the tendency actually to lower the tax rate.

Since July, 1951, when the first check was received, there has been a total of $244,930.71 received by the Commissioners as their share of the tax on the marketable gas. That is no small sum, even in this day and age of astronomical figures.

So we should be grateful to the legislators of 1950 and 1951 for their vision, and hope that the natural gas under our county continues in abundance.

Welfare Expense for December Is $24,665

A slight increase in welfare expenditures for December was noted with 678 persons receiving $24,665.31 through the Garrett County Welfare board. Figures were released by Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare. The total did not include costs of administration. Previous to this month there had been six decreases in six months.

The report showed the total number receiving assistance was five more than the number receiving assistance during November and the total amount was $381.92 more than for the previous month.

Largest percentage of the total expenditure for December went to the old age pension category where 218 persons received $9,230.78, an average of $42.34 per person. There were nine new applications with seven cases being added and eight cases cancelled.

Three hundred eighteen children in 106 families received $8,855.86, an average of $83.55 per person. In this category there were six new applications with five cases being added and four cancelled.

Five blind persons received $298.75. Ninety-five persons listed as permanently and totally disabled received $4,206.47, an average of $41.28. Two persons made application and three cases were added.

Seventeen persons listed under general public assistance received $764.17, an average of $44.95. In this category there were three new applications with four cases added and six cancelled. Twenty-five children listed under Foster Home care received $1,309.28, an average of $52.37.

Throughout the state the expenditures for December amounted to $1,810,242 which compared to $1,771,652 for the previous month and $1,671,223 for December a year ago.

750. Should Be $7.50

Anyone who took the trouble to add up the figures in the Trial Magistrates' operating expense group as listed in the annual statement of the County Commissioners last week, would have discovered that something was wrong.

Something was! The report had the Gonder Insurance Agency receiving $750.00 for furnishing bond, while the amount should have read $7.50. Bernard I. Gonder was the first one to call the error to the attention of the editor. He said he would admit that it would have been nice to have received that much money for furnishing a bond, but he was concerned lest some critical legislator might take a look at that $750 figure and think there was "something rotten in Denmark."

Actually it was a proofreading mistake. The copy sent down from the County Commissioners had the correct figure of $7.50 but this was not discovered when proof on the report was read. This figure will be corrected before the pamphlets are printed.

Second Edition of School Magazine Is Prepared This Week

The second edition of "Our Garrett County Schools" is being prepared and printed this week, largely in picture form.

The purpose of the publication, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, is to bring the story of the Garrett County School program to every home in the county.

He pointed out that obviously all phases of the school program could not be covered in one publication but he said an effort had been made to provide the best cross-section possible through the media of twenty different pictures taken of classroom activities in the various schools throughout the county.

Mr. Hawkins said he hoped all parents would read and study the edition with thought and care. The publication is being issued by authority of the Garrett County Board of Education.

Driver Convicted Of Manslaughter

Jack Carlson Kemp, 21, of Salisbury, Pa., was found guilty of manslaughter by automobile when tried before Trial Magistrate C. S. Zeller in Grantsville last evening.

He was fined $1,000 and given a year's suspended sentence in the House of Correction. Conviction on this charge also carries with it the revocation of the driver's automobile driving license.

Kemp was driver of an automobile in which Mary Ryman, 17, of Salisbury, was riding when the car wrecked, breaking the girl's neck. She died almost instantly.

According to State Police Tic. Blair Buckel, at the time of the accident on December 3, 1956, Kemp was traveling north in the car when the driver lost control, ran the vehicle off the right side of the highway and crashed into a tree.

The man pleaded not guilty to the charge, maintaining another automobile had forced him off the road. He was represented by E. J. Ryan, Allegany county attorney.

The case was prosecuted by S. R. Fagenhardt.

County Escapes Any High Water Damage

Garrett county, although there was plenty of rainfall during the past week, escaped the excessive high water and floods that plagued many parts of Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia.

Rain fell both Monday and Tuesday and brought the Little Youghiogheny river to flood level, but the waters receded when the weather turned colder late Tuesday with a light amount of snow falling. Wednesday remained cooler with some clearing in the afternoon.

Some two or three inches of snow fell early Sunday morning making it possible to offer skiing facilities at the Marsh Mountain area where over 150 persons went for the day. By hauling quantities of snow on Saturday, it was also possible to have skiing there on that day, making the fifth consecutive week-end for the winter recreation activity.

Some sleet fell on Saturday. A light snow also fell early today.

Ways To Help GOP Women Discussed

Ways of helping the sixty-nine Republican Women's clubs in Maryland to grow in numbers and effectiveness were discussed at a meeting of the State Board of Directors in Baltimore on Tuesday. Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, president of the Garrett County club, attended.

The educational part of the club's work was stressed. It was suggested that women make a habit of reading current events and devote at least five minutes of each meeting to discussing them. The group also felt that women should be encouraged to learn more about state-wide laws and study all aspects of local government for possible improvement.

A project to interest all new people of voting age to register will be undertaken. The group felt that it should strive to help the three Republican members of Congress from this state and encourage capable men and women to get into public affairs.

A booklet, "Your First Vote," to be published later on a state-wide basis, was inspected. Each club president spoke on "How I Can Help the Republican Party in My Community."

A two-day convention of the federation will be held in Baltimore in October at which time the group will honor Mrs. McKeldin.

Bond Sale Tops Quota

Sale of E and H savings bonds in Garrett county for December went over its quota. The quota for the year was $315,000. December sales amounted to $25,129, which made a total of $375,093 for the year or 108.7 percent of quota. The county stood third among counties of Maryland.

Two groups were inducted in January, five on January 9 and six on January 16.

The list on the 9th included Lowell T. Coddington, Oakland; Joseph W. Bever, Swanton; Clarence A. Schroyer, Friendsville; Eugene M. Paugh, Deer Park; and Walter Scott Glover, Friendsville.

Given Sentence of 18 Months in House

Donnie Ellsworth Martin, aged 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Martin, Oakland, was sentenced to serve eighteen months in the House of Correction after pleading guilty to three motor vehicle violations before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer Tuesday morning. At the time of his sentence he was under bond for his appearance before the March Grand Jury on a charge of check forgery.

Martin pleaded guilty to all three charges of operating an automobile under influence of liquor, unauthorized use of an automobile and operating an automobile while the privilege was suspended. He was given six months in each case, the sentences to run consecutively and not concurrently.

The violations occurred Saturday when he took the station wagon of William Spiker which was parked in front of the Moose Hall on Third street, drove it out along the Fingerboard road, and smashed into an automobile parked along the highway, about two miles west of Oakland, damaging both automobiles extensively.

He announced he would inform the state police, but instead he disappeared and was not apprehended until the following morning, in a home at the east edge of town.

Sheriff Paul Fisher accompanied Martin to the House of Correction on Wednesday where he began serving his term.

Other Hearing Held

Two others were brought before Magistrate Bitzer on Wednesday morning on a charge of destruction of two tons of hay owned by Troy Smith, of near Deer Park. Smith alleged that Robert Meshach Sharpless, 16, and Milford Tasker, 18, of that same area, had set fire to one of his haystacks a few days ago.

They pleaded not guilty to the charge and Magistrate Bitzer withheld his decision until today. They were returned to the county jail pending final disposition of the case.

Sheriff Fisher said he had three other prisoners who were serving sentences for motor vehicle violations, in lieu of unpaid fines.

Clifford Dayton Calhoun entered the jail December 17 for 95 days on charges of operating an automobile without a license, reckless driving and driving under the influence of liquor.

Earl Bruce Teter was given 70 days on December 16 for operating without a license, reckless driving and driving under the influence of liquor.

Charles Owens was given 80 days on December 20, for driving under the influence of liquor, reckless driving and failing to identify himself after an accident.

Collides With Truck

James Emory Molnar, of Weirton, W. Va., driving a new Ford automobile, collided with a truck driven by Grant Hardesty, on Monday morning on the Crellin high-way, about two miles west of Oakland. No one was injured.

Hardesty was enroute to a cattle sale and was traveling east. Molnar told State Police Trooper Robert Henline, he was not accustomed to driving on icy highways. He pleaded guilty to traveling at a speed greater than reasonable and proper, at a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, and was fined $10 and costs.

Worker Discusses Plans for Two Camps

A representative of the State Department of Public Welfare is in this area this week to get ideas and possibly to recruit employes for the two forestry camps for boys which the department plans to open in Garrett county this year.

He is David Curran, a field supervisor, who is assistant to Raymond L. Manella, chief of the Division of Training Schools, State Department of Public Welfare.

The State Department of Public Improvement has prepared plans for the three buildings which will be erected for the camp on Koontz Run road, west of Lonaconing, in this county. This camp on Savage mountain will have a building for living quarters for the boys, another for living quarters for the staff and another for a combination dining and recreation hall.

Bids soon are to be requested from contractors. It is hoped to have the camp in operation by late spring or early summer. The other camp for this county is to be constructed later on Meadow Mountain about six or eight miles from New Germany and may be ready for use in the fall.

Mr. Curran said that each camp will be equipped to handle about 25 boys from the state training schools. Each rehabilitation camp will have a director and six counselors who will be hired under civil service for such special duties as recreation, maintenance and cooking as well as general supervisory ability.

Cheerleaders Are Injured in Crash

Two Southern High school cheerleaders, on their way to Valley High school for a basketball game last Friday night, wrecked their car on icy State Route 135 on Bloomington hill and wound up in the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland instead.

Ernest D. Colaw, 17, of Crellin, sustained a broken arm, cuts and bruises. Keith Ashby Mersing, 16, also of Crellin, had a brain concussion.

State Police Trooper First Class Robert D. Henline, who investigated, said the car, driven by Colow, skidded and went over an embankment. Both boys were thrown from the car which turned over several times.

Both boys are recovering satisfactorily.

Ski Ceremonies Set For Davis Slopes

Miss Mary Lou Prehn, of Washington, will reign as queen of the carnival at the Ski Week celebration near Davis, W. Va., this weekend. She will be officially installed in her regal post by Governor Cecil H. Underwood, of West Virginia, at a coronation ceremony during the "Snow Ball Dance" Saturday night.

Although by proclamation Governor Underwood proclaimed the period January 28 through February 3 as state ski week, the activities will be mostly limited to Saturday and Sunday.

General skiing is scheduled for Saturday morning and afternoon on Cabin Mountain and Weiss Knob slopes. Races, with prizes will be held, and also a snow chapeau contest, to see who can dream up the wackiest headgear. Other events will include a "blessing of the skis," a custom said to have been brought to the Mountain State uplands from the Canadian Rockies.

An appropriate quantity of snow has been predicted.

Polio Drive Exceeds Last Year's Total

It was announced this morning that the March of Dimes campaign has exceeded last year's total and that the drive had been a complete success.

Charles L. Briner, county chairman, said the theatre collections of around $125 were greater than last year, the Mothers' March of $325 had been greater than last year, and other innovations had been received favorably. Over $100 was turned in from Coffees, and over $200 from the sale of peanuts just in the southern area.

He said containers would be picked up today or tomorrow and that the drive was officially over.

Costs Swamp Roads Program

Maryland's 12-year highway construction program, swamped by a tide of rising costs, will be seriously underbuilt and overspent at the one-third mark, the State Roads commission has reported. By the end of 1957, the commission said, 904 miles of roads will have been constructed at a cost of $258,419,693. The objective for the first four years was 1,262 miles at an estimated cost of $219,979,000.

Only about 72 percent of the mileage objective will have been reached by December 31. Costs will have equaled 117 percent of initial cost estimates.

The Roads commission report included a breakdown of the roads built and the amount of money spent in each county during the first three years and including what is programmed for 1957. It listed Garrett county for 29.03 miles at a cost of $6,996,238.

Some of the projects planned for 1957 included: Relocation of 4.46 miles U. S. 219, Oakland to Weber, $1,566,000; two secondary road projects, $1,132,000.

Projects completed in Garrett county include a 24-foot relocation on U. S. 40 at Little Savage mountain, of .81 miles, at a cost of $543,758; 24-foot resurfacing (second stage) of U. S. 219 from Thayerville to Oakland, 6.12 miles at a cost of $162,560; 20-foot widening and resurfacing of Paul street in Loch Lynn, .13 of a mile, at a cost of $3,317; constructing a bridge over the Potomac river at Kitzmiller, at a cost of $406,113; modifying curves, widening to 20 feet and resurfacing from Swanton, easterly, a distance of 1.62 miles, at a cost of $276,571.

Listed as a partial program was modifying curves, widening to 24 feet and resurfacing Md. 42 from Friendsville to the Pennsylvania line, a distance of .48 of a mile, at a cost of $23,043; modifying curves, widening to 24 feet and resurfacing Md. 41 in the Loch Lynn area, a distance of 1.80 miles at a cost of $499,000.

In The Program

In the program for expenditure authorizations are Primary system: widening U. S. 219, Deep Creek Lake to Thayerville, 2.44 miles, $823,156; U. S. 219, from U. S. 40 east of Grantsville to Pennsylvania line, 2.05 miles, $425,510; U. S. 219, Oakland to Weber, relocation and grade separation, 4.46 miles, $1,566,000.

Secondary system: Md. 135, from Allegany county line, westerly, .48, widening and resurfacing, $292,054; Md. 38, Deer Park to Bloomington, modifying curves, widening and resurfacing, 2.86 miles, $658,670; Md. 135A, .48 mile west of Bloomington, westerly, for 2.18 miles, modifying curves, widening and resurfacing, $683,486; Md. 135, from Md. 495 to Md. 38, 3.25 miles, modifying curves, widening and resurfacing, $633,000.

This makes totals of $3,175,251 for secondary program and $3,520,984, for primary program, or a total of $6,996,238.

Ask for Extension

The Roads Commission urged that the program should be extended to fifteen years to match the period of the new $33 billion Federal Highway Act, under recommendations made to the Legislature by the State Roads Commission.

It recommends an increase from 3 to $1 million in transfer from construction funds to maintenance, to keep in good repair and safe condition the old roads being rebuilt and the many miles of new roads; an increase in motor vehicle registration fees; creation of $10 million revolving fund over next five years to be used exclusively for advanced acquisition of rights of way; effective roadside control measures.

Except for the receipt of additional Federal money the report of the commission stated that "Maryland could not begin to finish her twelve year program without a complete revamping of her financing plans."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Outlook In Congress

As he begins his second term as President it is clear Mr. Eisenhower has certain disadvantages that may interfere with his program in both foreign and domestic fields. The chief of these, of course, is that the Democrats are in control of both branches of Congress. In the House, but particularly the Senate, this Democratic majority is exceedingly slender. However, it seems stable enough and probably will last.

* * *

What this means is that on every controversial piece of legislation the President not only must get fairly solid backing from his own party but at least a few votes from the opposition. Concededly, this is a situation that could become extremely awkward, even destructive of Administration policies. Also, it could damagingly affect the national interests. However, those best informed as to the facts do not believe that anything as bad as this is going to happen. On the contrary, there is pretty firm conviction that in this session the President will get a good deal more without a party majority than he got on the last session when he had a party majority.

* * *

Those who hold this belief present some rather convincing reasons. One is that, being completely debarred from again becoming a presidential candidate, Mr. Eisenhower can hardly be accused of playing politics or offering purely partisan proposals. Under the circumstances, there can be no excuse for accusing or suspecting him of any ulterior or selfish motive. He may make mistakes, and, of course, there will be room for honest differences of opinion, but certainly it will be difficult to charge him this time with trying to promote the interests of any favored class or group or individual, including himself.

* * *

Naturally, politics and human nature being what they are, there will be some who try to do exactly that. But it does not make sense and it is not likely to carry conviction. No one seriously entertains the idea that anything Mr. Eisenhower does in this his last term will be inspired by an unworthy or partisan impulse, and his political opponents have regretfully abandoned that effort. They are thus largely confined to attacks upon members of his Cabinet or upon his policies. Here, too, the nonpartisanship of the President in matters with which Congress must deal is such that it is impossible to command united opposition from the Democrats. The best example of this is presented in the Middle East resolution, for the passage of which he now asks. Nearly every observer here believes that when the showdown vote is taken in the House next week it will be adopted with more than a little Democratic support. And that Senate action after considerable debate will end the same way. Already Democratic Leader Senator Lyndon Johnson, of Texas, and Democratic Speaker Sam Rayburn of the House have given the Eisenhower resolution their indorsement.

* * *

There is reason to believe that the pattern in this case will be followed on other—not all, but most—issues presented by the President during the rest of the session. This, by no means, implies that there will not be vigorous opposition; that there will be no Administration defeats and disappointments in the next few months; that there will not be loud and angry voices raised, particularly in the Senate. Presence in that body of such garrulous and furious men as Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota; Wayne Morse, of Oregon; Joseph McCarthy, of Wisconsin, and Paul Douglas, of Illinois, insures that. Add to these, the two recently defeated Democratic candidates, Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, who were so convinced they were going to win that they have been unable since to refrain from sticking their tongues out at the President whenever opportunity affords.

* * *

What all this means is that, while neither of these gentlemen wants to cooperate with Mr. Eisenbower on anything, neither has any real influence on Democratic members. It is also true that neither the Americans for Democratic Action nor Mr. Walter Reuther is disposed toward cooperation or support. But while it is too much to say that these have no influence in Congress, it is not too much to say that their influence, so far as consistent opposition to the Administration is concerned, is not as great a deterrent as the thought which every politician in both parties constantly has in his mind—to wit, that Ike carried 41 of the 48 states in the Union on November 6. When it comes to opposing the President's nonpartisan program or attributing either weakness or wickedness to him, that is a sobering reflection for any Democrat who has to be re-elected in 1958.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

The hardy, courageous pioneers who settled and colonized this new world, and the founding fathers who years later built its unique political and economic system, knew that government could be a help or a hindrance to progress. The wrong kind of system at the Jamestown and Plymouth colonies carried the people to the verge of starvation before it was changed. And the Declaration of Independence testifies eloquently to the hindrance and injury which came to the American people through the harsh, autocratic government administered from England in the mid-1700's.

At Jamestown and Plymouth Colony the communal, or collectivist system was first used, with the government held responsible for the citizens' economic welfare. Within a few years this was changed to a system of citizen responsibility and private enterprise. A century later the 13 colonies, now progressing toward the status of a nation, were virtually paralyzed by heavy taxes enforced without recourse by the government of Great Britain.

The record of government's hindrance or help to a people's prosperity and progress can be found thoughout history. Throughout Asia and Europe I have seen firsthand the great burden imposed on a people's struggle to advance, in nation after nation. In some parts of China I saw autocratic government imposed on sometimes a million people by a single man who happened to be the leader of the most powerful bandit gang in the region.

In Western Europe I saw various forms of socialism retarding a people's progress; and in Eastern Europe the tentacles of Marxist Communism reaching out from Russia, confiscating privately owned property, and establishing communal farms like the ones that brought Jamestown and Plymouth colonies to the bring of starvation. Wherever government has played the BIG part, and the citizen has been insignificant, human progress has sooner or later stagnated.

The key to our enormous production of goods and services, and thus to the prosperity of every citizen, is freedom of the individual and the fullest development of self-reliance. In order to be self-reliant a person must develop his latent capabilities; and in doing this many Americans find that their capabilities go beyond mere self-reliance. These are the builders of our productive system and our prosperity. And tens of thousands of new builders are developing each year.

One word of warning: In recent times a tendency has been encouraged by some politicians away from self-reliance and toward goverument dependency. This is the road away from freedom and prosperity. We must be wary of such demagogic "medicine men."

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

One of the highlights of Christ's life was his teaching ministry. He spent more time trying to teach the thousands and the small groups who came to hear what he had to say than in any other task. Matthew has organized his gospel in such a way that the teachings of Christ fall into separate categories. The most comprehensive of these groupings is that section of Matthew, chapters five through seven which we know as "The Sermon on the Mount." During the next few weeks, I will attempt to present some of these basic teachings, as part of the current series on the important events in the life of Jesus.

The opening part of Christ's teachings have been presented by Matthew as "The Beatitudes." Blessed are the poor in spirit for theirs is the kingdom of heaven, is the first of these "Beatitudes." To be poor in spirit is absolutely necessary for the Christian faith. Many times during his ministry he refers to this idea, many times he openly speaks that a man must first of all be humble before he can expect to get any place in the Kingdom. There are no rooms in heaven for the man who is interested mainly in the personal accomplishments of his life. To these proud people I can imagine Christ saying, Surely you do not believe that another has not done what you do in a better way, or that some day some one will not far exceed your ability in this field. There is no man so great that he cannot learn something from another man —no man so stupid that cannot teach something to another. And God so far surpasses the understanding of human beings, that it amazes me that any man can look at the vast complex, yet minutely perfect universe that God has wrought, and yet remain proud of the infinitely small thing that he can do. Never did a structure of man equal the grandeur of the Grand Canyon; never will anything that man makes equal the solar system of which our world is a part, and when we realize that our solar system is only a very small speck in the vast reaches of the creation that we know about, i.e. the Milky Way, it makes any of us feel pretty small next to God's power and God's understanding.

Yet man continues to try to make himself bigger than God by refusing to accept the revelation of God in his life, by refusing to accept the clear words of Christ in his preaching, and by trying to solve the problems of his existence without the wisdom of God in his word, both written and revealed in the person of Christ.

Therefore the message of Christ: "Blessed are the poor in spirit for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven" is a message par excellence for our time.

India officially observed its 7th year as a Republic.

Is Your Name STANTON?

Do You Know That:

STANTON, an old and honored surname is principally of English origin. It admits of at least two derivations. For example, according to some authorities on nomenclature, it has been used strictly in its literal meaning and was often bestowed in mediaeval times upon those whose homes were on stony ground. It is said also that Stanton was the name frequently applied to emigrants from communities by the name of Stanton in various counties of England, including Gloucester, Suffolk, Wilts, Derby and Somerset.

William Stanton (1745-1828) and Augustus Stanton (1715-1822) served as captains respectively in the Connecticut and Rhode Island troops during the Revolutionary War.

The progenitor of a substantial segment of the present day Stantons in Garrett county was William Stanton who was born in the Grantsville district in 1798. He was married in 1822 to Magdalena Blocher by whom he had seven children. He was married a second time in 1837 to Mary Ann Ridgely, and there were ten children by this marriage.

The first Circuit Court, held in Garrett county, convened on May 19, 1873. William B. Stanton was a member of its petit jury.

An interesting genealogy of the descendants of Thomas Stanton (1615-1676), who sailed from London to this country in 1635 and settled in Stonington, Connecticut, was compiled in 1891 by William A. Stanton, of Albany, N. Y.

Edwin McMasters Stahton (1814-1869) was Secretary of War in the cabinet of President Lincoln. Stanton counties in Kansas and Nebraska are named for him.

John Stanton (1830-1906) was a distinguished mining engineer who was engaged in copper mining in Maryland in the early years of his career and later developed substantial mining interests in Arizona.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Pride in the Right Direction

You've got to be proud of it, if you're going to be happy living with it—whether it's a blouse you've just made, or your husband.

Tid-Bits

We think of the peanut as a tid-bit to munch on. But what I've enjoyed munching on this week was a bit of philosophy regarding the peanut by the man who had a way with it.

"George Washington Carver, the noted chemist, was interviewed by a Senate Committee concerning the peanut. He was asked where he had learned so much about the peanut. He replied, 'from the Bible.' The committee asked what the Bible had to do with peanuts 'Nothing', said Carver, 'but it tells all about God who made the peanut. I asked him to show me what to do with it and he did'."

The above tid-bit came from the study we are eujoying on "How to Read and Study the Bible."

Through the Window

As I waited in the foyer of the high school I studied the exhibit in the case. It was a display in woodworking—legs, ends of tables, inlay, tongue and groove, etc. But it was what I found framed, the hub of the display, that made me glad I had a little waiting to do.

It was a saying: "Only those who have patience to do simple things perfectly ever acquire the skill to do things easily.' Schiller.

Then and there I decided to go home and rip out a seam.

Thanks, Industrial Arts teacher That goes in my notebook along with other favorite words to live by.

The Motto on the Wall

Oh, I know they're out of date but I'm convinced that they have a way of bedding themselves in the subconscious, to come to the surface when needed.

Teepi Kendrick, the founder of 4-H camping in America, a man of insight to the point of genius, had mottoes all around the old mess hall in the early camping days of Jackson's Mill.

"Can you keep your head when you win; your heart when you lose?"

"I'll find a way, or I'll make one." Perry.

"If the elevator to success is not running, take the stairs."

"Pure gold fears no fire."

There were many others. Those made a deep impression on me. And another which is my live-by: "You can do it if you want to, but you've got to want to.'

Had it not been for that last one I would never have learned to lay tile, finish floors, upholster furniture. It wasn't that I wanted to do the work, I wanted the work done.

I don't believe I ever leaned over to pick up stone that added to the pile that faced our home that explorer Perry's words didn't come back to me. It turned a back breaking chore into adventure.

The impact of a motto printed on a card and thumb-tacked to the studding of a crude mess hall! It might be a good thing to try them on our bulletin boards if we don't want them as a part of a decorative scheme.

It Doesn't Pay

Nope, crime doesn't pay. Even the man who thought he had the gold coffee pot that is brewing the beverage and spiking the interest in the March of Dimes coffees.

Susy Smith from Florida sent me an A.P. clipping telling what actually happened.

An employe of the Emery Air Freight company at Logan International airport, Boston, is alleged to have accepted the urn for shipment to Providence. Instead he sent it via Railway Express to a fictitious consignee at a Hollywood, Florida, motel. Meantime he had phoned the motel to have the package held until his arrival.

Now what do you suppose he would have done with it? I'll bet he'd have found it to be a hot potato before he got through with it.

As the March of Dimes drive comes to an end, we hope it means that the march to end polio is close at hand.

Southern High Science Work Introduced To News Readers

By BARBARA LOU GLOTFELTY

The science department at Southern High school and its functions are being introduced to readers of The Republican this week by Barbara Lou Glotfelty, senior student. Southern has three modern science classrooms and laboratories. More equipment which is required for individual experiments will be provided as soon as the need can be met.

The science courses offered include general science, required for ninth grade students; biology, required for all tenth grade students; chemistry and consumer science, electives for students in the 11th grade; and physics and senior science, electives for 12th grade students.

Two years of science are required for graduation.

Mr. Harold Miller, who teaches biology, is head of the science department. He holds his M.A. degree. Other instructors are Mr. Carl Everly, M.A. degree, who teaches physics; Mr. Edward Quattro, B.S. degree, who teaches general science, biology, consumer science, and senior science; and Mr. Charles Burley, A.B. degree, who teaches general science and chemistry. Mr. Budley will complete work for his M.A. degree next summer.

EXPERIMENTATION—Charles Burley, teacher of general science and chemistry, explains an experiment to one of his classes as students gather around the table.

The general science course includes an over-all picture of the field of science. In this course one receives background for the studying of the other sciences offered. Some of the phases taught are the make-up of the earth and the atmosphere, heat and how it is produced, and the solar system.

Biology is a study of living things. The first semester is devoted to plants, and the second semester to animals. The biology classes have a collection of fungi, algae, lichens, club mosses and insects. Various types of animals are brought in throughout the school year. The students have brought in insects, snakes, a flying squirrel, and a pet turtle called "Pinky," just to name a few.

The students have an aquarium containing water plants and animals such as fish, tadpoles, and snails, and a terrarium with several types of land plants and animals, including a salamander, snake, and moss.

The study of all forms of matter is the content of the chemistry course. It prepares a student for college by giving a basic background. The study of acids, bases, and salts, a study of gas laws, of the chemical structure of matter, of the percentage composition of compounds, of valences, and of equations are included in the course.

Laboratory experiments are made throughout the year.

The students learn of chemistry's importance in the fields of drugs, medication, paper, clothing, etc., and the effect it has on farmers in the use of fertilizers, and in medicine for the farm animals.

Consumer science includes a study of the solar system, heat, light, and the make-up of the earth and the atmosphere.

The seniors taking physics study energy as it is related to one's daily life. The course includes simple machines, air and water pressure, falling, objects, heat, light, sound, electricity, and a preliminary study of electronics.

Various demonstrations are made throughout the year.

The make-up of the earth, motions and forces, the solar system, transformation of sulphur, salt, and limestone, and a study of soil losses and their prevention are among the units studied in the senior science course.

The science department is in the process of assisting in setting up plans for landscaping of the grounds behind the school. Botanical gardens, a pond of different cultures, and several types of trees are being planned. The study of conservation also is included in this project.

Getting "On The Map"

Garrett county appeared to be "getting on the map" insofar as information about winter recreation activities around Deep Creek Lake.

Numerous articles have appeared in daily and Sunday newspapers of the Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington areas. One of the latest is an article by Warren Unna in the Washington Post in which he goes into detail about the package deal that the B. and O. railroad arranged in cooperation with the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council that has resulted in bringing some 50 to 60 skiers here every week-end. In addition there have been 100 or more skiers who have been arriving each week-end by other means of travel.

The writer is enthusiastic about the treatment the guests are getting up this way. He looks for continued brisk business in this area during the winter months.

Senior Girl Wins D.A.R. Certificate

Louise Coddington Is Good Citizen

Miss Louise Coddington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Coddington, of Friendsville, has been chosen the Daughter of the American Revolution Good Citizen of Northern High school.

Contestants

Three senior girls were selected to take the test and answer the questionnaire. The contestants were Zane Beachy, 12-3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Beachy, of Grantsville; Eva Schroyer, 12-1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Schroyer, of Accident; and Louise, 12-2.

Candidates were selected on the following basis: dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

Activities

Louise is a candidate for the stenographic diploma. She is a member of the Student Council, the Photography Club, and Future Business Leaders of America. She is also a band majorette.

As a Junior, Louise received a certificate of regular attendance, and honorable mention for scholastic achievement. She is a member of the Grace Lutheran Church, Friendsville, of which she is church secretary, vice-president of Luther League, and a member of the church choir.

Louise was chosen as attendant to Miss Football at the homecoming activities at Northern High School in October.

After graduation she expects to continue her study of business.

Homemakers Invited To Enter Mrs. America Contest

The gas company extended an invitation to homemakers in this area today to enter the nationwide Mrs. America contest.

Entries will be accepted through March 1. Following that date, selection of local, regional and state winners will get underway through a series of actual homemaking contests.

The Mrs. America contest is sponsored by the gas industry, and local gas appliance dealers. Entry blanks may be obtained from gas appliance stores or at the gas company office.

This is not a beauty contest. "The women who reach the top levels in this contest can be proud of their poise, personality, homemaking ability and community activities," Russell Brown, manager, said.

Impartial experts will be invited to judge the capabilities of contestants and to determine winners at each stage of the contest.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

An Indefensible Invitation

For some weeks now, the public press has been airing an alleged report that Yugoslavia's Tito would be or has been invited to this country. No confirmation or denial has yet come from officials of our government. Nonetheless, all barometers of opinion have registered increasing public sentiment in violent opposition to this overture, if true. Many millions of Americans find it difficult, yet quite impossible, to understand how such a gesture of Friendship, to a notorious communist dictator, would improve international relations or serve any constructive purpose other than to offend freedom-loving people everywhere who look to this nation for leadership in defeating the aggressive designs of the communist bloc.

These same persons are sickened by Tito's black deeds and the evidences of his self-centered, ruthless, opportunism and treacherous personality. His past is indeed shadowy. Yet, after World War II, with an assist from Stalin, Tito grabbed control of Yugoslavia, and has since been regarded as one of Moscow's leading puppets. Communist propaganda to the contrary, Tito has always danced the Kremlin tune.

Recall if you will how Tito had American fliers shot in cold blood; how he had a prelate of the church, Bishop Stepanic, imprisoned; how he brought the slaughter of hundreds of refugees by sending them back to Communist Hungary, from whence they came; how he has betrayed countless others who threatened his path to power.

There is nothing honorable in these deeds, they typify so well the excesses of a seasoned communist. Let us not be deceived into believing that Tito has removed himself from the influence of the evil men in the Kremlin. He has had ample opportunity to demonstrate his independence of their "iron fists," but has not risen to the occasion, deliberately so we can only assume. Recently, when the gallant people of Hungary revolted against their Red masters, he gave vocal aid and comfort, not to the brave Hungarians, but rather to the vodka-ridden Krushchev whose rape of Hungary has shocked the world.

These are but a few of the indisputable indications of Tito's spot in the spectrum of world affairs, hardly on the side of freedom. To welcome him as an official visitor to our shores would be indefensible, and I must protest this action with all the vigor I can summon. To do otherwise would be shameful.

A Three-Sided Responsibility

Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, a respected stalwart of the Eisenhower Administration, voiced the sentiments of a tax-burdened citizenry last week when he said: "I don't think that you can spend yourself rich." In the same news conference, the Treasury Secretary predicted that "we'll have a depression that will curl your hair" unless government spending is reduced.

These statements coincided with the submission of the Federal Budget for fiscal year 1957-58. Though this budget is apparently in balance and involves no deficit, it contemplates additional expenditures of about $7 billion more than last year. It is in this aspect that Secretary Humphrey has sounded a note of alarm which will carry great weight in the Congress and elsewhere.

By contrast, it is worthy of note that less than ten years ago, the soothsayers of the New-Fair Deal variety were pooh-poohing the idea that national deficits must be avoided. In the language of this discredited, and dangerous philosophy of government, one of Secretary Humphrey's predecessors was saying at that time: "the general economic welfare should be the guiding principle in determining . . . whether the Federal budget should be balanced, should show a surplus, or should show a deficit."

To those dedicated to the proposition of national solvency, there can be little donbt that a deficit, of minor or major proportions, fails to serve the Nation's welfare. However, in some quarters, it has long been fashionable to believe that this country will never be insolvent as long as we owe no one other than ourselves. The truth of such economic sleight-of-hand has never been demonstrated and, indeed, it never can be for there is simply no truth in it.

One added comment of Secretary Humphrey's seems deserving of special emphasis. He stated that "the real pressure for increased Government spending comes from the people and their demands, transmitted to Congress, for more and more Government services." All will agree that the public shares an equal responsibility with the Congress and the Executive Department in the search for governmental economies. We must all realize that what the government pays back to the people must first come from the people, from which a very substantial overhead, to cover the cost of big government, must be deducted.

"Blinky" Is At Home In Biology Room

Mr. Strauss' biology department at Northern High school, at Cove, received a screech owl, "Blinky," from Terry Beitzel, on January 10.

"Blinky" turned out he a very curious fellow, who decided to explore Northern High, to find what makes the students like it so. At exactly 12.24, he set out on his adventurous excursion. He unexpectedly scooped out of the biology room, flew down the long corridor, and headed for the commercial department, causing a great deal more confusion and surprise as he flew above the heads of startled students than any poor screech owl could possibly imagine.

"Blinky," after making his daring flight took refuge in the general business room where he was rescued by Paul Beitzel and returned to the biology room safe and sound.

He is now living in his cage and receiving attention along with mice for his dinner.

Although all are very proud of the new friend, "Blinky" seems not to care whether or not he was the first owl to explore Northern High or not.

Valley Takes Close Game From Southern

Winless Southern High school came within three points of defeating Valley High of Lonaconing last Friday night at Lonaconing, but finally went down to defeat 60 to 57. It was the tenth win for the Black Knights, and Southern's eleventh consecutive defeat.

The score was knotted at 2, 4 and 6 in the first period but after Valley forged ahead at 8-7 the Knights never gave up the lead. They led 15 to 10 at the quarter, 30 to 20 at the half and 48 to 31 at the end of the third period. Southern went on a scoring rampage in the final quarter, amassing 26 points to 12 for the Valley team, but time ran out.

Southern had 21 field goals to 23 for Valley but had a miserable showing at the foul line, getting only 15 in 36 attempts. Valley made 14 out of 21.

Shiffy led the Southern scoring with 18 points on seven field goals and four fouls, while Shaffer had 13. Paugh also scored 2, Colaw 4, G. Bittinger 8, Roth 2, and Kight 2. Johnson and Young led the Valley attack with 18 and 14 tallies. Cook, Johnson and Lauder of Valley fouled out in the final period.

4-H Clubs Complete Organization Work

Girls' Four-H clubs have been completing their organization work during the past month. Members have been sending in membership cards to Miss Johanna Magaha, assistant home demonstration agent, and have been filling out program books and electing officers.

Several clubs have reported results of their elections.

Chickasaw club (boys and girls) Mrs. Curtis DeVelbiss, leader; Thomas Magruder, Jr., president; Curtis DeVelbiss, Jr., vice-president; Patty DeVelbiss, secretary and treasurer; William Magruder, reporter.

Miss Magaha said Stain Removal was the demonstration topic for girls' clubs. Joint clubs had "Alert Today—Alive Tomorrow," a safety demonstration. Discussion centered on safe habits and practices.

HOW MUCH IS A USED CAR WORTH?

Depends on the make, the model, and the year, of course. Every dealer tries to tell you his make is worth the most.

"I listened to rumor!"

Here are the facts! The resale value of every make, model, and year is listed in the NADA Used Car Guide, the official "bible" of the industry. And here's what the NADA Guide shows:

"I got the facts!"

A used Studebaker is worth more than other cars in the low price field, model for model, year for year. For example, the 1956 Studebaker 4-door President has the highest average resale value of all comparable V8's in its price class—both in percentage and in actual dollars and cents.

Discussion Group Meets

Farm Planning Group No. 9 met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glotfelty, near Bittinger, with five couples attending.

Robert Buckel was leader of the topic, "Maryland Taxes." Resolutions acted upon at the State Farm Bureau convention were the main items discussed, although it was felt unnecessary to express definite action. It was suggested that an investigation be made concerning road building to see if construction costs could be cut.

It was planned to invite a General Assembly member to a meeting.

Mrs. James Glotfelty gave a short report of her trip to the convention. She also recently attended the Pennsylvania Farm Show at Harrisburg.

THE MEASURE OF CIVILIZATION

Some folks judge civilization's progress by the kind of houses they live in.

Others point toward the giant strides of science or industry—or the striking advance of music, art and literature.

Yet civilization is perhaps best measured by the kind of people it produces.

Picture a man who respects the dignity and rights of others, and who looks with compassion on human suffering. He is guided in all things by an abiding love for God. His moral stamina never ebbs. His spiritual courage grows stronger.

Multiply this man by the thousands . . . by the millions . . . and you'll see a civilization higher and greater than has ever existed.

The Church is the one great institution that devotes itself to the development of man's character and spirit. As long as it continues to thrive, we can expect our civilization to flourish and progress. Help extend the influence of the Church—give it your support, make it a part of your life!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Matthew 9:35—10:42
Devotional Reading: Matthew 10:34-42

Going Concern

Lesson for February 3, 1957

A "GOING concern" is one that prospers, does business and keeps growing. If the Christian church is not a going concern, maybe the reason is that it is not a going concern. That remark needs explaining; it is not meant as nonsense.

Concern?

The Quakers have a good word: Concern, which has a deeper meaning than "firm" or business. It means warm, deep, even self-sacrificing interest in some one or some group or cause. Lincoln had a concern for the Union; St. Paul had a concern for Gentiles; mothers have a concern for their children. Now the church, if it is the true Body of Christ, ought to share his concerns. We know what it was that concerned him—people, the "multitudes," the masses as we now speak of them. The church ought to have—and to be—a living concern for all sorts and conditions of men.

Dr. Foreman

A church without the human, humane concern which Jesus had, is not what Christ intended.

Going?

Furthermore, the church, so far as it is Christian, ought to be a going concern, not only a sitting one—not only a praying one either. Plenty of churches are (so to speak) sitting concerns. The preacher preaches about "lost" people but nobody gets out to hunt for them—perhaps the preacher doesn't look very hard himself. The members talk to one another about the dreadful state of the world, but they do nothing about it. Missions? What's that? The fact that their denomination is actually going into the ends of the earth, and begs them for help, does not get through to their minds. (Maybe the preacher's fault again?) They have a concern for the sad state of the world but it's not a going concern, only a talking concern, a tut-tutting concern,—nothing alive. So the church dwindles and dies, it's not a going concern any longer because it isn't a going concern.—It has no real concern, and it never goes anywhere.

No Mission, No Church

The first Christian church was the twelve apostles. It was a 100% going concern. Jesus did not plan for any of them to remain behind. The directions he gave them are not now followed by any missionary society that has much success; circumstances alter Christian strategy. But all the same, suppose those twelve men had preferred not to go when Jesus sent them? He chose them for two purposes, we read: to be with him and to be sent out. There are always Christians who enjoy worship better than service. Ten people will be out for church, to one who will come out for volunteer service, of any sort. But there came a time when Jesus had to say (in effect) to his closest friends: You have been with me enough. You have heard all you need to hear, learned all you need to learn—for now. Go out now and change people, change the world, in my name! If they had refused, if Jesus could have found no one willing to go, there never would have been a Christian church. And if the church ceases to be missionary today it will become a fossil, a relic, a curiosity, without life or usefulness.

"I Wouldn't Be Here if . . ."

Not everybody can become a foreign missionary. (Indeed the Twelve were sent out first to a region smaller than Vermont; their home country.) But there are various ways in which the church can go out, and send out. There is a man who has found his life's chief work and interest in developing the moral and spiritual atmosphere of the schools in his state. He said not long ago to a group of religious workers: "I wouldn't be here if my church didn't feed me." What he is doing is outside the church; he works through public agencies of the State. But his inspiration comes from the church. And his church would not have inspired him and "fed" him if in turn it had not been inspired and fed by the Living Bread. Where the church as an organization cannot go, its members, stirred and supported by the Spirit of God, must go, into life everywhere, in the name of Jesus.

Congressmen De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Inaugural week has come and gone. It was wonderful to see and hear from the hundreds of people from my Congressional district who came to Washington for these events.

Our Maryland business community will be interested in learning that the House Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member, has decided to hold hearings on the anti-trust bill, H.R. 11. The bill seeks to control price "discrimination" by manufacturers among local distributors.

Many Marylanders will also be interested in the scheduled hearings before the House subcommittee on Immigration on the overall refugee problem. My colleagues and I on the Immigration subcommittee are trying to evaluate the refugee program and its effects.

I have re-introduced my bill, "Simultaneous Death Act", which passed the House last year but did not pass the Senate. The measure would help solve some of the legal difficulties in the District of Columbia which arise when deaths occur at the same time or at close intervals and it is impossible to determine which death occurred first. At present the District of Columbia is without any orderly plan of distribution of estates in the case of simultaneous death. My bill will make the District's law the same as it is in Maryland.

The President, in his Annual Economic Report, has one section of special interest to Western Maryland; it calls attention to the problem of "persistent unemployment" in some areas of the nation. He recommends the establishment of an area assistance administration in the Department of Commerce and an enlargement of present federal facilities for aiding areas of under-employment.

On My Calendar

Wednesday, Jan. 30, 8 p. m. Guest, dinner honoring Ambassador of Panama, Metropolitan Club. Thursday, Jan. 31, Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, meeting, Washington hotel. Capitol; 7:30 p. m., Guest, Congressional Dinner, VFW, Sheraton-Park hotel.

Executive Council Will Meet Feb. 5th

The Executive committe of the County Council of Homemakers will meet February 5 at 10 a. m., in the Accident Fire hall, it was announced by Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent.

Planning to attend are Mrs. Francis J. Spoerlein, president; Mrs. Russell Klotz, vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Ridder, secretary; Mrs. Floyd Durst, treasurer; Mrs. Ralph Buckel, parliamentarian.

At 1:30 p. m. members of the Executive Board of the Council will meet. This includes Homemaker club presidents and county project chairmen.

Life Insurance Is Topic

Provision for the Future, Life Insurance, will be topic for the Homemaker club programs in February, Miss Grove said. Home management chairmen will present the topic in their various clubs.

Southern Wins Over Terra Alta 53 to 43

Southern High school broke its 11-game losing string on the local court Tuesday night by turning back Terra Alta High 53 to 43, for the second time this season.

Terra Alta was the victim of Southern's only other win in the Highlander's opening game, 54-45.

Coach Schoonover used two complete teams in an attempt to find a smooth working aggregation. Terra Alta scored first but Colaw tied it up at 2-2. The score was tied at 6-6, 8-8, and Terra Alta was leading at 12 to 11 at the quarter. Colaw tied it up again at 17-all and again at 19-19. Shiffy put Southern ahead at 23-22 but Garlitz put Terra Alta back in the lead for the final time. Shiffy again put Southern ahead at 25-24 and the Highlanders led the balance of the way. They led at the half 29 to 26 on a field goal by Roth.

The third period ended with Southern on the long end of a 40-36 count out outscored the visitors 13 to 7 in the final quarter to wind up with a ten-point leeway.

Southern was way ahead on field goals, with 22 compared to 14, but their foul shooting was off. The Highlanders made 9 out of 21 while Terra Alta got 15 out of 26 attempts.

Colaw scored 10 points to lead the Southern scoring. Tom Bittinger had 6, Shiffy 7, Roth 6, G. Bitlinger 4, Kight 2, Deckman 9 and Dintaman 1. Paugh and Murphy were non-scoring. Deckman, never a candidate for the varsity until this year, played heads-up ball and scored four field goals when they were most needed.

Jones led the Terra Alta scoring with 15 points while Brown had 10. Nicklow 5, Brittner 3, Garlitz 7, Lewis 1 and Harr 2. Mersing was non-scoring.

Nicklow went out on fouls in the fourth quarter.

The Highlanders travel to Bayard this evening for the first of a two-game series. Two home games are scheduled next week, one on Tuesday with Elk Garden, and the return engagement with Bayard on Friday. The only other home game will be on February 22 with Northern High Huskies.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

From Paris a Maryland serviceman has written to me saying: "My wife and I are the proud parents of an adopted child—a little girl who is now five months old. We adopted her in Germany when she was 11 days old, and naturally, we want to bring her home with us."

But, the letter pointed out, it is sometimes as difficult for a baby to gain admission to the United States as it is for an adult.

Adopted Children Wait for Turn

The problem arises from the fact that since the end of last year there has been no legislation providing specifically for the admission of orphans or adopted children. Consequently, the babies and youngsters fall into the regular system of immigration quotas, where many countries are already heavily oversubscribed.

No Lobbyists for Babies

Accompanying the Maryland serviceman's letter was a newspaper item in which the writer has expressed his regrets that "adopted children have no lobbyists in Washington" to promote their cause.

Well, now, if they want one, this Senator from Maryland would like to volunteer.

I have already given my strongest support to proposed legislation designed to ease the plight of the serviceman's little girl and others like her, and I intend to do everything possible to see that it gains prompt and favorable action.

Free Concert Tickets for Students

While thinking of the younger generation, I would like to announce that groups of Maryland high school students who will be visiting Washington from April 17 through May 21 can obtain free tickets through our office to attend a "Music for Young America" concert.

The concerts will be given by the National Symphony orchestra under the direction of Howard Mitchell.

Mrs. Merriweather Post will sponsor the series.

$2,000 Music Contest

Ralph Black, manager of the symphony, has also announced that the organization will hold the Merriweather Post Music contest in conjunction with the concerts.

Open to all high school violinists, pianists and cellists, the contest will offer young musicians a chance to win a first prize of $2,000 or one of the $100 prizes which will be awarded to all finalists.

Each winner will also be given an opportunity to make a solo appearance with the National Symphony.

Application forms for the contest, which must be returned to the orchestra headquarters by March 1, can be obtained from the symphony office at 1779 Massachusetts avenue, N.W., Washington 6, D. C.

MARRIED

Graham-Buckel—The marriage of Miss Jo Ellen Buckel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Buckel, of Bittinger, and Donald Graham, of St. Alban's, W. Va., took place Friday evening, December 28, 1956, at St. John's Lutheran church in Cumberland.

Baskets of white mums and candelabra of lighted tapers decorated the church.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was played by Miss Bender, of LaVale. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Minnie Bagnar, Camden avenue, Cumberland.

Wants Democratic Party To Have Self-Examination

J. Millard Tawes, Maryland's Comptroller of the Treasury and a high ranking Democratic elected official in the state, today announced a no-holds-barred examination of the Democratic party in Maryland—its organization, its policies and its candidates. To accomplish this, Tawes began today, to send more than 3,000 questionnaires to Democratic party members throughout the state.

The Tawes questionnaire, unique in Maryland political history, seeks to enlist the aid of as many registered Democrats as possible in pinpointing the most urgent needs of the party. The query is divided into three sections, one on party organization, one on issues, and one on candidates.

Judge Grants Habeas Corpus to Prisoner

William Warner Wilson, 35, of Backbone Mountain, Bloomington, this county, on Monday was granted a writ of habeas corpus by Chief Judge George Henderson after a hearing in Allegany County Circuit court.

Wilson, who has been confined in the Maryland House of Correction since November 23 was released to the custody of Sheriff Edward R. Muir, to await a jury trial Thursday morning on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Judge Henderson reminded the defendant that if he is found not guilty by the jury he will be released. However, if he is convicted he may be sentenced to as much as one year in the House of Correction and as much as $1,000 in fine.

In granting the writ Judge Henderson criticized the handling of the appeal which Wilson took from a Trial Magistrate Court decision October 26 by Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

Wilson appealed the one-year term in the House of Correction October 30, but was taken to the House of Correction November 23 before any appeal was heard. Deputy Sheriff George Harris, one of three deputies called to testify at the hearing, said that Wilson told him one evening in mid-November, "I want to go down to the House of Correction and get it over with."

Presuming that Wilson wished to drop the appeal, Harris notified County Investigator Edwin Lilya of the decision and arrangements then were made to transport Wilson to the House of Correction.

After the hearing Judge Henderson commented that the sheriff's office should have obtained a written statement from Wilson dropping his appeal. He said that evidence did not convince him that Wilson freely waived his right to trial in Circuit Court.

Judge Henderson also criticized the action of keeping Wilson in the Allegany county jail for four weeks after his magistrate court conviction without bringing his appeal into Circuit Court. Any man unable to make bail should be granted an immediate trial on an appeal, he emphasized.

Wilson, on the witness stand, said he offered no explanation as to why he did not have his jury trial before being taken to the House of Correction. He acknowledged he did not ask anybody why he was not being tried and stated he did not make any protest about being taken to the House of Correction.

Wilson is accused of having taken a loaded truck of the Moran Trucking company, Inc., from its lot in Westernport and having ditched it along the McCoole road. Edward R. Martin, 19, an Ohio resident, formerly of Westernport, is now serving two one-year terms in the House of Correction in the same case.

Northern Hi Cops Fifth Straight Tilt

Coach Lilburn Brown's Northern High school Huskies extended their winning streak to five games by defeating Rockwood High school at Rockwood last Thursday night by the score of 65 to 64.

Rockwood was leading by one point with eight seconds remaining when Dick Spear sank the shot that decided the contest and enabled the Huskies to square their season series. It was Northern's 8th win against five losses.

Spear, Ward Humberson, Robeson and Glass collected all but two of the winning team's points with 17, 16, 15 and 15 points, while Schroyer got the other two. Lamp, of Rockwood, headed all scorers with 31.

Rockwood outscored Northern from the field 25 goals to 19 but Northern connected for 27 out of 48 fouls while the best Rockwood could do was 14 of 24 foul tries. The Huskies led at the half 31 to 23 but were tied at 44 all at the third period.

Another Birthday . .

Birthdays of several of America's illustrious sons are observed during February. There are Washington, Lincoln and Thomas A. Edison, about whom much has been written. But there is another birthday celebration of national proportions this month in which all America may properly join. This is the observance of the birthday anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

Scouting in the United States reaches its 47th anniversary during Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12. It is difficult to recall when our nation did not have this character-building, leisure time program for its boys and young men.

Since February 8, 1910, more than 26 million boys and men have been influenced by the Scout Oath and Law. They have had the benefits of Scouting training, fellowship, handicraft skills, and high adventure. America is all the richer for it. Many men in high places in American affairs today proudly credit Scouting's influence in their lives.

Today over 4,500,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in 510 local councils with a membership of 111,000 units. Fortunate indeed are communities where Scouting flourishes, and we mean just that. For there are some communities where Scout organizations are in name only, with no adult backing and little effect.

In this county there are eight or more Boy Scout troops, and several Explorer posts and Cub packs, making it possible for boys from eight years old upward to be influenced by the Scout program. American adults of good character give generously of their time in providing leadership. Others help by raising funds, or in serving as members of local councils which provide training for leaders, camp facilities, worth while year-round activities, personal advancement and opportunities for Scouts to render community service.

Scout leaders hope to increase the number of active Scout troops in the county by three or more. It will take interested adults to help lead these boys. The reward for offering your service to this cause of growing boys is very great. Any person who thus offers will be repaid, not in monetary terms, but in personal satisfaction that cannot be measured in worldly possessions.

Youth Dies As Car Plunges Into Creek

An 18 year old youth from Cabins, W. Va., was killed and another youth was injured in a wreck at Stoney river, near Mt. Storm, last Saturday night.

Authorities said William "Billie" Harman died of drowning or from injuries sustained when his car went out of control and plunged into Stoney river. Harman's body was found about 100 feet downstream from the car, which rolled over several times after leaving the highway.

Also injured in the crash was Udel Mongold, 18, of Maysville, who is a patient in Potomac Valley hospital in Keyser. Mongold was able to crawl from the wreckage onto the overturned car and was rescued and taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

Police said the car failed to negotiate a curve while traveling down a hill and careened off to the right of Stoney river bridge into the swift stream. The water was about two and a half feet deep where the car plunged into the stream about 10:30 p. m.

Tie Vote Cast For 3rd Council Member

Friendsville elected two councilmen on Tuesday, but the third member will be undecided until the town obtains a ruling from W. Dwight Stover, city attorney. There was a tie vote for the third member.

Gene Sines and Ralph Beachley were elected by substantial majorities, but J. L. Ross and Clifford Frantz each had 50 votes for the third member. Defeated candidates were James Lininger and Ralph Swanger.

Mr. Stover said this morning that he had not yet rendered a decision. There may be a recount or a special election may be ordered.

Friendsville citizens also voted to have daylight time. The vote was substantially in favor of daylight time, in spite of the fact that the county in November had voted to remain on standard time.

Safety Forum Is Being Planned By Federated Women

To help combat Maryland's rising traffic toll, the Federated Women's clubs in the first district which includes Garrett county have planned a traffic safety forum meeting to be held Monday, February 11, at the Francis Scott Key hotel in Frederick. Opening session is at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. E. Irving Baumgartner, district president, of Oakland, said the district project is part of a state-wide program sponsored by the Maryland Federation of Women's clubs to see whether aggressive action of the women could spearhead citizen support for traffic safety at the local level. If the Maryland project is successful it may be adopted by other state federations.

Invited to the forum are representatives of business, civic, service and other groups in addition to women's organizations. Several persons from Garrett county are planning to attend.

Purpose of the forum is to review the traffic accident problem, determine how existing citizen organizations can work together in helping officials develop and put into action, practical, uniform and sustained traffic accident prevention programs and stimulate citizen organizations for traffic safety in every community.

Among the forum speakers and their topics: "This is Our Problem," by Corporal White of the State Police; "What do we do About It?" Mrs. Fred C. Bull, president of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers; "How do we Organize?" Washington Cleveland of the American Automobile Association; "What of the Future?" Grant Beer License

A license to sell beer was granted Tuesday to Hazel Upole, of Midway Tavern, between Crellin and Oakland, by the County Commissioners. The vote on granting the license was two to one, Ervin A. Roth opposing.

Mr. Roth put in the record that he opposed the motion because the applicant could not show that she had been in business one year prior to the date of the applications.

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the board, said that due to the fact that in the past this question was not asked the applicant, and there had been granted quite a few licenses on this same kind of an application, and that at the time of the application the applicant was not informed of that question, that he favored the granting of the license.

However, he introduced a motion which was seconded by Aubrey C. Brenneman and consequently was approved which stated that "effective February 6 that R. T. Brohawn, clerk, be authorized to insert a question No. 14 on the original application forms for class D beer license, where the applicant must state whether he has had an established business for one year prior to the date of application."

Mrs. Upole's husband, Albert Upole, has been a coal operator in the county for ten years, it was pointed out.

State police were notified. The car was discovered Saturday morning in back of the National Guard armory. Apparently the car was not damaged.

Dairymen To Discuss Production Records

A county dairymen's meeting has been arranged for Tuesday, February 12, at 8 p. m., at the Northern High school, it was announced by John H. Carter, county agent. Arrangements for the session were made through Marvin Callis, vo-ag instructor there.

Mr. Carter said that recently the U. S. Department of Agriculture, cooperating with the American Dairy Science association and the Extension dairymen, had developed two additional systems for dairymen to use in determining the production record of his dairy herd. He said the two new methods were inexpensive and so designed that it would be profitable for any dairyman to enroll.

The meeting next Tuesday is designed for dairymen and Robert Schabinger, from the University of Maryland, will present informational material and lead the discussion on subjects which concern dairymen of the county.

Carter said the board of managers of the dairy herd improvement associations and the artificial breeding cooperatives are being invited to the meeting to participate in the discussion. Mr. Carter also urged dairymen to invite other farmer friends.

Two Sentenced On Robbery, Theft

Sentences of three years in the House of Correction and five years in the penitentiary were meted out on Monday by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, following convictions on breaking and entering and larceny charges.

Robert David Nair was sentenced to serve three years in the House of Correction while William Junior Lewis was sentenced to serve five years in the Maryland penitentiary. Both have long records of breaking the law, Judge Fraley said.

The particular charges upon which they were convicted this time were those of breaking and entering the Sereno store at Hutton last October and stealing a quantity of cigarets, chewing gum, ball point pens, and cash amounting to approximately $100.

The larceny charges involved the theft of a tool chest, car battery, anti-freeze, etc., amounting to more than $300, from Joseph Ashby.

Conservation Group Opposes Proposed Changes In Deer Law

Members of the Garrett County Conservation association, meeting Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, voted their malterable opposition to a proposed change in the existing deer laws which would set aside one day for doe season.

Sam Butt, president, in registering the protest of the group, said they opposed the measure for a number of reasons and he listed several, as too many illegal kills; deer herd not large enough to justify; there is sufficient browse and no danger of starvation; the county is bordered on three sides by states having doe season, accounting for a great many deer in existing herds being killed; that it has an existing law giving farmers the right to kill a deer out of season, by special permit, for crop damage; and that any such bill would cause many land owners and farmers to post their lands that are now open to sportsmen.

The proposed change was introduced in the legislature by three members of the House of Delegates from the Eastern Shore. Mr. Butt said the group planned to get a delegation to go to Annapolis to appear before a committee when hearings on the bill are scheduled.

Several other problems were aired at Tuesday's meeting.

The club approved a proposed change in resident hunting licenses to $2.25, with proportional increase in the state-wide license. It went on record as not in favor of a special $2 big game hunting stamp.

The club favored a racoon season opening October 1.

The club said it favored having all deer marked at checking stations to prevent the same deer being checked twice. It also favored having the fox bounty raised to $4. It also favored changing exisiting small game laws for region 1 as follows—turkey and squirrel, October 15 to November 20; grouse October 15 to January 5; and rabbit November 1 to January 5.

Sentences Two To Terms in House

Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer sentenced two young men to terms of six months each in the House of Correction last Thursday.

The two, Robert Meshach Sharpless, 16, and Milford Tasker, 18, of near Deer Park, had been charged with destruction of two tons of hay owned by Troy Smith, by setting fire to a haystack and destroying it.

They had pleaded not guilty to the charge when tried last Wednesday and the magistrate withheld his decision until Thursday when he found them both guilty and passed sentence.

Selected For All State Band Member

Along with three other students, Ed went to Hancock Saturday, October 27, to audition before a group of three adjudicators.

These auditions were made difficult purposely because only one hundred and twenty of all those applying could take part in this band.

Ed is a member of the Senior Band, orchestra, and of the Radio and Electronics Club. He is a member of the Red House Lutheran Church and also belongs to the Oakland National Guard Unit.

Armed Robbery Charged Against Cleveland Man

Raymond Pack Now Being Held By Authoritics In Ohio City

Authorities moved swiftly following an armed robbery near Friendsville last Thursday afternoon, and by Saturday had issued warrants for the arrest of Raymond Pack, 41, of Cleveland, Ohio.

There was only one hitch in the proceedings. He is also wanted by Ohio and West Virginia authorities, and they may get the first "crack" at him.

Paul Fisher, sheriff, related the following events:

Two persons went to the home of Anna Friend and Grover Hutton, aged persons of the Elder Hill section, last Thursday afternoon, and represented themselves at first to be government officials.

The soon shed this pretense however, and after brandishing a revolver tied both persons to chairs and proceeded to rob Mr. Hutton of $18. They fled soon after.

Mrs. Friend and Mr. Hutton soon freed themselves and spread the alarm. An Ohio licensed car had been noticed in the vicinity. It was learned from neighbors that Pack had been to visit one of the neighbors who is a relative of a man now serving time in the penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va.

Pack left the address of his sister in Cleveland, O., where he told this neighbor he could be located. This was prior to any decision to perform his armed robbery, according to authorities.

Cleveland police were notified and it was not long before the message came back that not only Pack was in custody but two of his brothers. Pack was released from Moundsville, April 10, 1956, after having been paroled from an 18-year sentence imposed in Lincoln county, W. Va. Cleveland authorities told Sheriff Fisher that Pack was now wanted in Wyoming county, W. Va., also on armed robbery charges, and also in Ohio.

A photograph of Pack was received this week and he was immediately identified by Mrs. Friend and Mr. Hutton, as one of the persons who had committed the robbery. Whether or not one of his brothers also is implicated, could not immediately be determined.

Neither Mrs. Friend nor Mr. Hutton was injured in any way.

Bloodmobile Will Be In Oakland Feb. 25

The next bloodmobile visit of the Johnstown Red Cross unit will be made to Oakland on Monday, February 25, it was announced this week by Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, county chairman of blood recruitment.

This visit will mark the beginning of the sixth year of the blood program in Garrett county and Mrs. Stemple said, since there hasn't been a visit in Oakland since August 28, there ought not be any trouble to obtain the desired number of pints.

She revealed that during the past five years there had been 29 visits to the county with the result that 2,685 pints of blood had been obtained. Eighteen of the visits were made to Oakland with 1,934 pints being obtained, an average of 114 per visit.

She further stated that the quota for the year has been 377 pints and since the Red Cross year ends in July there are still 226 pints to be obtained if the county is to completely meet its quota. A total of 145 pints already has been given during the past Red Cross year.

Mrs. Stemple pointed out that blood gives health and life to those who need it. She said there was no substitute for human blood and that any person who meets the health standards should give blood.

She declared a person could give blood safely every eight weeks but not more than five times in a twelve month period.

New Store Front To Be Displayed

The Oakland Radio and Electric Service, on Alder street, will present an entirely new store front late this evening or tomorrow.

The front was demolished several weeks ago when an automobile became uncontrollable in the hands of William Sleeth, a juvenile driver, and crashed into it, causing damage estimated at $5,500. Sleeth's case is still under consideration by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

Workmen have been engaged for about two weeks in rebuilding the store front, and the plate glass was expected to arrive today.

Agreeable settlement was made by the insurance company which will take care of the expense of the new front and will repay Orris DeBerry, owner, for the loss of items of merchandise on display in the windows which were demolished or damaged.

Scouts See Buhl Planetarium Show

Eighteen Boy Scouts and seven Explorers, accompanied by their assistant scoutmaster, Kenneth Johns, traveled to Pittsburgh last Saturday to view the special sky show at the Buhl Planetarium.

The group left Oakland at 8:30 a. m. and arrived in Pittsburgh shortly before noon. Their first stop was at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport where some of the boys saw their first close-up of a large passenger plane.

The highlight of the day came when the boys visited the planetarium. Along with several other scout troops, the boys were ushered into a large dome-like auditorium where the stars were projected upon the ceiling. Various clusters and star formations were pointed out. Then the viewers were treated to a view of the heavens as they appear in Central Africa, and saw the show "Looking Skyward—An African Safari." Following this special show, the boys toured the building and saw the 1957 Geography show with 1,000 student exhibits.

Don't let a balky truck or tractor engine slow up your winter work says Guy W. Grenger, University of Maryland Extension agricultural engineer.

Keep the engine in good mechanical condition, and it'll start with less bother. The engineer lists several ways to avoid trouble when the mercury drops to zero and below.

1. Keep the battery well charged. Stiff crankcase oil is only one of the problems in cold weather; the battery also loses much of its strength. At zero temperature, your battery is only 40 percent as effective as it is when the temperature is 80 degrees.

2. Keep the ignition system in good repair. Check the spark plug wires and keep the spark plugs cleaned and properly gapped. Also check the distributor points, replace them if necessary.

3. Use 10W-30 oil in the crankcase. That oil has characteristics of a number 10 oil when it is cold, and makes cranking easier. It has characteristics of a number 30 oil at high temperatures to insure proper lubrication.

4. If you still have trouble starting the engine, a head-bolt heater can be a big help. This is an electric heater that is screwed into the engine in place of one of the head-bolts. The device can be connected to an ordinary electric outlet and should be used for several hours to be effective.

Letter to the Editor

An open letter to the citizens of Garrett county and surrounding area.

Dear Friends and Comrades:

Do you know there are many Veterans in and about Garrett county who are entitled to compensation, pension, insurance, hospitalization, etc. and not forgetting their widows and children who are also entitled to benefits. Do you know of any such persons?

If so The Friend Chapter No. 31 of the Disabled American Veterans in Friendsville, has on hand all forms needed to establish these claims.

The Veterans Administration does not advertise nor does it automatically establish these claims.

The help for persons entitled to these benefits is given absolutely free, and you do not need to be a member of the DAV, in order to establish a claim.

Now, in order to carry out our program of free assistance, we ask the public for contributions for the Auto Indemo-Tag, For-Get Me-Not canisters, and direct contributions to the local chapters. Your help is needed and greatly appreciated.

The Friend Chapter No. 31 acknowledges the generous help of John Williams, of Williams Motor company, Ken Jones, of Jackson's 5 and 10; Mr. Wakely, of Wakely's Hardware, Mr. Proudfoot, of Oakland Pharmacy, Mr. Naylor, of Naylor's Hardware; Mr. Rudy, of Rudy's Department store, Carroll Miller, of Carroll's Sport Shop; Mrs. Louise Fry, Cabin Lodge; James Ross, of Ross Hardware; and Harold Fisher, of Fisher's Restaurant.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

After the American colonies had won their freedom from Great Britain and had created a constitutional Republic to safeguard it, gradually a way of life emerged unique in all the records of human history. We call it the American way of life. Some people—especially those who want to see it destroyed—say you cannot define the American way of life. Therefore, a definition that everyone can accept is important.

The Declaration of Independence—emphasizing the sacredness of the individual under God—became the keynote in the creation of our constitutional Republic. Thus the foundation stone in the American way of life is faith in God. Upon this foundation was placed the United States Constitution, his chief purpose was to create a structure of government to protect the individual freedom of citizens.

After America had established this constitutional structure of government, giving full reign to the wholesome constructive impulses of a free people, our economic system immediately began to bring improving welfare to the citizenry. In the first century of our Republic, the national income increased from $608 million to $11 billion; the value of each worker's output increased from 10 cents per hour to 56 cents. And the improvement in each citizen's welfare has continued in our second century at an even greater rate.

This has proved in a material sense the value of our private ownership free enterprise economic system. The system has been undergirded by economic rights which were enumerated in the Constitution or which grew out of its broader principles. They are: The right of the individual citizen to own property; the right of every American to choose his own occupation or job; the freedom of enterprise; the right to profit, the right to save; the freedom to compete in a free market and the right to contract, to make agreements individually or together.

These economic rights form one supporting column of the American's freedom. The other supporting column contains the citizen's political rights: Freedom of worship, Freedom of speech, right to assemble, right to petition for grievances, privacy of the home, right of habeas corpus, trial by jury, right to move about freely and the right to vote secretly.

These two columns rising up from our constitutional government and undergirded by faith in God, form the structure safeguarding our God-given freedom.

Tva Wants Funds . . .

The Tennessee Valley Authority has made its latest annual report to Congress. It contains a strongly-worded request for new capital to expand its facilities. Present margin of capacity over load is too small, the report states, and it may disappear altogether within the next few years.

The report also says that the Authority is earmarking some of its income for expansion. However, it then warns that its revenues from the sale of power "are sufficient to provide only a part of the capital that will be needed in future years to build the generating capacity required to keep pace with the economic growth of the valley power region."

This is an interesting and revealing bit of business. And the implications involved should be given thoughtful attention by Congress and the public at large.

If Congress appropriates the funds for expansion that TVA now requests, the money will be provided by all the people. This simply means that the taxpayers everywhere will then be subsidizing a part of the power bills of TVA's customers. It would be equally reasonable for the people everywhere to pay a part of the rent bills, the food bills, or any other bills contracted by residents of the TVA area.

The privately-owned, business-managed power companies must also expand their facilities. But they do it in a very different way—out of their revenues, or with new money voluntarily invested in them. They get no doles from the taxpayers.

This is not all. TVA pays no federal taxes, no interest, and pays but relatively small sums in lieu of taxes to local government. The independent utilities, on the other hand, now pay about 23 percent of their total revenues in taxes. So TVA does more than consume taxes through its subsidies. It reduces the total tax take of government by the large amount private companies doing the same business would pay.

Thus does socialism bleed the country and everyone in it.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland)

Another important basic teaching of Christ which has particular efficacy and meaning for our time is the statement, recorded in the Gospel of Matthew 5:14-16:

You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hid. Nor do men light a lamp and put it under a bushel, but on a stand, and it gives light to all in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father, Who is in heaven.

The biggest enemy of the progress of the Christian church is its own members. How many people have been turned away from the Kingdom of God, simply because they have been disgusted with the character of the "so-called Christians" who dwell therein? The best source of the strength of the Christian church in its beginning was the witness of the members of the church that they had something superior to offer. To many people on the outside looking in today it would seem that there is no basic difference between the ones in the church and the plain ignorant sinners outside. In fact, many people feel that the people outside are better than those inside. How often I have heard people say that they are no worse than those who go to my church, and why should they take the trouble to join when the church can apparently offer no more improvement than any other area of society, in fact less than they can get at home.

And there is real reason to worry about this situation, because it is often true. Of course there are many people inside of churches who lead lives that are worthy Christian lives, many who have found that the Gospel is a real redemptive force in their lives. But there are also many for whom the church is an organization something like a service club, where when they attend the meetings and pay their dues, they have done enough. Then there are some who use the church as a means of increasing their business, saying that it is good for their business to attend church, and to get to know some prospective customers. Then there are the downright unChristian acts of congregations like the one in Baltimore which recently added an article to its constitution stating that only members of the Caucasian race can attend the services of the church, be members of the church, or take any part in the life of the congregation. One of the men on the council of the church said, "I may have to work with them, (referring to Negroes), my kids may have to go to school with them, I have to ride busses with them, but I'll be dogoned if I have to worship with them!" As if God cares what color a man's skin is! And to make matters worse, the denomination of this man, which is Lutheran (although there are equal sins in other denominations) is making every effort to bring Christianity to the colored people of countries such as Liberia. How much of the Christian faith do you think will be accepted by a people who are colored, when apparently Christians think of the colored race as a sort of mongrel race, inferior in every respect, and not worthy of equal consideration in the Kingdom of God.

Now there are many efforts to countermand this type of action by Christian churches, all denominations are making efforts along the line of racial discrimination, and with a great deal of success in many areas. But the basic problem remains the same. If we as people who call ourselves Christians are not willing to practice what we preach, how can we expect the world ever to be converted to Christianity? We all need to take stock of our personal Christian lives, and of the lives of our congregations, and where they do not measure up to the high standards that Christ has set down for those who claim that they follow him, then we must make every effort to improve our attitudes and our acts, and ask for the strength to carry out his will, not just ours.

Here's the bomb
THAT BROKE THE
"low-price" lineup!

This big high-stepping Chieftain started a revolution with a carload of "firsts" and an eye-popping price tag!

The low-price field never looked like this before! The handsome husky you see right here has the boat still rocking . . . with more power, more wheelbase, more room—and more sheer pride of ownership—than ever before possible on a well-trained budget! Just look at what they're making room for now in the low-price lineup: a strapping 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio Strato-Streak V-8 . . . a whopping, road-hugging 122 inches of wheelbase and an all-new suspension system for a Level-Line Ride that's next best thing to a magic carpet! And this streamlined beauty takes on the field with more than six dozen "firsts", all proved by 100,000 of the roughest, toughest test miles a group of facts-minded engineers could devise! If this sounds like a wonderful buy—it certainly is! Our advice is to stop dreaming and price it! At a cost less than a lot of the low-price jobs, this newcomer is making big-time buyers out of former "all-three" owners!

Man Is Found Not Guilty In Appeal

A jury in the Allegany Circuit Court deliberated only about five minutes last Thursday before returning a verdict of not guilty for William Warner Wilson, 35, of Backbone Mountain, Bloomington, on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Wilson, who has been confined in the Maryland House of Correction since November 23, was granted a writ of habeas corpus on Monday by Chief Judge George Henderson, who at the time criticized the handling of an appeal by Wilson after a decision October 26 in Trial Magistrate court by Magistrate Donald W. Mason, in which Wilson was given one year.

Edward R. Martin, 19, formerly of Ohio, but residing in Westernport at the time, was sentenced to two one-year terms in the House of Correction in the same case. The Martin youth appeared as a witness in the hearing.

Martin told the court that he and Wilson had been drinking in Westernport and consumed a fifth of whisky and some beer. They both hitched a ride to the McCoole area. Martin said John Newcomb drove them to the area and that the next thing he knew a man was pulling him from a tractor-trailer owned by the Moran Trucking company.

James Paul Moran, of the trucking firm, testified that he had been notified that someone had driven off in two tractors, one of which had a trailer attached. One of the tractors was found in ditch nearby. Later, Moran testified the Martin youth drove into the firm's yard in the other tractor-trailer rig.

John M. Robb, attorney for Wilson, asked Chief Judge Henderson for a direct verdict of acquittal after the evidence in the case was completed. The court overruled the motion and Judge Henderson stated he would give the case to the jury and perhaps take action later on the motion.

Robb told the court that the state had not presented any evidence that Wilson had driven the tractor-trailer or that he was even in the vehicle. He said that the Martin youth testified he did not remember who was with him and that the man who pulled him from the truck was Moran. The youth admitted he had been drinking heavily earlier in the evening. The incident occurred about midnight October 6.

Studebaker-Packard matches the superior performance of its built-in Supercharger with the most effective brakes on the road.

Today's higher horsepowers, greater weight, higher speeds demand brakes with extra margins of safety. Here are four important ways that Studebaker-Packard gives you this additional safety:

1. Largest brake linings. 195.3 square inches of brake lining are carried by the Studebaker Golden Hawk — largest, safest brake lining area per pound of car of any automobile made today!
2. Air-cooled drums. Heat robs brakes of their effectiveness. Studebaker-Packard was first with specially "finned" air-cooled brake drums that actually double the effective cooling surface.
3. Self-Centering. The entire, oversized brake lining area is automatically brought into uniform contact with the drums. Reduces wear and assures unswerving, straight-line stops.
4. Self-Energizing. The forward motion of the car itself helps apply the brakes. You get greater safety, easier pedal action.

Better brakes, superior acceleration, surer handling add up to Command Performance. Drive the '57 Studebakers and Packards at your dealer's, today.

Judges and Clerks Named For Oakland Municipal Election

At the regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland on Monday night the judges and clerks of the municipal election were named. Mrs. Florence Hesen, Mrs. Lala Gonder and James Kerins were named judges. Miss Elizabeth West and Miss Floss Shaffer were named clerks.

The annual election will be held this year on Monday, March 11, at which time three councilmen and a treasurer are to be elected. Returning councilmen are Dr. E. L. Baumgartner, James Nally and Carroll Miller, who will have completed two-year terms. Thus far, James Nally who registered Tuesday morning is the only candidate to appear on the horizon.

Mrs. James Nordeck, clerk-collector, said that the last day to file for office would be Thursday, February 28. She also announced that persons eligible to vote and who had not registered may do so any day during regular office hours up until Saturday, March 2.

Routine Matters Discussed

At Monday's meeting routine matters came up for discussion. Glenn Humberson was granted permission to construct a frame dwelling, 32 by 61, with garage attached on High street. Extended, approximate cost $8,000. The C. and A. Gas company received permission to lay some six-inch gas line, 481 feet on Center street, 70 feet on Liberty street and 40 feet across Liberty and running southwest on old county road.

The clerk-collector was instructed to write to the president of the Oakland Country club in regard to the golf course lease which has expired, concerning its renewal for a five-year period.

She was also instructed to inform American Farm Distributors of Salisbury who had requested permission to hold auctions in Oakland, that it was not the custom of the Town Council to grant permission to itinerant auctioneers to have sales in the town.

The police department requested 50 new parking meters for replacement purposes. A meter salesman is due at the next council session.

The water department was instructed to purchase whatever type of meter is necessary for connecting the processing plant to the town system, a three-inch meter will cost $458.64 and a four-inch one will cost $761.40.

Council discussed condition of the pumps at the various wells. The town was not called upon to use pumps in any of its wells last year, the overflow providing all the water necessary to provide the town with an adequate water supply.

The town received bids on plastic pipe but decided to ask for further bids for galvanized pipe. Bids were received from Fred Beachy, A. D. Naylor and Acorn Associates. Another bid was presented by Carroll Miller, councilman, but he declined to reveal where he had obtained the bid.

Receipts for the month totaled $7,376.95 including $5,330 from water, $1,162.08 from taxes and $884.87 from miscellaneous. Expenditures amounted to $6,941.61 which included $1,160 for a new water pump.

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

A book in memory of Frederick Holtschneider has been given by Glenna DeWitt and Wilma and Arthur Calhoun. A book has also been given in memory of Mrs. Jennie Hinebaugh.

Donations of books and magazines have been received from George Littman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. George Hanst, and Mrs. Stuart Hamill, Jr.

An hours drive from Garrett county brings one to a large rock ledge almost covered with crude carvings executed by prehistoric man. Life-sized figures of men and animals were chiseled there in sandstone with flint tools. These carvings, among man's first attempts to express himself in the art of sculpture, are described in a new book, "Mound Builders, Indians and Ioneers.' The book also includes descriptions of many unusual earth works left by this long-vanished race—the Mound Builders of the Ohio River country. A portion of the book relates exciting episodes of the conflict between the pioneers and the Indians of this general area.

The author, William B. Price, a native of Preston county, is presently a member of the faculty of Salem college. He has spent years of painstaking field work in collecting the extensive data on which his interesting book is based.

If You Haven't Seen A Movie You Win A Trip

Cinerama and Eastern Greyhound Lines this week began looking for the Eighth Wonder of the World—a person who has reached the age of 21 and never has been to a movie.

They are looking for this person in four towns in four states. When he or she is found the person will be conveyed by Greyhound to Pittsburgh and be a guest of the Warner Theatre at the Cinerama production, "Seven Wonders of the World."

The four towns where persons who have reached 21 and never have been to a movie are being sought include Accident. The other towns are New Creek, Mineral County, W. Va.; Gnadenhutten, Ohio; and Eighty Four, Pa. In each case the first person from those towns to report to the Greyhound agency, will become the guest of Greyhound and Cinerama. For Accident the agent is A. G. Reckenbecher, Keyser Ridge.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Diamond in the Rough

This Wednesday morning I knew was going to be a joy to get to the desk. Yesterday I was bubbling with ideas so I had looked forward to wrestling with them on paper. A leisurely mood is a good sign which I felt as I poured my second cup of coffee.

When, bingo! I noticed the diamond was gone from my engagement ring!

Now, I've heard people tell of such experience, but when you gaze into an open pit on the third finger on your own hand and in a split second think what it means to you sentimentally, and in another split second that it will never be found and another split second that it will never be replaced, there's' something very sinking about the experience.

I tried to tell myself that it wouldn't have one thing to do with happiness, but just the same the search was on. But, oh my, how I wished it were a needle in a haystack for which I was searching, for at least the hay stack was stationary.

I'd had bridge club last night so I reasoned that the search would start from when they left the table. Someone would have noticed a hole in a ring.

Probably it was knocked out while I was scraping the plates. I've gone through food scraps, unfolding every lettuce leaf, uncovering every cherry pit, smoothing out every particle of whipped cream. The horrible thought came to me that one of seven women could have eaten it in a roll or salad. That gives you about as helpless a feeling as looking in the dishwasher and seeing for the first time how large the filters are.

Just searching the kitchen is a frustrating thing. Silver drawers, sugar bins, into the loaves of bread, potato sack, coffee can, hydrator, waste basket—That was just a start. I had been in the fruit cellar, deep freeze, garage and every cupboard. Where the hands go in preparing food is almost unbelievable.

About that time Boots Wolfe came to read the gas meter. He said his wife had lost her ring and found it in a head of lettuce. I remember Donna Littman lost her stone, she thought while baking cookies and Julius took it upon himself to eat every cookie.

Then I recalled another person who retrieved her diamnd when the sewer system was changed. It had lain in the drain under the lawn for fifteen years. So the plumber was summoned.

I no longer could stand that complicated kitchen so I went to the bedroom. Horrors! I had put away the laundry which meant drawer after drawer. And the bed wasn't quite so simple either. Blankets, pillow cases, folds in mitered corners were scrutinized with a mental fine tooth comb. There were enough folds in the dust ruffle to have hidden a hundred diamonds. That room was as frustrating as the kitchen.

I flew past the sewing table in the hall and knew there was positively no use to look there. Why I even have to search for my tape measure on that table.

I tried to unload some of my frustration by calling my husband. After all he'd bought the ring so he'd just as well do some of the worrying.

By this time something was pulling at me about treasure on earth where moth and rust corrupt and thieves break through and steal, and I was feeling almost sinful until I remembered the parable about the lost coin. Then I decided to sift the ashes. If only I had not poked!

And the sidewalk. I can go for years never putting a shovel in my hands but last night I not only shoveled but I pitched snow to the four winds.

I'll just have to give up. Just as Edith Brock said, when I asked her to look out for sparkle in the library, they jumped at anything that glittered for months after her mother lost her diamond.

When George called to tell me he had found the stone on the floor of the car I just supposed I could go write my column. But there's nothing on my mind. Anyway, all of a sudden I felt exhausted, worse than if I'd picked 50 bushels of potatoes in a blazing sun.

Groundhog Pays Surprise Visit To The Republican

"You can save your mileage this year, boy, thought I'd drop into see you for a change." Mr. Groundhog stuck his head into The Republican office early last Saturday afternoon to make his annual weather report. For years, we had been calling at his home 50 yards south of Route 219 near Weber's Crossing to get the latest on February 2, and his visit was a pleasant surprise.

"What brings you to town today," we asked. The furry gentleman cast a quick glance around, and replied, "Frankly, I would rather have stayed home, but this week's paper carried so many sale advertisements the wife just couldn't help coming to town, so I thought I'd tag along." Cocking a weather ear, he added, "Awful noisy place you have here—don't see how you get much intellectual work done." Actually, the noise level was just about routine—couple of Linotypes running, the metal saw making like a siren and a few printing presses groaning and snapping. But to an outsider it must have sounded like bedlam.

"Sure it's noisy," we said, "but that's a good excuse for any small mistakes we might make. Right now, we're more interested in your prognosis for the next six weeks. This is the day, you know, when you're supposed to set us straight on coming conditions."

"Well," he said, "Look out the window and weep." We did. The sun was shining, the weather mild and Second street was making like the middle of May. "I got up early this morning,' the predictor said, 'all set to forecast an early spring. But along about 10 o'clock the sun came out quite unexpectedly while I was fixing a leak in the roof, and the first thing I knew there was my shadow, plain as life and twice as big. I couldn't possibly ignore it so I did the next best thing—ran quick like down into the hole. But the pesky thing kept shining most of the day, so I guess we're in for some more snow and ice before Easter. I know I'll get blamed for it, but please tell your readers it's not my idea. I've had my fill. What with the high price of gas I never did go on the budget plan and that leak in the roof, I'm ready for warmer weather.

"As a matter of fact, the missus has been insisting that we move closer to town, where they have garbage disposal and things like that, but I feel that I have to stay where I am to keep an eye on Mr. Weber and his weather instruments. We're the only two official forecasters and recorders hereabout, you know, and it would be awfully inconvenient if we couldn't compare notes a couple of times a day."

"Well," he continued, "I've got to go down to the grocery store and lay in a supply. I thought I had plenty of food to last the winter through, but honestly we've had nothing but relatives dropping in ever since Thanksgiving. All of our folks are from down McHenry way, and that new ski development on Marsh Mountain has chased nearly all them up to us. They've about eaten us out of house and hole, and with six weeks more of winter it's hard to tell how we'll manage.

"Just illustrates once more that old saying. 'It's an ill snow that blows nobody woe.'

"Keep your muffler crossed, bud, and I'll see you next year!"

And with two jerks on his overshoes, he was out the door and away.

Southern rallied to tie the score at 18-all on a field goal by Terry Colaw. Paugh put Southern ahead 19 to 18. The lead see-sawed back and forth and Southern led at the half 29 to 28. Southern continued to lead in the third period until Kuhn gave Bayard a 39-38 lead. Bayard led at the third period 45 to 43.

ARE YOU PUZZLED TOO?

Here is a young lady who's puzzled. She has all the pieces at her fingertips but how to make them fit into the finished pattern—that's her problem.

And it's your problem, too! Life is full of odd pieces which just don't seem to fit into any kind of sensible pattern. There are the odd pieces of sorrow and joy, of suffering and health, of doubt and faith, of evil and good, of death and life, and it sometimes seems as if we never could make them fit into a pattern which makes sense.

And yet there is a pattern for your life—and every life. God knows the pattern and wants to help you find it.

The key to the puzzle of life is a Cross. And the Church, with its message of the Cross of Christ, can help make the odd pieces in the puzzle of your life fall into the finished pattern: a life of confidence and courage and serenity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Matthew 5:13-16
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 60:1-14

Lights

Lesson for February 10, 1957

ANYONE who has ever driven in city traffic knows what a snarl there is when a traffic-light goes "on the blink," meaning that it doesn't blink. There is almost as bad a tangle of traffic when one side of the light, either green or red, fails to operate. The driver on the blind side is not sure what he ought to do, but the drivers backed up the street think they know, and honk at him and at things in general, until the police come and straighten things out. Now suppose—if you can suppose nonsense for a minute—that a city board of aldermen decided to save money by not buying red traffic lights. "Let's not discourage our energetic citizens with red stop-lights; what we need is vigor and drive; GO lights are all we need." Or suppose in another place the city fathers decided to buy and install red lights only. People should be left to their own initiative they might say. All we need to do is to stop them when they need to be stopped.

Dr. Foreman

God's Yes and No

All through the Bible, and especially in the teachings of Jesus, we find, as it were, lights both red and green. There are the red lights of warning and the green lights of encouragement. In the two chapters of the background Scripture, for instance, we find Jesus warning men against: judging by appearances, failure to respond to God's messenger, condemning men for "sins" which are not really sins, regarding institutions (in this case, the Sabbath) as holier than human life itself, speaking evil against God's Holy Spirit, careless speech in general, and living an empty life (the story of the restless demon). These are all warnings against ideas or action which look all right on the surface. The Bible has few warnings against obvious sins; many against sins that look harmless or even good. But also there are the green lights of comfort and encouragement. A certain philosopher, a particular gloomy one, called Christianity God's "attack on man."

Lighthouse

In the New Testament Christians are called lights in a dark world. Indeed Christ says they are "the light" of the world. So the church like the Lord must hang high both the lights of warning and the lights of encouragement. The church must never let the red light get out of order. She must never let people think a sin is not a sin, or that sin is not harmful. She must warn men of dangers that are not obvious. She must never be a Pollyanna, she must never sing, "The world is so full of a number of things, I am sure we should all be as happy as kings." Like a lighthouse, the church must warn men, both Christians and the world at large, of hidden dangers. If the church sees no harm in what "everybody does," if the church's standards are simply those of the world, if the church turns into a sort of celestial rotarian society, its members figuratively slapping one another on the back and telling one another how wonderful they are, then the church itself is in danger.

Home Lights

If the lighthouse says, STAY AWAY! the harbor lights say COME HOME. So the church, like her Lord, if faithful to God's Word, will show men not only what not to do but what to do. When an airplane is approaching a landing-field in the dark, if it is a modern properly lighted field, it will have a double row of lights on the runway, so that the pilot by lining up his plane with those lights can follow them right down to a safe landing. The church ought to furnish lights like those for the world. The church has the right and the duty to speak, as Jesus spoke, not only to its own members but to the world outside, proclaiming the principles of life which is right in the sight of God, not only for individuals but also for group living on small scale and large. The church must speak of sin, yes by all means. But a church that speaks only of sin and never of its remedy, is like a doctor who diagnoses but never prescribes,—like a harbor authority which maintains a lighthouse to keep boats out but no buoy lights to guide ships in.

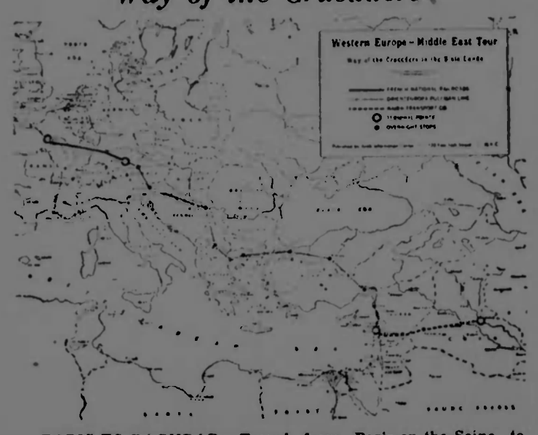
Way of the Crusaders



PARIS-TO-BAGHDAD: Travel from Paris-on-the-Seine to Baghdad-on-the-Tigris, a stretch of 4500 miles embracing ten countries, is now possible by land at a total transportation cost of less than $135. This trip covers almost a fourth of the globe's surface and takes one through France, West Germany, Austria, Jugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and Iraq. This journey enables one to see, among other things, the Holy Places of Christianity in Arab Jerusalem and nearby Biblical towns, the Crusader Castles of the Levant, the legendary birthplace of Abraham in Southern Iraq and other attractions of the Bible Lands. The above map illustrates the course of the trip along the route the Crusaders took 800 years ago on their march to wrest the Holy Land from the Moslems. THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Futile Wedge Driving

Undoubtedly, Senator J. W. Fulbright, of Arkansas, is one of the highest-grade men in the Senate. And this by no means is because he is a Rhodes scholar and holds the highest elective office ever occupied by a Rhodes scholar in this country. He is, in addition, a man of unimpeachable integrity and real ability.

All of which makes it the more regrettable to his friends that in the present Democratic effort to discredit and destroy Secretary of State John Foster Dulles he should find himself teamed up with two of the least admirable of his colleagues—to wit, the insatiable publicity seeker, Senator Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, and the terrifically windy and unpleasant Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon. Except that they are now (since Mr. Morse's spectacular flop from the Republican party last year) all three Democrats there does not seem anything in common between Senator Fulbright on the one hand and the Messrs. Humphrey and Morse on the other either personally or politically. They seem, in fact, of different breeds and breeding. Certainly, there is a very wide difference between the way they are regarded by their Senate colleagues.

For example, it is pretty generally agreed that while it will profit Senators Humphrey and Morse quite a lot to be associated with Senator Fulbright in this anti-Dulles, anti-Eisenhower movement it will profit Senator Fulbright not at all—quite the reverse. It is for Mr. Fulbright an incongruous association from which he has a good deal to lose and nothing whatever to gain. As a matter of fact, it is the contrast between Senator Fulbright and his two ardent and garrulous Senate followers, as much as anything else, that is responsible for the complete flop of the former's proposals made ten days or so ago and which the Messrs. Humphrey and Morse indorsed. Chief of these was to force Mr. Dulles to issue a so-called "White Paper" revealing and detailing Administration policy in the Middle East. This, Mr. Dulles said, was silly and he refused to do it. However, it has been made clear that neither Mr. Eisenhower nor Mr. Dulles has any objections to the Fulbright committee making as complete an investigation as it pleases, provided the investigation covers the past ten years, which will include the Truman as well as the Eisenhower Administration.

This, of course, is not what Mr. Fulbright and his avid followers, Humphrey and Morse, want at all. But it is likely to be all they will get and assuredly it will be a complete waste of time. Certainly, it seems probable that if this is to be the final outcome of the rumpus he kicked up by the "White Paper" demand, Senator Fulbright would not have started it at all—particularly as the new proposal provides that the investigation shall come after the Senate deals with the Eisenhower-Dulles resolution and not before. In other words, present prospects are that the Administration will win its first non-partisan victory in this Congress and the Democrats will have lost their first partisan and personal attack.

At this point it seems worth while calling attention to another incident of Democratic strategy which seems also to have fallen on its face. This is the strenuous effort made by the party's propagandists to drive wedges between the President and various members of his cabinet. The Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson. These have been pictured as having sharply differed with the President on policy and to be on the brink of getting out or being thrown out of the Cabinet. Not one of these reported feuds or fights has turned out well founded. It, of course, is possible that because of sickness one of these (or some other member of the Cabinet) may retire. But it ought to be clear by now that, so far as the three above mentioned there will be no quitting because of either personal or political differences with the President.

A number of times Mr. Eisenhower has given evidence of his admiration for and confidence in all three of the men under attack. They are his friends as well as his advisers and he is not an easy man to detach from his friends. Regretfully, some of his most violent critics have convinced themselves of this fact—but there are plenty left to carry on. Perhaps the recent rebuke by the President of Mr. Wilson's ill-advised comment on the National Guard may result in his departure. But it is not believed likely and anyhow the wedge drivers will have nothing to do with it.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

The Power of Words

All of my life, I have been fascinated and interested in words. I like to put them down on paper, see how they go together, read them aloud and find out what they have to say.

Words are the medium of expression for all of us. They tell others what we are like. They reveal our inmost characters.

An adequate power to express oneself is not a literary trill with which to decorate the edges of life. On the contrary, it is the indispensable tool of our self-understanding and self acceptance and of our rational contact with the world around us. This being so, one of the prime aims of education must be to help the individual establish a happy and effective relationship to life through words.

Words, like people, have personalities. There are words that inspire us, comfort us, give us courage and determination. Then there are words that hurt us, hinder and confuse us. In that sense, they are like people we all know.

Written word from out of the past show us how great has been our heritage. We read them and grow to understand the world as it was before our own generation.

Words play an important part in the development of children. A child who grows up in a home where all the words spoken are mediocre is handicapped from the start. If all he hears are petty scoldings, chronic discontents, reiterated dogmatisms and timid wonderings about what the neighbors will think, he will never find his hunger for words filled. Some one has said these children, in adult life will be the ones who will listen to the dangerous pied-piper music of the demagogue's voice, for whatever else can be said of the demagogue, he is able to make life dramatic in words for those who have not been able to make it dramatic for themselves.

Parents can create an atmosphere in which the child hears words that have in them strong beauty and truth; words that will introduce him to the fact that the world is wider than his own present experience and that in both its factuality and its mystery, it is worth growing toward and talking about.

There are many people with an unsatisfied hunger for words. It is expressed very well by Amy Lowell in her poem "The Day That Was That Day." She is speaking of a lonely, isolated farm woman who says in despair:

"My ears is achin' to hear words
Words like what's written in books.
Words that would make me all bright like a spring day."

Each of us has a power through the words we speak. They are the medicine that makes us whole and keeps us whole, when they are the right words, about the right things and spoken with the right intention.

AFL-CIO ordered its 140 unions remove from office any union official "commonly known" to be corrupt without waiting for them to be convicted in court.

THE AMERICAN WAY

LET RUSSIA WHIP HERSELF

By JOHN T. FLYNN

Perhaps the time has come to suggest to our politicians—all of them, Democrats and Republicans—that without further delay they sober up and take the pledge. The United States has been on a fantastic spending binge for over a decade and it is not possible to discern any signs of corking the bottle, throwing it away and taking the pledge.

Of course during the war the sky was the limit in government spending. We were throwing around our money to the tune of 80 to 90 billion dollars a year. When the war ended, however, Congress cut the spending down to around 39 billion a year—which was still outrageous. Then when the Korean War was launched, up went the spending to as high as 73 billion in one war year. After that with Mr. Eisenhower in the White House, there was a reasonable expectation that the cost of government would come down. But it didn't. Under the new regime—with no war anywhere—the cost has been from 64 to 69 billion a year. And this coming year the estimate is that it will run to 72 billion.

To be sure that we can go on spending, the present government has decided to launch a new war—a war of words. It will be directed against the Kremlin bosses. But the Kremlin bosses are now quarreling among themselves. There can be no doubt about that. And that is good for the world. What the roots of this quarrel may be are as yet a little difficult to discern. But there can be no doubt whatever that there is trouble all over Russia internally and among her satellite victims.

Thirty-five years of the most ferocious tyranny in history—infinitely worse than that of the Czars—has in the end generated a numerous multitude of disillusioned men and women in every section of Russia itself as well as among the ruthless men who rule these oppressed peoples. And this spirit of revolt has communicated itself to the satellite peoples. We have seen the violent upsurge of revolt in Hungary and we actually got echoes of it in Poland and some of their disturbed neighbors.

Now clearly looking about for some reason to keep our fantastic taxes and spending, the President has turned to threats. Thinly veiled as they are, he is talking about challenging the Kremlin. And to this end he is expanding on a vast scale our own military might as the instrument for freeing the peoples of Europe and Asia. If he should succeed in marshalling the military and economic resources of America to challenge the Kremlin, the consequence to this country might well be catastrophic. Perhaps he might drive the present Red masters of Russia into retreat—but at what shocking cost to America?

The way to fight Russia is to let her alone. Any student of affairs who follows the course of events there must realize this dark continental tyranny is in a state of decay. The Russians are beyond doubt getting sick of big speeches and slender rations. What is more, there are minor bosses in all of the Russian states—bosses who are facing the music in their own small domains and who must reckon with the growing anger of disillusioned people.

Russia is operating at a frightful deficit, though it is somewhat easier for her absolutist masters to keep that up longer than we can. Millions of intelligent Russians are recalling the brave slogans and glittering promises of the revolution and comparing them with the reality. As for the leaders themselves, they must realize that they have taken over too much territory. Favored by American aid and the promises of World War II and the incredible folly of our leaders, the Russia of Stalin conquered almost all of Asia and two-thirds of Europe, leaving to the so-called free world just a little lace-work of countries on the outer western fringes of Europe. But that was made possible by the favorable conditions of the moment and by the aid—let us remember with repentance—of our armies. Almost all of Europe and Asia is Red. The hope for the dismemberment of that cruel tyranny lies in leaving it alone—to molder and rot under its ruthless rulers and their broken promises.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE PLANTS

PARTRIDGE PEA

(Chamaecrista fasciculata)

Commonly called showy partridge pea.

RANGE: Found mainly in the Southeastern part of the United States; common to the Coastal Plains of Maryland and to lesser extent to the Piedmont section.

DESCRIPTION: An annual; height to about 2 feet. Fern-like (pinnate) leaves of about 15 pairs of leaflets.

PREFERRED HABITAT: Sandy, fairly compact, moist soil; upland plants of fields, roadsides, and waste areas.

METHOD OF ESTABLISHMENT: From seeds; dicing soil containing seed, after danger of frost, will bring a stand; will persist for many years on waste land until broomsedge and pine take over.

FRUIT: A slender, flat pod containing up to 10 hard, flattish pitted seeds.

WILDLIFE USE: Valuable food for bobwhite quail but not as much as name would imply, eaten when ragweed, cowpea, and soybean seed not available; limited importance to other wildlife except for cover; eaten to a small degree by rabbit and deer.

OTHER VALUES: Being a legume, valuable for soil building; erosion control; dense growth prevents invading of undesirable plants.

Cattle May Soon Bite Back at Heel Fly Grubs

Entomologists have been working for a long time to find an insecticide that can be fed or injected into the bodies of beef cattle to destroy heel-fly grubs before they bore holes in the hide of the animal's backs. Many insecticides have been tried and rejected either because they were ineffective or because harmful residues remained after their use.

Latest news on this front reports Ted Bissell, extension entomologist, University of Maryland, is that an apparently successful systematic insecticide—one that works internally—has been found by U. S. Department of Agriculture workers. It's Dow ET-57, an organic phosphate chemical with an almost unpronounceable name—O, O-dimethyl O-2,4,5 - trichlorophenyl phosphorothioate. Preliminary tests indicate that one dose, given orally to an animal just after the heel-fly season ends—that is, in June or July—will move through the body to destroy both northern and common species of grubs before they break through the hide.

ET-57 will not be available commercially, however, for some time. Although considerable research has been done it will take at least another year to investigate fully its effects on treated animals, possible residues in meat and dairy products resulting from various size doses, the most practical means of administering the insecticide, and its performance in different geographical areas.

In preliminary tests, one dose of ET-57 given by mouth was sufficient to kill 92 to 100 percent of all grubs within a few days. Long-lasting residues appear unlikely to occur in the meat of treated animals, but more work is being done to determine the necessary time limit between treatment and slaughter. Presence of residues in the milk of treated cows for several days is another thing ET-57 will not be satisfactory for treating dairy animals.

Until this new chemical is made available commercially Bissell says owners of dairy and beef cattle should continue to use rotenone powder to control cattle grubs when they show up on the animals' backs.

Each animal should be treated separately, he says, making sure that the rotenone is put directly into the opening made by the grub. February and March are good times to treat the animals. More information is available from county agents.

Latest Democratic Party gossip is that Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will be the principal speaker at the Montgomery County Lincoln Day dinner, Congressional club.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

My colleagues and I on the House Immigration Subcommittee recently heard General J. M. Swing, the commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization testify in executive session on the Hungarian Refugee program. We are seeking some light on the effectiveness of efforts to screen out Communists among the applicants and whether they are really refugees. The refugee program is designed to help those in danger of their lives as a result of Communist persecution and is not an economic relief program.

The Federal Budget is a frequent topic of conversation on the Hill. I may say that none of us are very happy over the huge sum required to run the Federal establishment during the coming fiscal year. It should be borne in mind, though, that the bulk of the increase is for national defense. Many members of Congress who now sneer at the "Big Budget" are the very ones who last year insisted on appropriating more for the military than the Administration asked.

The problem of a clean Potomac is serious. It is unfortunate that some have introduced the so-called "states rights" issue into the discussions of the best ways and means of developing the Potomac River Valley. Governor McKeldin has wisely called for a meeting in Annapolis of representatives of the legislatures of the States concerned and of the officials of the District of Columbia to consider broadening the interstate compact on the Potomac.

The Post Office Department has informed me that a contract branch office will soon be open in the Potomac, Maryland, shopping center.

I have recently introduced bills to (1) repeal the excise tax on transportation of persons and property; (2) to permit the use of any funds left over from appropriations under one section of the Capper-Crampton Act for the purchase of stream valley park lands in Maryland; and (3) to include volunteer rescue squads in the list of organizations eligible for surplus property.

The '57 Chevy can give lessons on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

A car has to have a special kind of build and balance to keep curves under control. And nobody outdoes Chevrolet in that department! It "corners" with all the solid assurance of an honest-to-goodness sports car. Chevy doesn't throw its weight around on turns because it carries its pounds in the right places.

And if the road should turn upward, Chevy can take care of that nicely, too—with up to 245 h.p.*

Dogs To Present Circus on Safety

Children at the Grantsville Elementary school and the Oakland Elementary annex will have the opportunity on Monday, February 11, of learning about traffic safety through the efforts of a Charlotte N. C., police officer and his ten talented dogs.

Known as the Officer Pressley Traffic Safety circus, this unusual method of teaching youngsters to be more alert to safety, has played to more than 4,500,000 children. It is currently touring elementary schools of the United States under sponsorship of the American Trucking association. It is being sponsored locally by Sanders Motor Freight, Inc., with Harold Rook, sales manager, in charge.

Children at the two schools will be treated to a 40-minute circus, complete with music, performing dogs and ringmaster.

Leading lady of the show is Lassie, who pushes a baby carriage to demonstrate the proper way to cross a street. Another member of the canine cast, that is expected to make a big hit with the children is Elmer, the clown of the show, who manages to do everything wrong.

Credit for originating this novel method of teaching safety to school children goes to Ernest E. Pressley, Charlotte police officer. Pressley trained dogs to act out the safety rules and started his tour of the country. Each act demonstrates the importance of traffic safety and brings meaning to Pressley's slogan—"Walk Safe—Ride Safe—Play Safe."

To further impress the children with safety habits Officer Pressley passes out quiz papers on traffic safety after the show. After answering all questions correctly school children become eligible for membership in his junior traffic safety club and are sent a certificate of membership by the American Trucking associations.

The show will be presented at Oakland at 10 o'clock and at Grantsville at 2:30 o'clock.

Return From Assembly

The delegation of Jehovah's Witnesses from Oakland returned to their homes after attending a three-day assembly in Connellsville, Pa., over the week-end.

In attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Waybright, Jr., Mrs. Ferne Welch, D. M. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Harman, J. W. Weber, Misses Elizabeth, Katherine, Diana and Edith L. Weber.

L. L. Roper, Watchtower representative, spoke Friday evening on "Happy People Serving the Happy God." Saturday he defined the meaning of baptism, and spoke on "Examining our Ministry." His feature address Sunday afternoon was "What Will Armageddon Mean for You?"

India joined U. S. and Canada in attempt to work out solution for a stalemate over Israel's withdrawl from Egypt.

THE CIRCUS IS COMING TO TOWN! Officer Pressley's Safety Circus with its 10-dog troupe, is currently on tour under the sponsorship of the American Trucking Associations, Inc., and the show is due to appear in Grantsville and Oakland on February 11, at the two elementary schools. For several years these well-trained dogs have been demonstrating to the school children of America the importance of observing the rules of safety.

Math Program At Southern Explained

Last week a Southern High school student introduced the science department and its functions to readers. This week we have an explanation of the mathematics program at the school by Juann Steiding.

Says Joann:

In this age mathematics has reached its greatest height. It is an absolute necessity for the technological and cultural advancement such as has been seen in the past decade. Industry and society are placing increasing demands upon the schools to produce more, better, and adequately trained mathematicians. Southern is doing its share to meet these responsibilities with a well qualified staff of teachers. Full time math teachers are Mr. Albert Ringer, Mr. Mason Callis, Mr. Charles Bennett, and Mr. Richard Travis. Part time math teachers are Mr. Eugene Flinn, Mr. G. Eugene Weese, Mrs. Lillian Wall, Miss Elizabeth Kildow, Mr. Carl Schoonover and Mr. Richard Bishoff.

The purposes of mathematics in the educational program are to help students acquire a knowledge and understanding of the number system, to help pupils develop a skill in the art of computation, and to develop an understanding and use of practical application of numbers in modern life.

Southern is meeting these demands by offering both general and specialized mathematical courses for its students.

In grades seven and eight, understanding practical usage and computation are stressed. In these grades all students are required to take general mathematics, which includes a detailed study of whole numbers, fractions, and decimals, with special emphasis on elementary algebra and geometry.

In grade nine a student may choose between two courses—general mathematics, a continuation of the work from grades seven and eight, or beginning algebra for those students who are planning to go to college.

A student planning college will gain an adequate background in mathematics by taking specialized courses which begin in the tenth grade with plane geometry, and continue in grades eleven and twelve with second year algebra, trigonometry, and solid geometry.

For those students who feel the need and desire to continue their mathematical studies on a less specialized plane, general mathematics is offered in grades eleven and consumer and review mathematics in grade twelve. Business arithmetic is also available.

With this program it is felt the mathematical needs are being met in Southern High.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

A student of the Annapolis Junior High school recently plied one of my good friends with a series of questions about my ten years of service in the House of Representatives and my current work in the Senate.

My friend answered the queries for a while, and then asked the young man why he wanted the information.

"Well", replied the youth, "I had a little trouble in school today, and the teacher told me to find out everything I could about Senator Beall as a punishment."

Surplus Food Legislation

While considering whether I should check to see if the incident involves a violation of the Constitutional protection from "cruel and unusual punishments" I would like to turn for a moment to a much more serious matter involving retribution—the operation of our State and local prisons.

Great improvements have been made in our nation's penal system, but there are still many opportunities for further advancement.

In an effort to assist in this field I have introduced a bill to make surplus agricultural commodities available to State and local penal and correctional institutions.

Two-fold Purpose

Actually, my proposed legislation has a two-fold purpose.

Not only will it raise the living standards of prisoners and thereby contribute to their rehabilitation, but it will also reduce some of the large stockpiles of food which we still have on hand.

The regular food suppliers who now serve the jails and correctional centers will have their business protected by a requirement that the institutions maintain their normal rates of purchasing and that the government help be used only to supplement inadequate or minimum fare.

Correctional Group Approves

During the last session of Congress I introduced a similar measure designed to aid "Federal, State and local" prisons, but the Farm Act which was finally passed provided only for the Federal installations to receive the aid.

Penal authorities in more than one-third of the states have written to me to express their approval of the measure, and I sincerely hope that it will obtain prompt and favorable action.

I would like to note, in closing, that the bill is patterned along recommendations which the American Correctional association made after finding that prisons "can well use surplus farm commodities without decreasing regular purchases and in addition to food personally consumed."

Introduction of legislation to make Maryland's state treasurer and secretary of state publicly elected officers, was slated for the General Assembly.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Need for Vigilance

The recent arrest in New York City of a group of alleged espionage agents emphasizes the fact that Soviet activity in the United States has continued in intensity. With the recognition of Russia, America began it long suffering from the plague of communist termites.

Infiltration in the Government by communists and their fellow-travelers began in the 1930's. They infested the economic recovery agencies like the WPA. In the 1950's they spread to the wartime agencies. And, after the war, they wormed their way into foreign policy field. They even penetrated committees of the Congress. They have infiltrated our industrial plants. These servants of atheistic communism have been found in high as well as low places. Both the FBI and Congressional committees have thoroughly documented this spread of subversive elements.

As agents of Soviet Russia, the communists are motivated by one objective: to undermine the security of the United States and cripple its chances of survival in the struggle with international communism. They stole and passed on to Russia the secrets of atomic energy. They acquired and gave to Russia our military and technical secrets, the technical know-how of our industries, a vast number of our patents, political and economic data, and documents of all kinds.

They fomented race disturbances, strikes, and discord. They pushed collectivist solutions for every problem in American life. They worked unceasingly for big, centralized government and for heavy government spending and taxes. They set up hundreds of false fronts to carry out this vast operation of subversion of American security.

The subversion, infiltration and espionage by agents of the Kremlin, by both legal and illegal means, is rightfully a matter of basic and continuing concern to our country. Though the disguises of communist penetration may be different, the purpose and goal is still the same—the ultimate domination of the entire free world. The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, of which I am a member, will shortly propose a number of legislative recommendations to strengthen the internal security of our Nation. Based on extensive hearings and exhaustive research, these proposals warrant the immediate consideration of the Congress and the widespread support of the people. Our American way of life is threatened today and tomorrow by the menacing conspiracy—even as it has been in the past twenty-five years.

Early Activities of N. U. Bond Recalled

Some of the early activities of N. U. Bond in Jackson county, Kentucky, were recalled to mind one day recently by an editor of McKee, Kentucky.

Mr. Bond, a former resident of Oakland, is now a resident of Petersburg, Fla. He is in his eighty-ninth year and left Oakland years ago to make his fortune in Kentucky. He is an uncle of Mrs. Ralph E. Weber, south of town.

The editor recalled when Mr. Bond arrived in McKee and announced he proposed to build a railroad. The people didn't believe it since there had been such rumors previously, but the railroad was built. Along with it came industrial development with sawmilling.

The editor recalled other things about Mr. Bond. He wrote: "When the Bond State bank failed, without any legal obligation whatsoever on his part, with his own private funds he paid every depositor in full including interest as rapidly as his account could be audited.

"When it became evident by the development of motor vehicles that hard surfaced improved state highways would be more beneficial to the citizens of the county than a branch railroad, and without any recompence whatever he deeded to the Kentucky State Highway department all his railroad grades and bridges; the only consideration being that same be transferred into hard surfaced modern state highways and be permanently maintained by the state.

"When the Kiwanis club brought to his attention that within the county there was not a public park and especially at the city of McKee, there was one needed for a public meeting place and for a playground and field for baseball, football and other sports. In view of this situation he donated to the people of Jackson county what is now known as the Bond Memorial Park.

Mr. Bond, a former state senator from Kentucky, has extensive real estate holdings in St. Petersburg at the present time.

Mrs. Feld To Head Heart Fund Drive

Mrs. Irvin Feld, of Oakland, a member of the Board of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart association, will be chairman of the heart fund campaign in the southern area of Garrett county, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Feld said the county had been asked to raise $2,000. The entire operating budget for the two-county organization for this year has been set at $16,015.

The Heart Fund supports the research, education and community heart programs of the American Heart association, its affiliates and chapters. Mrs. Feld explained. Of funds raised, the major portion remains in the area of collection to support the state and local programs. The attack against the disease includes research, education and community programs.

In 1955 the latest year for which vital statistics are available, diseases of the heart and circulation were responsible for 810,200 deaths, or approximately 53 percent of all deaths at all ages. This compares to 242,430 deaths from cancer, 91,270 for accidents, 44,140 for pneumonia, diabetes 25,000 and 17,710 for cirrhosis of the liver, in the same space of time.

It was pointed out that in the United States approximately 10 million persons or one out of every 16 suffer from some form of heart or circulatory disease.

Mrs. Earl Zepp, publicity chairman, revealed that there are now twelve persons from this area receiving benefits through the Heart Association with daily penicillin care, medical examinations and facilities to help these patients help themselves.

Community leaders or captains for outlying communities, who will assist Mrs. Feld include Mrs. Robert Sincell, Mt. Lake Park; Mrs. Alfred Marucci, Loch Lynn; Mrs. Grant Friend, Deer Park; Mrs. R. K. Dilgard, Gorman; Mrs. Henry Trickett, Rosedale; Mrs. Vonda McIntire, Crellin; Mrs. Joseph Frantz, Hutton; Mrs. Orval Teets, Swanton; Mrs. Alvin Friend, Deep Creek Village; Mrs. James Fitzwater, North Glade; Mrs. Earle Glotfelty, McHenry; Mrs. Gerald Iman, Kitzmiller.

Heart Sunday, February 21, will climax the campaign for funds and Mrs. Feld announced that it would be conducted by members of the Junior Woman's Civic club in Oakland. Mrs. William Hesen has been named chairman for Heart Sunday.

Mrs. Feld was recently elected to the Heart Association board of directors to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Wilda Fahey, of Grantsville. Three Oakland physicians are members of the medical advisory board and include Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Dr. Arthur F. Jones and Dr. A. E. Manee. Earl Zepp serves as first vice-president of the board.

Crowded Out? . . . .

Seems to us the American Red Cross is getting slowly squeezed out of the picture, in spite of the fact that it administers one of the most important programs in the country —the blood recruitment program.

If our memory serves us well, years ago there was the March of Dimes and then the Red Cross roll call, and that was about it. Now there's the League for Crippled Children, Dystrophy, Heart, Cancer and other fund raising efforts. Assuredly, all of these campaigns are worthy of aid, but it seems like they have slowly pushed Red Cross far into the background.

Maybe it's because there doesn't seem to be any glamour in the Red Cross drive. In the polio drive they exploit peanuts, blue crutches, mothers' march, coffee parties and the like. And such efforts pay off, too, judging from the result. The polio drive this year will net over $5,000. But the unglamorized Red Cross drive, just personal solicitation, from door to door, will net $2,000, and sometimes not that, if past performances are any indication. Why?

A circular entitled "Brother, You're Lucky," strikes a real response. It asks if you feel that you've missed out on the many services the Red Cross has to ofter, and then continues, "Which Service Would You Like?"

"Bring you a notice of a death in the family. Feel bad about never having received one? If in the armed forces, how about having them verify a serious illness in your family so you may go on emergency leave? You haven't the opportunity to use the facilities they provide? All you need is to spend some time in the hospital. The Red Cross lends money. If you must go on emergency leave and can't afford it, they'll help financially.

"Have you ever been saved from drowning by a person who had Red Cross Lifesaving training? How unfortunate! The Red Cross blood program may be one you've missed. Aren't you lucky in not having received of it? You probably missed receiving Red Cross disaster relief. If only a flood, tornado or hurricane had come along and carried your house away, you might have been given money to re-establish your home. Too bad you've never had an accident that required someone to give you first aid, one with the Red Cross first aid training.

If we keep these things in mind there should be no difficulty in topping the Red Cross quota when it comes around next month. Sure, go ahead and give to these other groups, but for goodness sake, save an adequate portion for Red Cross. And one of these days let's try combining all these drives and make one big community-wide effort.

County Dispute Is Now In Court

Aubrey C. Brenneman, member of the County Commissioners, told the Court of Appeals at Annapolis on Tuesday he was not a partner in a drilling firm which was given a contract by the commissioners, acting as the County Road board.

Mr. Brenneman is seeking release from a Garrett County Circuit Court injunction preventing him from acting as a member of the road board during discussions on the balance due his son, John J. Brenneman, for drilling work at Bishop's quarry, near Sang Run.

The injunction was obtained by Commissioner Ervin A. Roth, who said he brought suit after "becoming suspicious as to the interest of Commissioner Brenneman in the drilling business supposed to be conducted by his son . . . alone." The injunction was granted last June.

John J. Brenneman was paid $8,000 for drilling rock at the quarry as preparation for obtaining limestone for road work. There is an unpaid balance of $16,438 for the job.

Chief Judge George Henderson, in a ruling in the Circuit court, enjoined Brenneman, while he is a county commissioner, from acting as such during any discussion of or actions of the board with reference to the balance which may be due to John J. Brenneman or to A. C. Brenneman and Son for drilling work performed at the quarry under the drilling contract or contracts testified to in the original case.

The Board was also temporarily enjoined from making any further payments on account of the drilling operations of John J. Brenneman or A. C. Brenneman and Son until the further order of the court.

The judge declared the temporary injunction would be dissolved upon proper proof that the proper legal amount due for such drilling operations had been determined by agreement between the parties concerned. He stipulated that Aubrey C. Brenneman could not sit as a County Commissioner for this decision.

Commissioner Brenneman said he severed his relationship with the A. C. Brenneman and Son drilling business when he received the Republican nomination for County Commissioner.

Plan County Council Meet

Plans are under way for the March meeting of the Garrett County Council of Parents and Teachers. The meeting will be held at the Grantsville elementary school on Thursday, March 21, at 8 o'clock, according to John Wolf, council president. Details of the meeting are to be announced.

Friend Loses Fight On Blind Measure

Senator Clifford Friend, who pictured himself as "the tightest-fisted, hardest-headed, meanest senator in this body," tried in vain Monday to get the Maryland Senate not to reassign to committee a bill which would give financial aid to blind persons.

Sen. Charles M. See of Allegany county had sponsored the bill which would guarantee blind persons an income of at least $75 a month with the state making up what they didn't earn. The judicial proceedings committee, of which See and Friends are members, had approved it.

Senator Tronbull of Baltimore county asked that it be sent to his finance committee for study since it involved money.

Friend, in opposing the move, said the welfare department had said the bill would cost the state no more than $900 a year and that the Maryland Senate had passed much more costly bills without so much fuss.

"We are paying to the State Welfare department millions to buy degradation," Friend said, "to pay unmarried women to raise illegitimate children . . . yet we would argue giving $900 to the poor blind people of the state."

Despite his plea, the Senate voted to send the bill to the finance committee.

Tag Applications To Be Mailed Soon

Applications for new automobile license tags will be mailed from the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles after Wednesday, February 20, Joseph Welch, county treasurer, was informed this week.

Mr. Welch said that this year's tags would go on sale on Monday, February 25, and that it would be permissible to attach them to automobiles on the first of March. They must be attached by the first of April, according to law. Truck licenses come just a month later.

Making Plans For Annual Spelling Bee

Home room teachers and all 8th and ninth grade classes of the county are making preparations for this year's "Old Fashioned Spelling Bee," to be held at the Friendsville Elementary school on Thursday, May 16, at 8 p. m.

As a result of the success of last year's event at Kitzmiller and the public interest shown, it is probable the county-wide competition will be come an annual affair, officials stated. Complete details are to be announced later.

Friend Wins Part Victory On Audit

Senator Clifford Friend won a partial victory yesterday in his fight for an audit of Garrett County's financial records prior to 1955.

A Senate-House conference voted in favor of an amendment to a House bill calling for regular audits by a certified public accountant of county books in the future. The vote came shortly after Friend issued a statement saying a search of county records showed no invoices for certain purchases reported for 1954.

The amendment, sponsored by Friend, would also require the audits to date back to 1954. After this was approved by the Senate the House refused to go along. Del. Harry Edwards, one of the sponsors of the bill in its original form, said he felt no useful purpose would be served by the amendment. The measure, he added, was intended to promote economy and efficiency in future county operations.

The present county commissioners, H. D. Swartzentruber, Aubrey C. Brenneman and Ervin A. Roth, took office at the beginning of the year 1955. Last year they arranged for an audit of the books for 1955 and 1956 and this audit is now in the process of being completed by certified public accountants.

The Senate-House conference group was set up to recommend a settlement after the Senate refused to recede from its position of approving the amendment. Friend said the vote was 4-2 in favor recommending House adoption of his amendment instead of any compromise. He said conference committee members opposing this were Edwards and Del. J. J. Ashby.

In a statement released shortly before the conference committee met Friend accused Swartzentruber and Brenneman of doing "a complete turn around" on a campaign promise for a complete audit of the books of their predecessors.

Friend's statement continued "It was not long until Messrs. Swartzentruber and Brenneman started using their own equipment at the county quarry. They kept this up until they had done over $30,000 worth of work before they were finally stopped by a permanent injunction on petition of Mr. Roth. Mr. Brenneman and Mr. Swartzentruber brought their case down here to the Court of Appeals, where I believe the hearing on the appeal will be this week."

Editor's Note: Senator Friend surely knows his remarks about Swartzentruber and Brenneman using "their own equipment at the county quarry" is a complete falsehood. Swartzentruber owns no drilling equipment and was not involved in that particular phase of the case in court at all. The case before the court of appeals is strictly Brenneman's. If he was correctly quoted by the daily newspapers, his remarks are definitely slanderous.

Market Committee Schedules Meeting

An area meeting of the County Market committee has been scheduled for Wednesday, February 20, at the Accident school. This is for all who sold in the market last summer and those who are interested in selling this year, according to Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent.

Reports of committee chairmen are to be made and an opportunity given people to work on the various committees in preparation for the market.

Mrs. Harland Bowman, chairman of the market committee, said she hoped people would indicate the products they expect to offer for sale and agree to participate on the various committees. Other committee chairmen include Merle Garletts, finance; Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, health; George Coddington, housing; Mrs. William Wildesen, selling methods.

Amendment Tacked On House Bill 275

An amendment to House bill 275, concerning the salary of the County Commissioners and appointment of a clerk, has been amended this week, it was learned yesterday from the delegation at Annapolis.

The bill would change the salary of the County Commissioners from $900 to $2,200 and eliminate any expense accounts.

The previous bill allowed as much as $600 for traveling expenses, $500 per year for expenses incurred by reason of duties of the county roads board, and $300 per year in salary for work as a roads board.

The amendment to the bill states that the provisions as to the salary of the County Commissioners shall not apply to the present commissioners but will take effect with the next term of office.

The bill, should it pass, also allows for the appointment of a clerk who shall hold office for two years, and shall receive an annual salary not to exceed $3,600 instead of the present salary of $1,800.

The new measure would eliminate the paragraph wherein the commissioners have authority to employ such additional clerical help as may be necessary for the proper conduct of their office and the compensation for the additional help to be reasonable and proper. An additional paragraph is added which says that "The clerk shall perform all the duties of his office without any additional help. The office of the clerk shall be kept open from 9 a. m. until 12 noon and from 1 to 4 p. m. daily except Sunday.

Goes to Farm Credit

H. Robert DeWitt, who has been engaged in farming south of Oakland for a number of years, will become assistant secretary and treasurer of the National Farm Loan and Production Credit associations, effective March 1.

Mr. DeWitt last Thursday evening resigned as chairman of the Rural Development committee which he had served for the past year. He is also chairman of the Garrett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, having been re-elected in December for a third term.

Mr. DeWitt will work in the Farm Credit division in Garrett county and also in Preston, Tucker and Randolph counties in West Virginia.

He and his wife will continue to reside on their farm, on Monte Vista road, at least for the time being. They are having a public sale of their live stock, farm machinery and dairy equipment on Saturday, February 23.

Juvenile Court Bill Enacted at Annapolis

One Garrett county bill was enacted and another passed by the House of Delegates last Thursday.

Enacted was Senate Bill 156, introduced by Senator Friend. It repeals local laws providing for a juvenile court in the county and adding the county to the state-wide laws regarding juvenile courts.

Passed was House bill 275, sponsored by the county delegation to raise the pay of the County Commissioners from $900 to $2,200 a year and to discontinue their expense allowances.

Another bill enacted was House bill 120, introduced by the county delegation, to require that the Garrett County audit be made by a certified public accountant.

Homemaker of Tomorrow Named At Southern

Doris Ann Lawson has been named the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow in Oakland.

She received the highest score in a written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating girls in Southern High school.

Her examination paper now will be entered in competition with those of 108 other school winners to name this state's candidate for the title of All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and will also be considered for the runnerup award in the state. For her achievement, she will receive an award pin.

Each state winner will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an educational trip with her school adviser to Washington, D. C., colonial Williamsburg, Va., and New York City. A $500 scholarship will be awarded the runnerup girls in each state. The school of the state winner receives a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The national winner will be named May 2 at the American Table banquet in the Waldorf Astoria hotel, New York City. The scholarship of the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000. This year for the first time girls who rank second, third and fourth in the national finals will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships respectively.

Science Research Associates of Chicago prepared and scored the examinations.

Bicycle Owners Must Obtain License Tags

Pursuant to a bicycle ordinance passed in December by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, it will now be compulsory for owners of bicycles in the town to obtain license tags.

The ordinance calls for the tags to be obtained and fixed to their bicycles prior to April 1st. The cost is 50 cents and the tags may be obtained at the City Hall on any day but Saturday. Bicycles are to be inspected by City Police Chief Henry Arnold before tags are issued.

Mr. Arnold said the reason for the new ordinance was an attempt to eliminate having stolen bicycles and was also for safety on the streets.

The ordinance was published for three weeks following the action of the council last December and a copy of the ordinance giving the rules and regulations will be given with every tag and permit.

Red Cross Campaign To Start in March

The annual Red Cross campaign for funds will get under way in March, according to Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, county roll call chairman. The total budget sought is $1,282, and of this amount $1,825 remains in the county Red Cross budget. During the past month $306 was raised for Hungarian Relief in a special county effort.

Details of the drive are to be worked out.

Heart Fund Drive Officially Opened

Mrs. Irvin Feld, Mrs. William Hesen and Mayor Russell L. Smith of Oakland, officially opened the Heart Fund drive in the county this week. Mayor Smith deposited a contribution to officially inaugurate the campaign.

Mrs. Feld heads the drive in this section of the county while Mrs. Hesen will head the Heart Sunday activities on February 24th.

The goal has been set at $2,000, which exceeds last year's collections by about $1,300. Mrs. Feld, in expressing the hope that the goal would be surpassed, declared that the "heart diseases are the nation's number one public health enemy, causing nearly 800,000 deaths in the United States each year, more than half of the nation's total from all other causes."

Plastic hearts have been placed in various locations of business in Oakland. The drive will be augmented by a door to door collection on Heart Sunday with members of the Junior Woman's Civic club assisting in this phase.

The postoffice department again is assisting in the drive, making it easy to contribute by mailing. Contributions received by Donald M. Browning, postmaster will be credited to the town indicated by the postmark. Contributions also may be mailed directly to Mrs. Feld, High and 7th streets, Oakland.

The 1957 Heart Fund drive will continue through February 28, Mrs. Feld said a major portion of the fund would remain in this area to support a three-point program, research, professional and lay education and community service. The drive is carried on through the Allegany-Garrett county Heart association.

Sentence Juveniles

Two juveniles from Kitzmiller, who pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering at a trial last Wednesday before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, were sentenced Saturday morning by Judge Fraley to two years each in the House of Correction.

Sheriff Paul Fisher took them to the penal institution on Monday and said that in all probability they would be transferred to the Maryland Reformatory for Males.

Due to a peculiar regulation a circuit court judge, sitting as a juvenile judge, may not sentence a person who comes before him to the Reformatory, but must issue a sentence to the House of Correction. The House of Correction officials, however, are empowered to issue a transfer.

One of the youths convicted is only sixteen years of age and was considered too young to be kept in the House of Correction.

Files For Council

Carroll E. Miller and Dr. E. I. Bandt Gartner filed as candidates for city council of Oakland on Wednesday making the second and third incumbent to so file. James B. Nally filed as a candidate for re-election last Tuesday.

Last day to file candidacies for the municipal election is Thursday, February 23.

2nd Armed Robbery Warrant Is Issued

Warrants were sworn out this week for the arrest of Dewey Lee Pack, brother of Raymond Pack, on charges of armed robbery, following the former's identification during the past seven days.

Warrants for the arrest of Raymond Pack, at Cleveland, O., were sworn out last week after he had been identified as one of the two persons who held up Anna Friend and Grover Hutton, of Elder Hill, at gun point and robbed the latter of $18.

Mrs. Friend and Mr. Hutton positively identified Dewey Lee Pack as the second person involved in the robbery. Hutton told Sheriff Fisher, "That's the man who tied me up."

Both Dewey Pack and Raymond Pack are being held by Wyoming county authorities at Pineville, W. Va., on an armed robbery charge. Complaints from West Virginia authorities were received by Cleveland police before Garrett county's warrants, so that West Virginia will have the first opportunity to try the men. The men had been apprehended in Cleveland on similar charges.

Mrs. Friend and Mr. Hutton were tied to chairs and robbed on January 31, and the pair were traced when the elder Pack left the address of his sister in Cleveland with a neighbor of Mrs. Friend in the Elder Hill section. It was not until after they visited the neighbor that they apparently decided on the attempted armed robbery.

Senior High Band To Present Concert

The senior high school band at Southern will present its winter concert on Thursday evening, February 14, in the school gymnasium, it was announced by Raymond Borrell, director. Adults will be admitted for 50 cents, while students may hear it for 25 cents.

Included in the program will be a concert march, "Emblem of Unity"; themes from symphony No. 6, of Tschaikowsky, a march, "Colonel Bogey," a trumpeter's lullaby, featuring Bill Burgwald in a cornet solo, a Dixieland march, "When the Saints Go Marching In," featuring the majorettes; selection from South Pacific, a march, "On the Mall"; an Appalachian Suite, in three parts, Barbara Allen, Lolly Poodum and Green Sleeves; Midnight in Paris, Pizzicato Polka, King Cotton, featuring the majorettes, and concluding with Rhapsody in Blue.

Blaze Extinguished

A fire in the two-story frame dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shillingburg, of near Stever was extinguished Sunday evening after the blaze was confined to one of the bedrooms.

Cause of the fire was undetermined. The Gorman Fire department responded but the flames had been extinguished before the firemen arrived. Damage was estimated at between $1,000 and $1,500 with damage to the house being covered by insurance. Mr. and Mrs. Shillingburg, however, lost much of their clothing.

Per Pupil Cost Is Studied By Board

The per pupil cost in Garrett County schools was among the items studied by the Board of Education at its regular meeting in the Court House on Tuesday. The cost sheet was submitted by the superintendent of schools, Willard L. Hawkins, who pointed out that the cost per pupil in the county ran about average for the state other than for school bus transportation, which was the highest in the state.

The most expensive schools to operate, according to the cost sheet are schools such as North Glade, Mt. Zion and Bitlinger.

Air Daylight Time

The board also discussed the matter of daylight saving time for schools of the county but no final action was taken. Mr. Hawkins said the School Board faces the problem of transporting 240 children to Allegany county, who in most cases ride the same buses that also transport children to Garrett county schools. Members of the board were unable to see how they could solve the situation unless children in the county operated on the same time schedule as Allegany county.

An estimate of cost of materials for improvements to the Swan Meadow school amounted to $13,000, and the Board tabled any further plans for this building until a discussion with the County Commissioners and patrons of the school could be held.

The Board made a preliminary study of bids on furniture and supplies for new buildings including bids submitted for two rooms of furniture for Swan Meadow. A final decision on furniture purchases will be made after inspecting the furniture exhibits at the School Administrators' convention in Atlantic City. Mr. Hawkins was authorized to seek bids for 250 gallons of top quality paint.

The following purchases were ap-

Garrett County Man Killed in Florida

A 43-year-old Oakland man was fatally injured last Thursday, February 7, when he was drawn into a conveyor while at work at a stone quarry in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The victim was Roy Dale Dean. He had been working in Florida for the past year and was construction engineer of the job which he was working at the time of the accident.

Dean was caught in a moving conveyor belt at the bottom of a rock crusher in the Fern Crest Quarries, Inc. J. B. Cargill, operator of the crusher, told the deputy sheriff that Dean was trying to clear sludge material from the belt. He said he heard no sound but saw what appeared to be a pants leg flapping beneath the belt. Cargill stopped the machine and found Dean's body pulled four feet off the ground and wedged against a roller. The medical examiner said Dean's neck appeared to have been broken.

A native of Uniontown, Pa., he was a son of Mrs. Margaret Hunter Dean and the late Henry Dean.

Surviving besides his mother is his widow, Gertrude Rexroad Dean, of Oakland; four sons, Roy D. Dean, Jr., Charles and John, all at home, and Henry Dean, Shelton, Wash.; four daughters, Beverly, Carolyn and Elizabeth, all at home, and Mrs. Betty Hutton, also of Shelton; two sisters, Mrs. James Grant, Patuxent River, Md.; and Mrs. Fred Caton, Hagerstown.

The body was brought to the Leighton Funeral home in Oakland. Funeral services were conducted Sunday, February 10 from St. Matthew's Episcopal church in Oakland, with Rev. John J. Atwell, rector, officiating. Interment was in Oakland cemetery.

Plan Training Meeting

Plans have been completed for the 4-H officers' training session to be held Saturday morning, February 18, from 10 to 12 in the Extension office.

The group will be divided according to offices. Mrs. Ralph Buckel will speak to presidents and vice-presidents; Mrs. Robert Rodeheaver will speak to secretaries and treasurers; and James McCleery will speak to the reporters. Following individual sessions the group will combine for conducting a "model" meeting. All 4-H officers and leaders are being urged to attend.

The Rifle

By E. R. O'DONNELL

Reprinted from The Glades Star

The original settlers of Garrett County would likely have been unsuccessful without their rifles to furnish food and protection. Although crude by today's standards, the flintlocks brought into the county by the Friend brothers, John, Andrew, and Charles, Meshack Browning and others, had evolved from such simple pieces.

In the 14th century the Chinese had developd a hand cannon which was but a metal tube with a hole in the breech so that the powder could be touched off with a fire brand or hot iron.

The 15th century brought the match lock, which was the same except that it was equipped with a long wick. When lit a simple mechanical device dropped the wick into the pan and ignited the powder.

In the 16th century the wheel lock was invented. It had a saw toothed wheel attached to a spring, and was wound by a spanner, like a clock. When released the wheel would spin against a piece of pyrites, causing sparks which would ignite the powder in the pan. This period also produced the snaphaunce or pre-flintlock, as well as the principle of rifling firearms.

The 17th century brought the miquelet or Spanish type of flintlock with the mechanism on the outside of the lock. This was followed by the flintlock rifle as known in pioneer days. A flint was mounted on a hammer and dropped by a spring against the battery, thus creating the required spark. This system served longer than any other to date, or around two hundred years. In fact it is still used in some backward areas of the world.

It was the system in use in the Revolutionary War and that used by our army until 1841, and possibly later. The army gun of that date was not rifled. It was usually a 69 caliber smoothbore musket.

The rifles of that day were usually referred to as the Kentucky rifle. They should have been called the Pennsylvania rifle as the early rifle makers were located in Lancaster County, Pa., and surrounding localities.

Early in the 19th century the percussion system was invented. A hammer struck a loaded cap resting over a hollow nipple, thus igniting powder in the barrel. The percussion system was adopted by the U. S. Army in 1841 and many flintlocks were converted to percussion. In 1835 Colt patented and brought out the first successful repeating firearm.

In the late lilties numerous semi-breech loaders, that is, carbines that were loaded at the breech but fired by percussion cap, were developed.

Shortly before the Civil War the army adopted the 58 caliber rifle but did not have sufficient guns on hand at the beginning of the war.

Soon followed the breech loading cartridge guns, single shot and repeaters. The Spencer and Henry repeating rifles were patented in 1860. Spencer carbines in large numbers were used by the cavalry. Also Spencer rifles and Henry rifles were used in latter years of the war.

The muzzle loading rifle made in shops scattered over the country were well made and accurate. The old target shooters preferred them to the breech loaders then on the market.

Shooting matches were common in many communities. Guns made by the Bensons at Terra Alta, W. V., and by Abel Browning of the Oakland, Md. community can still be seen and show the workmanship of the old craftsmen.

With the coming of the breech loaders and mass production demand for the local product gradually dwindled.

The high watermark of the muzzle loaders was reached in the 1870's. At that time the different divisions of the British Empire held annual shooting contests. In 1873 the Irish team defeated their opponents at the Wimbleton, England, range. Looking for new opponents they inserted an ad in the N. Y. Herald challenging any American team to a match. It was stipulated that the ranges were to be 800, 900 and 1000 yards. One hundred pounds were put up to guarantee the match. The challenge was not accepted at first since no American team had ever practiced at these long ranges, in fact, having no rifles that would accurately target at such ranges.

The Sharps and Remington rifle companies were at that time producing large quantities of rifles. They promised to produce a rifle that would compete with the Irish muzzle loaders and did so in the spring of 1871. After frequent practice in the summer of '74 with the Sharps 44-75-500 and the Remington 44-77-500 an American team of six men was chosen.

The Irish team arrived in September and the match was held at the Creedmore, L. I. range on September 26. The Irish team used 45 caliber muzzle loaders made by John Rigby of Dublin. The match was to be ten shots each at each of the ranges.

At the finish the score stood 934 points for the American team and 931 points for the Irish team. One member of the Irish team fired his first shot at the 900 yard range at the wrong target. He scored a bulls eye but it did not count. He lost the 5 points and consequently the match.

The long range match for the championship of the world was held at the Creedmore, L. I. range on September 13-14th, 1876. Eight man teams from the United States, Ireland, Scotland, Australia and Canada took part. Each contestant was to fire fifteen shots at each of the three ranges each day—800, 900, 1000 yards.

The Americans used the improved Sharps and Remington breech loaders and the rest with the possible exception of Canada, used muzzle loaders. Again, the American team won by a small margin over the second place Irish team using their Rigby muzzle loaders. In this match one member of the Irish team, J. K. Milner, made fifteen consecutive hulls eyes at the 1000 yard range, something that had never been done before.

Except in the mountain sections of Tennessee and other Southern States, the use of the old guns gradually ceased and they were consigned to the attic, and too often to the scrap heap.

"History repeats itself." In 1932 some men who had continued using the old guns, met at Portsmouth, Ohio, formed the Muzzle-loading rifle association. They issue a monthly magazine devoted to this sport which now has around six thousand subscribers.

There have been formed 106 chartered clubs in the United States and foreign countries. Most clubs have their monthly shoots. The big matches are held at the National Range at Friendship, Indiana, four times each year. At the meeting in the fall of 1954, 543 riflemen competed in the five days the match was held.

The old guns are being re-bored and put in condition for shooting. Many expert machinists are now turning out the muzzle loaders, both flint lock and percussion.

While the old masters turned out a good gun with the crude tools at hand, the gunsmith of today is doing even a better job with modern tools. Since the cost of shooting the muzzle loaders is but a fraction of that of the modern breech loader, this may be a factor in the movement.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Constructive or Destructive

In the essential effort to reduce an incredibly high national budget, the Congress and the public will want to consider carefully the proposed program for Federal aid to education. In this context, it is amazing that the voices and demands of certain self-serving pressure groups can be given such prominence. Theirs is not to bring about a quickened program for school construction, but actually to create a cumbersome mechanism which can only lead to bigger, more costly government and eventually to Federal control of all aspects of education.

The proposed legislation calls for an expenditure by the Federal Government of $2 billion over the next four years. To dispense these funds, obviously some agency of the government must be enlarged or a new department established. In either alternative, more personnel and an enlargement of Federal bureaucracy can only result. Experience has already capably demonstrated that once created, the dissolution of such agencies is frustrated by the very employees whose jobs would thereby be terminated. Government today is a system of wheels within wheels, wherein the small and obscure wheels grind out in great part the vast hulk of the decisions and policies for which the major and known wheels are ultimately responsible.

On the question of whether or not Federal aid is possible without Federal control, a past pronouncement by Dr. S. M. Brownell, formerly U. S. Commisisoner of Education, seems accurately pertinent. In 1939, he said: "If Federal aid is to bring about better schools, it seems apparent that there must be some Federal control." Similar warnings are expressed by the Committee on Federal Responsibility in the Field of Education.

Aside from the great financial burden on all of the taxpayers of America, the people of Maryland might give thought to the fact that their contribution to this proposed program will approximate $6,906,000, yet in return the Free State would receive only $4,496,000. In this praiseworthy endeavor to assure that adequate school facilities are furnished all of the children of America, the basic issue seems to have been obscured. Schools and education have rightfully and traditionally been a problem for the states and local communities, and it seems to me that a more realistic realignment or return of tax dollars to the states must be adopted by the Federal Government so that this responsibility can be properly met.

Safety Forum At Frederick Draws 100

More than 100 persons from six Maryland counties attended a safety forum Monday in Frederick in the first step of a drive to bring about effective citizen support for traffic safety measures.

Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, Oakland, president of the first district of Maryland Federation of Women's clubs, moderated a forum on "Traffic Safety from the Citizen's Viewpoint."

Cpl. Joseph F. White, Maryland State Police, suggested that the three E's—education, engineering and enforcement — would solve most of the traffic problems. Among others on the panel were Edward B. Landry, of the postoffice department; and Howard O. Carlton, educational consultant with the American Automobile association.

A Republican member of the General Assembly deplored the fact that state agencies were opposing the motor vehicle revision program before the Legislature. Del. C. Ray Barnes, of Carroll county, said "We simply are not staying abreast of the new roads and the new cars." Charles Ray, Baltimore, vice-president of Markel Service, Inc., said people drive as they live and irresponsibility in the home is followed on the road.

Representing this county besides Mrs. Baumgartner were Dr. Baumgartner for the Oakland City Council and Rotary club; Mrs. O. T. Graser, president of the Women's Civic club; Mrs. W. J. Ritchey, Deer Park, for the Homemakers clubs; and Mrs. Merrill Cargo, treasurer of the Civic club.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

I Am Only One

Each one of us owes a debt to the society in which we live. We are the recipients of a great and priceless treasure from the past. Before our generation have passed a great company of believers and doers. They have made possible for us a great heritage of freedom, of privilege and opportunity. Many were the sacrifices made for the opportunities we enjoy today and all too often taken for granted.

There are the many freedoms we enjoy every day of our lives. They are freedom of speech, of religion and the many others that are the by-products of these. Sometimes we forget these freedoms were acquired at a costly price, and to be kept intact, we, too, must pay a price. That price is measured in terms of responsibility. That means each one of us taking our share.

What good is freedom of speech if I never speak up on any subject? If I never raise my voice against injustice, if I never try to see that justice is guarded, if I never work for good government, and loyalty in public and private affairs? What good is it to me if I am not willing to see that our public institutions guard it, promote and protect it? I should be willing to assume some share of responsibility in doing this.

What good is freedom of religion to me, if I do not help in every way possible to spread the Gospel of our Lord? If I do not try to show those around me that in this Gospel, which means Good News, is found real freedom, and that all other freedoms come from this one? Our founding fathers came from other lands to find and promote this most basic of all freedoms. If I do not help in every way to promote it at home and abroad, I am not keeping faith with those who helped pass it on to me.

What possible good are any freedoms if I never use them in any constructive way? With the intelligence given to me by my Creator, I am obligated to use them in a right and proper manner. Only in the doing of this, do I repay in part those who have passed them on to me.

Not all of us are able to promote and guard these wonderful freedoms in the same way. We are not expected to. In the Parable of the Talents, our Lord showed us that. To some he gave one, to others two, and to others ten. Yet, the important lesson he gave to us is that he expected each one to use what he had, whether it be one or ten.

I am only one. But still I am one. I cannot do everything, but still I can do something. And because I cannot do everything, I will not refuse to do the something I can do.

Perhaps we ought to remember that the next time responsibilities need to be taken.

CIVIL DEFENSE 'KEYPOINT' for Los Angeles is typical of some 200 such communication centers throughout the nation maintained by local civil defense. In less populous areas, "keypoints" are often police or fire stations, where someone is always on duty. They depend on the Federal Civil Defense Administration's 14,180-mile warning net (inset) to link them to Air Force air defense division control centers. Keypoints notify, in turn some 3,500 "sub-keypoints" which set off sirens and call out civil defense personnel.

Southern outscored Thomas 17 to 14 in the second quarter and still lagged 32 to 30 at the half. Shiffy tied the score at 24-all and a foul by Shiffy gave Southern a 25-24 lead. Kight tied it up again at 26-all and Shaffer tied it at 28-28.

In the third period Thomas outscored Southern 21 to 13 to lead 53-43 going into the final period. In the first three and one-half minutes of the final quarter Southern held Thomas scoreless and cut the margin to two points at 52-51, but Thomas went on a rampage in the final four and one-half minutes to outscore Southern 18 to 10 and end up with a ten-point margin.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As we continue our series on the important teachings of Jesus, as recorded in Matthew, we will consider this week the word recorded in Matthew 6:24 ff: No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and Mammon . . .

Our society is geared in direct opposite to these words of Christ. Throughout the years of public school, children are taught from the basic viewpoint of serving the material. The hours spent on education in spiritual lines are very small in comparison, and many times they are inefficient and wasteful in themselves, as was clearly indicted in a recent article in Life magazine. As we look around for the rewards that men offer in this life, we find the highest salaries, the best working conditions offered to the material areas of life—as witness the drives that various engineering companies are making to attract men to their fields and their companies—the high salaries offered to those who basically are interested in the material. No such incentives have been offered to the teachers, the ministers and other areas of spiritual value. We spend millions building better schools, but in many areas are not paying living wages to teachers to teach in these schools and the same goes in the area of the church' ministry. When you look at a recent statement made of the comparison between a public school teacher's salary and a car-washer's salary in New York city you see just how stupid our society can be—the school teacher started at $73.00 a week, the car washer started at $87.00 a week. This type of activity is in every state in the union. I know of a cement finisher who made over $7,000 last year, and he worked only about seven and a half months, because of poor weather conditions, yet this is in a state where a college professor who has a Ph.D. and is head of a department will earn little more, if any more than that.

We must be ready to place more emphasis on the spiritual meaning of our life, if we ever hope to make use of the material advantages that we enjoy as a nation. Engineers are vital to the good life we enjoy, and we know that they have just begun to make use of the wonderful things that will make our lives easier and more enjoyable.

The years that lie ahead are full of promise in the way of new conveniences, new power, new control over the forces of nature. But our ultimate peace can not and will not lie in the drawing room of an inventor, for material without the spiritual insight as to how to best use that material is worthless. The wonderful world that God has given us is no good without His basic code of behavior in the relationship of men. We have poured billions in to the Middle East in the way of oil installations, air bases, road building, equipment, housing, and all the rest, but this has not, and will not settle the conflicts that lie in this troubled area of the world. What the Jews, the Arabs, the Egyptians need more than any power dams or canals is a proper relationship with their Lord and Creator.

Until we as a nation learn of the spiritual values of life, the basic relationship with God as He has revealed Himself in the person of His son to each of us as individuals, and with us as a collective "Communion of Saints," we will continue to grope hopelessly with our real problems. It can boil down to this—an engineer can build an automobile with every advantage possible, but it takes a man with a soul at peace with himself and his God to operate it safely—or this: we can get rid of our sewage by means of science, but we cannot rid ourselves of human bits of sewage any other way than through God's redeeming power. We can best serve man by serving God first, or as Christ puts it: Seek first His kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things shall be yours as well.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

What New Year's resolution could be submitted to the citizens of the United States which would leave its mark in history if fulfilled? Perhaps there are many suggestions on this. Perhaps each reader will have one. It seems to me that one of the great needs of our citizenry, and thus of the individuals within it, is a strengthening of our self-reliance. So I wish to suggest: "Resolve that within the year 1957 I shall more fully accept the responsibilities that fall upon a citizen in this nation of freedom."

Self reliance doesn't mean diluting our faith in God or our reliance on God's will. In fact it means an acceptance of Bible teachings on the responsibilities of individual mankind. Self reliance doesn't mean pulling apart from the group, or living, or working, or striving alone. It is an attribute which must be cultivated if the individual is ever to make a contribution to others, if he is to be his brother's keeper.

Self reliance is so important in today's world because so many political demagogues are beckoning man to place his reliance on government, or The State. In Russia, the Communists seek to teach their enslaved millions to worship The State or the human symbol of The State, whether it be Stalin or the present many-headed politburo. The individual is taught to be a cog in the machinery of The State, utterly dependent. But a cog doesn't think, or create, or contribute. So long as the machine exists, the cog is locked in place and cannot change its course or its destiny.

In Socialist countries—and most of the countries of the world have Socialist systems—dependence is gradually transferred from the individuals to the government, or State. Collectivism is the machine. The first thought of everyone must be the machine. It feeds, and clothes, and houses, and eventually it thinks for the individuals. The bureaucrats who operate the machine of Socialism say, "The people don't know what's good for them; we have to think for them."

The demagogues are not all Communists and Socialists. Some are politicans who have nothing to recommend themselves to the people, so they make big promises. In a sense they offer something for nothing. It has a powerful appeal. For it to be accepted, however, the people must be weak in self-reliance, and confused in their judgment. Only a self-reliant people can be free. Dependence upon government destroys individual freedom.

Every citizen would be strengthening freedom in the U. S. A. if during 1957 he will be more nearly self reliant, that he will stand on his own two feet, that he will contribute to the care of government, and not accept care from the government so long as he is able-bodied. How about it?

Keep Your Tractor Warm Is Advice

Running a tractor engine when it's cold is an unnecessary waste of fuel, says Guy W. Gienger, University of Maryland agricutural engineer.

Tests have shown that in a tractor operating at 100 degrees, gasoline consumption is about 25 percent more than when the engine runs at 180 degrees. Cylinder wear will increase about 17 percent and there'll be about an 8 percent power loss, he says.

So, when you put anti-freeze solution in your tractor radiator for the winter, make sure you have some kind of thermostat in the cooling system to keep the engine warm.

Frequent starts and stops in the winter when a tractor cools off quickly will hurt a tractor engine. Usually it's better and cheaper in the long run to let the engine run when you're cleaning barns and using the tractor for chores.

It isn't only wear that gets a cold engine. Moisture that collects in a cold engine will damage bearings and cylinder walls. About a gallon of water vapor is produced for every gallon of fuel used in your tractor.

If you have a thermostat in your tractor, it's still a good idea to cover the bottom of the radiator in extremely cold weather. That will prevent the coolant that is returning to the tractor's engine block from being cooled to too low a temperature.

When using radiator covers, be careful to watch the engine temperature closely when the tractor is pulling. Overheating can result and you might lose valuable anti-freeze.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND

A new move has been made by Ford Motor Co. to make Ford Industrial Power Units available throughout the country. Ford Division has completed organization of a network of 28 Industrial products headquarters. The major objective is to meet the demand in each dealer's trading area for Industrial Engines, Power Units and a broad range of special equipment built by Ford.

Mr. J. F. Bachman, manager of Ford's Industrial Engine Department, says, In many cases, selling Power Units and Industrial Engines is like selling Tailor made suits. The Unit has to be modified to meet special operation requirements.

In the past Ford Dealers have not had the facilities to modify Power Units and Industrial Units to meet the requirements of their diversified customers' needs. Now, any Ford Tractor Dealer can call his power headquarters and together they can work out the modifications necessary to adapt Ford Power Units and Industrial Engines to meet these requirements. The modifying is done in the shop of Power Headquarters.

Bachman says that the adaptation of these Power Units and Engines is practically unlimited because Ford Engines are built for such widely varied uses as concrete mixers, pumps, sawmills, blowers, generators, and a host of other applications.

Ford offers six different models of Industrial Engines, ranging from a 134 cubic inch four cylinder job to a 332 cubic inch V8, as well as 220 cubic inch four cylinder diesel. All of these Engines feature Ford's short stroke industrial engine design, which has been hailed by engineers as the greatest advancement in industrial engine design of the past quarter century.

As in Ford cars, trucks and tractors, short stroke industrial engine design means less piston travel and slower piston speed. With reduced piston travel in the engine due to short stroke design, there is far less internal friction, on the cylinder walls and consequently less wear.

In an actual piston travel comparison against competitive engine shows, that the Ford short stroke travel is only approximately two-thirds of the distance traveled by the pistons in the other engine.

Laboratory tests have shown that Ford Engines have up to 29.2 percent less loss of horsepower due to reduced internal friction of the piston rings alone. Because of this, dynamometer tests show Ford's modern design engines deliver up to 26.5 percent more gross horsepower.

One of the user's greatest advantages, in addition to the tremendous selection of basic engine types is the way in which Ford has pre-engineered Ford power units and industrial engines for adaptation to the broadest possible range of work, Bachman says.

There is a wide choice of accessories available for specific applications, including low cost Torque Converters, special carburator equipment, electrically operated tachometers, heavy duty clutches and power take offs, governors, heavy duty air cleaners, throttle, and operating controls designed to promote safe and foolproof automatic service.

In addition the Industrial Power User gets far better service on replacement parts because all Ford Dealers carry the items that are most often needed, and Ford parts depoter Ford Power Headquarters is among the fastest in the industry for the less commonly needed items.

The background of our Ford engine design extends over a half century of diversified experience. Bachman continues: There have been countless instances when equipment builders have consulted with us when developing or modernizing their products. Each time we have worked on one of these joint projects, we have added to our store of knowledge of industrial engine problems. This has resulted in more efficient engine operation on the job because we know exactly what the job calls for.

A typical Ford Industrial Power Headquarters is operated by Farm and Industrial Tractor Corporation at 171 Dawson Street, Glenfield, Pa. (A suburb of Pittsburgh, Pa.) Occupying its own building, Farm and Industrial Tractor Corp. is prepared to work with Dealers in developing power units for special purposes whenever a "stock" Ford Industrial power unit needs modification.

This Glenfield, Pa., modification center can draw upon a large selection of special adapting units and can design special equipment where needed. A modern large parts dept. assures users of fast dependable parts service when needed.

There is no better service than Ford Service.

Red Cross Needs 113 Blood Donors

The local chapter of the American Red Cross will endeavor to obtain at least 113 pints of blood when the Johnstown bloodmobile unit comes to Oakland on Monday, February 25. At least twice this much is needed if the unit is to reach its quota for the Red Cross year which ends in July. If it obtains 113 this visit and the same number in another visit prior to July the goal will be achieved.

The visit on the 25th marks the beginning of the sixth year of the blood program in the county during which time there have been 29 visits with 2,685 pints given.

Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman, said that the usual contacts would be made in an attempt to get enough volunteers to obtain the desired number of pints.

Mrs. Stemple outlined the path that the blood takes after it is received here. It travels in a special refrigerated box to the Red Cross laboratory in Johnstown. Here, one of the tubes containing a sample of blood is taken from the bottle and the blood undergoes tests to determine its type, Rh and other factors. The bottle is then labeled and placed on the shelf ready to answer the call from the hospitals.

There are 44 hospitals in the region that receive their blood through this center. It may go to any of these or it may go to some other hospital to replace that which one of the your neighbors used in Pittsburgh or Philadelphia or San Francisco or anywhere in the U. S. or Canada.

Blood can be used as whole blood only during a 21-day period. After that it is broken down into three components, serum albumin, gamma globulin and fibrinogen. The latter is used to stop certain kinds of severe hemorrhage; the serum albumin will counteract dangerous shock and the gamma globulin will be given to children and others to treat measles, infectious hepatitis and other diseases. The blood always goes to someone in need.

Weather Remains Mild

Garrett county's weather remained comparatively mild during the week, except for early Tuesday morning when clear weather aided by almost a full moon, dropped the temperature to two above zero. However, the rains of the past week seem to be halted with three or four inches of snow falling during the past few days.

There were prospects of several inches of snow for the week-end and there was possibility that skiing would be resumed here after a two weeks lay-off.

A resume of the week's weather showed Friday as hazy, Saturday, rainy; Sunday colder and partially clear; Monday, about three inches of snow, clearing Monday night and much colder. Tuesday was clear and cold with more snow falling at night. Snow continued to fall Wednesday and a heavier snow began to fall early this morning.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my husband, Wyant Kelly McRobie, who passed away two years ago today, February 16, 1955.
February brings sad memories,
Of a loved one gone to rest;
You will always be remembered
By the ones who love you best.
Rest in peace, your work is ended,
Sweetly sleep, your deed is done.
You have gone where those who love you
Soon are coming one by one.
I do not know the pain you bore
I did not see you die;
I only know you went away
And could not say goodbye.
My heart still aches with sadness,
My eyes shed many a tear;
God only knows how I miss you
At the end of two long years.
Your wife.

Discuss Teacher Salaries

Mr. Hawkins discussed the teacher salary legislation and expressed anxiety that the legislation be passed in order to keep this county in a position to compete for teacher replacements. He indicated the most important factor in continued improvement of county schools was to be able to staff every classroom with a competent teacher, and said he felt the county would be in an unfavorable position if state legislation failed unless something could be done to improve teacher salaries at the county level.

Friend, Delegates Disagree on Measure

Senator Clifford Friend and the delegates from this county were in disagreement last week over a measure.

The delegates introduced a bill to require that annual audits of the county books be done by a certified public accountant, starting June 1. Friend amended the bill to make it retroactive to 1951.

The delegates refused to accept the amendment and asked Friend to withdraw it.

The delegation said Friend wanted the back audits made to revive some old complaints of his about county operations. The delegation doesn't think it will serve any good purpose.

GROWING WITH THE YEARS

Relief For The Little Fellows
By GEORGE PECK

(Editor's Note: George Peck is chairman of the Laymen's National Committte, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weekly.)

In a previous article discussing the plight of "Small Business," I stated that "Big Business" is not the predatory monster that the "Hate-Big-Business" zealots would have us believe. As a matter of fact, the weight of evidence tends to prove that "Small Business" is really helped by its big brother—that both are essential cogs in our American production machinery.

The real deterrents to "Small Business" are two other Bigs—"Big Government" and "Big Labor."

"Big Government" imposes a heavy burden of taxes on the little fellow. This makes it practically impossible for him to plow back profits into his business for expansion. Further, because Federal Government for the past quarter century has taken such a large percentage of the big fellow's income and estate taxes, the little fellow finds wealthy backers almost as scarce as hen's teeth.

Federal Government further complicates the problems of small business by competing with him. The U. S. Budget Bureau reported in May, 1956, that Uncle Sam was operating approximately 20,000 commercial-industrial activities in competition with private industry—operating such things as false teeth factories, ice cream plants, fertilizer plants, laundries, etc, etc.

Big Government adds still further to the discomfiture and the cost of doing business of the little fellow by imposing on him a mountain of costly paper work. He is the unpaid collector of taxes levied on employees and customers. He must file five reports a year with the Internal Revenue Department, segregate funds for taxes, file reports and constantly hold his files open for audit.

On top of these things, he is subjected to a multitude of regulations, rules and edicts, not only cooked up by Federal Government, but by State and local government, as well. The Federal Trade Commission tells him what kind of language he can use in his advertising; the Labor Department lays down the working conditions he must provide; and the Food and Drug Administration adds further to his woes by dictating what ingredients he can put in his products; while the Labor Department attacks him from still another angle—ruling the level of wages that he must pay his employees.

All in all, it can readily be seen, that "Big Government" creates no bed of roses for the little fellow.

Are you now feeling sorry for the poor unfortunate small business man? Well, read on as to what "Big Labor" is doing to him and shed real tears for him. That's the area where he really has trouble, where he is caught in the wage-price-cost squeeze. The small entrepreneur has been forced during recent years to accept the higher wage rates and fringe benefits, which in turn, have been forced on industry leaders. Many a small business man cannot afford these extra costs; it forces them to higher selling levels that price them out of the market.

Harold J. Ruthenburg, at one time an organizer for the United Steelworkers and now himself a small business man, has most aptly stated his own plight and that of the other little fellows, occasioned by this squeeze of "Big Labor," as follows:

". . . Unless the unions adopt a realistic viewpoint toward the small manufacturers — by that I mean companies employing 100 to 500 people, or doing 1 million to 10 million dollars volume—unless the unions adopt a policy of cooperating with them to increase their efficiency, they are going to negotiate the small manufacturers out of existence or into divisions of large companies.

"The unions are a prime mover in the tremendous merger programs that have been under way in the last several years in American industry.

"They force a small company over the horizon, over the hill, where they've got to go and get under the umbrella of a big company by becoming a division of it—selling out."

To sum up: "Big Government" and "Big Labor" are the two greatest factors in prematurely graying hair of our small business man. If somehow these two agencies can be taken off his back, his chances of success will be greatly enhanced. And by the same token, "Big Business" would get "a shot in the arm," because of its dependence on small business for a considerable degree of its success. Healthy, prosperous small business makes for a healthy, prosperous over-all economy.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Fast or Diet

Not that I would ever question anything that our Lord did other than try to figure out just how it was meant for us, but I have always wondered about fasting.

Why deprive oneself of the nutrients the body needs. I've tried to reason. Nor have I taken too much stock in various faiths who have their fast days, for to me it's just good sense to eat fish once a week or if not fish, eggs or cheese. Just a part of the seven basic plan. I'd tell myself and sit down to such a meal with as much relish as any other.

But one lives and learns. Recently I decided to take off five pounds by following a diet of little fat and no carbohydrates except what eked in around the edges. Living came into a new locus. If I ever reach the place that I'm dissatisfied with life I can think of no better discipline than going on a diet. Maybe that's one lesson the Master meant to teach.

All of a sudden I never had such appreciation for food. Just plain, unadorned food. For instance the "a cup of milk for breakfast, which I had never even thought of before was as delectable as a banana split to a teen-ager.

My appreciation of the good things of this earth paralled my appetite. Like a piece of rye bread eaten slowly and enjoyed to the last enzyme. Over and over I'd think of myself as I'd use up the daily allowance of two teaspoons of butter. "Isn't butter good?" I know part of the enjoyment went to the soul.

When had I ever stopped to be thankful for bread, butter and milk? And cabbage." I found myself being truly thankful that the Creator had supplied many foods with much bulk and few calories. Measure a cup of cabbage onto your plate and you'll know what I mean. One doesn't wish for bacon drippings for seasoning at such a moment but looks upon it only in deepest gratitude that "today I'll not leave the table hungry."

Then there was the ritual of saying grace. Actually I have been guilty of saying as the serving got under way, "Have we said grace?" and we had!

But when one diets in a fasting sort of way one doesn't ask such a question for one becomes very sincere in thanking for daily bread for daily bread is important. Not jelly, mushrooms, almonds or Marzetti's.

The lesson it taught me outweighed the loss of pounds. Every meal I felt like Milne's king who only wanted "a bit of butter for the royal slice of bread."

Extravagant?

I wondered how extravagant I was when I slipped a dollar in an envelope in reply to an ad for swatches of the latest slik fabrics. But I really got my money's worth when they arrived and I read "suits from this fabric sell for $225.00."

Why, for a moment I felt as if I were hob-nobbing with the rich.

Fair Weather

What's just a prediction, but a Garrett county barometer, is pointing up that there will be "fair weather" in Garrett county along about September.

Yes sir, it looks like Garrett county may have a fair. The ingredients have been in the pot brewing for many months this winter. Soon we will know.

A county fair is one of the finest traditions of America. It and skating are two of the greatest gifts we could give our children.

Developing Human Resources Subject Of Rotary Address

To develop our human resources, develop and educate our population, unify our efforts and work out our problems in cooperation—these were some of the responsibilities that citizens of the county have in improving economic conditions in Garrett county, as told to the Oakland Rotary club last Friday evening by Merle Garletts, Northern High school instructor.

Mr. Garletts took a scrutinizing look at the county's picture in agriculture, mining, manufacture, wholesale and retail, construction, and lumbering and pointed out how the people of the county could do something about all of them. He declared that agriculture, main source of income and employment, needs better trained and skilled operators and managers as never before.

He decalred that "too many of our farmers are self-satisfied, not interested in supplementing their income." He felt also that the dairy industry was rapidly becoming a big operation and that the county, where grass grows abundantly, would be ideal for increases in dairy herd production.

He suggested this could be done by a unified effort for merchants, car dealers, bankers, teachers, agricultural leaders, extension service, soil conservation and credit agencies. He said it had been shown that a cow producing 7,000 pounds of milk shows a profit only one half as much as a cow producing 10,000 pounds of milk. He urged wide use of the artificial breeding association and DHIA services already set up to help improve dairy herds.

He said the same program could be used to expand the broiler industry. He also touched on improved practices for forestry management, recreation, development of crafts as a part time employment for a great number of people with the products being sold to tourists and vacationists through gift shops.

Mr. Garletts revealed that several groups in the county were studying the possibilities of raising the economic level of the county, citing particularly the effort of Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools in having a group of teachers to study the economic problems and projects.

He listed five basic problems that must be overcome—lack of any great natural resources, lack of any quantity of highly skilled workers, lack of initiative power to originate new ideas by a great majority of citizens, lack of curiosity to find a better way to do a bigger job, and a lack of trust and faith between groups and communities and individuals.

Doing something that will stop the decline of our population, and keep our young men and women home was the prime objective in Mr. Garlett's talk. Material for his talk represents several years of study and talking with various individuals, and organizations. Some of the statistical material used in his talk came from libraries, the Forestry department and the Extension service.

Elizabeth Howard Dies At Her Home

The death of Miss Elizabeth Howard, of Baltimore, on Monday February 11, marks the passing of the next to the last member of the prominent Howard family that had been summer residents of Oakland since the 1860's. The deceased had been a summer resident of Oakland for eighty years or more.

The only surviving member of the family is now Miss Julia McHenry Howard, better known as Miss Frances Howard, of Baltimore.

Deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. McHenry Howard and was a great granddaughter of Francis Scott Key, the oldest child of Key being her grandmother. Her grandfather, Charles Howard, died in Oakland in 1869.

Members of the Howard family have been the longest continuous summer residents that Oakland has ever had, and probably the longest for any area of the entire Allegheny Mountains.

There were four children in the Howard family, a son, Charles McHenry Howard, who presented the Mt. Nebo tract in this county to the state a short time before he died; Misses May, Frances and Elizabeth Howard. Miss May died in 1943.

The death of Miss Howard recalls an article by Julia McHenry Howard, which first appeared in an issue of The Glades Star, and later was reprinted by Tahleland Trails in volume one, number two, summer of 1953.

She relates in part: "In 1857 Mrs. Charles Howard, her children and her mother, the widow of Francis Scott Key, were spending a very hot summer in the hotel at the Relay. The B. and O. had not been running through to the Ohio river and to see the late afternoon train come through from the west was quite an event. One afternoon, a steward, formerly a butler in Mrs. Howard's home, stepped off the coach for a minute, and recognizing Mrs. Howard, told her that they had that morning come through a place where the ladies were walking up and down the platform wearing blankets, shawls, and the station railing was hung with rattlesnake skins.

"Next morning Mrs. Howard and Mrs. F. S. Key boarded the train for Oakland. They stayed for some weeks at the old Glades hotel. In 1858 they went again, staying on a farm near where the road to Monte Vista leaves the old West Union road. In 1868 or 1869 the Howards returned, renting a house on Oak street where in 1869 Charles Howard died.

"In 1870 Alice Key Howard, daughter of Mrs. Charles Howard, bought from a man named Stabler a four room hunting lodge with separate kitchens, standing in a dense grove of oaks. Several additions and wings were built before the original four-room lodge became the low rambling red structure at 79 Alder street, present summer home of the Howard family. Willed by Alice Howard to her niece, Elizabeth B. Howard, it was for eighty years or more the summer home of many of Francis Scott Key's grandchildren and great grandchildren."

Funeral services were conducted for Miss Howard at her home, 105 Charlcote Road, Baltimore, on Wednesday morning.

Southern Defeats Bayard High 67-47

The Southern High Highlanders chalked up their third win of the campaign last Friday night as they downed Bayard High by the score of 67 to 47 on the local court.

Bayard scored first but it was not long before Shiffy tied the score at 2-2 with two foul goals. R. Kuhn sewed it up again at 8-8, but a goal by Tom Bittinger put Southern in the lead only to have Kuhn tie it up again at the end of the quarter at 10-10.

The lead changed four times in the second quarter and Bayard led 20 to 19 at the half with Layman tossing in one just before the whistle.

In the second half however, Ken Shaffer and Bib Shiffy turned on the steam to score 20 points in the third period to put Southern out in front to stay. Southern led 41 to 34 at the third period and then continued on its scoring rampage to dump in 26 more points while holding the visitors to 13. It was the biggest rout of the season.

Shaffer hit for 23 points on six field goals and 11 out of 13 fouls, while Shifty had eight field goals and 3 out of 8 fouls for 19 points. Roth got 3, Tom Bittinger 12, Murphy 2, Kight 8 to complete the scoring. Non-scoring were Colaw, Paugh and G. Bittinger.

Ronnie Kuhn of Bayard was high man for the night, hitting for 26 points on 11 field goals and four out of 7 fouls. F. Miller scored 8, M. Kuhn 3, Rippy 2, Layman 6, Keaple 2, while Moreland went scoreless Southern outscored Bayard 25 field goals to 17, and hit on 17 of 26 fouls. Bayard made 13 out of 20 fouls.

It was the second game with Bayard within ten days, Bayard having won the opener at Bayard, on January 31 in an overtime battle 68 to 67. Southern High jayvees won the preliminary game 38 to 34.

State's 1957 traffic toll went up to 31 as of February 7.

ANSWER THIS QUESTION

Am I My Brother's Keeper?

Those words do come from the Bible. And they have sometimes been quoted to justify a man's lack of concern for the welfare of others.

When we quote Scripture we must be careful WHOM we are quoting!

It was Cain, the first murderer, who asked that biting question. God had said, "Where is Abel, thy brother?" And Cain was trying to escape the consequences of his crime.

Each of us is responsible for his brother's welfare. That is the very reason this feature is appearing in your newspaper.

You and your family need the spiritual resources our churches offer. In whichever Christian congregation you select there are waiting to welcome you many men and women and young people whose faith has taught them a deep concern for their brothers.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Matthew 13. International Reading: Matthew 13:24-30, 36-43.

Truth Is Alive

Lesson for February 17, 1957

HOW do you explain advanced mathematics to children who don't know what 2x2 means" Jesus had an equally hard time trying to explain what he meant by the Kingdom of God. By the way, comparison of passages will show that Kingdom of God" and of "heaven" mean just the same thing.

Dr. Foreman

nearly everything he said about it has been persistently misunderstood by somebody or other. Harder than explained a totally new idea is transforming an old one, and Jesus had this more difficult task; for many of his contemporaries, both friends and enemies, thought they knew what "Kingdom of God" meant, already, and they did not want to be told.

A Definition

We can venture a definition of the Kingdom of God to which most persons will agree: The state of things in which God's will is wholly done by all men in all things. Many persons will agree to that definition; but it leaves several questions unanswered. One of these questions is dealt with in the parables chosen for this week's study. It is this: How does the Kingdom grow, or spread, or come? This is an especially important question if we understand that it is a part of God's plan to use his servants—meaning and including ourselves too—to help bring the Kingdom to pass, to bring it out of the world of hope into the world of fact and experience. Most churches sing the hymn: "Rise up, O men of God!" They do not sing the parody on it which begins, "Sit down, O man of God; you cannot do a thing!"

Not by Force

But suppose we do rise up to work for the Kingdom, what shall we do?

Good men have long asked themselves that question . . . and sometimes given wrong answers. Some have thought that the reign of God could be forced on men by the have had the Crusaders, the Inquisition, the New England "Theocracy," Calvin in Geneva and Cromwell in England—all working on the same theory. You can force people to do God's will. This earth can become like heaven if your police force is good enough.

Not by Machines

But that never has worked. It can't work, because the Kingdom of God is not that sort of thing. So, other good but mistaken men have supposed that the way the Kingdom spreads abroad is by a copying system of some kind, let us say by a vast mimeographing machine. Some particular person or period, or institution, is taken as the absolute pattern, and people are encouraged to imitate it to the last detail. For example, the early Christian church, as described in the book of Acts, is taken by some people as the picture of the ideal church, and all churches (it is said) should be a nearly exact copies of it as is possible. Or the social and political organization set forth in the laws of Moses are taken to describe the ideal state, and we today should imitate that if we want to get the perfect society. Or some ancient saint is taken as the exact model of every one who wants to be a good person. But these notions are all off center. No world and no institution and no age and system in the past was perfect even for that day; and when you take something that was imperfect yesterday and try to make it do today, the result is more imperfect than ever.

The Kingdom Is a Living Thing

Jesus' parables show how the Kingdom of God really spreads and grows. He called it once a kingdom of truth; and truth is a Living thing. Truth cannot be forced upon people. Mere copying of truth is mechanical and may even be meaningless. Truth grows the way a plant does, the way yeast does in dough: silently, steadily by the sheer power of the life that is in it. But since the Kingdom of God is made up of people . . . the truth of Christ is not one to be read about but one to be lived out. . . the Kingdom of God, the seeds of his heart's desire, comes only being by the personal touch of life on life. Truth spreads from soul to soul only as it spreads from soul to soul.

1956 ..... Another year of growth and progress

Fiscal 1956 was another year of growth and progress for West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company. Our mills produced a record total of more than 875,000 tons of paper, paperboard, and market pulp. Our subsidiary, Hinde & Dauch, manufactured a record volume of corrugated containers and other paperboard products. Sales reached an all-time high of $187,621,000 and the net profit from these sales reached a new level of $16,331,000. ¶ The financial results tell only part of the story of 1956. During the year we continued to build for the future in line with a well-conceived, long-range plan to keep the company in the forefront of a dynamic and growing industry. ¶ We continued to increase the productivity of the forests from which we draw our raw materials. We broadened our technological research efforts to insure fuller utilization of raw materials, to improve existing products and to develop new products and new uses for paper. To offset rising costs, we achieved even greater efficiency in our manufacturing operations through the investment of additional millions of dollars for new equipment. We strengthened our human organization in all areas, with particular emphasis on commercial analysis, marketing and sales.

What 1956 meant

$317,000 in taxes was paid to state and local governments

$1,110,000 was reinvested in new plant and facilities

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Before this session of Congress ends there promises to be a gorgeous fight over the admission of the territories of Alaska and Hawaii to full statehood in the Union. At the moment there are strong lobbies favoring both these territories encamped in Washington and actively engaged in marshaling their separate projects, the essential legislation for which is slumbering in committee and may not come out for some weeks—if at all.

Normally the objective for which both Alaska and Hawaii have for so long struggled should be achieved this year without too great difficulty. For example both the Republican and Democratic parties indorsed the proposal last summer in their respective national conventions. In addition there are a number of exceedingly good arguments why both should be admitted. Certainly this is true of Alaska and a considerable number of these favorable Alaska arguments also apply to Hawaii. However, there is one very strong reason for not voting for Hawaii which does not exist against Alaska—at least, not to such full and devastating extent.

The name of this reason is Harry Bridges. Mr. Bridges is a notorious union labor boss, equipped with more deadly power than any of the others. He is president of the longshoremen's union and of the warehouse workers' union. He was born in Australia, and has been convicted of perjury in swearing that he has never been a Communist. Long ago he was sentenced by Federal judges to five years' imprisonment and ordered deported back to his native Australia. With the help of what seems to be unlimited money and extremely able lawyers, for nearly twenty years he has been in and out of the courts on these indictments. Appeal after appeal has been taken and twice the Supreme Court has allowed him to escape deportation on what seemed to be technicalities.

The smoothness with which he moves from arrest to indictment to conviction to release on $25,000 bail and then repeats the process is confusing and more than a little alarming. Three things that are entirely clear, however, are these: 1. that he is in complete control of the big unions he heads; 2. that he is easily the most powerful man politically as well as economically in Hawaii; 3. that if and when Hawaii achieves statehood Mr. Bridges, more than anyone else, will choose two senators and the House members to which Hawaii will be entitled. This raises the big question as to whether the interests of the United States will be served by the admission of Hawaii to full statehood while it is still under the domination of a labor boss strongly suspected of Communist affiliations, convicted in court as a perjurer and long fighting deportation efforts to send him back to his native country.

Before a Senate committee which recently visited Hawaii, Mr. Benjamin Franklin Dillingham, who was born in Honolulu and is recognized as one of its most substantial business men, testified as follows:

"We depend upon shipping for virtually all our basic needs of life here. Outside of air mail and a few commodities that can be brought in by air, we have no trucking service, no railroad service, nothing to tie us to other communities of the United States. So when shipping is cut off we are not only denied access to the mainland for the sale of our products upon which we depend for a living but we are denied opportunity to receive food, clothing and other necessary supplies."

Also said Mr. Dillingham: "And when you realize that our shipping and the sugar and pineapple industries are subject to the whim of one man, regardless of any kind of contract or obligation, you will understand the position this community is in every day, every week, every month of every year." This is as Mr. George E. Sokolsky recently wrote a frightening picture but undoubtedly true. It is certainly outrageous that Hawaii, one of the most beautiful possessions of the United States, should be so completely subservient to the will of such a man as Harry Bridges. Nevertheless, it does seem that some way should be found either by Hawaii itself or by our courts to rid these islands of unions such as those over which Mr. Bridges rules, before granting her full statehood. Two Bridges-dominated senators would hardly raise the Senate level nor help the country. Democratic or Republican it is hard to think of anything worse.

Along The Potomac

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Congressman Hyde, before leaving for Austria on a study of the Hungarian Refugee problem, attended the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin meeting in Washington. Mr. Hyde urged the members to give full consideration to his recommendations for expanding the Commission's authority. Effective pollution control, Mr. Hyde said, depends on the states in the Potomac River basin sharing their authority, as well as on their joint efforts to keep the Potomac clean.

Mr. Hyde also introduced a bill to bring the Memorial hospital in Cumberland under Social Security. The employees of the hospital are making regular contributions to the Social Security program, but legal snarls have prevented the hospital from officially qualifying under present law.

Representative Hyde hoped that he would be back in this country in time to attend the Upper Rock Creek Watershed meeting held on Sunday, February 19. Mr. Hyde said that the sponsoring groups have done a wonderful job in working out their program and he is anxious to work on the federal level to see that the project is carried through as rapidly as possible to a successful conclusion.

IT'S LIKE TWO ENGINES IN ONE!

TRIPLE-ACTION RESERVE POWER!
Simply nudge the accelerator beyond the "creak and you "call on the reserves." The J-2 Rocket then speeds on two dual carburetors. It's available now at a modest extra cost. Try it!

It's the most exciting engine development since the first Rocket was launched!

Engineers have dreamed for years of an engine that combined exceptional horsepower and torque potential with outstanding fuel economy in normal operation.

And today, Olds has it in the new J-2 Rocket. You'll find it's like two engines under the hood!

In your day-to-day driving, you enjoy the smooth, alert action of the Rocket—with the fuel economy of dial-jet carburetion and a 10-to-1 compression ratio. But to meet the exceptional driving situation, just open the accelerator beyond the "creak" point and two additional carburetors automatically get into action. There's an instant boost in torque and power. You'll appreciate the immediate response as another Olds contribution to your pleasure and safety at the wheel!

*2½ h.p. Rocket T-88 engine standard on six models. J-2 Rocket engine with 300 h.p. and special Rocket engine with up to 312 h.p. optional at extra cost.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

On D-Day plus 1, a unit of the Maryland National Guard which had been activated for World War II hit the Normandy beachhead with 1,000 men. Less than two weeks later, after the bloody battle on the high ground which was later dubbed "Purple Heart Hill," there were only 192 uninjured men who answered roll call. But the enemy had been repulsed!

Heroism Found in All Units

Behind the valor and determination of that unit was a tradition which extended back to the colonial militiamen who took up arms to win us our independence.

Strengthened by that tradition, the members of the Maryland National Guard have constantly served in such a way that the heroism I mentioned above has had counterparts in almost every unit in every war.

It is unfortunate, therefore, that the current investigation of the National Guard's training program has become confused by certain statements which appear to reflect on the integrity of that organization.

The Guard has always maintained its traditions of honor and courage, and our current task is to see that its strength is never weakened.

Letter Sent to President

Speaking of traditions, it was recently announced that the time-honored custom of using horse-drawn caissons in the military funerals of Arlington National Cemtery was to be abandoned because of financial reasons.

I immediately wrote to President Eisenhower, pointing out that the anticipated savings would be only about $77.90 per funeral and that I felt there surely ought to be some way in which we could include this traditional item in our $38 billion military budget.

Sentiments Expressed

My own belief that the symbolic burial ceremony should not be completely modernized has received widespread approvial, and I would like to quote a few selections from some of the letters I have received on the matter.

"Is there no sentiment left in this terrible age?" from the daughter of a Civil War colonel who was buried with full military honors.

"We're getting too streamlined; let us keep our gallant traditions" —from a constituent.

"The sight of the six white horses pulling the caisson brought comfort to me"—from the widow of an officer whose body lies in the National Cemetery.

"It is heartening to know that our legislators are aware that many of the 'fringe benefits' that the army rank-and-file are anxious to keep are not necessarily 'pocketbook' ones, but sometimes are those that have for many years contributed to making the army a place in which a man is proud to stay"—from a soldier at the headquarters of the U. S. Army in Europe.

And, in conclusion:

"A country, much as it boasts of its progress, must have roots if it is to grow culturally and spiritually. America cannot sacrifice its heritage and every last vestige of its glorious past in the interest of efficiency and economy."—from a New York newspaperman.

Time to Get Tough? . . .

Any person who reads or listens to news accounts knows that juvenile crime has become a problem of grim dimensions in this country. It is more widespread in large cities than in rural communities, but is all too common here too.

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, spoke editorially in a recent issue of that organization's bulletin. He said, "Recent happenings in juvenile crime shatter the illusion that soft-hearted molly-coddling is the answer to this problem." And he asks, "Are we to stand idly by while fierce young hoodlums—too often and too long harbored under the glossy misnomer of juvenile delinquents—roam our streets and desecrate our communities? If we do, America might well witness a resurgence of the brutal criminality and mobsterism of a past era."

Mr. Hoover also belittles the idea, held by some, that there isn't any more juvenile crime than there used to be—that it's just better publicized. In the past four years the population of 10 to 17 year olds has risen 10 percent. In the same time arrests of individuals in that age bracket have increased at twice the rate.

Finally Mr. Hoover makes a strong case against the common custom of not publishing the names of young criminals. As he puts it, "publicizing the names as well as crimes for public scrutiny, release of past records to appropriate law enforcement officials and fingerprinting for future identification are all necessary procedures in the war on the flagrant violator, regardless of age."

This is a question we just can't answer. The soft hearted approach may work in a few cases but by and large, we believe it has failed. We see a youngster too young to allow his name to be used in the paper, stand before a judge or magistrate and laugh at him, and think his misbehavior is a big joke. Yet his youthfulness prevents any exploitation of his misconduct or mentioning his name. The time is past when a student in high school can get a good walloping for unbecoming conduct. When we see these things we feel that in the name of self-preservation it is time to toughen up. We believe a good many people are of the same opinion.

4-H Boys Take Part In Turkey Show

Five Four-H boys from the county participated in the Maryland Turkey Producers' association meeting at Annapolis on February 13.

Harold Kahl, Tom Glotfelty, Roger Beitzel, Ray Beitzel and Robert Knox accompanied James A. McHenry, assistant county agent, to the state capital.

Joe Buckel, of this county, showed the second place dressed tom, while Harold Kahl placed third. Harold Kahl had the second place dressed hen while Robert Knox placed third.

Harold Kahl placed first among nine entries in the 4-H heavy breed class. Tom Glotfelty was second. Joseph Buckel, the only entry in the 4-H light breed division, was named winner.

Among 16 entries in the F.F.A. heavy breed division, Sam Bowman of this county, was named first place winner, while Wesley Klotz was third, and Roger DeBerry, fourth.

Upon the return trip the Garrett county boys visited the Bay bridge and the Friendship airport. Mr. and Mrs. Harland Bowman, their son Donald, and daughter Susan, also attended the meeting. Mr. Bowman took part in a panel discussion on "Can Maryland turkeys meet western competition?"

NEW DEPARTMENT—Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland now has a completely new and modern department—a dental department, to provide emergency service and general dental and oral surgical procedure. The necessary machinery, all most modern in design, was installed February 12, and has already been in use upon four different occasions. Money was provided through the sale of stock and equipment from the White Face Farm near McHenry which was given to the County Commissioners by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. White, of Cleveland. Cost of the new equipment, according to H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the County Commissioners, was $5,000. The equipment includes the dental chair, fully automatic; a gas machine, an X-ray machine, a complete set of instruments for all dental surgery and minor procedure. The dental room is located on the first floor of the hospital in the new wing, in a room formerly used for records. The above photograph shows the new equipment in place, with Henry W. McComas, hospital superintendent, pointing to the new gas machine. A new minister's room also has been set up in the same general area.

Natural Gas Bill To Get Hearing

A Senate Judiciary committee hearing concerning two bills relating to the transporting of natural gas, both of which were introduced by Senator Clifford Friend, was scheduled for 11 o'clock today in Annapolis.

Senate Bill 143 would declare natural gas producers who own or maintain pipe lines to be common carriers subject to regulation by the Public Service commission. Senate Bill 227 would provide that any person or firm transporting natural gas by pipeline shall be a common carrier required to carry all natural gas in the vicinity without discrimination.

Held Under Bond On Burglary Charge

George Ellis Artis, 30, of Friendsville, was arrested by Corporal Sam Conrad of the State Police on February 9 on a charge of burglary.

At a preliminary hearing before Ivan Humberson, trial magistrate, in Friendsville, Artis was released under $2,000 bond for his appearance before the March term Grand Jury.

Conrad said the home of Albert Silbaugh, of Friendsville, was burglarized on the night of February 6, at which time a deer rifle, a revolver and a jacket were stolen. At the same time the disappearance of $2,000 in bank notes was discovered. Corporal Conrad said the jacket and deer rifle had been recovered.

Assisting in the investigation were Trooper Robert Henline, also of the State Police, and Sheriff Paul W. Fisher.

For all residents not at home the volunteers will leave an envelope into which the donation may be inserted and mailed to Mrs. Irvin Feld, Oakland, chairman for the southern end of the county.

Mrs. Feld announced that Mrs. Willard Hawkins was assisting her with the canvass of the business district. She stressed that although Heart Sunday is the high point of the campaign the drive would continue until March 1.

The truck was owned by Claude Wagner. The driver jumped from the cab before it went over the embankment, and was not injured. The truck was only partially loaded.

The mishap occurred about a mile south of town where the county roads department made a fill last fall. The truck went over a fifteen-foot embankment.

Red Cross Drive Plans Announced

Plans for the 1957 Red Cross roll call and fund drive have been outlined by the Board of Directors of the Garrett County chapter.

The county is to be divided into 18 districts with a captain or overall chairman for each district, responsible for distribution of materials to solicitors and to promote the drive.

Edward F. Sylvester, Alexandria, Va., Red Cross area representative, will direct the drive. He met Tuesday with Mrs. E. Z. Tower, county chapter chairman, and Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, of Bittinger, fund drive chairman, and helped with details of the forthcoming drive.

A county-wide meeting is set for Tuesday evening, February 26, when all workers and district chairmen will gather at the Center street elementary school. Mr. Sylvester will attend.

A complete list of solicitors and district chairmen will be announced next week.

Mrs. Glotfelty said that funds are badly needed in flood areas. The total budget to be raised in the county is $1,282, of which $1,825 is to be kept in the county chapter for the blood recruitment program and other services.

A dinner meeting is also being planned for the middle of March.

Teacher Committee Adopts Resolution

The Executive committee and Faculty Representatives of the Garrett County Teachers' association met in an emergency session at the Accident Elementary school last night. The group adopted a resolution in favor of the "Program of Maryland Public Schools" that is now before the present legislature.

The resolution included the following points:

1. That we have complete confidence in our Executive Secretary, and that our Advisory Council, which represents all teachers in the county, give Mr. Raver a unanimous vote of confidence. Also that the Advisory Council of the MSTA gave Mr. Raver a vote of confidence in a recent session.

2. That this program is not the program of any one individual but is a proposal which has been voted upon unanimously by our delegate assembly, representing more than 11,000 teachers.

3. That we are interested in the welfare of children as well as the welfare of teachers.

4. That we are not in anyway attacking the House of Delegates because of the statements of one delegate, but that we wish to make these facts known to all.

5. That we thank all delegates and senators for their past and continued support of public education.

Poultry Processing Plant Expects To Begin Operations This Week

Some Thirty Persons To Be Employed As Sarting Force

The wheels of industry are expected to start turning in Oakland this Saturday, when the Sterling Processing company will open its new plant here.

Elbert Barron, plant manager, said the operation would begin in a rather modest way, with some twenty women and about twelve men on hand to turn out the first products. The number of employes is to be increased gradually.

Scores of workmen were busy this week in an effort to put the finishing touches to the inside of the building. Gas was scheduled to be turned into the building today, and the start of operations was contingent upon there being no leaks in the gas line, or other minor ailments.

For the first several weeks it is anticipated that some 7,000 chickens will be processed each day. This number is to be increased gradually until the production will surpass 3,000 an hour or some 30,000 per day.

A representative of The Republican was taken on a tour of the plant on Tuesday by Mr. Barron when the entire process was explained. Some 650 feet of conveyor track, in two sections, wind across the building and back which will take a chicken through all the necessary operations, until twenty minutes later it will be ready to be packed in ice for shipment to Pittsburgh or other markets.

Chickens first will be hung by the feet. They will be stuck in the neck by the "killer" and their heads cut off. They then will pass through the scalder, followed by several picking machines designed to remove the feathers. Then out will come the entrails, also the gizzard, liver and heart. Feathers will be "swooshed" along a gutter where they are finally gathered, dried and sent to a fertilizer concern to be chopped up into feed since feathers are considered high in protein content.

The gizzard, liver and heart are packaged separately and one of each inserted into the chicken just prior to the icing process. At a certain place the chickens are then hung by the neck and the picking of feathers completed.

The tracks are designed to take either chickens or turkeys. Chickens will go through the process nine inches apart while turkeys will be 18 inches apart.

Workmen are still engaged in completing two ice making machines and finishing three refrigeration rooms. One of these is a quick freeze unit which will be kept at a temperature of 50 below zero. This unit in surrounded by eight inches of cork between twelve inches of concrete.

Ready to be installed also were a number of chill tanks where the chickens are placed immediately after being processed and prior to being packed in ice for shipment. The quick freeze unit will be used mostly for turkeys, Mr. Barron said.

Also on the first floor of the building are office rooms, toilets, and rooms for the federal inspectors, who will be on hand at all times during the processing.

The building, a structure of concrete, brick and steel, is 100 by 200 feet and is being completed at a cost of some $300,000. It is located just west of Oakland, on the south side of the B. and O. tracks, and across the tracks from the Standard Oil storage area, on the Swallow Falls road.

Chickens are expected to be brought here in large measure from Arthurdale and Morgantown areas, but the company was hopeful that farmers in this area would also begin furnishing broilers. The plant will be equipped to process from five to six million chickens a year and may employ as many as 80 to 100 persons when operations are in full swing.

President of the company is J. W. Ruby and the poultry plant is within the framework of Sterling Enterprises of Morgantown, Reedsville, Haydenville, Mass., and Tyler, Texas. Robert Bane, of Oakland, is manager of all poultry plant operations.

Introduces Bill

The Garrett County delegation at Annapolis yesterday introduced a bill that would give the Judges of the Orphans' court an annual salary instead of pay on a per diem basis. The salary was set at $600 annually.

At the present time the judges are paid $8 per day. The new rate would be the equivalent of $12 per meeting. An amendment to the constitution concerning this new regulation was approved by the voters at the last election.

Weather Mostly Cold

The week's weather could be characterized as mostly cold, but with moderating temperatures during at least one day. There was some snow on Saturday during the day with a heavier amount falling at night. It continued lightly during Sunday. Monday was mostly clear and warmer but Tuesday turned up foggy and cold. Wednesday was partly clear with a light snow. Skies cleared on Wednesday night and Thursday morning was clear and cold with temperatures not far from zero.

The most snow of the week was recorded last Thursday night when four to five inches was recorded.

Gormania, Bayard To Get Dial Service

A canvass of every residence and place of business in the Gormania, Bayard and Mt. Storm areas is scheduled to start next week according to an announcement by John Harmon, manager of the Keyser office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of West Virginia.

The visits are being made in preparation for the establishment of dial telephone service in those areas next June. Representatives of the canvass group will assist customers in planning a service that will best meet their individual requirements and at the same time answer any questions concerning the new service.

Mr. Harmon states that individual and party line service is being offered to customers. Auxiliary items such as illuminated dial sets, amplifying sets for persons with impaired hearing, shoulder sets, spring cords and colored telephones will be available, according to Mr. Harmon.

Letters are being mailed to every resident of the area with an accompanying brochure which describes several items of telephone equipment.

Representatives who will assist in the survey include R. Wagner, R. Bennett, D. Johnson, B. Miller, D. DeMuth, J. Plesich, H. Given and E. Drennen.

Bloodmobile Visit Is Set for Monday

The Johnstown bloodmobile unit of the American Red Cross will be in Oakland on Monday, February 25, Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, county chairman of blood recruitment, reminded people of the county today.

This visit will mark the beginning of the sixth year of the blood program in the county. Workers will endeavor to obtain at least 113 pints of blood.

The bloodmobile unit will receive blood from 12 o'clock noon until 6 p. m.

Prospects Bright For Ski Week-end

If the snow holds out—and there is always a big IF to this question, prospects are bright for an exceptional week-end at the Marsh Mountain ski area at McHenry.

The exceptional week-end stems from the fact that there will be three days of skiing instead of the usual two because Washington's birthday, a legal holiday, falls on Friday. Most of the offices and business places in Washington and Baltimore will be closed on that day.

The Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council has announced that there are already quite a number of reservations made for the week-end, providing the skiing remains favorable.

Last Saturday and Sunday there was a good crowd of skiiers although not as large as several previous week-ends. Quite a number who came on the train from Washington went to Davis for the week-end. The Davis slope is owned by the Washington ski club and the members have preferential rates there.

Banks and P. O. To Close

In Oakland, both banks and the postoffice will close on Friday. Only the star route will be in operation from the Oakland postoffice. Mail for routes one and two will be held over until Saturday morning.

Two Taxis In Mishap

Two automobiles of the Oakland Taxi service encountered difficulties during the week, but the net result was that no one was injured and damage was not heavy.

Saturday afternoon about 3:30 one taxi driven by James Sharpless pulled out of the line of traffic at the Taxi stand on Alder street, where he was struck by Wilbert Beeman, of Kitzmiller. The force of the collision pushed the taxi against the station wagon of Henry W. McComas, parked along the street. Police Chief Henry Arnold, said that Sharpless had admitted he was in error.

Forestry Persons To Attend Meeting

Classified personnel of the State Department of Forests and Parks in the four Western Maryland counties will attend an all-day training meeting at Cumberland today in preparation for the coming forest fire danger season.

District Forester William H. Johnson will preside. Some 34 employes are expected to attend.

The controlled burning season starts March 1 and runs through May 31. Preparations for the tree planting program are to be discussed. Some 1,500,000 trees will be planted in the four counties this spring, about two thirds of them in Garrett county.

State Forester H. C. Buckingham will discuss state objectives in fire control. A. R. Bond, assistant forester in charge of woodland management, will discuss public relations activities. William Parr, superintendent of state parks, also is on the program.

During 1956 there were 64 woods and forest fires in the four counties and they burned only 95.4 acres, or about one hundredths of one percent of the 725,000 acres of timberland. Twenty-five of the fires were blamed on careless smoking, 14 were of incendiary origin, 13 were attributed to careless brush burning, eight from railroad sparks.

Washington county had 19 fires, Allegany had 14, Garrett county had 17 fires which burned only 5.4 acres. Frederick had 14. Baltimore had the state's worst record with 86 fires burning 182 acres.

Johnson also disclosed that some 1,055,000 board feet of timber were sold off the timberland within the district.

Military people viewed with gravity the British program for reduction in their forces in North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Jr. High Team Wins 9 Games

February 16, the Junior basketball squad of Southern High at Oakland traveled to Keyser to participate in the Potomac Valley Conference Junior High tournament. Southern competed with Elk Garden. The score was 32 to 22 in favor of Southern.

These Junior Highlanders are coached by Mr. Ed. Quattro, who is in his first year of coaching. His team has showed it will be nobody's easy victim. The team has dropped only three games this season as opposed to winning nine.

They have showed a good offense and have had no trouble scoring fifty points in a game, a record which is considered good for a junior high team.

They show wins over Elk Garden, Northern, Davis, Parsons, and Bayard. With the experience of this year and added skill, the Junior High squad will graduate quite a few players to the Junior Varsity or even the Varsity next year.

In the tourney game at Keyser, Jerry Wine paced the Southern team with 10 points while Malone had 6, Jones 4, Stuck 2, Colaw 2, Stemple 2, James 2, for a total of 12 baskets and 8 fouls.

Officially Denies Claim of Senator

The president of the Board of County Commissioners last week officially denied accusations made against him by State Senator Clifford Friend in a statement last Wednesday in Annapolis.

Harvey D. Swartzentruber said that the records speak for themselves in commenting on the remarks of Senator Friend.

Senator Friend issued a statement shortly before a Senate-House conference committee on the audit of Garrett county's financial records.

He declared that Swartzentruber and another county commissioner, A. C. Brenneman, used their own equipment at the county quarry.

Swartzentruber said "I don't own a cent's worth of machinery" that was used at the county quarry. Friend in his statement had said: Mr. Brenneman and Mr. Swartzentruber brought their case down there to the Court of Appeals where I believe the hearing on the appeal will be this week."

To this Swartzentruber said that he has no case in Annapolis Court of Appeals. Friend's statement apparently referred to the case of Ervin A. Roth versus Aubrey C. Brenneman which resulted in an injunction stopping the Commissioners from dealing with the quarry work of A. C. Brenneman and Son.

In the hearing before the Court of Appeals last Tuesday Brenneman's attorneys William A. Gunter and Walter Dawson argued that when Brenneman became county commissioner the drilling business was turned over to his son.

AWOL Marine Held

Relation Of Church And Synod Is Topic Of Talk

The Rev. George C. Weirich, pastor of the Accident-Bayo Parish, and president of the West Virginia synod of the United Lutheran church, spoke last night to the members of St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran church, Oakland. His subject covered the general area of the Relation of Church and Synod, speaking about responsibilities of church to synod and synod to church. The meeting was sponsored by the Brotherhood of St. Mark's. Carlton Bowser, president, in the interest of promoting better understanding between members of the church and the work of their church at large.

Among the many subjects discussed was the idea of the "double apportionment" for the year 1958, at which time U.L.C.A. will celebrate its fortieth anniversary as a Lutheran body. This double budget will be an effort to recognize the vast importance of the work of the church in our time, and to carry Christ in a bigger way to the world.

The biggest area of need financially, as Pastor Weirich pointed out, is in the program of American missions, where though the U.L.C.A. established a record number of new congregations in 1956, the funds are not available to carry this work to the extent that it should be carried, with more than a hundred new congregations being established each year under the auspices of the Board of American Missions of the U.L.C.A. The needs of the world for Christ are made very pointed by the simple matter of studying our daily newspapers, and we must all accept our responsibilities, working as "partners for Christ," so that the world can be indeed a place in which it is good to live.

The Pleasant Valley Grange will meet Thursday evening, February 28, at 8 o'clock. The program will begin at 8:45. The main feature will be a 'Second Look at the Soil Bank," with Elbert Riley as speaker. A discussion period will follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Zepp, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Feld were hosts to a number of friends Sunday evening at the William-James hotel with Dr. and Mrs. T. F. Lusby as honor guests. Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rucker entertained at dinner, honoring the Lusbys.

Dave W. Walter and sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Gurney left yesterday for a visit with the former's son-in-law and daughter Mr and Mrs. William R. Archer and daughter, Miss Sylvia at Tinley Park, Ill., and the latter's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brown and family, at Downers Grove, Ill.

C. M. Sincell, Fairmont, W. Va., who underwent major surgery in Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore about eight weeks ago, arrived in Oakland Tuesday and will remain at the home of his mother, Mrs. Benj. H. Sincell until Friday when he will return to Fairmont. He was accompanied by his wife from Frederick where they had spent several days after being discharged from the hospital.

IN MEMORY

In memory of my husband Chris Sines, who passed away February 27, 1950.

This day brings sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him today
Are those who loved him best.
We think we see his smiling face,
Although seven years have passed.
Still in our memory fresh is he,
And will be to the last.
He is gone but not forgotten
Neither will his memory fade,
But our thoughts will ever linger
Round the husband that has passed on.

Greatly missed by his loving wife and children.

First in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen, George Washington held first in his own heart the ideal of a free nation. Let us today dedicate ourselves to our priceless heritage of liberty, which we owe in such large measure to the courage of his convictions and the wisdom of his leadership.

Cove Huskies Score Eleventh Win, 60-41

Northern High school's Huskies defeated Oldtown High basketeers Tuesday afternoon at Cove by the score of 60 to 41.

The victory was the 11th against eight defeats for Coach Lilburn Brown's aggregation. Northern outscored the Indians 29 to 12 in field goals but was outpointed 17 to 2 at the foul line. It was the final home game of the season for the Huskies.

Darwin Robeson, Ward Humberson and Dick Spear scored 17, 14 and 13 points for the victors. Glass scored 6, Schroyer 4, Mickey 6.

Northern plays at Southern Friday in a game that could determine the county's representative in the class B district tourney in Hagerstown March 8 and 9. A Northern victory would settle the issue as the Huskies hold a 68-63 decision over the Highlanders. A win for Southern would require a third game.

Band To Present Concert

Southern's Senior High School Band will present its winter concert this Thursday evening, 8 p. m., in the school gymnasium.

Included in the concert will be "Emblem of Unity," themes from Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 6, a trumpeter's number featuring Bill Burgwald, selections from "South Pacific," an Appalachian Suite, and other marches and numbers. The program will close with "Rhapsody in Blue."

Southern PTA Plans Buck A Month Club For Band Support

Southern High School P.-T. A. has adopted a plan to assist in buying uniforms for the band, and to repair those uniforms which are in need of repair.

The plan is called the "Buck of the Month Club," and will be composed of friends of the school who wish to contribute to the progress of the band.

The uniforms now being used by the band are five years old, and this is the average age of a uniform. Eleven new uniforms are needed in order to accommodate the present band personnel. There are 59 uniforms, and 70 students are in the band. Raymond Borrell, the band director, does not have a uniform, and the proceeds of the "Buck a Month Club" will also be used to buy a uniform for him.

Individuals who wish to support the plan would contribute a dollar each month. The money may be paid monthly, or all at one time, as desired by the individual. No one is obligated to pay even if he has pledged support of the program. The contribution is voluntary.

Letters will be sent to parents and friends of the school to determine the number who wish to become members. Membership cards will be issued, and all money contributed will be spent for the band. The cost of band activities the past school year was $2,500.00.

Members of the P.-T. A. committee are Mrs. Mary Martin, Mrs. Vera Mussard, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Wendell Turney, Raymond Borrell, Fred Burgwald, Eugene Flinn and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Malone. Mrs. Malone is treasurer of the committee. After the plan is fully completed, money may be sent to the school by students or mailed to the treasurer. Envelopes for contributors will be provided.

Educators Visit County Schools

Six out of state educators visited a number of Garrett County schools last Thursday. The group, working through the Metropolitan Study Council and Teachers College, Columbia university, requested the opportunity to visit the county for a trial run in the application of "The Growing Edge," an instrument for measuring the adaptability of school systems, devised by the Metropolitan Study Council during the past several years. "The Growing Edge" seeks to evaluate objectively such important aspects of the educational program as the teaching of basic skills, areas of knowledge, discovery and development of special aptitudes, and gross behavior patterns.

The six visitors were taken by the various supervisors to the following schools: Southern, Northern, Grantsville, Yoder, Accident Friendsville, Oakland Annex, Deer Park, Loch Lynn and Red House. Willard Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said. They were more than complimentary in their remarks about the quality of teaching observed, the forward-looking curriculum, pupil-teacher relationships, the general pattern of pupil behavior and the quality of education received in relationship to the cost per pupil.

The visitors were Dr. Bernard McKenna, Teachers College, Columbia University, Thomas S. Tipaldi, Assistant Principal, Cranford, New Jersey; Robert E. Molloy, Principal, Elmont, N. Y.; Miss Mary O'Malley, fifth grade teacher, Passaic, N. J.; Miss Vivian O. David, elementary principal, Bound Brook, N. J.; and Elbert C. Pierson, elementary principal, Montclair, N. J.

In addition to visiting the schools, Hawkins said, the guest educators were treated to a good Garrett county winter day, which all seemed to enjoy thoroughly."

Four-Page Spread On Skiing Appears

There were pictures of skiers riding the towline back up the 1,200 foot slope, of the skiers during their trip by Baltimore and Ohio from Baltimore and Washington, girls waiting outside their motel for the bus that will take them to the slope, a class of "greenhorns" learning to ski, and one looking out the ski slope from inside the warming hut.

Wed in Mt. Lake Park Church

Miss Saundra Joann Hollen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fay E. Hollen, of High street, Oakland, became the bride of Joseph Crane Weeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Weeks, of Loch Lynn Heights, on Saturday, February 5, at 4 p. m., in the Mt. Lake Park Baptist church.

Rev. William C. Rogers, pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli, chrysanthemums and palms

Mrs. Merritt Feather presented pre-nuptial music. She accompanied Jay Bell, cousin of the groom, who sang "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown styled with a Chantilly lace bodice with a high mandarin collar trimmed with iridescent sequins and long sleeves extending to points over her wrists and lace applique on a full tulle skirt over satin. Her veil of bridal illusion was attached to a crown of lace and iridescent sequins. She carried a white Bible centered with a white orchid from which fell white satin streamers tied in love knots and rosebuds.

Her only attendant, Miss Grace Bachtel, was attired in a ballerina length gown of aqua crystalette, featuring a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore matching hat and shoes and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Ralph H. Weeks, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Dave DeBerry and Francis Messenger, both of Terra Alta.

Mrs. Hollen, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue two-piece suit dress complimented by navy and pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Williams-James hotel, Oakland. The bride's table, covered with a lace cloth, held a three-tiered wedding cake topped with pink and white rosebuds. The centerpiece consisted of white chrysanthemums, pink roses and white candles on either side.

Mrs. Marjorie DeBerry, sister of the groom, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Lucille Mattingly presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Helen Bittinger served coffee. Miss Jean Sharpless was in charge of the guest register.

For traveling the bride chose a beige sheath dress with brown accessories and a beige Borgana coat. A white orchid corsage completed her outfit.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High school, class of 1955. She is now employed at the Oakland Pharmacy. Mr. Weeks is a graduate of Terra Alta High school with the class of 1952 and was employed as a salesman by Hawkinson Tread Service. He is now serving with the U. S. Army and is stationed at Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Sincerity

Sincerity is a word that's in all our vocabularies; a word we respect greatly. I heard a wise woman once say that the longer she lived the more positive she was that sincerity was almost the first virtue.

All of us chafe under the spread of insincerity and have a tendency to feel that it and smoothness are one and the same.

Have you wondered how the word came to be? I hadn't until Sandra Martin, a 4-H'er of 12, used the story of its origin as a part of her devotions in the club meeting. She gave me permission to use it in this column.

"One upon a time there was a young cabinetmaker who made choice articles in furniture for sale. There was never a flaw in the wood which he selected with infinite pains for his chairs and tables. He wanted them to be absolutely perfect.

"Other cabinetmakers made more money at their business than he did. They copied his designs but the wood they used had flaws because they were unwilling to pay the price for solid and perfect material. Instead, they carefully filled in all the tiny imperfections with wax, then stained and polished their work, and called it done.

"The faithful workman looked at the imperfect products with scorn. He instantly detected the trickery and the use of wax to conceal defects. So he went home and wrote on each bit of his handwork from that day forward: 'Sine Cera,' the latin words for 'without wax.' That is the origin of the word 'sincere' as we use it today.

Preacher's Children

—o—

Montie Pagenhardt, 3½, has reached the God-conscious stage where he has many questions and a few solutions. He said to his mother with the expression of discovering a great truth that there were three people in the sky—God, Santa Claus and the weather man.

Cathy Carlson, same age, was talking to Tink Ruckert about Montie's confusion and she went on to explain to her listener, "that the three people aren't God, Santa Claus and the weather man. They are God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit."

Salt of Curiosity

I understand that next year the 11th and 12th grades in our high schools will have English and history instead of core. A lot of people will be relieved. In other words, we won't have butter on our bread, but bread for our butter.

Let's not kid ourselves. Doing away with Core is not the answer to our problem. It's like leading a horse to water, only the animal decides whether he will drink. A little salt beforehand may make him want the water.

Changing the name of the program won't change learning regardless of how good the teacher is unless the student wants to learn. The big problem, said a teacher to me, is how you go about getting them to want it.

"You'd better get it or else," could be the lick of sale from the home front.

It's Yield or Else

We hear so much about traffic accidents that holidays have ceased to be a joy any more. Most of us who have family coming and going are a bit jumpy every time the phone rings.

Yet, dozens of times each week we go through one of the most hazardous spots that we find anywhere and that's the traffic light on Third and Oak in Oakland. We are told that the greatest hazard is fast driving and it accounts for 42 percent of all traffic fatalities. Driving on the wrong side of the road is second with 18 percent, and failure to yield the right of way is third with 12 percent. It's the third one that's the meanie at this corner. We have many a close shave there because cars from North Third street turn east without yielding right of way after they get the green light. It's the expression on the drivers' faces that scares me. They're good citizens, many of whom we know and there's nothing overbearing about them. They are farmers or men going home from work, or those in the 9:30 rush to get children to Sunday School. They're intent on where they're going in an unconscious sort of way. You can blast the horn in their faces and they won't even register. They have no intention of breaking a traffic law and would be shocked to discover they had.

My hope is that my neighbors, my family and myself, who approach that traffic light from the danger side won't become so intent on where we're going that we'll forget to yield to the one who forgets to yield the right of way.

Dramatic Club To Give Plays

"The Prettiest Girl in Town" will be revealed in the Dramatics Club Festival March 15, in the gymnasium at 8:00 P. M.

"The Prettiest Girl in Town" centers around Rhoda, a girl who believes she is homely. To make matters worse her cousins, with whom she is living, tease her about being homely and about never having any dates. Finally Rhoda makes up a story about a date she had with a handsome football star. It is surprising to see how this predicament turns out when Rhoda's make believe date turns up in person. The play is a one-act comedy and was written by Carter Blacksmythe.

"Wilbur's Honey Bea" is a one-act play centered around Wilbur who decides he is in love for the first time. Despite the fact he has never been out with Bea, he says he is going to marry her. For a while everything is very confused, but in the end everything works out all right.

Farm Loan Group To Meet March 7th

The Potomac Valley Production Credit and National Farm Loan Associations will hold their annual Stockholders' meeting, Thursday, March 7, at the Upper Potomac Valley Shrine club, Burlington, W. Va., H. Robert DeWitt, assistant secretary-treasurer, of Oakland announced. The meeting will begin with a turkey dinner at 11:45 a. m., followed by a business session. Dr. Percy Warren, dean of Madison college, Harrisonburg, Va., will be the speaker.

DeWitt stated that 1957 marked the 40th anniversary of the Federal Land Bank system and that special recognition to this would be given. The Federal Land Bank of Baltimore received its charter on March 21, 1917, to make loans to farmers in West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the Island of Puerto Rico. The Federal Farm Loan Act, which brought the Land Bank system into being was signed by President Woodrow Wilson, July 17, 1916.

The Land Bank system was originated by the Congress and during the early years of its operation it was capitalized with Federal funds. However, the system was set up in such a manner that it was to be eventually owned by the farmers who borrowed from it as each borrower would purchase stock in the land bank equal to 5 per cent of his loan. All of the land banks throughout the country are now owned entirely by farmer members as the federal funds have been repaid to th treasury.

The banks have rendered service to farmers as they pioneered long term amortized farm mortgage loans. It has been estimated that in 1934 they granted 70 percent of the total volume of loans made to farmers. A substantial portion of the money loaned at that time was used to meet borrowers obligations to other creditors who were demanding payment.

The Federal Land Bank of Baltimore has made more than 69,000 loans totaling $263,000,000. These funds were used to help buy land, erect farm buildings, pay off other debts, buy live stock, machinery and equipment, and generally, to improve farm properties and farm operations. A high percentage of the loans have been completely repaid and a large number of folks now own their farm homes completely free of debt.

DeWitt stated that this annual meeting of Farm Credit members has been growing each year, and that some 250 farm people are expected to gather at the Shrine club on March 7th. Farmers will be attending from five West Virginia counties, of Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral and Pendleton, and the Maryland counties of Allegany and Garrett.

Northern to Attempt Win

Friday night, February 22, the Northern High Huskies will attempt a feat they have never accomplished to date, that of defeating Southern High twice in one basketball season.

The game will also have added interest in the fact that if the Huskies win they will represent Garrett County in the district tournament. Since Southern was declared a class "B" school the Huskies have always had to read about the game in the papers.

As both teams are approaching the final game of the season it is to be expected both teams should be at their best. Bayard High School is an opponent of both schools. Both teams have recently faced Bayard on the West Virginian's home court.

On January 31 the Highlanders were defeated by Bayard 68 to 67 in an overtime.

On February 4 the Huskies were defeated by Bayard 66 to 60 in regulation time.

Clokey; "Gloria in Excelsis," Martin Luther; "Mary, Mary, Where Is Your Baby," Jester Hairston; the 'Sanctus and Hosanna," Wolfgang Mozart; "Kyrie Eleisor," Milton Dieterich, "He's Got the Whole World in his Hand," Roy Ringwald; and "Holy Lord God of Hosts," Florence Jolley.

Mrs. Ruth Brown and Mr. Fred Burgwald will accompany the group.

A new cargo plane designed to carry 100,000 pound loads more than 4,000 miles at speeds above 460 miles per hour is being constructed by air force.

Social Security Tax Increased First Of Year

Beginning January 1, the social security tax which workers pay and which is matched by their employers was raised from 2 percent to 2¼ percent. The social security tax paid by self-employed people on their earnings in 1957 was increased from 3 percent to 3⅜ percent. This new rate will first apply to 1957 earnings, and will be due with income tax returns due by April 15, 1958.

The additional tax will be used to finance the new disability insurance program which provides monthly social security payments to qualified disabled workers between the ages of 50 and 65, stated James E. Robertson, manager of the district office at Cumberland. These become payable beginning with July, 1957, based on the 1956 Amendments to the Social Security Act recently passed by Congress.

Sends Information On Successful Coach

Glenn Whitehill, of Salem, Ohio, and former resident of Oakland, during the past week, sent this newspaper some clippings on the activities of a successful coach at Youngstown, Ohio.

The coach is Merle Rosselle, who began his coaching career in Oakland High school in 1940-41. His present season record is 16 victories against one defeat, and his team is rated number four in the state of Ohio. The only loss was to a Pennsylvania team which was class A champion of Pennsylvania.

An article in the Youngstown newspaper, the Vindicator, gives Rosselle credit for writing new paragraph's into the school's all-time annals of court achievement. His team clinched the city series championship, their first since 1949.

Rosselle is completing 12½ seasons at the helm of South High at Youngstown. He was pictured as a coach with a quiet determination to see his teams succeed but unlike many cage mentors who wear trouser seats shiny during troublesome moments of most any campaign, he is an unusual picture of self control during a contest.

He is seldom known to criticize officials, opposition or playing conditions, but he looks for mistakes and ways with which to correct them. He assumes blame for failure, credits his players for any success.

Holman Promoted

Wallace Holman was one of several who were promoted at the DuPont plant at Waynesboro, Va., recently. He is now chief area supervisor. Holman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Holman, of Friendsville.

He began his DuPont career at the Waynesboro works as a student operator in the control laboratory in 1940. In 1941 he was promoted to foreman, Acetation area. In 1943 he became shift supervisor of the same area and left for the U. S. Army in 1944.

He served two years in the infantry in chemical warfare service. 1946 took him back to Waynesboro as shift supervisor. He was a textile engineer and also supervisor of one of the labs in 1947, moving to a shift supervisor in 1948. Since then he's served in several divisions. In March, 1956, he was assigned to the "Orlon" study group where he remained until February 1 when his now promotion was announced.

He is a graduate of Friendsville High school, 1936, and of Johns Hopkins university, class of 1940 with a degree in chemical engineering. He is married and Mr. and Mrs. Holman have three sons and a daughter.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Reading Signs

Lesson for February 24, 1957

ALL human beings, civilized or not, are used to reading signs. Indeed all human communication and life goes by sign-language. Words, printed or spoken, are signs. No word on a page looks like the thing it represents. It is no more than a set of marks, but the way the marks are arranged makes meaning for all who can read. Expression of people's faces, gestures, road signs, we learn to interpret before we can read. The farmer looks for weather signs, the fisherman and the hunter have their own signs to look for. There are few people so stupid that they see only what they see.

Dr. Foreman

Wanted: A Sign!

When Jesus was teaching and healing in Galilee, he was doing so without any official authorization from what we would call the church. And yet he claimed to speak and work with the authority of God. The church officials did not take this easily. They kept pestering him: "Show us a Sign!" they said. How do we know you are right? How do we know what you say is from God? To this day there are people who are not satisfied with what God has shown us. They want to know: How do we know the Bible is true? How do we know Jesus was the Son of God? If the preacher would let himself be bitten by rattlesnakes, without getting hurt; if the stars arranged themselves in the sky so as to spell a personal message from heaven; if some modern Joshua would make the sun stand still, such people think they would find it easier to believe.

The Signs Are Up

Jesus steadily refused to produce any such "sign from heaven" as he was challenged to call down. True, he worked miracles, but it is evident that the kind of miracles he did were not the kind of "sign" the Pharisees wanted. His mighty works were always simply and quietly done, out of sympathy with human suffering. They were never done in dramatic, showy fashion. Never in the childish way: See Me do this—don't you think I'm Wonderful? Jesus told the Pharisees that the signs of the times were there to be read. By "times" he did not mean years or dates. He meant what in the Old Testament usage, with which both Jesus and the Pharisees were familiar, the "times of God's visitation," the special era of God's visiting the earth and man for special purposes. In all of Jesus' work and words was the claim, made outright or implied, that God was in and back of it all. The Pharisees wanted some sign that this was true, some sign outside Jesus. But Jesus was the only sign there was. If they could not see God in him they could not see God any other way. So it is today. Jesus is still the Sign of God.

Wanted: Eyes!

The Kingdom of God is at its core a kingdom of souls, of the spirit; and the signs of its coming are spiritual. An atheist was once asked what it would take to make him believe in God, and his answer was, "Trot him out and let me see him do something!" Well, God cannot be led around on a leash. But he is doing things all the time, for those who have eyes to see. The beauty and the order and grandeur of the universe speak of his power and glory. The goodness and the grace that we see in the lives of men and women speak of the creative Goodness that made such persons. Furthermore, God is at work every day, transforming lives. The great miracle is not turning stones into bread but sinners into saints. The great miracle is men and women who live above the rules and standard of ordinary mankind, men and women who already in this noisy world have found the melodies of heaven. When you read in the Bible, especially in Jesus' teaching, an invitation and challenge to high, pure, brave living, and you think, "This is asking too much, this is beyond human nature," remember there are people who actually do live "beyond human nature" as you say, because they have been touched by the Divine. Such men and women are the living signs of God.

The majorettes will be featured as the band plays "When the Saints Go Marching In," by Walter and also "King Cotton," by John Phillip Sousa.

The band will also play themes from Symphony No. 6 by Peter Tschaikowsky arranged for band by Johnson; "Colonel Bogey," by Kenneth J. Alford; selections from South Pacific by Leidyen; "On the Mall," by Edwin Franke Goldman; "Midnight in Paris," by Conrad-Magideon; and "Pizzicato Polka," by Strauss.

The program will be concluded with George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

The admission will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children twelve and under.

Assembly Program

A pep rally will be held in the gymnasium tomorrow to boost the morale of students for the game with Northern Friday night. If Southern wins this game, a play-off game will be played on March 1. A coin will be flipped to determine where the game will be played.

Junior High Team

The Junior High team has proved to be a very promising team.

Junior High Dance

The Junior High is planning a dance for March 2. They hope this will be the best dance ever had by the Junior High.

Mr. Johns Attends Meeting

Mr. Johns will leave Saturday morning for Washington, D. C. Here he will attend the 41st annual convention of National Association of Secondary School Principals at the Sheraton Park hotel.

The theme of the convention is "Our Secondary Schools Citadels for Peace and Freedom."

Mr. Johns will be back in school on Thursday.

Test Results

Mrs. Mary Browning, of the employment office, is interviewing seniors this week concerning the results of the G.A.T.B. aptitude tests.

Ernest Spoerlein, guidance counselor, has been counseling ninth and eleventh graders about the outcome of the interest and mental maturity tests which they took recently.

Scheduling Program

The scheduling program will begin next week. Students will decide what their schedule will be for next year. It is important that parents and students give considerable thought to the choosing of subjects.

At the P.-T.A. meeting Monday evening parents were given copies of the curricula at Southern High school. A thorough study of this is vital before a student makes his final choice of a curriculum and his electives.

Travel to Northern

Raymond Borrell and the Diplomats, Southern's school orchestra, traveled to Northern on Tuesday to play for the F.F.A. Sweetheart dance held there.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Alphabetical Cross-Stitch — Round Two

It is again proposed that the United States give its support to the formation of an international "Organization for Trade Cooperation." In the variable climate of world affairs, the old log-rolling process of establishing tariffs is outmoded, but most will agree that tariffs should be predicated upon sound principles approved by the Congress. This view reflects present day concern for the impact of overindulgent reciprocal trade policies.

In recent years, the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act has been extended on a "gradual, selective and reciprocal" basis, and lately, the perils of foreign competition to American industry have come in for public and Congressional scrutiny. With many countries of the community of free nations enjoying an unusual prosperity and with wage scales in these same countries from one-tenth to one-half of the American workingman, there are those who still argue that, notwithstanding the effect upon our own industries, the gates to all American markets must be thrown open. Ignored in these arguments is the fact that our tariffs are now the lowest in history and among the lowest in the world.

Even so, there again comes to the Congress a new version of an old proposal to create an "Organization for Trade Cooperation" (OTC) which would fully formalize the "General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade" (GATT) born in 1947 with the blessing of the New-Fair Deal. GATT outlaws traditional rules for regulating international trade and proposes a scheme for attaining a free trade utopia through the reduction of tariffs on a multi-nation basis. It attempts to consolidate the opposing trade policies of some 35 countries, and while the United States is a party to GATT, it has never been submitted to the Congress.

Originally, the machinery to administer GATT was to be contained in an "International Trade Organization" (ITO). ITO was to be an arm of the United Nations with the goal of "a balanced and expanding world economy." Substituted for the concept of free initiative was the idea of a planned economy and political control of production, trade and monetary matters. These socialistic colorations doomed ITO for failure, and it was subsequently abandoned. Yet, the thinking of GATT persists, and the dangers of so-called "free trade" are neglected.

The similarity between the discarded ITO and OTC is striking. U. S. membership in OTC requires Congressional approval, but the real point in question is whether or not American jobs and industries shall be subject to the decisions of an international body or to those of the Congress of the United States.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property, situate in Election District No. 8 of Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and the State of Maryland, to the plaintiffs in this proceeding:

Four parcels of land described as follows:

1. Two parcels of land, the first containing 3 acres and 55½ square rods, more or less, and the second 4 acres and 87 square rods, more or less, conveyed to James E. Prather by deed from Simon L. Whitmore, et al, dated May 20, 1904, and recorded in Liber E. Z. T. No. 47, folio 92, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, all the mineral thereunder being reserved.

2. Parcel of land containing 3.9 acres, more or less, conveyed unto the said James E. Prather by deed from Sylvanus J. Nutter, et ux, dated September 20, 1906, and recorded in Liber E. Z. T. No. 54, folio 123, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, all coal and mining rights being reserved.

Said parcels of land are the same which were devised unto Bertha K. Prather by the last will and testament of the said James E. Prather, dated June 8, 1920, and recorded in Wills Liber F, folio 155, one of the records in the Office of the Register of Wills for Garrett County, Maryland.

3. 4⅛ acres of surface land conveyed to the said Bertha K. Prather by deed from Brown Cooper, et ux, dated September 3, 1921, and recorded in Liber E. Z. T. No. 80, folio 208, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The bill states, among other things, that the said Bertha K. Prather departed this life, intestate, October 9, 1953, and that title was vested in the said Howard Biggs and Sicily Biggs, his wife, Vyca Blamble, widow, John Edward Biggs and Elwanda Biggs, his wife, George Albion Biggs and Vera Biggs, his wife, and Mira Lee Braanon and William J. Brannon, her husband, the said Howard Biggs, Vyca Blamble, John Edward Biggs, George Albion Biggs and Mira Lee Brannon being her next of kin and heirs at law at the time of said tax sale, and still so remain; that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than one year and a day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 20th day of February, 1957, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ordered that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 6th day of May, 1957, and redeem the property and answer the bill, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the plaintiffs a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

THE REPUBLICAN

Great Potential . . . .

Two events have now occurred that have boosted Garrett county's economic potential. They are two "shots in the arm" that can have great meaning for the future of the area.

The first began eight or ten weeks ago with the inauguration of the winter sports program at McHenry. The second began yesterday morning with the opening of the Sterling Processing Plant in Oakland.

The first has provided hotels, motels and other places of the area with week-end trade which is entirely a new experience. The second is providing thirty jobs at the present time with the probability that fifty or more additional jobs will be provided within two months. There has already been an investment of some $200,000 in the poultry processing building and the employment payroll eventually should reach better than $350,000 annually.

Just what a steady payroll of one hundred persons in the town of Oakland will do for its economy, we cannot quite visualize at the moment but it is bound to be tremendous.

It is true that before these two events took place we were surviving, and a number of people were prospering. But many were little more than existing. Our basic economies are still agriculture and recreation which remain bright and even the coal business has taken a turn for the better, to add to our over-all picture.

It still won't change the picture for some of those people who are merely existing, for no matter how bright our economy, there are just some people who will continue to "just exist."

But these two events should serve to whet our appetite for continued effort in getting other industries to settle in Garrett county. They don't have to be the kind that would change the pattern of living completely within a five year period, but they could be solid, small industries that give a modest boost to our annual income. This is something for which everyone must continue to work.

Officials Argue Over $620 Check

Garrett County Commissioner Ervin A. Roth and Virgil Steyer, Jr., a bookkeeper for the County Roads department, engaged in argument last Friday at the roads office, over the former's refusal to sign a check for $620. No blows were struck but Roth was alleged to have grabbed Steyer's arm and scratched him with his fingernails when he learned that the telephone receiver was off the hook and that a person on the other end of the line had heard everything that was said.

Mr. Roth said the check was made out to John J. Brenneman, son of Aubrey C. Brenneman, another county commissioner. Mr. Roth said he refused because he had been instructed by the Garrett County Circuit court not to sign any checks concerning Mr. Brenneman for drilling work done at the Bishop's quarry.

Steyer Explains

Mr. Steyer explained that the argument which resulted in Roth grabbing his arm had not been over the check at that particular time, but he traced Roth's actions since a meeting with him on February 8 at which time Roth had asked him about an account of $620 in John J. Brenneman's name.

Steyer said Roth admitted at that time, that "We're going to have to pay that account." Steyer said that the following day H. D. Swartzentruber, commissioner president, had called to ask him to make out the check for Brenneman so that it could be signed at the regular meeting of the Commissioners, sitting as a roads board.

Roth did not attend the roads meeting on the 11th, since he went to Annapolis, but appeared early that morning at the Road office and told Steyer, when he was handed the check, that "I'll take care of it later."

Steyer said he presented the check to Roth upon one other occasion but Roth declared that he wouldn't sign it, indicating that on his trip to Annapolis he may have been advised not to sign.

Steyer also told of another meeting last Friday morning with Roth and at which time Roth had rebuked Steyer for a remark he had made to him earlier. Steyer said he told Roth if he had been out of line at any time with remarks he would apologize. Steyer explained that then Roth began to

88 Pints Given By Blood Donors

Eighty-eight pints of blood were received from volunteer donors when the Joinstown Red Cross bloodmobile unit made its visit to Oakland on Monday. This was twenty-five less than the amount desired, but rejections were unusually large because of colds and various immunization shots which had been given within the past three weeks. There were nineteen persons rejectd.

Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman, stated that 126 persons had been scheduled to give blood. Sixty-six of these persons kept their appointment. There were forty walk-ins. Forty-six persons who gave blood as replacement.

The bloodmobile unit remained at the fire hall in Oakland from 12 o'clock noon until 6 p. m.

Processing Piant Officiaiiy Begins Production Here

Sterling Processing plant opened its doors officially on Wednesday morning promptly at 7 o'clock as Mayor Russell L. Smith of Oakland pierced the neck of the first fowl on the conveyor.

Then the thirty or more workmen began in earnest the task of sending through some 7,000 chickens to be processed and made ready for the market.

On hand to witness the first day's operation were A. D. Summers, director of operations; John Hardesty, secretary, and Harold Taylor, a member of the accountant section of the Sterling company which has offices in Morgantown, Sabraton and Arthurdale.

Mr. Summers said that representatives of several of the companies furnishing equipment to the plant were on hand to see that all machinery was in good working order. The plant had been scheduled to open originally last Saturday morning but a break in the water line to the plant, and minor electrical trouble, caused the delay.

The officials said that while production at present would be limited to 25,000 or 30,000 per week, that they hoped to have this increased within two months to where production was totaling some 100,000 birds per week. They also hoped at this time to have the employment increased to some 75 to 80 people.

The company officers were already laying plans for an "open house," at which time the public would be invited to come and inspect the plant. It was not expected that this would materialize before the first of May, since some of the machinery and some of the units are yet to be installed. For instance, the refrigeration units, the ice making machines, etc., are not expected to be completed until April or May, and it will be several weeks before the cooling tanks will be ready. They also wanted time to get the area around the building in better condition.

It was pointed out that when production was at its peak there would be the matter of bringing into the plant and taking out of the plant each week some 700,000 pounds of poultry.

Mr. Summers announced his company would be interested in seeing a number of local farm people getting into the business of raising broilers. Information on the broiler growing program may be obtained from Russell Thomas, of Bretz, W. Va., who is in charge of that phase of the business for the company. At present most of the broilers are coming from Virginia and West Virginia.

NOBODY SCRATCHED—No one was injured in this accident last Thursday about noon along highway 219, just north of Oakland, which occurred when a truck driver allegedly went to sleep at the wheel, struck John Reckner's pick-up truck a glancing blow, hit Dr. Franklin Custer's station wagon broadside and went over the embankment, the big tractor trailer turning over on its top. The truck was owned by the National Can Retinning company of Lima, Ohio, and was enroute to the Carnation company at Oakland with empty milk cans. It was driven by John Robert Glover, of Lima. State Trooper Robert Henline, who investigated, charged Glover with failing to drive on the right side of the road. Glover forfeited $26.45 collateral. Dr. Custer was the only occupant of his station wagon, while Reckner was driving his own truck at the time of the mishap. Henline said he had passed the trailer truck north of Oakland a few minutes before the accident and that the driver had waved at him. Just beyond the Oakland Motel the truck veered into the northbound lane, hit Reckner the glancing blow and struck the Custer automobile which had turned off the highway in an effort to get around the truck. Glover had to be extricated from the cab of the truck. Two wreckers were required to get the trailer-truck back onto the highway.

Junior High Team Defeated Saturday

The Junior High basketball team of Southern, after leaping two of its hurdles in the race for the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference Junior High schools, was defeated Saturday night by Keyser. The final score was 48 to 36.

The Junior High team defeated Elk Garden High on February 19, and in second round match Saturday morning defeated Romney School for the Deaf 46 to 33. A large crowd of rooters went to Keyser Saturday to support the junior high five.

Southern was never in trouble in winning over the Deaf five as Dick Stuck, Jerry Wine and Ken Jones slammed in 12, 11 and 10 points respectively to pace the winners. Colaw also scored 4, James 5, and Bell and Sanders each 2. Southern led 22 to 16 at the half

In the game Saturday night Stuck scored 15, Wine 6, Colaw 8, Jones 1 and James 6. Southern was behind 28 to 19 at the half and 44 to 27 at the end of the third period. Southern outscored Keyser in the final frame 9 to 4 but couldn't overcome the big lead

In a consolation round at Keyser Tuesday evening, Southern lost a close game to Moorefield 47 to 40. Moorefield had to rally to win over Southern with the Little Highlanders leading by 12 to 10 at the end of the first period. Moorefield led 23 to 21 at the half, 34 to 33 at the third quarter. Stuck scored 18 points, Wine 11, Malone and Colaw 2 each, James and Jones 3 each.

Area Man Injured In Auto Accident

A Friendsville man and another youth were seriously injured last Saturday in a one-car accident on U. S. route 40, east of the Summit, near Uniontown.

Admitted to Uniontown hospital were Lloyd Burgess, 27, of Friendsville, and his companion, Thomas Friend, 20, of Alexandria, Ohio.

Pennsylvania state police who investigated said Burgess lost control of his vehicle. The car left the road, overturned several times and struck an embankment. The car was a total loss.

Burgess sustained head injuries, and multiple abrasions, while Friend suffered a concussion and abrasions of the forehead.

Friend Gas Biii Meets Opposition

Attorneys for gas companies and pipelines attacked last Thursday, both in principle and validity a bill by Senator Clifford Friend, in a hearing at Annapolis.

The Senator wants pipelines regulated by the Public Service Commission, plus a requirement that they must carry natural gas other than their own.

"You are asking this committee to approve a bill that is tantamount to taking over private property," Sen. Cole (D-Balto 4th) said to Friend after a hearing before the Senate Judiciary committee.

Friend at first gave only a brief explanation of his reason for requiring natural gas pipelines to carry gas of producers which they have not bought.

He said it seemed to him that the "transportation of such a valuable product is public business" and should be regulated by the state.

Pressed for more background, Friend later said:

Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company owns all the pipelines in Western Maryland. It now is conducting a monopolistic squeeze in the Accident field.

"In order to force people to sign leases of their land for drilling they have used every trick under the sun. Some people own gas land, they won't lease to Cumberland and Allegheny, and the gas stays there. There is no other way to get it out.

"I have 300 acres leased to Cumberland and Allegheny. They have said to me 'unless you give up that lease and sign another we won't take your gas, we'll drill around you'."

John Avirett, counsel for C. and A., told the committee the company is buying all the gas that now is being produced in Western

Plans Continue For Fashion Workshop

Preparations continue for the Fit and Fashion workshop, scheduled by the Extension service to be held March 13, from 10 to 3 in the Accident Fire hall.

Miss Fran Carrano, demonstrator for the Butterick company, Inc., will be in charge. She plans to make four demonstrations considered very practical for all who sew. A volunteer size sixteen will be used to show how the actual measurements are taken for the lesson on "Fit is Fundamental to Fashion." A volunteer also will show how the new basic pattern featured by the company can be fitted and used by the home sewer.

Agrees To Change in Appointment

Democratic Committee Had Claimed Shaffer's Appointment Illegal

Senator Clifford Friend on Monday agreed to a change in the appointment of Albert Shaffer, of Kitzmiller, as the minority member of the Garrett County Election Board.

He agreed after the Garrett County Democratic State Central committee challenged Governor Theodore R. McKeldin's nomination of Shaffer. Gov. McKeldin had taken Mr. Shaffer's name from the list recommended for substitute members of the board.

Protest Filed

James B. Nally, chairman of the Democratic committee, said the committee had filed formal protests with the Governor, with Sen. Friend and with Sen. Louis N. Phipps, of Anne Arundel county, chairman of the committee on executive nominations.

Friend said Monday that "Shaffer was nominated at my suggestion because I thought he could help settle the deadlock over voting machines in our county." He agreed to back down on his choice since "the law is on their side," and said he had asked Harvey Gortner of Grantsville if he would accept the position.

Gortner, a businessman, was one of four names on a list submitted by the central committee to Gov. McKeldin for choosing a minority member of the Board of Supervisors of Elections. The others were incumbent William O. Treacy, of Oakland; Edward Buckel, of Bittinger; and Leo Hellwg, of Oakland.

When this list was passed over and Shaffer was elevated from a list of prospective substitute supervisors, Chairman Nally claimed that the committee's top four choices were "completely ignored" in violation of the law.

Friend did not say what he Calls Attention to Siding "Racket"

Lumber dealers of the area this week were calling attention to the "racket" of "siding installers" that were operating in the area in recent weeks.

They called attention to an article in the Saturday Evening Post in recent months, which revealed that these "racketeers" were fleecing people of millions of dollars.

The Prisons We Build For Ourselves

Every so often, in the news we read and hear about desperate men behind prison walls who try to break out and regain their freedom. We wonder just what life would be like behind those grim and foreboding structures.

Yet, strangely enough, many law-abiding citizens are busy building prisons for themselves. Every day sees the walls grow a little higher and a little thicker. How do we do this strange thing? Here are a few examples of these self-made prisons.

First, there is the prison of self-disparagement. We see only the worst of ourselves. That prison stifles every creative motive and accomplishment we may make.

There is the prison of over-criticalness. We see only the worst in others. I know a man like that. He lives in a prison of his own making. No one quite suits him. To hear him talk all men are dishonest and dishonorable. Because of this prison, he finds it impossible to either trust or love his fellow-men. He lives in a prison which cuts him off from the fellowship of other men, which is the very thing that makes us happy and life worth living.

There is the prison of chronic worry. To them, the picture is only black. God, for them, does not rule the world with love and justice, so by this prison they cut themselves off from this great creative force of the Universe.

There is the prison of dwelling in the past. We see the old days as golden, but nothing good in the new ones. These prisons are more often built by older people, yet not always. They have failed to grasp the great truth that it is possible to hold on to the great truths of the past and their wonderful memories, and yet grasp and use the new knowledge and truths of the present.

The prison of envy is one of the most common ones, in my opinion. We envy the possessions of others, their so-called good luck (which more often than not is because of their own hard work) and look at ourselves with pitying eyes. In this prison, we fail to make the best use of our own many and varied blessings and to be thankful for the good that has come to us.

There is the prison of hate. What a mighty one that is! It costs our nation billions of dollars and others the same. It keeps man separated from his fellow-man, and worst of all from God. It does more harm to the one who hates than to the object of his hatred.

Every prison has a jailer to keep those inside locked in. The name of this jailer is Pride. He wears a mask of many faces, some of them very attractive.

But, just as there is a prison wall too high to scale, there is always a key to unlock the doors. That key is prayer. It can open the door, but first of all we must become honestly humble enough to use it.

God stands before the door of these self-made prisons and waits to welcome us into the light of His day—that day in which He promised that we would have life and have it more abundantly. Then, our self-made prisons are no more.

Arts-Crafts Program at Southern Is Explained

In the third of a series of articles on classroom activities at Southern High school, Miss Nada Fulk, senior, writes this week about the arts and crafts program. Writes Miss Fulk:

"Art is a part of everyday living, therefore it is made available to all students at Southern. Art is essential for promotion of the student's intellectual and emotional growth and development.

"Miss Frances Patterson and Mr. Robert Rodeheaver are Southern's art teachers. They both have an A. B. degree in Education, and Mr. Rodeheaver is working on his Master's degree.

"The art program is not based on the gifted few, but is a program in which all students have an opportunity to express themselves. For this reason the art program offers a variety of activities.

"The Junior High students work with crayons, poster paints, water colors, small leather projects, clay, copper, etc. They have two main units, one on color and a unit on lettering.

"In Senior high the course is elective. The students work mainly on projects of their choice. Ceramics, oil painting, metal craft, leather work, charcoal and India ink projects are the main ones. Senior high students also have themes to write and a unit on the appreciation and history of art.

"Art is also coordinated with other subjects taught at Southern. The art students work on backdrops and posters for school functions.

"Art classes often make murals and drawings in art that are used in their core classes. Math, home economics and science classes also make use of the art program at Southern.

"A Senior Art club under the supervision of Miss Patterson has been organized. This Art club is open to any senior high student who shows a special interest in the field of art. All senior students who have been in the Art club two years receive silver pins.

"There is also a Junior high Art club under the direction of Mr. Rodeheaver. Purpose of this club is to help students explore different art media according to their own interest.

"The Art club will help the students develop interests and hobbies that will be valuable to them later in life. The students share new ideas and experiences in the field of art.

"Some of the projects chosen for the Junior high Art club are oil-painting, ceramics, basketry, charcoal, etc. The members are free to work on any creative project in which they are interested.

"An Adult Education class under the supervision of Mr. Rodeheaver has been organized. The Arts-Crafts program had been designed to give the class participants a chance to explore the many types of art media that can be developed into small businesses, depending upon the individual's own initiative, creativeness, and interests."

There are twenty-five adults who attend class every Friday evening from 7:30 to 9:30. The class is mainly interested in ceramics.

Senate Jester . . . ?

You have heard of court jesters in olden times, when kings and emperors had individuals to amuse them with silly stunts and ludicrous antics.

We wonder if we do not have a senate jester at present in the General Assembly? Our state senator has been in the newspapers upon frequent occasions, with accounts of his unusual antics, his generous use of fists, his comic statements and his spite legislation. A few weeks ago he described himself as the "stubbornest and stingiest" man in the Senate. Tuesday he got himself tagged as being speechless, and all the Senate laughed at him.

Is Garrett county to continue to be saddled with this type of representation?

Just this past week he was anything but above board with his attempts to pack the election board with people of his own choosing, paying no attention whatever to the desires of the Democratic State Central committee. He tried to explain that he had a high minded purpose for doing this so he could settle the voting machine hassle—settle it his way, of course. But how high minded was his remark when he said he would not confirm the reappointment of William Treacy? Treacy fell from grace because he refused to listen to the Senator when he advised him to change his vote and accept the highest priced voting machine. He even called on Treacy last year to insist he change his attitude on voting machines and then told him to keep his visit quiet. Treacy quite properly refused to change his vote, so now the Senator does not favor his reappointment.

We were interested in the Senator's statement to the effect that if the voting machine controversy wasn't settled soon that it would go to the Supreme court at "great county expense." The Senator never cared much for the "great county expense" when he blocked the school program to such an extent that the buildings when finally constructed cost the county over a million dollars more than they should have. In urging that the election board and county commissioners select the higher priced machines, the "great expense" to the county certainly meant nothing to him. We are still of the opinion that the trouble over voting machines was the spark that set off an entire string of events last year that will go down in the state's history as a very low form of spite and hate activity.

The only trouble with the possibility that we have a senate jester, is that the rest of the state will likely soon forget the man, but they will remember for many years the kind of senators that Garrett county sends to Annapolis. We are the laughing stock of Maryland.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As we continue the series on the important happenings of Christ's life, including some of his more important teachings, we shall consider this week his words recorded in Matthew 7:24-27.

Every one then who hears these words of mine and does them will be like the wise man who built his house on the rock; and the rain fell and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat upon that house, but it did not fall, because it had been founded on the rock. And every one who hears these words of mine and does not do them will be like the foolish man who built his house upon the sand; and the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat against that house, and it fell; and great was the fall of it.

As those of you who know your Bibles will already realize, this is the final statement in a whole series of ethical teachings of Christ, commonly referred to as The Sermon on the Mount. This then, was the summation of just how important he himself held the teachings of God for man.

As we look into these words with Christian insight, it is easy for us also to realize just how important these words and teachings of Christ are. But the sad thing is, that most people of the world do not want to accept what God clearly reveals for them, in the way they should carry on their lives. Most men are not so stupid as to build their homes on a sand pile, they normally look for a good solid shelf on which to build their foundations. But how different is their attitude when it comes to preparing themselves for an eternal life. The house will stand only for a time, how long, nobody knows, perhaps two hundred years, perhaps more, perhaps less, but man's life is intended for eternity—time without end—yet man seems to be so ensconced in the care of his earthly possessions that he cares little for the eternal health of his soul. He will go to great pains to make sure that his business is run on a good sound basis, that it makes money, but he will allow the least excuse to keep him from checking on the progress of a much more important business, the business of the everlasting life—the free gift of God in Christ, free only to those who are willing to "hear these words of (Christ's) and keep them."

The responsibility for this problem lies in two basic areas: the Church itself, and the individual who is either in or out of the church. Many times the church sells itself short, being satisfied in its ministry, its property, its program for the community, and all other areas of its activity, being satisfied with second best, or perhaps third, fourth or fifth best! The church in many areas just has not met its responsibility, and other secular organizations have taken over, as in the case of the excellent organization, Alcoholics Anonymous. This is an area where the church has failed to meet its obligations, just one of many. Too many churches are willing to let Sunday be the only day for any activity, as if this is the only day that belongs to God.

Then as for the second area of responsibility, the individual, either in or out of the church—it is mainly a matter of "I can't be bothered." The church member is all too often a person who attends some congregation, even every Sunday, just why, he does not know—it's just the acceptable thing to do, and when he is asked to prove his Christianity, by being a good steward for Christ, by witnessing, with his time, money, talent, to the world that there is something important about Christianity—he just can not be bothered, he does not have enough time, in other words, he does not think that it is important enough. And if he does not think it is important enough, how can he convince the world that Christ is important?

The sad thing is, that the man who is unwilling to follow where Christ leads, and falls with the crash of a "house built on sand," all too often brings others down in his fall. Consider the adulterous man who seeks a divorce, so that he can follow the pleasures that he has found outside his home—he does not only destroy himself, what of his wife, his children, and in many cases the children and husband of his "partner in sin," are involved.

We are social beings, what we do affects the lives of those around us, and in the way of the Lord, this can be a good effect, for the house that is built on a strong foundation can house many people, and the life that is built on Christ can be a 'profound strength in a world which needs strong men and women for the Lord. Don't build the foundation of your life on anything less than the Word of God—anything less will lead to destruction, whereas it can lead to peace, and an eternal life.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

The American economic system gives natural laws freedom to work in their natural way. The motive power in the system is supplied by man's natural desire for rewards—or profits—in all his undertakings. This is a fundamental human desire. When it is multiplied by the number of people in America it is a powerful force, producing great volumes of goods and services. By permitting this profit motive a great degree of freedom, the American system is tapping the brain-power and the energy-power of all its people.

A 12-year-old boy doesn't like to mow the lawn at home—for free. But let the next door neighbor offer $2.50 for a lawn-mowing job, and the 12-year-old suddenly finds joy in mowing that lawn. Given enough lawns to mow, at $2.50 each, he will spend the entire summer working without complaint. And the money he earns comes from somebody else's exercise of the profit motive. The man next door may be a carpenter, a manufacturer, or a lathe operator in the local wood-working plant; whatever his occupation, his brain-power and energy-power are driven by the human desire for rewards, where he is earning so much he can't afford to mow his own lawn.

The people who are determined to change the American system fundamentally, center their subtle and direct attacks on corporation or business profits—trying to make people believe they are unreasonable and that, therefore, the system is not good.

In the last year for which we have the official Commerce Department statistics, the national income was approximately 300 billion dollars. The net profit of all the corporations in America amounted to 5.9 percent of this total income. Three and three-tenths, or $9.9 billion, was paid directly to the stockholders—more than 12,000,000 people, most of them small town residents earning less than $7,500 a year. The other 2.9 per cent of the profit was ploughed back into the businesses—to buy new machines, to pay for research, to develop new production methods and new products, to expand plants, to help build new plants, and to make new and better jobs.

In the last year for which we have official figures, the annual corporation sales in America totaled $508 billion, in spite of the belief of some people (and the propaganda) that profits run 12, 15, 25 and 50 per cent—the fact is that the profit on this $508 billion in sales amounted to 3.3 per cent.

The alternative to the profit system is Socialism—with its loss of freedom and drastically lower living standard. We should all understand these and other facts about our profit system—and be strongly for it.

tell him what he should do and should not do as bookkeeper and indicated that Steyer "better play ball with me or else." Whether this meant that Steyer would lose his position if he didn't stick to Roth, was not learned.

Steyer then related that last Friday afternoon he asked Roth to come into the office, at which time Roth accused him of taking sides with the other two commissioners. Steyer said he then told Roth he hadn't taken sides up until that time but he was doing so now, whereupon he said Roth called him a name. Then Steyer informed him to "go ahead and call me anything you want. I have a witness on the other end of this telephone line, who is hearing everything you are saying." Steyer said that is when they scuffled for the telephone receiver, but after Roth was unable to get it he raised his fists as if to strike him, but didn't. Then he went through the motions of picking up a chair but apparently thought better of it, and shortly thereafter he left the office, threatening to place Steyer under arrest. This was not done.

President Explains

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the county commissioners, said the $620 bill was perfectly legal and had been agreed upon in a conference with Chief Judge George Henderson with attorneys of both sides and the commissioners several months ago, prior to the trial over the commissioners doing business with themselves. It was during the argument over work that had been done previously amounting to some $16,000 that Swartzentruber said all had agreed that since the county's road program was being hampered, and since it was agreed that the price for drilling was fair and equitable, that John J. Brenneman could complete the drilling and would be paid for that portion which was not in question. Mr. Swartzentruber made a motion in regular session of the County Boards Board that Mr. Brenneman be paid the amount of $570 owing at this time. The motion was never seconded since Roth refused and since Mr. Brenneman is enjoined from participating in the discussion about drilling.

The dispute over payments for the drilling work, done prior to the injunction, has been carried to the Maryland Court of Appeals where arguments were presented February 12. The high court has not yet decided the case.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

The Bright Budget Boys

In a short time now the Senate of the United States will be engaged in one of the strangest legislative battles in the 168 years of its existence. In brief, it will be confronted with a presidential budget for the support of the domestic affairs, the defense of the nation and the conduct of its foreign policies such as has never before been presented.

In the first place, it is by far the largest of all peacetime budgets—$72 billion. In the second place, it is the only budget in our national history which the President and his Secretary of the Treasury agree is too big, should be reduced and invite Congress to find a way to cut it down to avert a threatened inflation. This, of course, is a very unusual request for an administration to make—particularly an administration whose party does not control either branch of Congress. In fact, it is utterly unique for a President to present such a budget without specifying how and where the reductions he invites could and should be made.

In other words, what the President and his Secretary of the Treasury have done in this matter is without precedent and it has left Congress more than a little puzzled. Both Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Humphrey are in favor of a balanced budget of economy in governmental expenditures, of reducing taxes. Yet, they have presented a gigantic budget, they have invited the Senate to cut it but have given no idea as to how much or where. It sounds inconsistent but it isn't; it seems as though there must be a trick in it somewhere—but there isn't. Neither ex-President Herbert Hoover nor Senator Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, the two men who know more about economy and governmental waste than anyone else in the country, have any doubt at all of the complete and unqualified good faith and sincerity of President Eisenhower and Secretary Humphrey.

Senator Byrd already has announced his intention of leading the fight to reduce this budget by 5 billion, a figure Mr. Hoover also asserted some time ago could be achieved without impairing any vital function of the Government or in any way lessening the effectiveness of our defense. A cut such as this unquestionably would strengthen the economy of the country, greatly lessen the inflationary growth and, more than anything else, warn our enemies abroad of our ability to conquer the domestic peril which they have been promoting and in the progress of which they have rejoiced. Senator Byrd is not only popular but one of the ablest and most respected men in the Senate. He is in this fight as a matter of principle and not for political prestige. Nevertheless, there are quite a few of his Democratic colleagues who will support him for no higher motive than to be able to say back in their home states: "Well, we Democrats cut Ike's budget to keep inflation away," and few would have much difficulty in naming these senators right now.

—o—

Normally, the President and his Secretary of the Treasury support their budget with all their power and resist every effort of Congress to reduce. Normally, the tendency of Congress, pressed by a multitude of lobbies (especially by the Federal jobholders' lobby, the most powerful of them all) is to increase the budget rather than decrease it. This time the budget has been laid in the lap of Congress with permission not only to cut but an invitation to do so plus an admission that it is too big. It is all very well to say that that is the job of the President and he has evaded it. It is all very well to say that it isn't fair. But, the simple fact is that the plan of Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Humphrey, considering all the circumstances, is the best way to get a smaller budget which they all want. Nor, so far as can be recalled, has any governor thought of trying it. If this is a trick we should have more tricks like it.

Buy Seed Early Advises Agronomist

Seed for some recommended varieties of crops is expected to be in short supply this spring, according to Joe Newcomer, an agronomist at the University of Maryland. Farmers are advised to buy early if they hope to get first choice of varieties. Even so, they may have to pay higher prices because of shortages.

Another solution recommended by Newcomer to the problem, is to buy second or third choice varieties shown in Extension Service Fact Sheet 43, "Field Crop Variety Recommendations for 1956-57." This publication is in the hands of seed retailers, or farmers can get their own copy from their county agent.

The top choice alfalfa variety, Williamsburg, made only a half crop last year. Narragansett, the No. 2 recommended variety, is also in very short supply. Both are expected to be even scarcer for late summer plantings.

Red Clover is expected to be plentiful, with the best locally grown crop in 10 years. Western grown varieties are expected to be slightly higher.

There is plenty of lespedeza seed available, but quality of locally grown Korean lespedeza is very poor, although Kobe quality is good. Farmers are warned to check weed content, since some seed contains large amounts of dodder.

Orchard grass and fescue seed is in short supply with higher prices being asked.

Clinton variety of spring oats is scarce.

There is a large supply of seed corn from last year's record crop.

Good quality soybean seed is scarce, due to bad weather at harvest time last fall. Germination may be low, and prices are expected to be higher.

A short crop of Sudan grass may mean higher prices, but lower demand may balance the supply.

Sorghums are scarce, and prices of Regari and Atlas varieties are expected to be higher.

Discussion Group Meets

Farm Planning group number 9 met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Glotfelty with twelve attending, including Dale Glotfelty and Hamill Glotfelty, who had just returned from overseas duty.

Robert Buckel led the topic on auto and truck inspection. The group felt the state garages should be set up to do the inspecting of vehicles if Maryland had a state vehicle inspection law. The majority felt the inspection should be rugged enough to force some jalopies off the roads, but if jalopies were in good running condition they should be allowed to remain on roads, regardless of age or looks.

The group saw no need for license identification tags in blue, red or white for new, used or worn cars that passed inspection. Occasional re-examination of drivers was recommended. Necessary inspection points were listed as tires, lights, steering, brakes and doors. They felt a state inspection law was not the answer to cutting down highway accidents, since the main focus should be on the driver. It was pointed out that a neighboring state with inspection law was now trying to repeal it. The group felt a compulsory insurance law was better than an inspection law.

Looks For Arrow Points; Finds False Teeth

It isn't often that a person who is looking for arrow points finds false teeth, hut this has happened twice for Charles A. Kelley, of Table Rock.

Scott Bowman, of near Table Rock lost hoth sets of teeth on the Kelly farm six years ago. He figured he lost them out of his pocket while going over a fence.

Last April Mr. Kelly, who is always looking for arrow points on his farm, spied the man's lower plate in a plowed field, in excellent condition. He found the upper plate this fall in the same general area, also in good condition.

Friend Gas Bill

Claim Encroachment

They said interstate operation of natural gas pipelines is subject to regulation by the Federal Power commission. Avirett said he had "serious doubts that the Maryland Legislature can encroach on a field preempted by the federal government."

He said that forcing a utility to carry gas besides its own might ultimately force higher rates on domestic consumers.

"Our customers might he paying for gas of other companies," he said.

Richard Ober also opposed the bill in behalf of the Baltimore Gas and Electric company. "This bill is intended primarily to start something in the way of gas control in Maryland, one segment at a time," he claimed.

Avirett disagreed with Friend that Cumberland and Allegheny has a monoply to buy and trasnport natural gas in Western Maryland. He said its franchise from the Public Service commission applies only to its retail sales and anyone else is free to come in to buy it in the field.

"I want to urge devotion to the fundamentals of Human Liberty—the principles of Voluntarism"—Samuel Gompers.

WHAT THE RTW LAW DOES

1. It outlaws compulsory unionism.
2. It protects by law the right of anyone to get and keep a job without joining a union.
3. It upholds the principle of the open shop which restores to union members control of their unions.

WHAT THE RTW LAW DOES NOT DO

1. It does not ban unions or collective bargaining.
2. It does not ban the right to form or join a union.
3. It does not ban strikes or picketing.
4. It does not ban the check-off.
5. It does not outlaw union grievance procedures.
6. It does not interfere with present contracts.
7. It does not take away the worker's right to full protection of labor laws.

Agrees To Change

planned to do it Gortner did not accept the appointment. He did say that he would not confirm re-appointment of Treacy.

The governor's appointment to the post is subject to Senate confirmation, and local senators usually have the say in matters of this type.

Friend said in suggesting Shaffer he had thought he would be acceptable to the Garrett Democratic officials. "They did not send me a list of their nominees and the first time I saw it was in the governor's office," he said.

In reply to Senator Friend's cry that he had never received a copy of the recommendations from Mr. Nally, the latter said that he had received one blank originally from the Governor's office, requesting the recommendations and that after they were made up he returned the blank to the governor. He said Friend never had requested any recommendations from him.

Friend said he feels either Gortner or Shaffer could solve the impasse over voting machines which has existed for months in the county, the only county now without them. The principal argument among the members of the election board and county commissioners has been over which of two types to buy. Friend said unless the matter is settled on the local level soon the case will wind up in the court of appeals at great expense to the county.

Mr. Nally said the committee had no quarrel whatever with Mr. Shaffer, who has served previously as an election board member, and that he had consented to serve as a substitute before his name was submitted. Itis committee seemed more concerned over the fact that its recommendations had been brushed aside with absolutely no consideration.

Legal Provisions Cited

Article 33 of the Maryland Code, which sets up election laws, and which was pointed out to the governor, provides in section 1, paragraph d:

Before appointing such supervisors, of Elections, whether as regular or substitute members of their respective Boards, and before filling any vacancy as hereinbefore provided the Governor shall request the State Central Committees representing each of the two leading political parties of the State in each county and in the City of Baltimore, as the case may be, to designated at least four eligible candidates for such positions; and the Governor shall appoint one of the persons so designated unless in his judgment all of said persons shall be unfit or incompetent, in which case he shall file a written statement to that effect with the Secretary of State, setting forth such fact and the grounds therefor, and shall call upon the said committee for the county or city, as the case may be, for another list of six names from which list and the original list he shall make the appointments.

"The governor will have quite a time proving any of these men incompetent," said Mr. Nally. "They are all very fine citizens and able to carry on satisfactorily and efficiently the work of this important office. The committee has been ignored and by-passed, and we do not intend to sit still for it."

Republican List Fouled

Senator Friend reported a mistake was made last Wednesday in submitting the names of substitute members to the Election Board.

The names were offered by Governor McKeldin to the State Senate for confirmation. According to Sen. Friend the list furnished by the governor included the name of William D. Casteel, Oakland, a Republican incumbent. The name of Ward Hinehaugh, also a Republican, should have appeared, the Senator declared. He added that the governor would make the correction. The other name submitted for a substitute post is Eugene Coddington, Friendsville, a Democrat.

Announcement of appointments was made last Wednesday. The recommendations supposedly had been made previously by the Republican and Democratic State Central committees. Named as supervisors of elections were Rodger Bond, Mclleury, Republican; William L. Gibson, Oakland, Republican; in addition to Albert Shaffer, Kitzmiller, Democratic. Bond took the place of Francis W. Sanders. Gibson has served for the past two years.

Gibson has been under treatment in Garrett County Memorial hospital for several days, but was released early this week.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Compass of Moral Principle

In 1954, at San Francisco, the United Nations was created out of the minds and vision of men of good will devoted to the proposition of peace. Today, the United Nations is very much in the news.

The serious situation in the Middle East, resting at the moment as it does on the quixotic question of whether or not economic sanctions are to be invoked against Israel, has served to plant, and in some cases nourish, a seed of doubt as to the continued potence and ability of the United Nations organization to deal effectively with the problem of maintaining the peace. President Eisenhower, in his speech to the Congress last month, expressed these growing sentiments when he said: "The United Nations . . . can always be helpful, but it cannot be a wholly dependable protector of freedom when the ambitions of the Soviet Union are involved."

The course of history, since 1945, though motivated by good intentions, is peppered with incidents in which the recommendations of the United Nations have been defied by member nations. In the present Arab-Israeli controversy, the 1951 action of the U.N. Security Council, calling upon Egypt to permit the passage of Israeli ships through the Suez Canal, has been brazenly ignored by Egypt. Similarly, last year the General Assembly called upon Israel to observe the boundaries established by the 1949 armistice with the Arab states—at this writing the Israelis have withdrawn from Egypt in part but not completely.

Egypt and Israel are by no means the only offenders. The Soviet Union is by far the most flagrant in its abuse of U.N. actions, and violations of the U.N. Charter. The rape of Hungary will always be regarded by freedom-loving people as a vile act of communist aggression. A U. N. resolution of condemnation, demanding the removal of Russian military forces, failed to faze the masters of the Kremlin. In an obvious plan of obstruction, rather than in any spirit of U.N. cooperation, the Soviet Union has exercised the so-called "veto power" in 79 of 86 instances.

Failure of free governments to steer by the compass of moral principle has caused much of the unrest in the world today. If the U. N. is to condone the doctrine of "might makes right," applying its processes to the small but not to the large, then morality and integrity among nations can never prevail.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Dear Teen Ager—

There are hundreds of words written about you these days, about your movie ideals, your crazy notions and styles, but I've got a little secret to tell you. Your fathers and mothers had their day and I don't think maybe I've had my nose in a 1926 Oakland High school year book, "The Oak," and I've found out plenty.

They sang "Thanks for the Buggy Ride," "I'm Going to Charleston Back to Charleston." They cracked jokes like this:

Warder Roy: "Do you like music?"

Carrie Kolbflersch: "Yes, very much."

Warder: "Listen to the band on my hat."

Mr. Stemple: "Richard, what did you learn in school today?"

Richard: "All about iron."

Mr. S.: "Well, how was it discovered?"

Richard: "They smelt it."

Mr. Jenkins: "Curtis Miller, from where do we get steel wool?"

Seniors were accused of having interests in the sophomore class that have turned out to be a lifetime proposition. Like Carl McIntire and Helen Hunebaugh.

They had students "one case" get married while in school. Hen McComas and Sally Johnston.

In the class will I find that Pearl Friend "bequeaths to Mary Jankey my ability to chew gum," and Ernest Townshend bequeaths to Eddie Butler "my razor to use on his side burns." Just think, if Eddie could have wiggled while he saag the girls in those days might have had an "Eddie" equal to Elvis'.

—o—

Ten Commandments

The had high codes of conduct in those days—even to the "own set of Ten Commandments. Three of them you might or might not understand.

1. Man shall not sass thy teacher for if thou sassest thy teacher thou shalt hold with her—and that didn't mean hold hands—an eighth period class.

3. Thou shalt use the work of thy own brains for if thou copyest from the paper of another thou shalt lose thy grade and thy standing in class.

9. Chew not gum during classes. Neither shalt thou fasteneth it beneath thy seat, for verily there is enough there already.

—o—

The Good Old Days

They got cement sidewalks around the school and a guard rail.

Bus service established the year before. It operated from Red House, Mt. Lake Park, and Crellin, so country boys and girls could get education. At a real bargain too, for the county paid half the fare!

Miss Ruth Conley re-organized the Glee club and band. "Music Music Everywhere."

Education week: "I ain't," "git" and "and-ah" are tahooed more than ever this week. Everybody's awful good in every way."

They Had Heroes Too

Alongside his picture was written "The jokiest, wittiest, story-teller, song singer, laughingest, jolliest fellow you ever saw," who was on every team, in dramatics, high in grades and character and with all that he worked all four years at Gonder's pharmacy and had the record for tardiness—Every morning and every afternoon for four years. He was also labeled the noisiest one in the class.

The most noticeable thing about looks in the pictures was how far on the forehead the hair line was. Jake Echard, a promising athlete, was wearing a raccoon coat in his class picture. One of the smartest looking girls in today's eyes was Mary Louise Helbig who, according to one of our children "wore a coat made from an Indian blanket," but I would have said it was cloth from Guatemala. But she looked like the flapper as the flapper was supposed to look.

Yes, dear teen-agers, they were a part of the roaring twenties but they were full of zip and original ideas and were as "crazy as loons."

Northern Is Topped By Valley In Extra Period Battle 72-68

Valley High school, co-champion of the W. M. I. league and Allegany county class "B" champion, was forced to play an overtime period at Lonaconing Tuesday afternoon before the conquered Northern High school Huskies, Garrett county's class "B" champions in a 72-68 battle.

Northern was leading 67-65 with 30 seconds remaining in the regulation game when Billy Dye's field goal knotted the count for the eighth time (67-67) and sent the battle into an extra period.

Field goals by Young and Cook settled the issue in Valley's favor in the overtime period. Foul goals by Glass of Northern and Cook of Valley concluded the scoring.

During the regulation battle the score was knotted at 14, 15, 17, 19, 23, 63 and 67 and the lead changed hands eleven times. Valley jumped off to a 6-0 lead at the start and the Huskies held a 10-point advantage at 43-33 in the third period. In the final period the lead changed hands nine times.

Valley played without the services of Johnson, one of the Knight's top scorers, who was suffering from an ankle injury. Young paced Valley with 14 field goals and 31 points. Darwin Robeson was Northern's big gun with 11 baskets and 24 markers. Ward Humberson had 16. Tom Schroyer 15 and Dick Spear 12. Northern wound up its season with 12 wins and nine losses.

World Day of Prayer Will Be Observed

Observance of World Day of Prayer will be conducted in St. Paul's Methodist church, Oakland, on Friday evening, March 8, at 8 o'clock. Men as well as women of all Protestant faiths in Oakland and vicinity will worship in prayer on the first Friday in Lent.

This is the 71st observance which began in 1887. Its purpose is to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer for a better world, and thanksgiving for Christian unity.

Services that day begin on the Tonga islands where Queen Salote leads her subjects in prayer. Throughout the day observances are held in 142 countries, closing with observances in Alaska.

Locally the World Day of Prayer is sponsored by the General department of United Church Women of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

The subject this year is "Who Shall Separate Us?" written by Mrs. Serena Vassady from behind the iron curtain in Europe. Music will be furnished by the Methodist church choir. Mrs. Earl S. Lee, of St. Mark's Lutheran church, is chairman of the program.

Advice On Oats Planting Is Given

"About the most important requirement for successfully growing spring oats is to plant just as soon as you can safely work the ground," Mr Carter says. 'The crop has to head out before hot weather if you expect to get top yields."

Acreage of this important feed grain crop may increase this year according to information from the University, since bad weather and wheat allotments reduced acreage of small seeded grains.

Seed of Clinton 11 and 59 the top recommended varieties is likely to be scarce. So Mr. Carter suggests farmers order seed early to get their choice, or to try Andrew, Ajax, Clarion, Clintaffe or Craig, which are also recommended.

Other tips on oats growing are given in Fact Sheet 99, "Oat Production in Maryland," copies of which are available at Mr. Carter's office.

Who Is This?

Lesson for March 3, 1957

WE ALL like to know what people think of us, but sometimes all we really want is compliments, or else we ask out of idle curiosity. Jesus asked the same question of his disciples at one time or other: Who do men say I am? But it was not curiosity or pride with him. He knew better than any one that what men thought of him was vital—not to him, but to them. For what people think of Christ affects their whole lives. It be no more than a picturesque figure out of the past. Then we can safely ignore a wise teacher, no more than we can put his teachings to work. But those of other great leaders and add a few nuggets of ideas from him to the wealth of the ages. But suppose he is more?

They Thought They Knew Him

Nobody in Jesus' time thought of him as a plaster saint. Right were professional religionists. Jesus did not have the impression. He was not a priest—rather the opposite. Many spoke of him as a prophet of well known prophets—Jeremiah, Banterer, Elijah, Jeremiah, Amos course they did not literally believe these men had risen from the dead; but it was always as they had. Incidentally, many misunderstander might say that the three prophets whom Jesus was thought to resemble (Jeremiah, Elijah, but gentle, Amos) all had controversial events, the prophet Jeremiah was a position, Elijah was a fugitive, Amos were men carrying a message of direct from God.

The One Lord

One might think that the highest category could be found in Jesus than Prophet,—one sent by God speaking the word of God. But Jesus once called himself "more than a prophet." So it was believed friends thought of him. Peter's "Great Confession" is well known. Speaking not for himself but for all—for the question was put to the group, Simon Peter said as Matthew reports it: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God." The words should not lose their force because of familiarity. Peter does not use the language, figures, metaphors were to deface. He does use words which a Jewish man of the first century could see—but they were not words Peter could have applied to any one else. Christ means Messiah, King, God's special chosen King, to usher in the World's New Age. No Jew looked for two Messiahs. Peter was saying to Christ: There have been many prophets, but there will never be more Christs than one. Jesus stood alone with none to match you, none beside you. For Messiah was not only a unique title; there was nothing above it. Furthermore, the word Christ implied a great deal more than Prophet. You could take a prophet or leave him—his messages might be right or wrong, but Christ was the Lord of the world. He was a prophet a man may keep at a distance and respect. In the presence of the one Lord a man must bow in reverence, asking, What would you have me to do?

Flesh and Blood

What did Jesus mean when he said to Peter, "Flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but my Father who is in heaven"? He meant that Peter and the rest of the Twelve and Judas could see with eyes of faith what the Pharisees and priests never saw. It is always possible to doubt the full meaning of Jesus Christ. In his lifetime there were a great many who misunderstood his teaching and resented his miracles and never believed in him at all; belief in Christ is never forced. It is not like believing that two and two are four, or that the paper you are reading is printed in English. The deity and the lordship of Christ can never be demonstrated like a proposition in geometry or a theorem in chemistry. Our relation to him must be personal. All personal relationships are based on faith, not mathematical demonstration. A man and his wife, a father and child, a merchant and his customer, and all people with each other must trust each other or fail. The eye of faith, the ear of hearing faith, sees what more intelligent eyes, shows.
